Cardi B Supports Sexual Assault Awareness Month; Tweets, "No One Is To Touch Your Private Parts..."

Rapper Cardi B encourages people to be open about sexual misconduct during Sexual Assault Awareness Month in a series of supportive tweets.

Music superstar Cardi B in a series of tweets asked her fans to stay safe and be free to talk about sexual misconduct. On Thursday, the 29-year-old rapper in multiple tweets spoke out about the sexual assault awareness month. In her tweets, he encouraged her followers to speak up against any sexual assault they have faced, never feel ashamed of sharing their experience of any misconduct.

Before April is over, don't forget it's sexual assault awareness month, no means no! It's doesn't matter what you wear, it doesn't matter who you are, male or female. For anyone going through this, the shame is not yours to carry... it's the monsters who do this. "Before April is over, don't forget its sexual assault awareness month, no means no! It's [sic] doesn't matter what you wear, it doesn't matter who you are, male or female." She added, "For anyone going through this, the shame is not yours to carry... it's the monsters who do this."

In a follow-up tweet, Cardi B shifted her focus to the parents of the abused children. She even encouraged them to let their children know everything about sexual abuse so that they can let their parents know if any such thing has happened to them. The rapper with two kids, daughter Kulture (3 years old) and son Wave(7 months old) tweeted, "Also parents we can't forget our children. There are sick people everywhere, daycare, schools, you name it."

She continued, "Make sure you teach them from a [sic] early age" that "no one is to touch your private parts & never be afraid to tell mommy & daddy when someone makes you uncomfortable."

After she posted tweets a fan responded with some advice for the children who may experience sexual assault, "also teach them secrets are not good, no matter how small."

The Twitter user further wrote, "Sadly [family]/friends can tell them [it's] our secret [and] since they close they think [it's] ok, no secrets ever!! Also, make sure u don't use that word either w them so they know secrets are bad and [should] be told."

Before April is over, don't forget it's sexual assault awareness month, no means no! It's doesn't matter what you wear, it doesn't matter who you are, male or female. For anyone going through this, the shame is not yours to carry... it's the monsters who do this.

April 2022 is the 21st anniversary of Sexual assault Awareness month. According to the National Sexual Assault Center, "it focuses on both awareness and prevention of sexual assault, harassment, and abuse."

The motive behind this is to spread awareness of Sexual harassment and be open about it, as keeping such antisocial activities secrets will encourage such criminals to go beyond.

Lady Gaga Pecked on the Checks of BTS Member V at the 64th Grammy Awards

Lady Gaga kissed BTS member V also known as Kim Taehyung, in their brief meeting at the ceremony of the 64th Grammy Awards.

One of the BTS members Kim Taehyung, mostly known as V, was kissed by the graceful Lady Gaga at the ceremony of Grammy Awards of 2022.

He was in the trend because of his brief flirting gesture with the newest Music Diva Olivia Rodrigo in the opening act of their performance at the Grammy. But their wide fan base, who proudly calls themselves the ARMY, made the video of V meeting Lady Gaga viral on the internet.

In the video, Lady Gaga is seen seated in her vibrant turquoise blue dress with her hair tied upwards. Kim Taehyung approaches her and they had a brief interaction she stood up instantly. By the end of their conversation, Lady Gaga hugged him and posed for a few clicks to the paparazzi, and bid him goodbye with a peck in each of his checks.

This brief yet exceedingly cute interaction between the two major music artists of this age boggled the mind of the people, making the video viral on various video streaming platforms. Lady Gaga has been in the news after her heart-touching gesture toward Liza Minnelli at the Oscars while presenting the best Pictures award.

A fan posted on Twitter, 'this is one of the most heartwarming interactions I've ever seen Taehyung and Lady Gaga!!! My heart may explode!!!' adding more to this he said, 'The Taehyung and Lady Gaga photo series is truly one of the most precious, wholesome celebrity interactions I have ever seen'.

A fellow member of BTS TaeTae acknowledged that he is overwhelmed after meeting Lady Gaga in person. He posted about this on Twitter by saying, 'I had actually watched so many videos of Lady Gaga and Tony Bennett.

Getting to see her perform that solo was just... I almost cried'. He also added that Lady is very fond of their music and is a wholehearted supporter.

Lady Gaga also made another heartwarming gesture when SZA was going to receive her award for the Best Duo/ Group Performance along with Doja Cat. She was injured and she held crutches in both of her arms. Her long trailed dress was about to be tangled in the sitting area, Lady Gaga gathered up the trail and prevented it from causing further injuries to her.

Tiger Shroff to Release an English Pop Track Under Newly Joint Ventures Jjust Music and Warner Music India.

Jjust Music and Warner music India have announced their strategic partnership that will help grow Indian music industries and give exposure to new talents in India. This deal will also bring Warner Music's commencement in the marquee Bollywood releases, while the Jjust music artists will be benefitted from the global exposure.

The first joint release of the two houses will be an English pop song by the Bollywood star Tiger Shroff. After providing audiences with the mass entertainment in movies, producer Jackie Bhagnani is going to utilize its production's expertise in the music space.

Tiger Shroff is known for his mass-entertaining movies like, "Bhaagi", "Bhaagi2", "War" and others, is famous for his action scenes, dance styles, and acting. His fan-following in India just within the last few years of his debut is in millions. Having such a popular face in the debut song is indeed going to be special.

On the other hand, Jackky Bhagnani started his career as an actor in the movie "Faltu" and soon turned into a producer. Launching Jjust music in 2019, actor-producer Bhagnani wanted to create music that appeal to the masses. It has been versioned to make songs of different genres, films, non-films, singles, and others.

The founder of Jjust music, Jackky Bhagnani said, "just Music emerged from an ambition to create pathbreaking music content and provide independent Indian artists a platform while supporting them with our experience, expertise, and resources." Showing his excitement, he further added, "I am thrilled to bring to life my vision for Indian music through this unique collaboration with Warner Music India.

Giving Indian music and artists the same exposure, support, and opportunities as international music, this collaboration would only boost confidence and enhances the quality of the music created by artists on our roster."

The managing director of Warner music India and SAARC said, "We're absolutely delighted to partner with Jackky Bhagnani and Jjust Music. This collaboration will help us add value to our artists' careers by offering support in a huge range of areas from live shows to brand partnerships."

About getting into the Bollywood movies and their sphere, he said, "We're eager to get into the Bollywood scene, but just as motivated to give a platform to talented and interesting artists performing non-film music."

'Young Gunnas' by Projectbaby JV Is Capable of Reaching the Epitome of Victory in the Artist's Profession

Thrill and excitement are the factors that must be present in every hip-hop production. Projectbaby JV is back once again with his all-new music video "Young Gunnas", which is expanding its reach at a blazing fast pace to listeners and viewers all around the globe. The presentation of real-life scenarios in the music video that a person experiences in their lives has been well praised by viewers. The mixing style of instrumentals and beats shapes the tone of the track boldly and attractively. Brilliant co-direction and shooting by Mahlon White truly showcase an amazing story-telling technique.

Projectbaby JV is a young aspiring artist from New Orleans, Louisiana. The artist is best known for his daring approach and unmatched energy. The artist is an expert in featuring multiple characters in his music videos. The artist has also teamed up with several other artists like JaMaal Anderson, Tay-Fazo, and West Berman. After almost a one-year gap, the artist is set to rock and drive the audience crazy with his new track.

The list of musical contributions from the artist mainly deals with two types: audio and video. Although the artist has uploaded three music videos on his YouTube channel, he has also recently released his latest collaboration project "FACEOFF" with his producer/engineer JaMaal Anderson on Apple Music. He has also dropped a deluxe version of his latest project "FACEOFF". Some of the other tracks that define and signify the artist's love for hip-hop are "Kyrie Irving", "Poppin", "Either Way", and many more. Throughout his career, the artist has had the privilege to work with producers like JaMaal Anderson, ChaseRanItUp, PlutoBrazy, and more. The latest music video "Young Gunnas" displays the fighting spirits/struggles that artists and creators face daily, underlining the fact that 'WE' are or sometimes can be, in fact, our own worst enemy.

The video highlights the artist having an external battle in a disclosed area, between goons disguised as his inner thoughts. His expertise in creating conflict between his inner self is the ultimate highlight of the music video. The music video goes on to display that the artist is officially ready to turn it up a notch, and take his craft to the next level. The artist is a strong believer when it comes to trusting himself and trusting the process. The music video has already hit its first milestone with almost accumulating 2k views within its first month of being dropped, and many more to come. The Hip-hop music industry needed a shift in the dimension of production, and Projectbaby JV has provided the music fans just that. Listen to the track available on YouTube.

Upcoming Talented Rapper Ruben Page Has Come Up with a Captivating Single, Named 'Clever Verb's'

David Biviano and Jonathan M Wood Are Back with Their Melancholic Yet Levitating Number 'Interrupted'

The architects of blissful music are back with another gritty track. David Biviano and Jonathan M Wood are the names who have offered various new-age songs inculcated with some modern rock vibes. They are based in Australia and have played music with their charming musical essences and vibes. The organic musical bond that they both have is completely inspiring. The music compositions of each of their song are done by Jonathan. And the narrations of the songs are by David. They both are great in their forte. But together they have performed each of the songs with powerful accents. Mutual understanding is something that should be cherished. The musical chemistry that they share has gained them their fan base. Their latest track 'Interrupted' offers an oscillating journey of surviving a mental health hospital conveyed in a timeless musical arrangement. They have been making songs for a year now and have uploaded them on YouTube since February 2021. On 21st February 2021, the duo offered their first single 'Labyrinth'. And even in their first song, they have offered an extraordinary musical field for their audience. And after that, they have offered several engaging tracks with their experienced and charming vocal qualities. On the very same day, they uploaded gravitating songs like 'Laney', 'Deja Vu', 'Junk', and 'The Criminal' on YouTube. And on 28th February they have offered another song 'Restless Unrest'. And after over a year they have dropped another track that has some unique texture to it. Their musical brilliance has brought them together once again and their audience is hopeful of all the upcoming musical ventures they will offer in the future.

On 8th April 2022, David Biviano and Jonathan M Wood offered their latest released track 'Interrupted'.

After a yearlong of silence, they have emerged again for their overpowering ecstatic musical formations.

The song is about life and depression and surviving a period in a mental health hospital. The clarity of their voice and the simplistic yet distinctive musical cultures compels more people to this song. The introductory portion and the grooving beats are just on the point that has made the song even more enjoyable.

Though, the melancholy is saturated in the lyricism of the song yet anyone will smile at their pains with the compelling vibes of this song. The song is available on YouTube along with all the previous tracks that they have offered.

Dutchie Killa Verse Released the Most Powerful and Highly Energizing EP 'I Am the Project'

Artist Dutchie Killa Verse has come up with a powerful hip-hop EP 'I Am the Project'. The EP sheds light on his deep understanding of hip-hop and rap music.

Artist Dutchie Killa Verse has come up with a powerful hip-hop EP 'I Am the Project'. Six songs have been released recently, and within a few days of their release, they have won the hearts of all hip-hop lovers. The EP comprises six songs in total. Each song is highly energizing and engaging.

The beats and stylized rhythmic speeches have collaboratively served the cravings of the hip-hop lovers and given more than someone could expect. His versatility and deep understanding of rap and hip-hop music are reflected in the songs. His brilliance in songwriting and composing music are undeniably evoking. The real name of the artist is Kevin Watkins. He was born on 11th October 1990 in Ohio. He was raised by his single mother.

At a very early age, he started pursuing his passion for music. His brilliance in songwriting is acquired through poetry classes. Soon he turned into a songwriter. He, even, started a rap group, including his cousin and a friend, and adopted the name Dutchie Killa Verse. After the demise of his friend, the group separated, and he took the name of Dutchie Killa Verse which became Dutchie Killa Visual later.

Kevin Watkins has obtained a degree in Audio Video production. At the same time, he has learned camera operation, Direction, Editing, Mixing, and recording.

This versatile artist has released some massive hit mixtapes such as 'The Ewing Project', and 'The Project'. All are available on Apple Music. Recently he released a music video 'Come Around' from 'The Ewing Project'. It was able to capture the attention of thousands of his listeners.

The EP has a total of 6 songs. Each song digs deeper and brings out the deep understanding and versatility of the artist. The title song, 'I Am the project', is the first and most impactful song of the EP. The song 'Beep Beep' has very communicable energy that people can easily resonate with.

Another song 'Let Go' has very catchy contemporary beats. Even songs 'Can't Take You Serious', Money Talk, and A&D are no different. So, listen to the EP 'I AM the Project' only on Apple music. The artist Dutchie Killa Verse has done a brilliant job in the making of it. To know more about the artist, follow him on Facebook, Instagram, YouTube, and Twitter.

'Get Up Lyric Video' by Mr. J, Is a Cheerful HipHop Track; Loved and Admired Worldwide

Artist Mr. J just released his latest track 'Get Up Lyric Video'. The lyrical video within a few days of its release has got thousands of views. The success of the song seems to just have begun. Harnessing his skills and passion for music, the artist has given some of the best songs to the music industry.

His songs are loved and appreciated by people worldwide. Drawn by his passion for music, the artist is consistent in his endeavor to leave a mark in the world with his Songs. Through his songs, he tries to pay tribute to the music and those who have inspired him to compose music.

Having been born and inspired by the music of the 70s, the artist seems to provide the essence of the music of that era in his songs. His songs perfectly capture the music and the characteristics of that era. Most of his songs are his tribute to the pioneers who inspired him back in those days of the 1970s.

Though his music bears the characteristics of 70s music, the reflection of modern hip-hop and electro can also be found in his songs. His lifelong experience in music comes to play a major role in his creativity.

His first music video was a tribute to Afika Bambaataa. His second release was a tribute to the pioneers who used a smooth and cool style. The United States-based artist got his start in the early 1980s, when he performed with a hip-hop band known as the Gifted 4.

The song is groovy in its organic musical beats. Sung jovially and a bit like an old school, he creates a cheerful and party vibe. In a 4 minutes and forty-four seconds song, the artist has given a different kind of hip-hop vibes.

The music video is an animated lyrical video. The introduction of a female voice just near the end added variations to the song. So, listen to the music video 'Get Up Lyric Video' on YouTube. To know more about the artist Mr. J, follow him on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter.

And make sure you subscribe to his YouTube channel to not miss any updates.

BLUES: MELANCHOLIC MUSICAL GENRE THAT OFFERED SOME CHARMING GUITAR-INFUSED SOUNDSCAPES

Blues are an Afro-American music genre, which originated in the southern states of the United States during the American Civil War from 1861 to 1865. African-Americans of that time vouch for some simply narrated ballads to convey their daily melancholy through musical releases. The term 'Blues' was collected from George Colman's one-act charade 'Blue Devils' in 1798. Blue devils were interpreted as melancholy and sadness. Before that, the phrase blue devils were mentioned in early 1600 in Britain as well which referred to as 'intense visual hallucinations that can accompany severe alcohol withdrawal'. And with time the meaning evolved. Blues is a secular folk music form with simple but expressive vocal forms, although there are various instrumental accompanying this music genre.

Short History:

The earliest history of blues is not properly documented, yet the first documented blues number was by New Orleans artist Antonio Maggio, 'I Got the Blue' in 1908. But the number 'The Memphis Blues' by W.C. Handy and 'Dallas Blues' by Hart Wand was widely popular and known blues numbers in 1912. After these music publications, the genre became very popular. The recorded blues numbers were of Mamie Smith in 1920 had her version of American composer and pianist Perry Bradford's 'Crazy Blues' from the 1890s. But the genre gained wide popularity in the 1950s and 1960s. The density of the blues dynasty has offered some elegant yet empowering musical numbers delivered by various mesmerizing blues singers of all time. The most famous and influential blues performers of all time are;

1. Robert Johnson

He is one of the earliest and most prominent blues artists offered landmark recordings in 1936 and 1937 which were a combination of his eclectic guitar skills and singing qualities. He was born in 1911 and started performing in 1929. His contributions to Delta Blues are recognized as the best. Robert Leroy Johnson received very little appreciation for his contribution to the Blues genre. He mostly performed in the streets to make his music reach a lot of people. It was after his death that his music was reissued and recognized by a larger audience. Robert Johnson is a name, which will stay in a special corner in every Blues lover.

2. Muddy Waters

McKinley Morganfield, widely known as 'Muddy Waters', started his career in 1941. He was an important blues figure in the post-war blues category. He is often referred to as the 'Father of Modern Chicago Blues'. And his playing techniques are described as 'raining down Delta beatitude'. He played guitar at parties to entertain the attendees at an age of seventeen. Since then he had big dreams to be one of the prominent performers of the Blues genre. His musical styles have influenced the blues genre enormously. He has introduced and infused various styles but the vivid usages of amplification and idiosyncratic interpretation amongst his many, are still seen and heard from various new ages blues artists.

3. Buddy Guy

George 'Buddy' Guy is one of the most prominent American blues guitarists and singers. He used to offer various dynamic performances as no other blues performers have. His music and his musical aura have influenced several other performers like Jimi Hendrix, Jeff Beck, Eric Clapton, and many more. He has played and performed with several other blues legends including Muddy Waters and Junior Wells. 'Stone Crazy' is still remembered as one of the best guitar songs of all time. The 85 years old singer has eight Grammys to his name by far for his exquisite musical ventures. From his early days with

'Baton Rouge' to being a living legend has been the most interesting and inspiring journey for many.

4. Etta James:

She is the most beautiful blues singer and has achieved great success for her delicate musical numbers. Despite her oscillating life she always offered songs that melts and prevails under the skin of the listeners. Songs like, 'Something's Got a Hold on Me', 'The Wallflower', and 'I'd Rather Go Blind' are considered the most profound blues numbers that were ever made. She prolifically managed and sometimes merged the gaps between Rhythm, Blues, and Rock 'n Roll. She has six Grammys and seventeen Blues music awards to her name. Her voice and her musical aura are timeless and are still relevant and admirable not only to a blues admirer but to any mere music lover. And finally, The Kings of the Blues

5. B.B. King:

Riley B. King, widely known as B.B. King, was a legendary blues singer and songwriter. He introduced some refined blues music formations in his musical career with his vibrant tones. The charms that he could spread with his guitar pieces were exceptional. His guitar solo and the fluency of his string blending of a blues electric guitar had some outstandingly ecstatic vibes. Being born in 1925 he started performing in 1942. He has done over 200 shows in his lifetime. He is mostly referred to as 'The Kings of the Blues'. His music styles have been imitated and have influenced several Blues performers by far and will continue to do so.

6. Albert King:

Albert King Nelson, also known as Albert King, was the greatest guitarist from the blues genre that America has ever witnessed. His musical styles had a huge impact on the blues styles. He was also a part of the name 'The Kings of the Blues' for his consuming musical influences. His song 'Born Under a Bad Sign' is still considered the most popular blues track by far. The soft vocals even if he had a large body frame are the most extraordinary combination that ever existed. And because of this contradiction and the fact that he drove a bulldozer in one of his earlier jobs, he was called the 'Velvet Bulldozer'.

7. Freddie King: Freddie King is also considered the 'Three Kings of Blues Guitar'. He is known for his powerful voice and his musical contribution by playing some soulful guitar pieces is still remembered by every blues follower. His major influence in electric blues has inspired various blues guitarists. His intuitive musical style was offered the best out of his career. His open string sounds are often associated with Texas Blues for the rawness it offers. And his screaming tones were associated with the tunes of West Side, known as Chicago Blues. The album 'Freddie King Sings' holds most of his singing talents along with various chart hits like 'You've Got to Love Her with a Feeling', 'I'm Tore Down', and many more.

Belinda Song Has Launched Her Rearranged Number 'Worthy 4.4' Making It More Electrifyingly Engaging and Investing

Belinda Song has released the rearranged version of her prior releases track, 'Worthy 4.4' which is a charming song saturated with some uplifting vibes. The magical aura of the song engages the audience for its lovely spirit. The narration and the verse formation are motivating as well as nurturing along with the composition of the song is truly tempting.

We thank you for offering us this enriching track. Your voice is nothing less than magical. This is one of your power-packed performances that will soon be popularized amongst your fans and admirers.

Ans: I would love to collaborate with Carole King because I'm a huge fan and admire the success of her career as a singer/songwriter. Her work stands the test of time and she has written so many hit songs throughout her career that have earned respect from the music industry. It would be a dream come true just to meet her! I would like to also collaborate with Train, their hit song 'Calling All Angels' has lifted up my spirits and served as my 'comfort food for the soul' – time and time again.

DMR: Share a memory that you have had that made this song 'Worthy 4.4', so special to you?

Ans: 'Worthy' the original release was written during the pandemic and during times of change, there was (and still is) so much inequality in society that I needed to voice out for those who couldn't, and hoped to encourage everyone who was in need of a sense of confidence, self-worth, and self-love. I have been long time support of charitable organizations such as "Women In Distress," "Kids In Distress," "Miami Rescue," and "Caring House". Being a single woman in business and music, I haven't been exempted from stalkers and bullies, and have received a fair share of harassment, so I decided to further enhance the original 'Worthy' and rearranged the instrumentals to deliver a heightened sonic experience which is more intense, bolder and stronger, hence "Worthy 4.4" was conceived and released. "Worthy 4.4" is my personal 'fight song' and I hope my audience will find the courage and be inspired by the vibe and the lyrics.

DMR: Which song from your music catalog by far, that you did enjoy the most while making it?

Ans: From my music catalog, 'Mental Vacation' is the dance track that I enjoyed creating the most. The vibe is energetic, the sound is upbeat and very unique. Our days are so stressful and we have to make so many decisions throughout each day – decisions small and big, life can get pretty hectic sometimes. Through 'Mental Vacation,' I hope to deliver a few minutes of 'mind/mental vacation' where my audience can just relax, not think of anything and enjoy a break from everyday stress. The song is produced digitally and I really enjoyed creating all those special sound effects. Was a lot of fun.

DMR: What or who has inspired you the most to embark upon this journey?

Ans: Music runs in my blood and follows me everywhere. The journey started at seven years old when my parents gifted me my first piano, then there were twists and turns (aka life,) and then there were bad mistakes as well as sound decisions. So after a detour in my music journey, I'm finally back at it through the encouragement of my 'late' friend who passed away last year. I remember the motivation he gave me in kind words, 'Belinda, you should share your (music) gifts with the world, I'm sure you can inspire many DMR: Belinda Song, share something about your music, the genre you are following or the instruments, and the types of equipment you are using?

Ans: My music is 100% original, not only do I write the songs and lyrics, I also arrange the instrumentals and produce the albums. The energy and vibe of my music are 100% my own, and not influenced nor 'adjusted' by anyone. To date, there are over a hundred compositions in my music catalog and I'm represented by BMI. Having received classical training and piano lessons since seven years old, I'm familiar with an array of instruments but love strings and percussion. I'm also multi-genre and can shift from R&B to dance, and ballad to alternative rock.

DMR: Can you share the first memory you have about performing music or music in general?

Ans: My first memory of music was the record player my parents gave me for my seven-year-old birthday, then there was a piano in mahogany, and then my memory jumps to this beautiful 'sound room' filled with music equipment at my parent's house. They have always been very supportive of my music endeavors for as long as they didn't interfere with my studies. My passion for music followed me everywhere. I was in the middle school choir, then auditioned for the 'touring choir' in high school, and was recruited as a soprano. My very first performance was a solo number while touring with the high school choir in Monterey, CA. Then there were singing contests, many of them, my parents kept the trophies for me. And then on one fine day, I was discovered by a scout from Polygram/Polydor, and the rest was history. I have toured most countries in Asia when I signed with Polygram/Polydor, but that was a little while ago and today the world has changed. My goals in music have shifted. I would like to work on syncing for TV/Film and envision writing and producing a musical in the foreseeable future.

DMR: If you are given the chance of collaborating with any music artist, who would you choose to collaborate with?

people....." And then there were 'mean' people who told me "no you can not do that" .. well, my reply to those 'mean' people – "YES I CAN, AND HERE I AM!"

DMR: Apart from being a music artist you are an author yourself, mostly from the romantic genre, who is your favorite author?

Ans: I grew up reading Danielle Steel's books, love her work. Such romantic stories. Remember during lunch period in school, people would gather to gossip about each other over lunch, I played deaf ears and immersed myself in romance novels. So I guess Danielle Steel has quite an influence on me. There is also the late 'Jackie Collins,' (I love) the powerful and ruthless characters she created and her way of using explicitly unfiltered words and descriptions.

DMR: Is there any suggestion that you like to convey to all the emerging artists or singers who are planning to start their musical journey?

Ans: Yes, listen to your heart and believe in yourself – NEVER GIVE UP no matter what (negative) things that others may tell you. Music is a lifelong journey and there is no instant success, so be prepared to work and fight for what you believe in. Every new day is an opportunity for improvement, so don't think about it or hesitate, just do what your mind tells you to, and go where your heart leads you. The harsh truth is that music creation takes money, so I suggest to everyone starting this journey to be mindful of this and to make sure that they also work on finances.

DMR: Tell us about your upcoming projects? What's next that you are planning to release next?

Ans: "Worthy 4.4" has a 'sibling' song in the same alternative rock genre, which will be released sometime this Summer. There are also various collaboration pieces (too early to disclose) and a fabulous dance album towards the end of the year to welcome in the Holiday Season of 2022. Then here there and in between, there may be spontaneous surprises that even I'm not aware of (yet,) let's see where inspiration leads me.

DMR: Which word would you choose if you were asked to describe your musical journey in just one word?

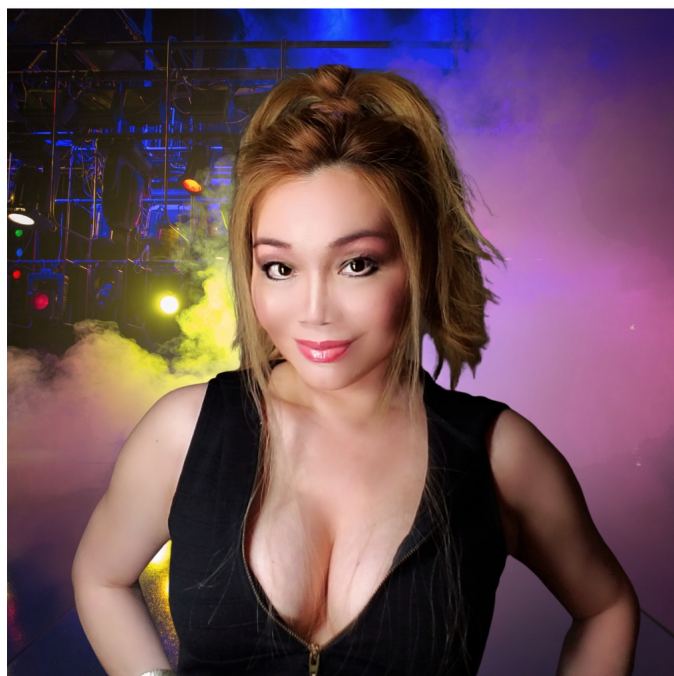

Ans: MESMERIZING.

DMR: Are you planning to rearrange and release further some of your already released tracks?

Ans: Yes absolutely so. A few dance beat songs will be rearranged and released with various instrumental pieces in the dance album to be released in Fall 2022.

DMR: Tell something dedicating your music lovers.

Ans: Thank you so much for your love and support! I'm a lucky gal to have friends like you. Hope my music keeps you company and inspires you in some little ways. Let's spread the love and share the music around the world! Love you XOXO.

American musician Camila Cabello talks about her life journey, heartbreaks, and truest emotions in her newly released studio album, 'Familia' featuring 12 tracks.

Cuban-American singer-songwriter Camila Cabello released her third studio album 'Familia' on April 8th, 2022 through Epic Records. The gifted artist has named the album after the Spanish word for family. Though born and bred in Miami, the hitmaker has recently concentrated more on her Cuban-Mexican roots through her music. The first song in the album, 'Celia' is a full-fledged Spanish song with her eight-year-old cousin Caro providing the backing vocals. 'Hasta Los Dientes' featuring Maria Becerra is also sung in Spanish entirely. The other two songs, 'La Buena Vida' and 'No Doubt' also feature some Spanish lines or verses alongside dominating English lyrics. The anguishing resonance of the songs has made the album stand out among the contemporary crowd.

This is Cabello's third solo album and she conveys the message that she is learning and healing from her past experiences and flourishing in life through its tracks. The album is presented as her journey of overcoming various hurdles and heartbreaks in life that come from trying to include your lover as a part of the family only to have to part ways with them. The songs are bound to make you feel related and dig up similar memories to find closer.

The album is a perfect infusion of the artist's rich Latin heritage, modern pop sounds, and experimental cadence. She has collaborated with Ed Sheeran, WILLOW, Maria Becerra, and Yotuel on the album.

The third Studio album, 'Familia' comes almost three years after her last LP, 'Romance' released in 2019 and a few months after her breakup with her boyfriend of two years Shawn Mendes.

The songs prove that Cabello's natural singing skills and her ability to generate true emotions through her vocal presentation can break the boundaries of language and connect with the audience on a higher level. She is able to engage the audience and keep them hooked with her story, making a permanent place in their hearts. Camila Cabello has also talked about her heated exit from her girl band Fifth Harmony in the song, 'Psycho Freak', offering closure to her fans and herself at some point as well. She sings, 'I don't blame the girls for how it went down, down' and it is the first time she has been vocal about the matter. The line could also be a reference to Fifth Harmony's first song, 'Down' after her exit from the band in 2016. Follow her on Instagram for more news.

Hikaru Utada Performed Some Tracks From The Kingdom Hearts At Coachella 2022

Hikaru Utada performed tracks from the Video game series Kingdom Hearts at Coachella 2022. Fans were nostalgic and mesmerized seeing her perform on stage.

The buzz over the Coachella was at its peak since its announcement. While people anticipated the performances by Harry Styles, Doja Cat, and Danny Elfman more, Hikaru Utada took the stage and entertained the spectators with the certified Kingdom Hearts bangers. After she announced on Instagram that she would be performing at Coachella fans started showing their excitement just after that. They were eager to watch her live or from home.

Coachella is a music and arts festival held in California every year. It is well known for its lined-up performances by some well-known music celebrities.

Hikaru Utada opened up her performance with the song 'Simple and Clean', from Kingdom Hearts. Later she sang another favorite track from her game series 'Face My Fears', which was co-created with dubstep artist Skrillex.

Her performance was nostalgic and mesmerizing, even two members Sora and Mickey were not in the scene. Utada's works were highly praised and popularized in the early 2000s. It was partly due to their songs being parts of the Kingdom Hearts. However, the singer released her new songs too. Last year the protagonist of the series Sora was announced to be the final fighter To join the Video game series Super Smash Bros. The series has got a release on the Nintendo Switch. The next part, Kingdom Hearts 4 is announced to be released.

However, people got nostalgic and equally amazed by the performance of the artist from the iconic game series. In front of a trippy visualizer on a grand screen, the artist looked entrancing.

She also performed songs like 'First Love', 'Automatic', and 'T' during on the stage. It was her first American music festival in her long 26-year career. The crowd went crazy seeing her perform amidst smoke being used all around her. The smoke machine was disheveling her while performing the tracks from the Kingdom Hearts. Although many have praised Utada's performance, some fans on Social media shared their anger for Utada not performing her hits live and the crowd not being crazy enough. One fan on Twitter said, "Crowd too dead for my liking".

Another fan also said, "I'm glad I'm not there. I'd have been Wildin".

"Mr. Morale & The Big Steppers" From Kendrick Lamar Is Dropping On 13th May, As Announced By The Artist

Kendrick Lamar has revealed the launch date for his upcoming album "Mr. Morale & The Big Steppers." After a five-year wait, the launch is set for May 13, this year.

Kendrick Lamar has updated his Okloma website with a new link. The rapper also unfolded the title and release date of his upcoming album on the site. "Mr. Morale & The Big Steppers" will be released on May 13th.

The announcement was made via a pgLang release, which can be found on the Okloma website. It says it is from Okloma and "through his company pgLang," which is a moniker Kendrick has teased in the previous year. "All factual information for this release will come directly from this source only," the release stated.

The bottom of the press release read, "Appreciate your patience." On a website published in August 2021, Lamar previewed the album, which he termed his "final TDE album." Back then, he wrote, "As I produce my final TDE album, I feel joy to have been a part of such a cultural imprint after 17 years, The Struggles. The Success. And most importantly, the Brotherhood. May the Most High continue to use Top Dawg as a vessel for candid creators. As I continue to pursue my life's calling." He signed "Oklama" on the note.

Patience has been Kendrick's best friend throughout the last five years, since the release of his last studio album in 2017. Mr. Morale & The Big Steppers is the follow-up to Lamar's Pulitzer prize-winning album Damn, which was released in 2017.

He's since curated and directed the Black Panther soundtrack, headlined Coachella and Top Dawg Entertainment's Championship Tour, won a slew of Grammys, and been nominated for an Academy Award. Kendrick Lamar made appearances on Raphael Saadiq's "Rearview," Sir's "Hair Down," Dreamville's "Under the Sun," the Lion King's "Nile," and 2 Chainz's "Momma I Hit a Lick" in 2019. Before the Covid-19 pandemic closed down concerts and tours for the year, he was due to headline Glastonbury Festival in 2020.

Before collaborating with Baby Keem on "Family Ties" and "Range Brothers," he participated in Busta Rhymes' song "Look Over Your Shoulders" in October 2020.

Lamar and his longtime collaborator Dave Free founded pgLang in March 2020, describing it as "a new multi-lingual, at Service Company." He also performed in the Super Bowl this year.

Explore The Distinctive Taste of EDM with Peter Lake's All-New Track "Stay Baby Stay (Like A Lullaby)"

"Stay Baby Stay (Like A Lullaby)" by Peter Lake is simply an unconventional production. The track has already garnished 132k streams in less than a week.

The aura of any musical production is depicted by its rhythm and mixing style. Highly successful in his musical career and recognized for astonishing numbers behind every track, Peter Lake is trending on the charts of Soundcloud yet again. His just-launched single "Stay Baby Stay (Like A Lullaby)" has become an instant hit. The energetic composition of the track displays the talent and desire of the artist. The rhythm and the sharp beats of the song are not the only highlights, as the lyrics in the song tell a completely different story. The beautiful songwriting from the artist actually came out to convince his friend to stay. The artist produces based on his self-owned record label Peter Lake Music. Being a resident of New York, United States, the artist has had the opportunity to understand his audience with their preferences. The artist has perfectly described the aspect of mixed emotions throughout the track. As explained by the artist himself, he has tried to come up with two songs mixed into one. With a fusion of acoustic guitar and Ableton, the artist has tried to cover a kind and sad side of the same story. The experience and versatility that he is carrying have led him to become the talent he is today. This is the first time that the artist has come up with a track that signifies the wonderful essence of Electronic Dance Music. Starting from his most popular track "Come Over Here" which has gained 2.37 million plays to "Blue Flower Blue" which achieved 1.32 million plays, the artist has proved his talent time after time. Other famous master crafts from the artist include works like "Bonfire Eyes", "Black Corridor", "Whistle", etc.

Peter Lake is certainly destined to reach newer heights. The song "Stay Baby Stay (Like A Lullaby)" consists of a magnetic effect that is stealing the attention of listeners with every passing day. With already more than 123k streams on Soundcloud, the song is already a super hit.

The artist, with his patience and confidence, has opened a new world full of boundless possibilities. Do not forget to check out the track available for everyone on Soundcloud. The artist actively shares updates on his Instagram and uploads music videos on his YouTube channel. Keep an eye on the platforms the artist is present on for daily updates.

Harry Styles

amuses fans with the drop of his latest music video

As It Was

'As It Was', a profound song has been released by the enigmatic One Direction artist Harry Styles. The outstanding presentation has warmed the heart of his fans

English singer Harry Styles has come up with his lead song from his upcoming album Harry's House, named 'As It Was'. The star created anticipation with the teaser of the video where they used a turntable. Indeed, the video created a buzz across the internet. The enthusiastic video has mesmerized all his fans.

The upbeat music with the melancholic lyrics has created a whole different vibe with it. The synth-pop song got 371000 views only at the premier of it, and now it got more than 73 million views. In a red attire, Harry has captivated the attention of his admirers. In this song, the artist has depicted his story.

He tried to convey his challenges, conflicting feelings, and mental health. The internet has been melting down with this exceptionally well video. All his fans are overwhelmed with this piece of music of him.

Harry has given a hint of his past relationship through this eclectic music video. Earlier he also said that he tends to create from his own experiences. Thus it makes sense and is relatable to the listeners. With the hooky song, the artist generated groovy vibes and which is making it irresistible for everyone to hit the dance floor.

‘As It Was’, got an immediate success and has been debuted at number one on the Billboard Hot 100. It has also made it to the top of the UK Singles Chart. Now the latest song of him is trending worldwide and garnering the attention of all the music enthusiasts. The profound song has also achieved the Guinness World Records, for being the most streamed track on Spotify in 24 hours. This record-breaking song has topped the Billboard Global 200.

Harry Styles has also said how he created the song. It is his 5-year-old goddaughter Ruby Winston at the beginning of the song. He said ‘She used to try and call me before bedtime every night, and one time it didn’t ring or something, so they sent me that’.

He also added, ‘I dug it out when we were in the studio and put it in front of the song for some reason, and I kind of just fell in love with it, so it stuck’.

He once said ‘There was a time when I was younger, and I was in [One Direction], when I would have been afraid for everything to have stopped’, and now Harry Styles is one of the profound singers in the industry.

Embrace this Season of Love with the parker story's Latest Single 'Baby We (Want You To Know)'

Get drenched in a romantic essence with the musical duo from Buena Park, the parker story. This talented duo is formed by the couple musician Parker and Anastasia who played a masterful role in creating the single 'Baby We (Want You To Know)'. These artists are paving their way in the industry with nothing but their sheer talent, love, and passion for music.

We are thankful to the artists for sharing a few moments with us while proceeding on their never-ending musical journey.

Q. Congratulations on the debut release of 'Baby We (Want You To Know)'. How are you guys feeling right now?

the parker story: OMG - thanks so much! We're on cloud 9! Baby We is our baby and always will be! We're super excited to have captured on record who we are as the parker story. We wouldn't change a single note about this song. FLOATING.

Q. Tell us about your musical journey till now. How are you enjoying the process considering this is just the beginning?

the parker story: We've tested our writing in other groups separately since the late 90s. Always enjoying music and pursuing our passion for it. But it wasn't until we came together to co-write Baby We that we developed the parker story sound. It's naturally who we are as writers. We enthusiastically designed and printed over 2,000 promo cards for this release, and have been personally handing them out to everyone here in Chicago. We also have mailed them out to over 10 states across the US. It's been the best beginning ever!

Q. What obstacles do you find in the modern music industry?

the parker story: We both strongly believe that a great song will carve its own path. In the past industry, as well as present. However, with how meaningful the parker story is to us - we've been working really hard; promoting, researching, contacting, designing, etc. to stay one step ahead of the game. We're strategically planning our growth based on how the industry works right now and will fluidly adapt to the changes as they come.

Q. How did the global pandemic affect your music?

the parker story: We met a season before the pandemic hit. So during it, we spent every minute together, staying in off grid airbnb cabins across the US. Counting shooting stars and listening to inspiring artists that we both love. Feeling an indescribable "dreamy rush". Turns out, it was the beginning of the parker story and we didn't even know it.

Q. Being a multi-instrumentalist, what kind of instruments are very close to you, Parker? Do you have a favorite?

the parker story: I started out playing an acoustic guitar with only 4 strings on it at a garage sale. So without a doubt, acoustics never leave my side. Piano, electric guitars, bass and anything percussion are my writing tools. The sound that any instrument makes is a reflection of what's happening inside of whoever is playing it. I'll get a feeling across from whatever is in the room.

Q. Anastasia, how do you like to write songs? The tune first or lyrics?

the parker story: TUNE FIRST. But not the whole tune. Tune and lyrics work together from the very start to finish for me. Melodies tend to come first, usually in the form of me vocalizing syllables, which then gives me the key and a lot of times the tempo. Whatever feeling I have, when this all happens, determines what my lyrics will be about.

Q. As a musical duo, you guys are quite compatible and that reflects through your music. How was 'the parker story' established?

the parker story: It all started on August 3rd, 2019. At a hometown festival. The second we saw each other, the connection was unreal. Like we knew each other in a past life. We joke about how some ideas that come to us in our songs, were already written by some long forgotten couple that maybe wrote and never got a chance to record any of it. The Universe established us.

Q. Since your music is based on pop and indie flavors do you wish to dabble with other genres in the future?

the parker story: The sound that we have developed is the most natural it can get. However, in an almost weird way - we draw inspiration and listen to every genre of music. We don't have a favorite artist(s), just favorite songs. We demo tracks in other styles just to cross reference and create different vibes, and have fun while doing it. So, in saying that - we'll never intentionally stick to a specific genre to maintain an image. We'll always be who we are and if change naturally happens, then that's who we will be.

Q. The tiny studio apartment surely helped you guys to come up with a new project. Do you wish to continue your work from there or look for other ventures?

the parker story: Apt 307 has played a huge part in creating Baby We, but we do like to live in different neighborhoods and travel A LOT. We purposely invested in a portable recording setup that allows us to create wherever we are on the road. It's amazing for our lifestyle.

Q. Would you like to shed some light on the forthcoming projects in your hand?

the parker story: Yes! We have our next two release arrangements written and have multiple demo versions of them. Our next release date is set for mid June!

Q. What advice would you like to give to your fellow music artists in the music industry?

the parker story: DREAMS.ARE.REAL. If you are passionate enough and believe in your songs, it will guide your journey. If you're having fun and love every second of your creations, you've already made it. We work/re-work our songs until they become our favorite. Trust us, do the same thing and you'll never be let down.

Q. Is there anything that you guys want to share with the listeners?

the parker story: Music is so diverse. And there are so many great artists expressing themselves through songs that never even get a chance to be heard. We're just happy and thankful to be able to record and share our craft with you all. Baby We (Want You To Know) is about how we spent our summer of 2021 but it can mean anything that you want it to be. That's the joy in music - hearing a certain record in a given moment is what connects artists to their fans. We really hope that everyone that hears our songs can connect. Love ya's and thanks so much for the support!

Megan Thee Stallion Is Back With Another Power-Packed Number 'Plan B' The Diss Track Is Aimed At Tory Lanez

Much anticipated single of Megan Thee Stallion, 'Plan B' is now on all the music streaming platforms. The crisped spells of the diss track are fisting its crowd quite fast.

Megan Jovon Ruth Pete has been in the news since last week for launching her diss single 'Plan B' at Coachella 2022. The song is officially released now and is available on every music-streaming site.

The intense and catchy verses are already spreading their claws within the crowds. Right after her song introduction last Saturday she has been in the news since then.

Jodeci, Raekwon, and Ghostface Killah's track 'Freek'n You' from 1995 is sampled in 'Plan B'. Last Saturday when she introduced the new song from the Coachella stage she emphasized the fact it is extremely personal to her and dedicated it To Whom It May Concern.

The song was a follow-up to 'Sweetest Pie' with Dua Lipa. At the Coachella Valley Arts & Music Festival in Indio, California she concluded that this is a diss track aimed at Tory Lanez. They have been into a legal battle since Megan accused him of shooting her. And Lanez has been in prison during the hearing period for violating one of the conditions of his release.

The final Coachella performance is yet to happen this Saturday.

The Houston rap artist had offered a teaser before the performance of Coachella. She tweeted, 'I got this song that I recorded and every time I play it for a woman they start jumping and clapping', adding more, 'I think I wanna perform it at Coachella for the first time before I actually drop it.' She posted another clip of the track as well.

Megan Thee Stallion won her first Billboard pinnacle position for the remix of 'Savage' featuring Beyonce. Later she featured on Cardi B's 'WAP'.

The 1995 singer featured alongside Doja Cat remix of Ariana Grande's 2020 single '34+35' in 2021. Her 'Thot Shit' had topped the Billboard chart and also achieved a Grammy nomination along with the award as we. The song is written by Dalvin Degrate, Donald Degrate, Megan Pete, Omar Perrin, and Robert Watson. She has been working with 300 Entertainment since 2018 and this new track is also distributed by them. And Rob Holladay is the producer of 'Plan B', which is available on every music-streaming platform including YouTube and Spotify.

Review On Coachella Saturday Event: Performance From Billie Eilish And Energetic Danny Elfman Stole The Show:

The Coachella Music Festival has given all the music manias a feast to remember for the rest of their lives. On Saturday, Billie Eilish went on to achieve yet another milestone in her illustrious career as she became the youngest headliner in Coachella history at 20 years of age. The artist headlined Saturday's main stage. She also said, "Dude, this is so weird! I should not be headlining this s!" Billie was joined on stage by Khalid for performing "Lovely".

On the other hand, 68-year-old Danny Elfman became the oldest artist to perform at the Coachella this year. Back in 2014, he said, "When I stopped doing Oingo Boingo, I knew that I would never get on that kind of concert stage ever in my life again without totally destroying my hearing — what was left of it." The artist came out with some bangers this time.

The artist went on to perform The Simpsons Theme. His orchestra also performed a medley of songs from The Nightmare Before Christmas, Spider-Man, and Batman.

This was the artist's first performance in the Coachella in the last 27 years. The artist was donning a black T-shirt and cargo shorts. His group had Wes Borland, Josh Freese, and Steve Bartek as the main faces.

The historic point and the highlight of the set from Danny came when he performed "Nothing to Fear (But Fear Itself)," "Just Another Day," "Insanity," and "Only a Lad," for the first time since the 1980s.

After an electrical performance, he concluded by saying, "Thank you for bringing me out of... whatever it's called, I forget," stopping short of using the word "retirement, Thank you. I like it here."

The Saturday event was quite special as Billie also joined veteran singer Damon Albarn from Blur/Gorilla fame. Initially, the audience couldn't recognize the Britpop star, but Billie went on to demand respect for the veteran from the audience. The duo performed on "Getting Older" along with "Feel Good Inc".

Fans around the world were left amazed, as they didn't see it coming. All the social media platforms were flooding with posts from every corner of the world, as people witnessed the best of Coachella 2022. The music festival will go on until April 22 with many more fantastic performances, which are yet to come. Keep an eye on coachella.com for more updates.

Nikhita Gandhi Makes India Proud with a Feature in Times Square with her New Song 'Bura Na Mano Yaara'

Indian Playback singer Nikhita Gandhi's latest single, 'Bura Na Mano Yaara' has been featured on a display in Times Square in New York City just last month. She has been making headlines whenever she releases a new song.

The Kolkata-based singer has been quite busy with her latest collection of brilliant songs. The newest song, 'Humnava' with Jivitesh Kharbanda has become a massive hit in the country and outside. She has worked with some of the best in the industry such as Shankar Mahadevan, Ram Sampath, Pritam, Salim-Sulaiman, Sachin-Jigar, and Amit Trivedi.

Her soothing and therapeutic vocal performance makes each one of her songs a masterpiece. This is the second time her music has been featured in the New York Times Square Billboard.

Her single, 'Jugnu' with Badshah nearly five months ago was also got featured in Times Square. The artist herself even didn't expect the song to become viral in such a short time. She expressed her feeling of working with Badshah was exciting. 'Bura Na Mano Yaara' got the feature as a part of Spotify India's EQUAL campaign that promotes new songs by female artists. This is an original composition by the artist without a label and that is why it is extremely close to her heart.

She recognizes the importance of streaming services that have contributed to the success of not just emerging musicians but the music industry itself. Nikhita Gandhi's even thanked Spotify in her Instagram post. The artist sings in various regional languages apart from Hindi. But she says that singing in her mother tongue Bengali will always be special to her heart. Born and bred in Kolkata she has been surrounded by music and art from a very young age.

Afsana Khan's Song 'Bechari' Released its Teaser Featuring Bigg Boss Stars Karan Kundrra and Divya Agarwal

The teaser of Afsana Khan 'Bechari' is winning the internet with its heart tormenting melancholic melody, featuring Divya Agarwal and Karan Kundrra will be out tomorrow.

The 'Titliaan' singer Afsana Khan will release her new song 'Bechari' on 27th April. The song has featured the 'Kitani Mohabbat hai' star Karan Kundrra along with Bigg Boss OTT winner Divya Agarwal.

This Monday Karan Kundrra shared a short clip of the soon-to-be-released song 'Bechari'. He said, 'A song that narrates an impactful story' in his Instagram post.

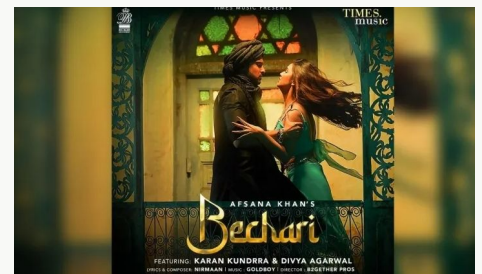

The clip offers a never-seen-before look at Karan Kundrra. He is a dark Pathani salwar with a black turban wrapped around his head, along with his perfectly trimmed beard and soorma in his eyes.

No sooner after he release the teaser of the song; the comments section was flooded with praises and wishes. A YouTube comment said, 'Really excited for the song. The teaser is already making me curious about the story. Each and every frame is depicting a story in itself. Karan's intense and powerful looks.'

Keeping the Titliaan trend alive, the male lead is portrayed as the negative lead. While the female lead Divya Agarwal is seen briefly in the teaser, gathering the interests of many.

From the teaser, it seems that Karan Kundrra will be seen in dual roles. He said while sharing the teaser, 'promised I'll challenge myself.. promised I'll not settle for ordinary.. stories to tell and be a part of.. excited?'

After his exit from the Bigg Boss season 15 Karan is seen in two more videos which are 'Rula Deti Hai' and 'Kamle', and this is the third. Apart from this, he is hosting Dance Deewane Juniors, a television reality show. And he is playing jailor of the Kangana Ranaut's show 'Lock Up'.

From 'Valentine' To 'Forever (Sailing)', With Snail Mail Melancholia Exploded At Hollywood Palladium

Snail Mail is touring the world for promoting her fresh release album 'Valentine', and she just made her first stop at the Hollywood Palladium on Wednesday.

Snail Mail's last year's burst through release 'Valentine' is the reason behind this world tour. The show at the Hollywood Palladium was an eye-witness of her consuming guitar skills on this Wednesday, 27th April. Lindsey Jordan set off with a pre-recorded version of 'Valentine' and gradually she warmed up the stage for her with a comparatively slowed opening section of 'Forever (Sailing)'. The slowed and muted verses were followed by a heavily beat-incorporated and rapidly-moving rock chorus.

In her second album as Snail Mail was offering some spiky hooks; the riffs are proportionately packed into this one album with concise musical numbers of surprising heartbreaks. The 22-year-old singer in her previous album released in 2018, delivered some sonic concocted numbers of 'Lush'.

In Wednesday's performance, she demonstrated some of her intense expertise of her chosen instruments. Along with that, she gave a medley of her freshly brewed tracks from her new album. The heart-tormenting number 'Ben Franklin' about break-up was blended with intoxicating synth hooks and her guitar portions prolifically.

On the night of the concert, she offered a wide range of musical performances from banging numbers with peppy hooks to slow and melodious ballads. The highlight of the show was The Goon Sax, an Australian indie-pop trio that opened the show. While singing the song 'Light Blue' from 'Valentine' she joked by saying, 'Where are my exes at?' before she started the next single 'Madonna'.

The setlist was majorly based on her recent album 'Valentine'. She performed a few bits from her prior album 'Lush', and also from her debut EP 'Habit'. After accomplishing her lengthy guitar solo from 'Heat Waves', she paused for a brief moment at the climax of the song. And as she saw the crowd on their feet she said, 'That's more like it!' gathering more cheers from the audience.

Another incident happened when she was about to conclude 'Full Control', Jordan along with her band stopped playing as an attendee and had just fainted in the crowd. The paramedics quickly the person was treated promptly and properly. After that, they resumed the program. By the end of the show, she performed 'Headlock' and the crowd sang along. As the concert reached its final moments she said to the audience, 'Thanks for keeping each other safe.'

Asha Bhosle Steals the Show at Lata Deenanath Mangeshkar Award by Humming 'Aayega Aanewala'

The Lata Deenanath Mangeshkar Award was given to Prime Minister of India, Narendra Modi on March 24th, this Sunday. During the event in Mumbai, the sister of Lata Mangeshkar and legendary singer Asha Bhosle recalled her late sister by humming to the tune of Lata Mangeshkar's iconic song, 'Aayega Aanewala' on the stage. She recalled the memories of Mangeshkar and her homage to her was one of the most significant parts of the event. She won the hearts of the audience and made people emotional with her tribute.

PM Narendra Modi is the first recipient of the Lata Deenanath Mangeshkar Award. He humbly accepted the award and spoke his mind about the late singer.

During the event, he talked about the legacy that Late Lata Mangeshkar has left. He described her artistry as an important part of nation-building. PM Modi has always regarded the late singer as his sister and he was extremely saddened by her death. She died after multiple organ failures in February at the age of 92.

Modi addressed her as his sister in his award acceptance speech and said that she was his elder sister apart from being India's queen of melody. He expressed that he felt fortunate that she loved him like an elder sister. He grieved that this will be the first Rakhi without her.

He also said that Lata Mangeshkar's voice has charmed the global audience for more than 80 years. She has been an icon from the time of 'gramophone, CD, DVD, pen drive, digital music to apps.' He said that she gave voice to five generations of actors and made the country proud with her extraordinary musical journey.

Renowned singer and the younger sister of Lata Mangeshkar, Asha Bhosle presented the award to the PM on Sunday. She entertained the audience and PM Modi with the sweet humming of her late sister's evergreen soundtrack, 'Aayega Aanewala'.

Asha Bhosle became highly emotional and said that their entire family gets together each year on April 24th for the Master Deenanath Mangeshkar Awards.

It was their father's 80th death anniversary. She said, 'I never imagined that a day would come when I have to stand and speak about her like this.'

Music Sensation Taylor Swift's Childhood House Is Now For Sale At 1.1 Million USD

Taylor Swift's one of the childhood houses is put up for sale for 1.1 million USD. In the house, Swift had spent three years before she moved to Nashville to pursue singing.

Taylor Swift, the current music sensation's childhood house is now put up for sale. And the property has already found a buyer. The house where she spent three years and celebrated Christmas with her family is three-storey and has five bedrooms in it.

After her family shifted to Nashville for Taylor's singing career, Swift's family began renting the house.

The home was built in 1929, and it expands around 3500 sq ft. Taylor's family lived there until they moved to Nashville in 2004, where the singer started pursuing her career.

As per the report in the New York Post, the house is put up for sale for

1.1 million USD. It is the current price of the house after reducing the cost by 100K USD the last Friday.

In 2020, a video shared by the former owner of the house explained her connection with Taylor Swift and her family members. The woman named Sydney Render revealed that there is an imprint "TAS" on the cement outside the house which means the initials of Taylor Alison Swift. Sydney Render told, "We get a lot of fans taking pictures outside the house. I feel like there tends to be more around the holidays when people are traveling from other states and want to see it."

About Taylor's fans taking pictures of her house, she said, "If Taylor Swift has a concert in Philadelphia or somewhere close, there are more fans around that time. Our family is fine with fans taking pictures, as long as they are quick and respectful."

The singer recently praised Phoebe Bridger for his songwriting. The pair also collaborated on the song 'Nothing New'.

She said about Phoebe in an email to the Times, "I think that the specificity of Phoebe's lyrics, and the vulnerability she expresses in her voice when she delivers them, is what makes her music so deeply impactful and moving for me as a fan."

THE DISNEY+ ARTIST OLIVIA RODRIGO HAS RECEIVED A WIDE RANGE OF APPRECIATION FOR HER LEVITATING MUSICAL ATTRIBUTES

Since the nomination list for Grammy came out last September everyone was curious about the name Olivia Rodrigo. And as she won 3 Grammys at an age of 19, everyone is interested in the fact how she got this famous within such a short time. And everyone is astonished by the unbelievable success of her life, and what made her the star that she is today.

Who is Olivia Rodrigo?

She was mostly known for her portrayal of the role of Nini Salazar-Roberts in the Disney Plus series 'High School Musical: The Musical: The Series' and another Disney Plus series 'Bizaardvark'. But since she started making songs that speak of the various emotions, associated with adolescence love and breakup, and the insecurity of that age. Her debut song 'Drivers License' made her the star that she is now. The overwhelming colors and emotions of youth, and pathos come easily in these years of growing.

First Appearance

'Old Navy' commercial in 2015, within a short period after doing that commercial she appeared as the main lead on the Grace Thomas directed video movie 'Grace Stirs Up Success'.

Her Career with Disney Plus

In 2016 she was widely recognized for the role of Paige Olvera, Disney Plus series Bizaardvark's guitarist. And she was associated with the role and the show for three long years. On February 19, she was cast for the role of Nini Salazar-Roberts, for the Disney

Plus series, 'High School Musical: The Musical: The Series'. The show premiered in November of the same year. In the series, she has written the song 'All I Want'. And also co-wrote with Joshua Bassett 'Just for a Moment'. ge Olvera, Disney Plus series Bizaardvark's guitarist. And she was associated with the role and the show for three long years. In the series, she has written the song 'All I Want'. And also co-wrote with Joshua Bassett 'Just for a Moment'.

Musical Career

In 2020 she signed up with Interscope Records and Geffen Records. Her first solo track 'Driver's License' was released on the 8th of 2021. She was widely appreciated for this song and by 11th January the Spotify record broke reaching 17 million global streams. Her debut number placed her at the pinnacle place on Billboard Hot 100.

On 1st April 2021, she released her next song 'Deja Vu', which reached 8th position on Billboard hot 100. Shortly after on 14th May she released 'Good 4 U', the second that took her to the top-most position on Billboard. In May itself, to be precise on the 21st of May, she released her first studio album 'Sour'. The Gen Z artist received several nominations for her works that were released in 2021. And within a year she reached and made a wide fan base with her sheer musical talents. The top magazine 'Variety' claimed her to be 'the voice of her generation'.

On 6th December she announced her world tour which included the United States, Canada, and Europe. Shortly after that, she was named the 'Entertainer of the Year' by Time. And according to Billboard, she is the best-selling single artist in the world. 'Sour' is the third most-streamed album on Spotify and her single 'Drivers License' is the fourth most-streamed single of the year.

On 17th February the trailer of her Disney Plus documentary movie 'Driving Home 2 U (a SOUR film)' came out.

And the movie was released on 25th March 2022.

Great Success at the 64th Grammys

Rodrigo received seven nominations in the 64th Grammy Awards; she won in three of the seven categories. She received the Best New Artist; the Album of the Year for 'Sour', and 'Drivers License' won her the Record of the Year.

What made her the star?

The answer is actually described in the above line. She is a dedicated and hard-working artist who started her career at an age of twelve and thirteen. She knew she performs well and she sharpened her musical forms over the years and within a year she deluged the music industry with her cultivated musical numbers, backed-well with heart-tormenting truthful lyricism delivering lines like, 'I hope you're happy, but don't be happier'. One doesn't have to be a teenager or a Gen Z to relate to a line like this one. Her first song 'Drivers License' was associated with various controversies. But keeping that aside her song went viral on TikTok making it a trend.

The music industry has been resonating her music career with Taylor Swift and how she became a star within a short period. And Taylor Swift sang about the coming of age song with her graceful accent. Rodrigo is introducing an elevated aspect, introducing various shades of young love into her songs.

World Tour

She announced the tour in December 2021, and the 'Sour Tour' started on 2nd April. And after coving the United States she will start her Europe tour on June 11th from Hamburg Germany finally wrapping it up in Amsterdam, the Netherlands on the 22nd of June.

The 64th Grammy Awards Was Outshined By The Rooting Aura Of Jon Batiste, Who Won Five Grammys

The Grammy Awards 2022 have been a great success as always, the evening was exceedingly enjoyable by the performances of Justin Bieber and BTS along with many more artists.

The 64th Grammy took place on the 3rd of April, 2022 at the MGM Garden Arena in Las Vegas, while the nomination for the show was done by the end of September last year. And formally the show was about to take place on 31st January. But due to COVID 19 omicron variant, the ceremony got delayed. This is the first time that Grammy is held in Sin City. Hosted by Trevor Noah and distributed by the CBS network. And each year this award ceremony honors musicians with this prestigious award for their musical contribution since 1959.

Unlike the previous years, this year's numbers of categories were 86 instead of 84. Jon Batiste won five awards from his eleven nominations including the Album of the Year, Best Music Video, and Best American Roots Performer. Olivia Rodrigo bagged three Grammys including the Best New Artist and Best Solo Performance.

Silk Sonic won the Song of the Year for the song 'leave the Door Open' along with Best R&B Performance. Doja Cat and SZA had the Best Pop Duo for 'Kiss Me More'. Lady Gaga and Tony Bennett won Best Traditional Pop Vocal Album for 'Love for Sale'.

Foo Fighter, after meeting with the devastating demise of Taylor Hawkins, won in two categories of Best Rock Performance and Best Rock Song for the 'Waiting on a War' number. H.E.R. had the Best Traditional R&B Performance award for 'Fight for Me'.

Kanye West, The Weekend, and Lil baby won the Best Melodic Rap Performance for the song 'Hurricane'.

Yet, Ye got another Grammy along with Jay-Z for 'Jail'.

Arooj Aftab won the Best Global Music Performance for 'Mohabbat'. And Falu won the Best Children's Music Album of 'A Colorful World'. And Summer of Souls won the Best Music Film section. Zelenskyy appeared through a prerecorded video, saying about the humanitarian crisis.
