Nayeon Has Made It to The Billboard 200 Albums Chart with Her Solo Album

‘IM NAYEON’ by Nayeon has become the top 10 Billboard 200 Albums chart. With the solo debut, the K-Pop girl group artist has achieved big recognition.

Nayeon from TWICE has made it to the Billboard 200 Albums chart. Billboard has recently released the Billboard 200 Albums chart and it has stunned everyone as Nayeon has got into the top 10 charts. It has ranked one of the most popular albums in the United States. She is the first K-pop solo artist to hold such a position.

As a group TWICE has got into the Billboard 200 but it is a great achievement for Nayeon because she got recognition for her solo creation. ‘IM NAYEON’ was also the best-selling album of the week in the United States along with the number 1 position on the Billboard Top Album Sales chart. According to 30th June, it has sold 52000 albums and became the best-selling album. Along with that, ten thousand fans of the South Korean girl Nayeon have shown their support by not only streaming the EP but have bought CDs in droves. This album got so much appreciation from all around the world in such a short period of time. This album was released on 24th June and is achieving so much success for its musical excellence.

Before this, TWICE got the top 10 position for their studio album ‘Formula Of Love: T+O=<3’ and mini-album ‘Taste of Love’. With its musical caliber, this girl group has reached out to a worldwide audience. Their musical flow has garnered a lot of listeners.

This K-Pop band has taken the culture of music to another level.

After BTS and BLACKPINK, this band has taken the position of one of the prolific K-Pop bands. They have contributed a lot to the music industry with their creation. The praiseworthy soundscapes have mesmerized all the listeners.

CARDI B IS WORKING HARD ON THE COLLABORATIVE VENTURE OF A MIXTAPE WITH LIL' KIM

Cardi B has shared her interest to release an entire Spanish-Language record, and this collaboration with Queen Bee has raised the curiosity of fans of both artists

Cardi B has talked about her willingness to collaborate with Lil' Kim for her upcoming album. She also has said that she wants to write with her husband Offset. Cardi B said in a detailed interview with Hot 97, "I want Lil' Kim on my album," before she gradually revealed that she has already "hit her up".

Her interest in Lil' Kim has been explained by Cardi B well enough. She explained "debating another song because I kinda want her on this one too." She added, "What I really wanted to do was like an 'Aunt Dot' with her (Lil' Kim's 2014 track with Lil' Shanice) but then I'm kinda debating, is that gonna be a little bit outdated? I just want the song I do with her, I want it to be like a super great comeback."

She continued, "I just don't want to put her on my album on a song and it's like, 'Cool, yeah, she had a Lil' Kim feature.' I want this to be like her insane moment."

Her enthusiasm for working with Lil' Kim, "It just has to be,

'Oh my god, they're a great duo.' That's what I really want with Kim, like something that just makes sense."

Recently Cardi B revealed her plans for a full-length collaboration with Migos member Offset in another interview. She has worked with Lil Yatchy in 2018 for the single 'Who Want the Smoke?' and another from Offset's 2019 project titled 'Father of 4' song 'Clout'.

Cardi B said, "After I do this album, I do want to do a mixtape with my husband 'cause I love how he raps," continuing, "He could rap his ass off. I'm really, really a fan." Apart from these two ideas she also has shared her interest to make a full-length Spanish-language album.

She told the media, "I feel like that's more pressure to me than anything, because that Latin world, they want it, but I feel like it's not as easy as people think," adding more, "It's like, 'Oh, you speak Spanish, you can just do a Spanish song.' No. 'Cause, they're a little bit different. That's a different world right there but I wanna try it." Her collaboration with Kanye West and Lil Durk 'Holy Shit' just dropped earlier this month.

AMY WINEHOUSE BIOPIC WILL NOW BE DIRECTED BY SAM TAYLOR-JOHNSON

A biopic of late English singer-songwriter Amy Winehouse has been in talks for a long time since 2018 to be exact. The film will now be directed by director Sam Taylor-Johnson.

Sam Taylor-Johnson is best known for directing popular movies like 'Fifty Shades of Grey' and 'Nowhere Boy'. The film about the Camden singer is to be titled, 'Back To Black' and the script will be written by Matt Greenhalgh, who was in the team of Johnson's 'Nowhere Boy'. The co-producers of the movie are Alison Owen, Studiocanal, Tracey Seaward, and Debra Hayward.

The film, 'Back To Black' is to be based on the book 'Saving Amy' by Daphne Barak. The book is based on the six months of filming that consists of 40 hours of footage, a lot of exclusive photos, and notes that the author finished with Winehouse and her family members in the last three years of her life before she died of alcohol poisoning back in 2011 at the age of only 27.

Winehouse's family members confirmed that they have acquired a multi-million-pound deal for a biopic of Amy in 2018. At that time the film was said to be directed by Owen. Winehouse's father Mitch Winehouse even stated that they were 'very much looking forward' to informing the world about the 'real Amy' through the film. But last year it was Mitch Winehouse revealed that the 'Back To Black' film was '100% not allowed' because the makers did not even approach the family or Amy's record label Universal for the film.

As per the reports of TMZ, her father told the news outlet at the time, 'They can't be that stupid. Everyone knows proper licenses must be granted.'

In the 2021 BBC TV documentary about Amy Winehouse named, 'Reclaiming Amy', Mitch Winehouse appeared with his wife Janis. The documentary was released on the 10th death anniversary of the singer. Another documentary about the singer named, 'Amy' was also released in 2015 by Asif Kapadia. The Winehouse family was also openly critical of the documentary. This is the second attempt to make an Amy Winehouse biopic after a 2015 project was abandoned. It was supposed to be directed by Kristen Sheridan and in which Noomi Rapace was to play the role of Winehouse. Mitch Winehouse stated before that he would not allow his daughter's music to be licensed for a biopic.

Popular Singer Phoebe Bridgers Is Back in the News Yet Again After Giving an Interview to MSNBC

The songwriter shared her view on the questions and issues regarding women's rights and abortion rights. She also expressed concern regarding the government's role. Phoebe Bridgers is a very popular name in the American and also international music industry. The singer recently discussed how her pro-choice attitude and campaigning for abortion rights have been received by fans on the MSNBC news show The Beat With Ari Melber.

In the interview, which aired on Sunday night (July 12), Melber asked Bridgers if she had ever witnessed audience members leave her performances when she brought up the subject of abortion. She said she's only seen it happen "A couple of times" and that she frequently feels like she's "preaching to the choir" because her fan base is primarily liberal.

She said, "It's always validating, in some way." She continued by adding, "It's nice to know that a message is getting to somebody that disagrees with me." In light of Roe v. Wade, the historic 1973 decision that made abortion legal on a federal level, being overruled by the US Supreme Court in June, Melber then questions if she thinks young people are aware of the difficulties surrounding access to abortion.

She said, "I think people are terrified." She continued, "We have a dollar from each ticket [on Bridgers' tour] going to the Mariposa Fund, which is an abortion fund based in Santa Fe. There's all kinds of things that we can do, but I hate that the responsibility has been thrown on these grassroots organizations instead of the government." Access to and care for abortion have frequently been the focus of Bridgers' charitable activities. She participated in a virtual performance benefitting Planned Parenthood in October 2020.

She also co-wrote the anti-abortion song "Miracle Of Life" with Bright Eyes at this period, reiterating her pro-choice stance.

A year later, she recorded a rendition of Bo Burnham's "That Funny Feeling" for charity, with all sales going to Texas-based organizations that promote abortion rights. Bridgers led the audience in chanting "fuck the Supreme Court" during a recent performance at Glastonbury.

The American singer-songwriter is presently on her "Reunion Tour," which will take her to Lollapalooza Paris this weekend after she performs in the Czech Republic on Thursday night (July 14).

METAPHYSICAL Is Resilient in His Passion for Hip-Hop Music, Listen to the Best Song of the Artist 'The Dirt'

Artist METAPHYSICAL has been consistent in his endeavor to produce some spiritually and mentally uplifting songs. Having experienced a long journey of hustles, the artist developed his lofty craftsmanship which helps him write some glorious hip-hop tracks. His journey to become an artist has been filled with a lot of struggles. However, it was his dedication to composing music that held him up in his tough times. One incident that changed his life was held in 1994. A car accident sent him into coma. When he got up from an extended period of unconsciousness he had to learn to talk and walk again. But that incident helped him find the essence of his life.

Having endured the pain of epilepsy, which caused him to lose his job, he became stronger in life. He lost almost everything- his home, family, job, and money. However, he developed a never-give-up mentality over time and turned his life to music. Even though he was homeless, he never stopped following his passion. He wrote one of the best songs of his career, 'The Dirt'.

The music genius METAPHYSICAL has given some brilliant hip-hop songs to hip-hop music lovers. His name, Metaphysical means beyond physical. His songs truly signify his name as they blur the line between physicality and spirituality. Some extraordinary songs given by the rapper are 'Kept Dumb', 'Gene Rodenberry Theory', 'Anonymous' and others. His music is a mirror of his own beliefs and personality, fearing God and being blessed to be guarded by him.

It is a song he wrote when he was homeless. His homelessness made him realize the importance of spirituality in life. It got him to have an elevated attitude toward life. His song will help listeners understand the fact that "ORIGINALITY IS THE BEST PERSONALITY." It is the sheer dedication to music and passion for songwriting that have enabled him so a deeply moving song. Moreover, he has followed all the essential techniques of songwriting which has made his track multilayered, delicate, and highly inspiring. The use of rhetoric has added some extra qualitative layers to his track. So, listen to the song, 'The Dirt' and all his other songs on Reverbnation. The artist is very versatile and dedicated to contributing to the music industry as best as he can. To get all the latest updates on his music, listen to his songs on Soundcloud, Apple Music, and Spotify.

Be Consumed by This Prolific Artist Peter Lake Music and His Exceptionally Driven Number 'Stones'

Music is an ecstatic form of expression, and this is where Peter Lake Music is marvelous. When the world is after recognition and fames this man is releasing music celebrating his anonymity. This unique Canadian-born artist is one of a kind music artist who has been extremely in every musical form. He is a Singer and a songwriter and a music producer as well. After spending quite a time in this music industry he is still convinced by these unique ways of making promoting music. Being a music artist himself he restrains himself from conducting live concerts and tours. Preventing himself from a physically tiring concert will give him more time to make more new songs like 'Stones'.

Musical Career

He is from the United States and a New York-based music artist and producer. And he has been extremely amicable in his creative form of musical craft. The wholesome and hearty music that he makes is very elevating as well as consuming. From warm feelings

Latest Release

Peter is a very successful music producer in this industry; he has put forward a large singer-songwriter catalog. And Peter Lake Music has stated the fact clearly and out loud that he just wants to humbly make music and indulge his time in music and nothing else. And this true nature is profoundly seen thin the track 'Stones'.

If you listen to this song closely you will be able to see that there are various genres and multiple flavors are infused into this one track. And the unity despite the diversity will ensure the charm that he cast upon his listeners with his simplest musical arrangements.

The blissful concoction will surely offer you a great time hearing the song. The song is available on Spotify and SoundCloud. Follow his website along with his Instagram and YouTube profiles.

Celebrate the Life and the Journey of Life With Aj Mclovely and Her Heart-Melting Number 'Breathe'

Extremely prolific artist Aj Mclovely is celebrating life and every moment of it with her exceptional track. Being widely famous she has decided to be back on the stage for more indulging tracks soaked in her musical supremacy. Her 'Breathe' will make your heart melt with the soothing yet overwhelming rejoices of living. From cinematic brilliance in her video to her undeniably magical voice and her heavenly aura will fascinate any music lover deeply. Her musical self as well as her gifted talents are widely appreciated by her audience. Aj Mclovely is synonymous with melody and musical brilliance.

DMR: What should we call you apart from your lovely name?

Aj Mclovely: Aj, it is short for Amanda-Jane and has just kind of stuck throughout the years.

DMR: Can you share more about this beautiful track 'Breathe'?

Aj Mclovely: Yes, of course. Breathe was written by myself after i was inspired on the school run one morning. It is about loss and how we are affected after someone we love dies. This was my take on how i deal with those tough days, when you really miss them, and I felt it was a beautiful sentiment to imagine them living on all around us in everything we do in our daily lives.

DMR: You have said that you were 10 and since then you have been in love with music. But when have you decided that you want to pursue music as a career?

Aj Mclovely: I was singing as soon as i could talk but I would say i was about 10 when i really got "into" my music. I didnt decide I wanted to pursue a career in music until much later on in life-my early twenties. I dabbled in a few bits and pieces in my early to mid twenties but then got married and had two children close together, and so focused on family life. I only really got back into it again when my life circumstances changed massively and music became my release, my happy place and what kept me going-that was in my thirties.

DMR: Any childhood memory regarding music or performing that you would like to share with your fans?

Aj Mclovely: Yes. Quite a few but the main ones would be, performing in a talent show in my final year at secondary school, as a spice girls tribute act-it was amazing fun and we choreographed dance routines and everything and another one would be performing on stage at the emmerdale extravaganza event in Aberdeenshire-the only time my late dad and late grandad ever saw me perform. I sang Faith Hill's, There You'll Be and Alanah Myles', Black Velvet.

DMR: You have a huge fan base from around the globe, what is the next goal you are setting to achieve?

Aj Mclovely: Thank you.

I feel very blessed to have the following I have all around the globe. I believe lockdown really helped with that. It brought a lot of people together online. My next goal would be to keep on growing! Already Breathe has been played at funerals, Hold On has saved lives and Bleeding Heart has had many people up dancing at gigs. I believe music should be shared and affect people. If your music can touch just one person, that is a gift but ideally i would like it to touch many more people and affect their life in a postive way.

DMR: Are you willing to collaborate with your contemporaries to make songs or do you want to keep this journey an individual one?

Aj Mclovely: Yes, i really enjoy collaborating with others and have done already. Its really nice to work on something with another person or persons and it's lovely for connecting. I do love my solo work but i also love to be a part of something.

DMR: Please share what are the genres you follow or want to follow in your upcoming tracks apart from folk. Or do you want to stick to folk music and deliver more numbers soaked in these charming folk vibes?

Aj Mclovely: To be honest I've never really put myself in one particular genre. I would say im quite diverse like that, not only in my tastes in music but also in my own tracks-the EP really showcases this. I would say i have a strong country vibe(with Breathe) and i do LOVE country music, as it tells a story and I am a fan of many female country artists, however i LOVE dance and trance music also, and I really enjoy working on dancier projects too. I wouldnt really rule anything out but as I'm learning guitar at the moment, i feel that country and folk are probably more the vibe I am heading for.

DMR: The charismatic video of the song is a treat to watch, and the greenery is just beautiful to witness, and this cinematic celebration of life was brilliant. Is there any memory that you have while filming this video, would you share it with us?

Aj Mclovely: Thank you. I am so glad you enjoyed it. Because of the lyrics of Breathe-i really wanted the video to encapsulate nature and the feeling of loved ones being all around us. I am a huge fan of nature and its healing vibes, and i knew in my mind exactly what i wanted for the video. The location is a place thats very special to my heart and almost magical. We were on set very early in the morning, it was drizzly and dreich, as they say in Scotland, but it all just kind of worked. My favourite memory of the video was the toadstool. The most fantastic bright red, big toadstool(im a huge fan of photographing mushrooms and know quite a lot about them so it was amazing to have this WITHOUT any special effects). I just love me walking past in bare feet as its just so grounding, but also has a real fairytale feel to it.

DMR: Would you like to share any suggestions for your emerging music artist that they should while pursuing this career?

Aj Mclovely: Do it because you love it. This industry is brutal, difficult and more often than not about money and/or who you know. There are loads of fantastic artists out there who have never "made it" on a big scale or made much money from their music, singers and musicians who have never been heard of because its such a difficult industry to break in to. Remember WHY you do what you do and keep making music because it makes you happy and its what you love. If you do it for fame and money, you are in it for the wrong reasons.

DMR: Are you working on any projects now can you share a glimpse of what you are working on?

Aj Mclovely: Yes, i am working on my 5th single - The World Hasn't Stopped Turning. Its another country type ballad. The song and melody are fully in place, i am just looking for the right musician or team of musicians to bring it to life.

DMR: Apart from music what are the things that you like to do or you enjoy doing?

Aj Mclovely: I am massively into nature and nature/wildlife photography.

In fact my music page is pretty well known for my nature lives, where i go to various locations, and also my garden, and film the beautiful scenery and wildlife. My garden is a little wildlife sanctuary and i have filmed fox, deer, mice, badgers, birds and so much more to share with my fans. I also love working out, especially boxing, cooking, I'm a total foodie, and LOVE fine dining, and just chilling with good company, usually around a fire pit, nice glass of red and some tunes on.

DMR: Any messages for your fans? Where they can find you or listen to your songs?

Aj Mclovely: Yes.

A huge thank you to everyone who has supported me on my journey so far. I could not have done it without you. For anyone new to AjMclovely, you can find me at www.ajmclovely.co.uk, my music website (where you can also purchase my music and merch). My music is available on all leading music platforms such as Apple Music, Spotify, Amazon etc, and of course, my facebook page AjMclovely. I always welcome new followers, as its crucial to keep growing. My page has a unique almost family vibe and i am very proud of what has been created.

TACEY is Showcasing Her Talent With The Song 'Connmigo'

The promising and emerging artist TACEY is expanding her reach with her debut soundtrack. This artist has stunned everyone with her first piece of music, titled 'Connmigo'. The official video of this song has captivated a lot of listeners from all around the world. This artist is gaining a lot of recognition with her first-ever song. Recently we got the chance to have a chat with her and this is how it went –

Q. feel about achieving such recognition with the track?

Ans. I'm so happy my first single Connmigo is finally out and people are loving it so far! So incredibly grateful of all the love it's been receiving. Especially since it's in Spanish, it was definitely a challenge for me! It was so much fun choreographing and creating the music video to it and sharing my vision with the world!

Q. What has inspired you to make this soundtrack?

Ans. When I first heard the track Connmigo I loved it from the start! The song was a demo and it was actually part-written and sounded amazing already but I felt like something was missing and decided to change a lot of the lyrics to make it mine and personal so I could relate to it more, it needed to sound like me 100% so I made sure of it :) and I made it much more danceable so I could dance to it!

Q. .How did you come up with the idea of making 'Connmigo'?

Ans. When I started working with my producer, he introduced me to the track "Connmigo" which was actually supposed to be released by another artist a couple years ago and never came out. I first listened to Connmigo back in 2020 but decided not to record it because as that time I was more focused on recording English songs and felt like it needed to be more danceable but still always felt a intimate connection to the song. So fast forward a year later, I decided to record "Connmigo" and I added my own lyrics and melody and everything else I felt was missing to the track to fit me. I was already envisioning the music video and the dancing and I'm really proud of what it became!

Q. Is there any special incident you would like to share from the making of 'Connmigo'?

Ans. Fun fact, so actually my first and main language is English but I really love singing and making Latin music, I guess it's in my blood :) so I took it as a challenge to make more music in Spanish and decided to release Connmigo as my first single!!

Q. Who has encouraged you to become a musician?

Ans. I always felt like I was born into art in general, I knew since I can remember that the entertainment industry was my thing and growing up performing on stage I knew that it was what I wanted to be all my life. As a dancer I grew up around all types of music dancing to so many different styles of dance and being exposed to all genres, I learned to appreciate and to love music from a very young age and that definitely inspired me to make music myself but the long term goal for me was always to be an entertainer, not just a singer.

Q. How do you manage to do everything?

Ans. I think the key to manage and balance everything is to have a positive outlook in life. I like to set goals and accomplish them and to always just keep focus on my work. Everyone has a different path and it's okay to slow down and take your time and go at your own pace, just as long as you keep going and doing what you love.

Q. Along with singing, you are also skilled in dancing, anything you would like to say about this?

Ans. Dancing 100% inspires my music. I've been dancing since I was four growing up performing to so many big artists songs. Being a dancer is a lifestyle and dance has taught me so many lessons that I easily apply to my singing career every day. Dancing is a big part of me and I'm the kind of artist who I am today because of dance.

Q. Where did you learn to make music?

Ans. I grew up listening to music 24/7 because of dance but I started making music full time when I was 15 in LA. Being professional in everything I do is very important to me, I have been preparing and getting ready for years because I respect the industry and I like to be proud of everything I put out there. I'm still very young, which means that there's so much to learn and I'll always continue growing and working on myself and my art.

Q. Are you working on something right now?

Ans. I have and currently been working on so many projects right now in which hopefully I'll get to share really soon!

Q. When we will get to see your next project?

Ans. I'm releasing my next song and music video very very soon!

Q. Any concert or shows you are planning to do?

Ans. There are no dates set yet, but I'm definitely planning and will do a lot of shows in the future! I can't wait!

Q. Would you like to give any message to your fans?

Ans. I'll always be so very grateful for all my fans who support my dancing/music journey along the way since I was a little girl and to remember to love yourself, not care about what anyone else says about you, have big dreams, have goals, and keep going! When you work hard everything is possible.

'No I Won't' is the Song from Antonio Jean that Can Seamlessly Connect With Your Feelings

Talented and rising music artist Antonio Jean has come up with his latest launch titled “No I Won’t.” The enchanting 5 minutes of the song speak volumes about relationships that listeners can relate themselves to.

The initials of the song start with rocking guitar nodes, gradually progressing with the artist’s high-pitched voice accompanying the lyrics perfectly. The artist has tried to portray the reality of today’s generation where people are full of complicated relationships with almost everyone. The energetic yet meaningful pop production from the artist has touched many hearts. Music artists of this caliber are quite rare to find in today’s musical space.

Antonio Jean is a pop music artist who was raised in Washington D.C. While aged 13, the artist moved to North Carolina, where he continued his higher studies. After losing his mother back in 2018, the artist decided to pursue his musical career without looking back any further. After struggling with multiple hardships and financial problems, the artist is back on the track with some of the most mesmerizing productions the global music community has ever seen. The artist hopes that each of his releases can cheer up the audience and only spread the positive vibes instead of the negative ones.

Being an upcoming artist, the discography of the pop master is a unique one. Well, considering the flair of the artist, it has to be said that the artist has a knack for coming up with unique subject matters through his music. Taking pop music to newer heights with a slight touch of alternative rock, the artist has so far released two other singles to his name. The songs “What Do We Do Without Love?” and “Need” has crossed 27.7k and 2.2k plays on the music-streaming platform Spotify respectively.

The latest release from the artist in the form of “No I Won’t” is a masterpiece in itself. Whether it is the concept, composing, or even the execution, every aspect of the song has been covered in an exceptional way.

“Nosotros” by Mileisy M. Has Amazed Music Admirers from Every Corner of the World

Rising music producer and music video director Mileisy M. has launched yet another masterpiece titled “Nosotros.” The mesmerizing ballad produced by the artist has gone on to catch the attention of listeners worldwide within a very short time. The remastered edition of the song by the artist features some of the best Cuban and Spanish musical elements, which further defines the beauty of the number. The artist has tried to include her own version of rich lyrics and flawless violin tunes in the song. As the song was written by Pedro Junco back in the 1930s, the artist has tried her best in making a fusion of Spanish and Cuban cultures and has perfectly portrayed the interconnectedness with the song.

Mileisy M. is a New York-based versatile jazz violinist, music composer, music video director, and music entrepreneur. The artist was influenced and mentored by the renowned jazz violinist Miss Regina Carter. In some of her productions, she has also worked with Miss Carter who has played a major role in her music career. Mileisy also has had the experience of working with several renowned names in the music industry, along with Grammy winner Arturo O’Farill. Intending to incorporate new musical elements, varying textures and forms of music, and rhythms that can touch hearts, the artist has established a firm position in the current professional musical space.

The artist loves to experiment with music by going beyond the traditional genres and comes up with something new every time she launches a track.

Talking about the artist’s musical contributions, the latest release by her is the first production in which she has sung. The other two productions from the artist “Pass Out Then Alive” and “Decisions” feature some of the best blends of violin melody and heart-capturing beats. The presentation and performance by the artist in each of her songs display unique creativity that many artists lack in today’s musical space. With the newly released single, this also happens to be the first time that the artist has decided to provide an excellent re-mastering.

The latest release, “Nosotros,” is a musical ballad that has all the necessary elements to stand out. Be it the guitar nodes or the violin tunes, or even the artist’s soothing vocals, every aspect of the song has been perfectly executed by the artist. The flamenco fusion provided by the artist at the end of the song highlights the music cultures between Cuba and Spain. The never-ending magic of Spanish music has once again been highlighted for every music lover to cherish. Stream the track on Tidal, Deezer, Amazon Music, VEVO, YouTube Music, Apple Music, and Spotify. Follow Mileisy M. on Instagram for more information.

Be Charmed With the Ecstatic Musical Graph of Makenna Rochelle in Her Supremely Crafted Number 'Ghost'

Residing in the most nurtured genre of pop, Makenna Rochelle has always wanted to offer some compelling versions of her musicality. From her musical diction to her gripping vocal qualities, she has been one of the most daunting performers of this age. The simplicity and the poignant elegance that her songs deliver are very charming to witness. She has some unique ways that seamlessly portray the usual serenity along with proactive vibrations. The first time you listen to her fresh release 'Ghost' you will understand the eminent poise the song offers. Any music lover will indulge their time to experience the charming aura of the song. Being the beauty that she is and her graceful voice makes her presence and her vibes more heavenly than it is already.

She was always fond of music and the reason behind this fondness was the plays and karaoke nights that she has seen since a very young age. But her passion was somehow overshadowed by the time and other things until the pandemic hit the world hard. And she felt the urge to follow her passion and accelerated the ways and started writing songs once again. By the spring of 2021 Makenna Rochelle first tasted popularity with her two of the most gravitating numbers 'Psycho' and 'Version of You'. And the popularity has triggered her to make more songs soaked in the purest vibes of her musical accent. She offered songs like 'Three, Two, One', 'On est tout', 'Everyone But Me', 'Heart', 'Letters to Ghosts', 'Alors Alors', 'Tatoués

Dans ma tête', 'When She Loved Me' and some more grooving heartfelt tracks and her debut album 'Letters to Ghosts'.

Verses of this heartfelt song are written by Connor Scott and Rochelle herself. And along with these heavenly lyrics, she has performed the song in such a way that it makes you feel the warmth of her voice. She has produced the song and has co-distributed it under exclusive license to Atlant ic Records. She has been working under exclusive license to Atlantic Records since the initial days of her career and now she has begun to produce as well. Her driven nature and her vocal qualities deliver the most prominent hits of this age. Her career is going to ace this race as she has all the qualities that should be enough for one of the biggest names of this age. 'Ghost' is available on Spotify and Apple Music; you can also follow her on YouTube, Instagram, and Twitter.

Lizzo's Just-Out Music Album "Special" is More Than 12 Self-Assuring Tracks & Exuberant Pop Performance

4.5/5

By Daily Music Roll

Lizzo is a joy facilitator more than any other current pop star, or we may say bop star. Additionally, Lizzo's debut album since she rose to fame as a festival-slaying celebrity is titled "Special." "Truth Hurts," her enormous breakout single, didn't truly take off until a few months after Lizzo released her superb third album, "Cuz I Love You," in 2019. As a result, in addition to contributions from her longtime producer Ricky Reed, "Special" also includes contributions from a number of A-list hitmakers. Lizzo is now scheduling a timer in the studio not just with Max Martin and Mark Ronson, but also with Dua Lipa co-writer Ian Kirkpatrick, Kanye West collaborator Mike Dean, and Kid Harpoon, Harry Styles' go-to producer.

All the fame and popularity don't mean that Lizzo has forgotten her own charismatic style. The singer has once again entertained the global music community with her mesmerizing talent and brilliant songwriting. The singer has left no stone unturned in expressing her core values of sisterly solidarity, self-empowerment, self-belief, and body-accepting nature in each of her songs in the newly launched album. She has referred to her past self via the opener "The Sign," which has given a beautiful portrayal of her the singer believes to be at her best and her original at all times.

The empowering nature of the song "Break Up Twice" instills a sense of confidence in every listener. Similar to 'Girls,' "Grrrls" confidently transform an outdated, sexist Beastie Boys song ('Girls') into a straightforward song about female empowerment. Infused with a romantic yet jazzy melody, the concluding number of the album titled "Coldplay" starts with a rendition of the 'Yellow' chorus. The party-vibe songs in the album are loaded with clever details. The piano line from The World's Famous Supreme Team's classic 1980s club smash "Hey DJ" is included in the lead track "About Damn Time." In order to welcome Lizzo's LGBTQ+ supporters on the dance floor, another disco anthem, "Everybody's Gay," plays on both the contemporary and historical meanings of the word 'gay.'

The most Lizzo-like method could think of to capitalize on the post 'Blinding Lights' passion for 90s pop sound is to sound somewhat like the Pointer Sisters on the delirious future blockbuster "2 Be Loved (Am I Ready)." Unlike other artists, Lizzo trends her own style and then adds a bold and confident key shift for a perfect measure in her songs. Every song from her fresh album speaks a thousand meanings on the modern concerns of the so-called adaptive and broad-minded society. On the other hand, "Naked" is a song that speaks about making your partner accept the way you are. It is a ballad where Lizzo has emphasized the line 'I'm a big girl, can you take it?' The other song, "I Love You Bitch" is a shamelessly-confident approach from Lizzo where the singer has talked about the spicy way to handle text messages from your partner. Given Lizzo's immensely uplifting message, it may be expected that "Special" occasionally borders on cheesiness. But it's so cheesy that you won't be able to resist. In the song, "Birthday Girl," Lizzo has spread some light on the way you should treat yourself whenever you are having your birthday. Coming to the conclusion, it has to be said that the music industry is witnessing someone who is absolutely fearless and passionate about her approach. The latest album will act as a shield for all the people who face low self-esteem and always progresses with low confidence. The album is about empowering your inner-self of yours and ruling the world in your own ways. Listen to all the 12 songs and enjoy a fascinating span of 35 minutes with Lizzo's new album "Special," streaming on Spotify.

Acoustic and peaceful in nature, and combined with soft vocals of Billie Eilish, newly launched songs “TV” and “30th” are making the EP “Guitar Songs” popular.

Two new acoustic-driven songs, including “TV”, which Billie Eilish and brother Finneas debuted during a U.K. performance in June, and the brand-new song “The 30th”, have been officially released by Billie Eilish as Guitar Songs.

For the first time in five years, Eilish and Finneas performed “TV” live on June 7 at the AO Arena in Manchester, England. Eilish also went on to claim that “We haven’t played a new song live before it’s out since 2017 or 2018.” The singer stated that “The 30th” was composed last December and was the first song she wrote after “happier Than Ever” in an interview with Zane Lowe on Apple Music 1. The main mystery behind the song “The 30th” lies in an incident that happened back on November 30th when she was with Finneas, as described by Billie. As always, the heart-warming vocals and the soothing guitar nodes in the track bring a unique melody. By analyzing the lyrics, one can understand that it must have been a tragic incident that led Billie to compose such a song. The rising intensity and the pace of the lyrics in the middle of the song portray and focus ultimately on the lyric ‘You’re alive you’re alive you’re alive.’

Billie Eilish also revealed that the songwriting for “TV” took her several months as she and her brother had very little time to make music while being on a tour. The singer also said that the first verses of the song were completed early, returning later months after to complete the remaining verses of the song. The emotional blend of ear-soothing tunes of this song is capable of calming down the heart of listeners. Lyrics like ‘Now all of my friends, are missing again, cause that’s what happens when you fall in love’ dictate how the life of an individual changes when they fall in love with their partners, and the distance with their friends goes on increasing. The song eventually ends with the lyrics of crowd sheering along with the voice of Billie ‘Baby I Baby I, Baby I’m the problem.’ Without a doubt, it has to be said that the slowcore edge and accessible emotion in both songs have made an appeal to every listener to cherish their present moments of life. The instrumentals, the beats, and the flow of both tracks have also perfectly accompanied her voice.

The EP is now streaming on all major platforms including Spotify. Follow Billie Eilish on all social media platforms for more information and updates.

ALEX RODRIGUEZ HAS SHARED HIS THOUGHTS ON JENNIFER LOPEZ IN A RECENT INTERVIEW WITH IHEARTRADIO

Former basketball player Alex Rodriguez said that he has "no regrets" following his breakup with Jennifer. He also labeled Jennifer Lopez as the best human being. Alex Rodriguez and Jennifer Lopez are probably some of the most famous names in the international music industry.

Jennifer Lopez has been globally renowned for her talent for singing, as the singer has been entertaining the global music community for many years. Well, life between Alex Rodriguez and Jennifer Lopez, as it seems, has taken different turns as both of they are now considering their new future.

Fans were startled to learn that Jennifer Lopez and Alex Rodriguez had called off their engagement in March of last year. But a year later, both celebrities are doing well in their private lives. Ben Affleck and the Marry Me actress have since rekindled their romance, and in April, they became engaged (again).

Meanwhile, the former Yankees player recently revealed to Martha Stewart on her iHeartRadio podcast how content and healthy he has been feeling lately.

When Stewart first questioned Rodriguez about how life had been since J. Lo, he responded that he had "no regrets." He said, "I'm very fortunate. I wake up every morning and thank the good Lord for my health, for my beautiful daughters, who are now 17 and 14. That is my number one focus in life."

The former baseball player-turned-businessman, 46, added that there is absolutely no animosity still present from their breakup. He said, "Look, we had a great time. More importantly, we always put the kids front and center in everything we do. Here's what I will tell you about Jennifer, and I was telling some of my colleagues here the other day, she's the most talented human being I've ever been around."

"Hardest worker," he continued. "And I think she is the greatest performer, live performer in the world today that's alive."

Rodriguez and Lopez started dating in 2017, and in 2019 they made their engagement public. They initially spent the weekend at home with their blended family, which also included Rodriguez's children Ella and Natasha with ex-wife Cynthia Scurtis and the "On the Floor" singer's twins Maximilian "Max" David and Emme Maribel, whom she shares with ex-husband Marc Anthony.

However, the Covid-19 pandemic ultimately forced them to cancel their initial wedding plans, and soon after, the pair made their breakup public.

BREAK MY SOUL

A familiar house anthem from

RENAISSANCE

The Queen Bey of the music industry is channelizing the power to overcome with her latest musical representation 'Break My Soul', the first single from the upcoming album 'Renaissance'.

Beyhive is buzzing loudly with the latest single from the album 'Renaissance' has surfaced. The track is titled 'Break My Soul', an upbeat and peppy musical creation which is bringing back the taste of '90s dancer and disco pop music along with Beyoncé's magical vocal skills. The singer has done a masterful job in creating this track offers a party mood along with an ample dose of invigoration and optimism as well. With the musical halt during the pandemic phase, many musical concerts, as well as ongoing projects, have been canceled. Now, that the turmoil is over; Queen Bey is making her epic comeback with the latest album 'Renaissance' which is her seventh studio album.

The album is all set to release on July 19 this year and global music lovers are waiting for it.

The latest track 'Break My Soul' is Queen Bey's attempt to depict the struggles of the commoner who has gone through a fair share of suffering and depression, loss of job, mental issues, and so on. The track is well written and each verse sounds relatable to the relevant situation. Right after the hook, the singer starts singing "I just fell in love and I just quit my job/I'm gonna find the new drive, damn they work me so damn hard." Quite relatable isn't it? Yes, Beyoncé has once again proved that she does not have to work 9 to 5 in order to feel what her fans are going through.

The singer has creatively crafted this song that shares the stories of suffering while portraying a brighter side with determination and zeal. Fans would agree to have goosebumps at the moment when the singer said, You won't break my soul/And I'm tellin' everybody". The track is powerful, robust, and offers an engaging musical essence that pushes forward every listener.

While most listeners and music critics were waiting for something new to pop up, the singer surprised everyone by offering something strangely familiar.

The mid-tempo house track does not overwhelm its subject matter with the overly technical musical approach but keeps it apt and just to the ears. The singer also assures us that she is doing well now and all of her fans should try to move on with their lives too. One of the lines from the song says, "Bey is back and I'm sleeping real good at nights." Truly, Queen Bey has come up with inspirational musical creations.

THE OTHER SIDE OF BILLIE EILISH: 10 UNKNOWN FACTS

There are a lot of Billie Eilish fans out there but does everybody know about the little secrets about this ‘Ocean Eyes’ singer? Perhaps the fans really need to know about the other side of the pop mogul of the industry. This talented young singer has made some significant progress in her musical career in the last few years. Her unwavering personality, fashion sense, and incredible vocal talent have ignited a fire among music lovers as well as her young fan base of her through highly relatable lyricism that speaks about the struggles of life.

Other than worldwide fame and musical contributions, there are a lot of things about the singer that the world is still unaware of. Get to know about the 10 unknown facts about Billie Eilish that every fan should be aware of.

Songwriting from the age of 11

Songwriting requires immense skills and a poetic persona that does not happen overnight. However, Eilish has garnered ample attention for her songwriting skills from the beginning of her musical career. The singer has been nurturing her skills in songwriting since she was only 11 years old, a member of the Los Angeles Children's Choir. In an interview with Vogue, the singer said that choir was one of the first platforms that helped her develop her singing skills without ruining her original vocal essence. Honing her skills in singing from the heart helped her to come up with her own tracks.

Billie was homeschooled

Though she joined the choir at 11, Billie and her brother Finneas were homeschooled by their parents. They learned all the subjects like school along with music which their parent especially preferred. The singer shared with Vogue that homeschooling helped her and her brother to focus on music more than anything. It is a good decision that paved the way to work on their interests.

3/10.

Finneas is the biggest mentor

Talking about her brother, Eilish always said that her brother is not only just one of her closest friends but also one of the greatest mentors behind her music. He helps her write all of her songs as well as performs with her in the shows and concerts to support her. Finneas has written and produced all of the 14 tracks from the album "When We Fall Asleep, Where Do We Go?". Perhaps, his brother is helping her to spread the deep feelings inside her through these amazing musical compositions.

She has Tourette Syndrome

A lot of people might not know but the singer is a sufferer of Tourette Syndrome. Being in the spotlight as a young adult singer could be a daunting task when one has to deal with personal issues as well. Many viewers might have already seen the Eilish made little tics and odd movements in some portions of the music videos. People who are unaware of the syndrome made fun of her. However, Billie's indomitable spirit was not easy to crush. The singer declared to the world about her suffering from Tourette Syndrome and how she is trying every day to have better control of it.

The Real reason behind wearing baggy clothes

While most of her fans are drooling over her baggy clothes and funky attires, the real reason behind it is truly saddening. In this era, body shaming and sexualizing have become a common element and when it is regarding a talented artist, things get even twisted. She deliberately wears baggy clothes in order to avoid getting sexualized like the other celebrity singers. She is currently 20 years old and it is heartbreaking to see a young talented artist conditioning and restricting herself due to an ill perspective.

A fan of Justin Bieber

Billie Eilish is one of the biggest fanatics of Justin Bieber and she has always been openly talking about it. Her fandom has reached Justin as well and now, they are good friends. In an interview with Zane Lowe, Justin said that he would do anything to keep Billie safe. Such a remark is sweet enough to melt the hearts of the fans.

Self-control over life and social media

With over 64 million followers on Instagram, it might seem quite difficult to maintain all the social media accounts alone for young celebrity singers. But Billie is making a difference by handling everyone alone without any influence from the managers. All of her posts make the followers feel she is a part of the common mass well. However, she does not answer everyone.

Billie hates smiling

Other than laughing out loud in an interview, it can be a pretty rare sight to witness the singer smiling. Even the photographers would agree that it is hard to expect a smile coming from Billie during the shoot or working on any musical project. The singer once said that smiling makes her feel weak and powerless.

9/10.Vegan Eilish

It is pretty common for such a huge plant and animal lover like Billie Eilish to be a complete Vegan persona. She was a fully-fledged vegan since 2014 and prefers to eat the only vegetable-based product, avoiding meat and animal-based products. Eilish once appeared on the show 'Hot Ones' where the celebrities try put chicken wings complimented by some of the hottest and spiciest sauces around the world. The singer had soy-based fake chicken instead of real ones.

10/10. 'The Office' Fan

When it comes to favorite series, Billie is always up for 'The Office'. Many of her fans might have thought differently but there is no doubt that this wholesome and humorous series is her favorite of Eilish. She even utilized some of the lines and samples from the episode "Threat Level Midnight" from season 7 for her track "My Strange Addiction". It is safe to say, 'The Office' is one of her addictions.

THE MUSIC VIDEO FOR BLACKPINK'S COMEBACK WILL HAVE YG ENTERTAINMENT'S HIGHEST PRODUCTION BUDGET EVER

The filming for BLACKPINK's upcoming music video is reportedly already underway. Earlier this month, they also wrapped up the recording of their upcoming album.

Fans of BLACKPINK were treated to an intriguing update on July 26 by YG Entertainment. The four-member girl group is currently filming the music video for their upcoming comeback. What's more intriguing is that the upcoming video will have the highest budget of any project the agency has ever undertaken.

It demonstrates the agency's dedication to making the musical comeback of the Kill This Love female group a delight for all. To the delight of fans, the agency has also confirmed that the group would return the following month.

Fans have endured two long years of waiting (and several rumors), and now, BLACKPINK's official comeback is eventually getting closer. The album, which was released in Korea on October 2, 2020, was the final album by the four-member female group. Jennie, Rose, Jisoo, and Lisa have since engaged in solo projects while also releasing a few collaborations with Western musicians now and again. The announcement by YG Entertainment of the group's largest production to date has sparked a passionate appeal for enthusiasm from the BLINK fan base worldwide. The Ice Cream musicians are almost through with the recording of their new album and are already in the middle of making their song video.

BLINKs were delighted by the news, especially because the agency has flexed the production budget. Although the cost was not stated specifically, some of BLACKPINK's music videos cost up to 500 million KRW (approximately 382,015 USD). The girl group's lavish music videos are one of the prime reasons that draw followers. The How You Like That female group is known for its elaborate music videos that feature diamond-studded tanks, enormous traps, and spectacular set pieces. Additionally, Lisa's LALISA and BLACKPINK were both nominated for Best Metaverse Performance at the MTV Video Music Awards, which made BLINK's happiness skyrocket.

The group's most recent song release is another factor fueling the frenzy. During their in-game concert, The Virtual, the four-member girl group teamed with PUBG MOBILE and stunned fans with an unheard song named 'Ready for Love.' On July 29, at 1 pm KST, the music video for, "Ready for Love," will be unveiled.

THE HISTORY AND CURRENT STATE INDIAN MUSIC INDUSTRY IN 2022

Music is one of the biggest parts of Indian culture and the history of music dates back to the Vedic ages. There are so many forms of music in India but Bollywood music has dominated the scene for more than 100 years. With massive digitization and the rise of streaming services, regional music has also gained traction in the mainstream music industry. Indian music has now reached a worldwide audience with the help of digitization.

IMI

The Indian Music Industry or the IMI founded on February 28, 1936, is an organization representing the recording industry distributors in India. It was named Indian Phonographic Industry or IPI when it was founded. It is the second oldest music industry organization in the world. It protects the copyrights of the music producers and helps in the growth of the music scene. It represents India at the International Federation of the Phonographic Industry or IFPI. It is registered with the West Bengal Societies Registration Act as well. Top national and international record companies in India like T-Series, Saregama India Ltd., Sony Music Entertainment, Universal Music, Virgin Records, Zee Music, and many more are parts of this organization. More than 75% of all legal music sales in India are represented by the IMI. The organization's administrative office is in Mumbai and its registered office is in Kolkata. There are other offices under IMI in various cities like Bangalore, New Delhi, Hyderabad, Chennai, and many other cities. The organization is tirelessly working to prevent piracy of music and protect the rights of the music producers. It also has been a part of the launching of the IMMIES music awards with MTV.

History

The Indian music industry had been dominated by cassette tapes in the 1980s and 1990s. The industry broke records with cassette sales of nearly 180 million units in 1990. This data includes both legal and pirated sales. India became the second biggest cassette market after the United States with that record-breaking sale. The Indian music industry was earning nearly $291 million or ₹12 billion by 1998.

At the beginning of the 2000s, the industry sold nearly 49 million cassettes every month. At the end of the 2000s, the music industry shifted to online streaming reducing the sale of cassettes, CDs, and even digital downloads.

Structure of the current Indian music industry

With the current population of young people at 1.3 billion, the music industry of India is growing rapidly. Music professionals are now considering the Indian music industry as the biggest frontier in the world. The revenues of the Indian Music Industry have experienced rapid growth over the few years. The latest rise is driven by the growing online population of the country. India's film industries, especially the Bollywood film industry still contribute greatly to the Indian music industry. Bollywood films alone produce nearly 80% of the music revenue of the country. The revenue of the Indian music industry is generated by three core businesses: recording, publishing, and live.

Recording music industry

As per the reports of the IFPI, in 2018 the recording music industry generated more than $153 million, which is more than 17% of 2017. In the same year, the revenue of streaming music rose by over 22% as streaming made up 69% of all the recording music revenues. It is also known that 80% of music consumption is contributed by film music in India and outside.

Publishing industry

The publishing music industry is still not very mature. The Music Copyright Act of India issued copyrights of the songs to the film producer up till 2012 and not to the actual songwriters. Amendments to the law have been made since then but the publishing industry still needs to make a lot of improvements as most artists do not earn from the royalties. The revenue made up by the royalties received by the songwriters and composers makes less than 1% of the total revenue of the music industry or only $4 million.

Live industry

The live music industry in India is not easy, to sum up, due to the disjointed nature of the live music scene in India. From the reports of the Indian Music Convention and PwC, it is speculated that around $280 million in revenue is generated by the live music industry in India. The ticket sales for the live music made up 30% of all live revenues as per PwC estimation. The rest of the revenue is divided into brand sponsorships, merchandise sales, private events, and more.

All three industries make up a total of $443 million for the Indian Music Industry. The country has gained the 15th position in the 2018 IFPI rankings. The music industry of India aims to take a position in the top 20 by 2022. The music industry has to maintain its growth and accelerate accordingly in the coming years to meet the goal.

Record labels

The record labels have been a part of the music industry for a long time and the biggest record label right now in India is T-Series. It has a 35% share of the Indian music market. Next to the race is Sony Music India with a 25% share in the market followed by Zee music, which is in a partnership with Sony. The other top music labels in India are Saregamapa India Ltd, Universal Music, Virgin Records, Times Music, Aditya Music, Tips Industries Limited, and many more.

International Top 20 Singles

The International Top 20 Singles chart was launched by the IMI on June 21st in 2021. ## Spotify Is Growing More with Its Podcast Strategy

The music streaming platform Spotify is gaining a lot of subscribers by giving services like podcasts. The platform has gotten 188 million subscribers recently.

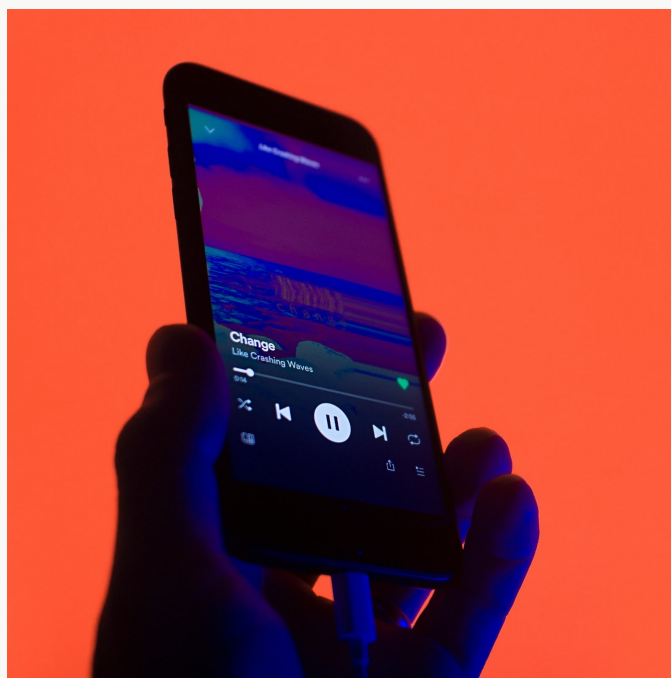

Spotify is the major music streaming platform of the present time. The number of premium subscribers of this platform has increased to 188 million in the second quarter. The monthly active users of Spotify are approximately 433 million. Over years, the number has increased drastically.

This company has experienced 14% and 19% growth in premium users and monthly active users.

Currently, it is the largest music streaming platform that is available to everyone.

This platform is getting so many users for its innovative service. Along with the vast collection of songs, they also give facilities of podcasts, which have brought more numbers of listeners. This is the reason for the growth behind this platform. It has pushed Spotify's earnings to a huge scale. On this platform, podcasts like 'The Joe Rogan Experience' and 'Breaking Bread' is available. There are a huge collection of podcasts that are available on this platform.

This company had a loss of nearly about $127 million in this quarter, but they are prioritizing subscriber growth over quarterly profit.

Now they are focusing more to give a better quality of their service to listeners rather than making more profits. They are going to attempt audiobooks as their next project according to the news.

Spotify hasn't made any announcements for its latest tier, named Spotify HiFi. It is going to be a higher-quality subscription, which they announced in February 2021.

Still now, there is no comparison of their service with other major music platforms like Amazon Music or Apple Music. This company is holding the number 1 position by giving the best assistance.

Madonna and Warner Brother Celebrates a Decade of Musical Hits with a 50-Song Album 'Finally Enough Love'

Legendary singer and performer Madonna is releasing a remix album based on her works by far. 'Finally, Enough Love', will be produced and distributed by Warner Brothers and will have 50 of her dance club numbers. And the album will release in segments, first one will have 16 songs in it and released on the 24th of June, 2022. And the second portion of the album will release on the 19th of August.

'Finally, Enough Love' has all the elements of Madonna and her unique musicality. Some of her double-sided numbers like 'Luck Star' with 'Holiday' and 'Angel' with 'Into the Groove', will be in the album. Apart from that the 16-song release will have songs like 'Vogue (Single Version)', 'Secret (Junior's Luscious Mix)', 'Hung Up', 'Girl Gone Wild', 'Medeline', 'Deep er and Deeper'.

The Queen of pop, the Diva has curated this collection and the glimpse of the album is forecasting the charming dance number of the album. She has delivered albums like Rebel Heart in 2015 and Madam X in 2019. With this album, she will deliver 50 number ones on the billboard list.

Just over a month ago on 12th May she has Warner Brothers released a 33 seconds trailer of the album. The vibrant red and black combination along with the monochromatic accent has made the look compelling. The album will be available on every digital music platform along with a download option. Her historic number, her 50th 1st on Billboard's Dance Club Songs chart 'I Don't Search I Find' made her the first and the only artist with this much of hits in her career. Madonna said, "Dance is my first love, so every ti me one of my songs is celebrated in the clubs and recognized on the charts it feels like home!!"

The only absence from this album is 1987's no. 1 'Causing a Commotion'. Her Dance Club Songs no. 1 is a complete album that was released in 1987 and topped the Billboard chart in 1988. The chart was not songs specific but an album-centric chart. Each track of this album is remixed and re-mastered by the seven-time Grammy winner Mike Dean. Previously, Dean has produced Madonna's last two releases Madam X and Rebel Heart. The last august Warner brothers have announced the release of this project and now the time has come to witness her profound music and dancing tunes in her 'Finally Enough Love' as well as her 'Finally Enough Love: 50 Number Ones'.

Wireless Festival 2022 Was A Sheer Experience for All

The brilliant performance at the Wireless festival 2022 has amazed the onlookers, even though it has faced a lot of problems due to the pandemic situation in the UK.

The last-minute act cancellation in the second London leg of Wireless has created a huge mess. The audience has shown their dissatisfaction after the dropouts of many acts. A lot of artists have backed off from the show at the last minute.

Lil Durk, JI, and Ruger have called off their set at the last moment in the weekend. The audiences have complained about this whole thing in-app notification.

Things got a little better after the remaining show started. But the artists were taking pauses continuously if they see the smallest sign of trouble. The audiences were a little happy to enjoy even a little bit after so many things happened in the show.

In the whole show, Megan Thee Stallion was the star of the show. The artist set the stage on fire with her phenomenal performance and she also said during the show 'Y'all are supposed to be twerking!'

After her performance, the Nigerian vocalist Rema showcased his talent on stage N4. The audience showed their reaction and it can be said that he can easily perform on the main stage of the music festival. His brilliant way of performing the act has mesmerized all the onlookers. After so many cancellations performances like his, all the audiences wanted to see.

Cardi B was one of the most iconic performers of the show. Her graceful performance stunned everyone.

Her way of entertaining the crowd is different than all the other artists and intrigues everyone to dance to the beat of her songs. She teased everyone by saying 'Imm'a be your stripper' and charmingly performed barefoot at the Wireless music festival.

There were a lot of artists performing that the audiences enjoyed thoroughly. The sheer performances have given them the opportunity to everyone enjoyed themselves to the fullest. Along with all these artists, there were more who joined the show.

There were renowned artists like Nicki Minaj and SZA who have taken the show to a different level.

The show has experienced many obstacles due to the current situation of the pandemic in the UK. That is why so many artists have canceled their performances. But apart from that, all the artists who have performed have tried to maintain as many safety precautions as they could.

V FROM THE BTS HAS BEEN CROWNED AS THE 'MOST HANDSOME FACE OF K-POP' IN 2022

Bangtan Boys, popularly known as BTS, is arguably the most popular name in the world right now. Each member of the renowned K-pop group has received praise for their distinctive skills and talents since its inception. Additionally, they have won numerous online voting competitions in other areas as well.

Out of all the members in the septet, the names of Jungkook and V are once again in the news. Their names had previously been listed by TC Candler as two of the “10 Most Handsome Faces in the World.”

Well, to talk more about this, V, whose real name is Kim Tae-hyung, is once again in the spotlight for his unmatched good looks and charisma. The K-pop idol came in the first place as the “Most Handsome K-Face of pop” on the well-known online voting website for Brazilian entertainment, Dabeme Pop.

Back in March 2022, a list of the “Top 100 – Most handsome Faces of K-pop in 2022” was published by the Brazilian entertainment Dabeme Pop. The results of the votes cast by fans from all over the world favored BTS’s V who was named the “Most Handsome Face of K-pop in 2022.”

With 1,567,464 votes, V took the top spot, while Jimin, another member of the group, came in second with 1,237,456 votes. Group member Jungkook follows them and is ranked No. 5. Fans have highlighted that V’s victory is well-deserved given that several Korean media outlets have chosen the K-pop singer as the genre’s visual epicenter. Members of GOT7 and BTS took the top fourteen spots on the online ranking. Given that there are seven members in each group, it is clear that Ahgases and ARMY are engaged in a contest of votes.

V’s face features are well known not only in the K-pop business but also internationally. The gifted artist has been included on lists of the “Most Handsome Men of 2022” since the year 2022 began, with well-known figures like Robert Pattinson, Henry Cavill, and many more.

Going along with the popularity of V in the global scenario, fans were delighted and expressed their views on his nomination on the list. Several fans took to several social media platforms to highlight their opinions.

Voting for the most handsome or most attractive men in the world for 2022 has taken place over the past two months among notable people all across the world. As usual, Asian artists topped the list, with numerous Korean actors and K-pop idols placing highly.

On social media sites like Twitter, Instagram, TikTok, and YouTube, many interactions and trends are taken into account to create these online polls. Jungkook from BTS, a K-pop idol known for his boy crush charms and unrivaled looks, came in second place.

South Korean surgeons recently commended K-pop artist V for his symmetrical face and endearing appearance in a video on YouTube that MARQ TV broadcast. V possesses a three-dimensional treasure-class beauty, renowned doctor, Lee Jae-jun revealed. The singer’s facial features, according to the surgeon, were excessively attractive and said to have a divine proportion with a mixture that satisfies both Western and Eastern beauty criteria. Dr. Lee Jae-jun also praised his looks, even more, pointing out several distinctive traits that set him apart from other Koreans. The doctor even described V’s face as a masterpiece and very rare.

Well, to conclude, it can be said that while V’s popularity, with every passing day, is steadily increasing among fans and followers; it is his talent that has done the job so far. The talent and the energy V is progressing with are set to make him even more famous in the upcoming years. For now, he stays number one on the list of “Most Handsome Face of K-pop in 2022.”

The Indian Music Industry Experienced Another Demise of The Legendary Singer and Composer Bhupinder Singh

Bhupinder Singh will be remembered for his melodious voice and poetic compositions. He ruled many hearts in the 1970s and 1980s, the golden era of music with his ghazals.

The 'Zindigi mere Ghar Ana' artist dies at an age of 82. He has gifted some elegiac ghazals, he performed them composed them, and gave this music industry the soul.

Doctors suspected colon cancer and he has under treatment for that at a hospital in Mumbai. But he died of cardiac arrest on Monday Night. A doctor at Criticare Asia Hospital said, "His condition worsened on Monday morning and we had to put him on a ventilator. He got a cardiac arrest and died at 7.45 pm."

Bhupinder Singh's Wife shared he also tested positive for COVID 19 while he was under the treatment at the hospital.

He was born in Amritsar, Punjab. His father was a music teacher so he mastered various Indian musical instruments at an early age. In 1960 he started playing and performing on the Radio and at that time when he was stopped by the legendary composer Madan Mohan.

Madan Mohan invited him to move to the base of the Hindi music and movie industry, Mumbai. His Bollywood debut was in the 1964 movie "Haqeeqat" with the song 'Hoke Majboor Mujhe Usne Bulaya Hoga'. And after that, there was no looking back.

He started recording for various movies and albums. He had worked with the most renowned names of the golden era of music.

From Mohammed Rafi and Lata Mangeshkar to Talat Mahmood he has worked with all of them. He has also worked with R D Burman.

The voice that gave songs like "Kabhi Kisiko Muqammal Jahan Nahin Milta" is a loss to this industry. His soul may rest in peace and his families recover from this pain soon.

Adnan Sami Deletes All Photos from Instagram and Posts A Video That Reads 'ALVIDA'

Iconic Indian singer-composition Adnan Sami once again makes the headline with his latest Instagram post after creating a massive buzz with his pictures showing massive weight loss. The 50-year-old singer has recently deleted all his photos and videos from Instagram. He also shared another post captioning it 'Alvida' which means Goodbye. This move has made the fans panic and react to the posting questioning whether he is alright.

His fans were shocked when they find out he deleted every picture, photo, and video on Instagram. After leaving his Instagram handle black, he finally posted a video that read, 'ALVIDA'. As soon as he posted the video, the fans became worried and they started expressing their concern through the comment section. Many fans asked what has happened and whether he was ok. It is safe to say that his fans were heartbroken by the news by going through the comment section. Some of his followers came to the conclusion that the videos could be an announcement for his upcoming project. Some even asked whether it was an upcoming song of his.

Adnan Sami is originally from Pakistan but he obtained Indian citizenship in 2016. He recently made news after losing massive weight. He was apparently 230 kg in his debut album in 2000. His recent pictures from his Maldives trip with his family gained massive media and audience attention for his weight loss transformation. He recently received the Padma Shri Award in 2020 for his contribution to the performing arts field in India.

The legendary singer recently told Hindustan Times that the pandemic has taught him the value of human life. He is extremely grateful that his family and he are alright. He thanks God that he made it so far as not many people could.

He said that many people who were too young left the world during the pandemic and he was happy that he survived. He also said, 'Today more than anything else I am happy to be amongst my family and my loved ones. I am also happy that my fans are alright because I consider them as my extended family. It is wonderful to celebrate life. I am seeing life in a very different way now, as opposed to how I used to a couple of years ago. I have a newfound respect for life and I plan on living it to the fullest.'

The Temporary Restraining Order Against Ricky Martin is Dismissed in Puerto Rico

The highly anticipated case of Ricky Martin's restraining order is finally dismissed at the Puerto Rico Court. It is being said that the petitioner was his own nephew.

Livin' la Vida Loca singer Ricky Martin has been hit by a restraining order earlier this month by an anonymous petitioner with claims of domestic abuse. And last week, it was revealed that the petitioner was none other than his 21 years old nephew Dennis Yadiel Sanchez.

Martin virtually appeared for the petition in Puerto Rico Court on Thursday. After the session, the Judge dismissed the temporary restraining order and also declined its extension. The lawyers are claiming that Sanchez himself has asked to dismiss the case.

A judicial spokesperson said, "the petitioner ceased his claims voluntarily; therefore the case was archived and no further procedures are required."

The order was filed under the law of domestic violence. But there was no concrete evidence of the matter. Sanchez could not provide any further details.

Martin's local attorneys namely Carmelo Dávila, Joaquín Monserrate Matienzo, and Harry Mansanet Pastrano, "Just as we had anticipated, the temporary protection order was not extended by the Court."

It was further said that "The accuser confirmed to the court that his decision to dismiss the matter was his alone, without any outside influence or pressure, and the accuser confirmed he was satisfied with his legal representation in the matter... The request came from the accuser asking to dismiss the case."

Sanchez claimed that he has been in seven months of relationship with Martin and the singer and now the singer is unable to accept their split.

However, the superstar singer has already denied all the allegations by Sanchez which was further prompted by Hollywood lawyer Marty Singer.

Ricky said, "I've been working onstage in the public eye for almost four decades, And I've never, ever had to deal with anything as painful as what I've been through in the last two weeks."

The Puerto Rico legal teams have also shared the same thought and said, "This was never anything more than a troubled individual making false allegations with absolutely nothing to substantiate them."

The team further said, "We are glad that our client saw justice done and can now move forward with his life and his career."

Superstar Ricky Martin is all set to perform a live concert on Friday and Saturday at the Hollywood Bowl along with The Los Angeles Philharmonic.

Shakira May Face 8 Years Sentence for Tax Fraudulence in Spain

Shakira is now in trouble as two Spanish prosecutors filed a case against her for tax fraudulence. It is reported she has not paid € 14.5 million during 2012-2014

The prosecutors of Spain said that they would ask a court to sentence the pop star from Columbia, Shakira to an 8-year jail sentence if she is found guilty in the alleged tax-fraud case.

The pop singer Shakira, whose full name is Shakira Isabel Meberak Ripoll has allegedly failed to pay taxes of around € 14.5 million from 2012 to 2014. The prosecutors also said that she should be fined € 24 million as well.

Her publicists gave a public statement and said, “Shakira has always cooperated and abided by the law, demonstrating impeccable conduct as an individual and a taxpayer.”

Her publicists also accused the prosecutors of violating the tax laws of the country and depriving Shakira of her rights.

The Spanish authority first began investigating her finances in 2018. The prosecutors have filed the case based on the reports maintained by the Spanish Tax Agency. This report records her visit to hairdressers, beauty salons, medical clinics, and other places to prove that she had spent more than 183 days in Spain. The period is the legal requirement to make her a Spanish tax resident.

Her defense team has argued that she did not spend enough time between 2012 and 2014 to attract any provision of Spanish tax laws. They have accused the prosecutors of having “abusive methods” and argued they were trying to earn money out of her during her international shows and tours.

Shakira said that she has already paid € 17.2 million in taxes and she has to pay no more amounts to the Spanish Government.

She also said that she is very confident about her innocence and ready to fight against any legal actions against her. Even, she is ready to “resolve any differences” if the legal action against her is found legitimate.

She was recently in news for her separation from FC Barcelona’s defender Gerard. The news came as a shock to their fans as she accused Piqué of infidelity.

Fans Get Injured at Dua Lipa's Toronto Concert Due to Unauthorized Fireworks

British pop star performed on July 27th, Wednesday night at the Scotiabank Arena, Toronto when an unidentified person set off a series of fireworks, which injured some of the fans present at the show.

The unfortunate event that caused minor injuries to three people has been currently getting investigated. The Toronto concert became a nightmare for many. As per the fan-captured videos from the concert, it can be seen that the fireworks were set off on the arena floor. After they were set off, fans started running towards seated parts of the concert to take cover. In the videos, Lipa did not appear to be alarmed as she didn't even notice the incident.

After the show, Dua Lipa gave her statement on the matter through her Instagram Stories. She wrote, 'Creating a safe and inclusive space at my shows is always my first priority, and my team and I are just as shocked and confused by the events as you all are. Many fans thought that the fireworks were part of the show and soon realized they were not.

She did not anticipate such an act happening at her concert and appeared very concerned for the safety of her fans.

Maple Leaf Sports & Entertainment, the organizer of the show stated that they were working with the Toronto police on the investigation. The company stated, 'At the end of a concert event at Scotiabank Arena, unauthorized and illegal fireworks were set off on the arena floor by a member of the audience. As a result, three attendees received minor aid on-site and were able to go home without a need for further medical attention.'

They also said, 'As one of the premier venues in North America, creating a safe and secure venue for every attendee at Scotiabank Arena is MLSE's top priority and we immediately began working in cooperation with Toronto Police to fully investigate this reckless and dangerous act.'

Dua Lipa is one of the headliners at the Lollapalooza festival on the night of July 29th. Earlier this month Dua Lipa made the headline by performing at the Roskilde festival in Denmark with Post Malone and Turnstile. She later participated in a fun game of beer pong backstage after the show. Post Malone shared the video of their game where the rapper made an amazing shot against Turnstile before the crowd went crazy.
