LANA DEL REY

Widely appreciated and extremely loved artist Lana Del Rey is back with another heavily armed album. From the enthralling beauty of this album to the explicit and audacious narrations, this album is a complete package for Every Del Rey fan. 'Did you know that there's a tunnel under Ocean Blvd' smoothly takes everyone back to 2014 when publically wished she was dead. Numerous articles and news were written regarding this line. That was the time the singer was miserable after getting a sour response post the release of her first album. At that point, she had underlying fatalism and she was widely criticized. Most of the media accused her of feeding the media with her 'Born to Die' persona, and it was nothing but a fabrication consciously made by the artist. Her creative ambitions were always carved for unusual associations. She yearned to connect with tragic geniuses like Kurt Cobain and Amy Winehouse. She was always an eccentric intellect and her works were always been gravitating but her recent release is widely consuming and will almost arrest your heart.

Groove to the Beats of the Self-Taught Rising Star in Electronic Music VDX

The self-taught music virtuoso and tech enthusiast VDX has been building up a solid foundation in the music empire with his fearlessly creative tracks that transcend the established patterns of genres and bring about a rejuvenating musical experience for listeners. What is most striking about this musical prodigy is that his tracks are created completely based on his innate creative genius, having received no 'formal' musical training. Other than the track 'A Greek In Vienna' in which he collaborated with FivosValachis, most of his music pieces are solely composed by him, and as a treat to all music lovers, they are downloadable for free.

When it comes to his music, the artist has been influenced by an array of sources, a predominant space being taken by the Greek composer Vangelis. His tracks like 'Conquest of Paradise', 'Chariots of Fire', and 'Symphony to the Powers B' have been a major source of inspiration for him. When it comes to the sound design of his music, the artist finds inspiration in those like JMJ. However, the factor that sets the artist apart is his diversity. At no point does he stick to one particular genre, seeking inspiration from those like Enya, Abba, and Boney M.

Designing ICs by the day and dishing out musical gems like 'Vulnerable Rebellion' and 'Aging in Native America', VDX truly rocks the best of both worlds. Instead of following in the traditional footsteps of trying to master classical pieces, the artist has amassed a vast musical knowledge that allows him to use his passion for technology to be merged with his passion for music, giving a substantial makeover to the present electronic music scene. The constant factor in each of his tracks is a catchy groove and enchanting rhythm that syncs perfectly with the mood that he tries to set with his music. The music whizz is currently attempting to recreate Vangelis' "Direct Method" where an artist attempts to control a multitude of music elements in real-time. Give your electronic music playlist an update by checking out his tracks on SoundCloud, and hold on tight as the artist explores further into the nitty-gritty of the world of music, delivering music lovers with a fresh wave of genuine artistry. Being a self-taught musician, he finds himself free of the shackles of set notions of music, allowing him to craft defining pieces that come as a pleasant surprise to music lovers.

Soon enough, he fell in love with hip-hop, writing poems and translating his stories into rap verses. He was a part of the group Fatal Family which consists of Nina Ross, Matty, K -I, Skitzo, and him, and though they went their separate ways with time, he believes that they would always be able to do music together. As the artist kick-started his solo music career, he realized music to be an indispensable part of his life. Their exceptional creation has not only made the Indians proud but they have surprised everyone too. Winning an Oscar is one of the prestigious acknowledgment that this film and its song has accomplished.

While receiving the award, the composer of the song M.M Keeravani said 'I grew up listening to the Carpenters and now here I am with the Oscars'. Later that he started singing with the melody of the 70s pop song 'Top of the World' and stated 'There was only one wish on my mind...'RRR' has to win, pride of every Indian, and must put me on the top of the world'. It was such a mesmerizing event to see where the 'Naatu Naatu' song won the award with the nominations like Rihanna and Lady Gaga. It has competed against 'Applause' from 'Tell It Like A Woman', 'Hold My Hand' from 'Top Gun: Maverick', 'Lift me Up' from 'Black Panther: Wakanda Forever', and 'This Is Life' from 'Everything Everywhere All At Once'.

This exceptional song was sung by Rahul Sipligunj and Kaala Bhairava with the composer M.M Keeravani, SS Rajamouli, and lyricist Chandrabose. Everyone is very much happy with the decision. They have shown their happiness when the Indian star and global icon Deepika Padukone introduced the song by calling it a 'Banger'.

Alongside this, India has won another award with the documentary movie 'The Elephant Whispers' in the 'Best Documentary Short Film' segment. Guneet Monga, the producer, and director Kartiki Gonsalves went up to the stage to receive the award. It can be said that it is quite a successful year for the Indian film industry.

NEEMA AND KILI PAUL SHARE THEIR ADORABLE ROFL MOMENT WITH FANS

When it comes to the Tanzanian brother-sister duo, Kili Paul and his sister Neema Paul need no special introduction. The duo first shot to fame when they released their video vibing and lip-syncing to the song 'Raataan Lambiyan' from the movie Shershaah. Since then they have garnered a separate fan base for their Reels in India, as they began to collaborate more and more on Hindi songs- be it shaking their legs to Bollywood hits like Bhool Bhulaiyaa 2 and Kala Chashma or lip-syncing to evergreen musical tracks.

Neema's priceless reaction as realization dawned upon them stole the show. Kili Paul wrote in the caption: "When u only know the remix not the original song?".

The original song 'Dekha Ek Khwab' is taken from the movie Silsila by Yash Chopra, featuring Rekha and Amitabh Bachchan, and was originally sung by music legends Kishore Kumar and Lata Mangeshkar.

The video flaunted Neema Paul's singing skills and was captioned "Rate This!!? Neema wants to be @shilparao?" and received a lot of applause from the audience. The song was originally sung by Shilpa Rao and Caralisa Monteiro, with the lyrics written by Kumaar. The video was subjected to much controversy but fans could not have enough of it either.

During his visit to India, Kili Paul made his acquaintance with numerous celebrities from the entertainment world.

Did you know that there's a tunnel under Ocean Blvd

An Engulfing piece of musical ecstasy, Lana Del Rey's 'Did you know that there's a tunnel under Ocean Blvd' is bold and beautiful, an introspective journey of the singer.

Widely appreciated and extremely loved artist Lana Del Rey is back with another heavily armed album. From the enthralling beauty of this album to the explicit and audacious narrations, this album is a complete package for Every Del Rey fan. 'Did you know that there's a tunnel under Ocean Blvd' smoothly takes everyone back to 2014 when publically wished she was dead. Numerous articles and news were written regarding this line. That was the time the singer was miserable after getting a sour response post the release of her first album.

At that point, she had underlying fatalism and she was widely criticized. Most of the media accused her of feeding the media with her 'Born to Die' persona, and it was nothing but a fabrication consciously made by the artist. Her creative ambitions were always carved for unusual associations. She yearned to connect with tragic geniuses like Kurt Cobain and Amy Winehouse.

She was always an eccentric intellect and her works were always been gravitating but her recent release is widely consuming and will almost arrest your heart.

Her tracks often detach you from reality and take you to a gloomier place. And the entire album of 'Did you know that there's a tunnel under Ocean Blvd' is of that sort. From its lead single to 'A&W', this is a creative masterpiece flaunting her daunting self. This is her ninth studio album and she has been extremely overwhelmed with this release. From the lyricism to her melodious voice, this album was something that speaks loudly about the hidden graves of her pure self.

And since the album went public, it was sweeping everyone from their place and the dark gloomy vibes are something that worked as an eye-opener for the world.

She spoke her heart out through these tracks and the world could feel the pain in their throat as well. Lana Del Rey poured all her insecurities her doubts and her pain through these lines of 'Fingertips'. "Will the baby be all right/ Will I have one of mine? /Can I handle it even if I do?" shows are inner dilemma and those silent answers to her introspective questions. She hasn't done a cartwheel since the age of nine, and this probably is high time to perform one.

Miley Cyrus finally released her latest album, 'Endless Summer Vacation' on March 10th. The internet cannot keep calm with the album earning big critical acclamation.

When Miley Cyrus released her seventh studio album 'Plastic Hearts', it quickly became one of her career turns, gaining her new fans and increasing her visibility. The lead single of her new album 'Endless Summer Vacation', 'Flowers' has already earned the singer her first Billboard no 1 song.

The new album starts with a fresh, slow-burn groove in 'Flowers' which is easily one of the biggest hits of this year and earned its spot as one of the most memorable songs as well.

The song has gained massive support from not only her fans and listeners but also from the locals. The song carries a strong message of being independent and self-love and is the perfect successor to her previous album 'Plastic Hearts'. This album is less about Stevie Nicks, and more about Miley Cyrus and presents the singer as a perfect 'Singer-songwriter' light and powerful 'Flowers' is the ideal opening banger. &nbsp;It is followed by 'Jaded' which is an acoustic jam with mid-tempo, composed as a cool and calm track. Throughout the track, Cyrus has maintained a tone of intimacy in her voice which gets powerful in the chorus. With lyrics like "I'm sorry that you're jaded/ I could have taken you places/ You're lonely now and I hate it," she presents the scenario of falling out of love very beautifully.

The third track of the album, "Rose Colored Lenses" continued the calm tone with a touch of blueish composition. The first collaboration of the album comes with country star Brandi Carlile on "Thousand Miles", and then again on "Muddy Feet" with Sia.

There are other songs like "You" with a busy ballad, giving the singer enough space to once again show her killer vocals.

However, "Handstand" with a mixed composition of pop-funk and R&B, takes the album to a turning point, introducing new arrangements, vocal shifts, and composition changes, followed by "Violent Chemistry", "Muddy Feet", "Wildcard", "Island" and lastly "Wonder Woman". This album brings out the dynamic and textual production that is complemented well by Cyrus' breathy vocals.

'Endless Summer Vacation' is a love letter that teaches you how to embrace yourself. It has written Miley Cyrus all over it, starting from the compositions to the breathy powerful vocals, probably her best vocally produced album till date.

Listen to it now on all music platforms.

breathes a rejuvenating freshness, augmented by the strength of Bebe Rexha's vocals. The lyrics soar high with the conviction in her thoughts and instil listeners with confidence. Rife with imagery and poetic allusion, this melodic piece has much to offer to its listeners.

The black and white cover which shows the singer sporting a white halter neck also created quite a stir among the online community as she looks absolutely stunning.

The Cure's Robert Smith Slams Ticketmaster Fees and Says He Is Sickened As the Tour Goes On Sale

The Cure is one of the most famous music bands in the world so when the fans heard that the band is going on tour, the excitement is on the roof. However, since the tickets are on sale on Ticketmaster, the price is concerning to a lot of fans and they have been complaining online about it. Now the lead singer of The Cure, Robert Smith has responded to it directly on Twitter. The complaints were mainly about the fees that Ticketmaster collected during the band's "Verified Fan" sale for tickets for the upcoming tour. Responding to this, the lead singer and songwriter Smith wrote on Twitter, "I am as sickened as you all are by today's Ticketmaster 'Fees' debacle". When some of the fans urged him to look into the matter and have some control over it, he further went on to explain and say "To be very clear: The artist has no way to limit them. I have been asking how they are justified. If I get anything coherent by way of an answer I will let you all know."

Earlier this week, the band announced the 'verified fan' concept and Smith himself announced that the band took a decision to use Ticketmaster's "verified fan" system in order to get more face value for the fans along with presenting them with a unique concept of connecting more intimately with the band. In his new tweet, Smith says that he and his band have refused to participate in the company's vigorous pricing and the "platinum" tickets. He then further called the concept "a greedy scam" as recently it has skyrocketed the recent Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band tour tickets.

It is not the first time Ticketmaster has been called out by artists. Recently the company has been under fire for how they practice their business.

They have faced multiple lawsuits and a Senate hearing. On top of that, the company has been accused of practicing "unprecedented" fraud which forced them to shut out the legitimate ticket holders, from Bad Bunny's concert that happened in Mexico City.

Since Ticketmaster has been in legal trouble unethical practice of selling tickets and manipulating the prices, and now that the band member has called them out on social media, it will be interesting to see how that will fold out.

The anticipation is high as Ed Sheeran's upcoming album '-' will be released soon on May 5. With the release of 'Eyes Closed', the buzz has gone even higher.

It is not far that Ed Sheeran's new musical project will be at the top of the music charts as his upcoming album '-' is all set to drop on May 5. With the premiere of the teasing single 'Eyes Closed', Sheeran is again creating magic in the music industry with some stripped-back musical experiences and events of life.

This time he has come up with a more personal take rather than his usual poignant romantic style. Let's admit the fact that Ed Sheeran is not the same person as before. He admits, "I have grown up, I am a father now".

As a matter of fact, working with National's Aaron Dessner has shown some effects on the musical arrangement. Aaron is also Taylor Swift's longtime producer. Rather than comparing Sheeran and Swift's take on alternative folk music; a close observation of the song 'Eyes Closed' shows that it is certainly more stripped-back than Sheeran's previous works. Adding more reverb to the guitar along with atmospheric synth which is complimented by wind-like ambient noises in the background; this song definitely offers a captivating soundscape.

EYES CLOSED: ED SHEERAN'S LATEST SINGLE LAMENTS FOR THE TIME THAT HAS PASSED

4.9/5

By Daily Music Roll

The lyrical approach in this track offers a more explicit and personal event of life and Ed Sheeran did a great job of reflecting those emotions. In this case, the event is the death of his beloved friend. Entrepreneur Jamal Edwards has been a part of his earlier works but he is not here anymore. As the singer/songwriter laments, "I pictured this year a little bit different when it hit February" a lot of listeners would say, "it hit me so hard". As he recalls the memories, Sheeran keeps it real by singing "Delusion is here again, And I think you'll come home soon". But, change is inevitable and seasons may come and go. He had to accept the fact too and eventually he gives in saying, "Everything changes, nothing's the same, Except the truth is now you're gone, And life just goes on".

The portrayal of deeper emotions along with a unique take on music; 'Eyes Closed' is truly another beautiful number by Ed Sheeran that can stir listeners from inside. It is commendable how he manages to balance incorporating a heavy subject with an upbeat musical arrangement without overwhelming it. The song is currently available on Spotify, YouTube, and all the other major music platforms, waiting to hit the top charts again.

Gigi Hadid Breaks Silence over Rumours of Ex Zayn Malik Dating Selena Gomez.

As rumors sparked up about Selena Gomez dating Zayn malik, fans over the world have started speculating what supermodel Gigi Hadid has to say about it, since the ex-flames were what one would call a favorite “power couple” until their split in 2021 - just one year after the birth of their daughter Khai, and that the Hadid sisters are friends with Selena. It appears that finally, Gigi has made a statement regarding the same, as stated by a close source.

Since the Selena Gomez and Hailey Bieber Tiktok drama, the singer has been making headlines again for her romantic relationships as news about her dating The Chainsmokers’ Andrew Taggart emerged after the two were spotted making out at a Lower East Side bowling alley on January 14. Selena, however, released a video on Tiktok later lip-syncing to audio that said, “Guys, I figured out the reason why I’m single. Apparently, you have to go outside and meet people. Like you actually have to go outside and talk to them. Yea, it’s gonna be a no for me.” And it left fans wondering if the fling was over.

Finally, there seems to be an answer as screenshots of a text exchange between Tiktok user @klarissa.mpeg and her friend went viral in a video where she claimed to have been the hostess of the two singers, who were seen getting cozy and holding hands. Several others spotted the duo together in SoHo in New York City at around 10:30 pm. Eyewitnesses claimed that the two “were comfortable together and it was clear that it was a date.”

Gigi Hadid, who claims to have “moved on” from Zayn after their split and is now “having fun” when it comes to her romantic life, has “no problem whatsoever with Zayn dating”, said a source.

Another source reported, “As long as he is happy and stable and continues to be a good co-parent to [their daughter] Khai, she’s fine with whoever he goes out with.”

The “Lose You to Love Me” singer has previously been linked with artists like Nick Jonas and the Weeknd, not to mention her on-again-off-again relationship with Justin Bieber.

Can Shakira's big year lead her to the Grammy? Find out!

Freshly off after the hype of breaking up with her husband Gerard Piqué, Shakira is making a big year with two of the biggest worldwide hits of the year. This unwavering Colombian singer is making an epic comeback in the music industry while collaborating with other artists, helping her manage to capitalize on the situation.

The success and hype of the tracks are not due to her style and sense of singing or the personal issues regarding the separation with Piqué, but the strategic collaboration with some of the biggest names in the Latin industry' currently buzzing in the industry.

It all began with her massive hit single "Bzrp Music Sessions, Vol. 53." Bizarrap is one of the most influential young Argentinian producers who is currently buzzing in the Hispanic music scene. He creates almost-freestyled sessions in collaboration with the biggest and buzziest artists in the Latin Industry.

Such sessions never fail to go viral and last year's "Bzrp Music Sessions, Vol. 52" is the biggest example of that. Featuring Quevedo, the track has garnered over one billion Spotify streams in seven months. There's no doubt that this year's session with Shakira is also going to be a big musical hit.

Shakira vocally dragged her ex-husband into the session however, this is the first song regarding the divorce. Last year, she dropped two blockbuster singles namely 'Monotonía' with Ozuna and 'Te Felicito' with Rauw Alejandro that have surfaced the subject.

But the latest session is a bit more powerful as it seems like Shakira has let it all out without being slightly sympathetic to Piqué. There is a reference to both his name and his recent girlfriend, Clara Chia.

However, it is not just 'Bzrp Music Sessions, Vol. 53.' which is making this year highly successful but also

'TQG' with Karol G, which is currently buzzing in the top charts. Both of the songs are topping the global Spotify chart while getting featured on the Billboard Hot 100. The subject matter in 'TQG' is also quite intriguing as the two Colombian female singers have offered an anthem of empowerment after heartbreak.

With such a high graph of success, engagement, and buzz in the industry; it seems like Shakira's big year is not ending any soon and will be offering more creative projects in the coming days. Fans and critics are claiming that Shakira is going to win at the upcoming Latin Grammys.

Ciara Trolls Haters after the Backlash She Received for Her Academy Awards After Party Outfit

When it comes to the quote, “Have fun and give ‘em something to talk about”, Ciara took it literally as she dropped some gorgeous pictures of herself on Instagram after she received heavy criticism for her see-through outfit at an Academy Awards party on Sunday.

In the After Party of the 2023 Vanity Fair Oscars, the “1, 2 Step” singer arrived in an ensemble comprising a black sheer netted gown that gave a view of her front and backside, and a black thong that she paired with long black gloves, black ankle-strap Santoni heels, a chic bob and smoky black eyes. Designed by Dundas, her outfit was fresh off the runway at Paris Fashion Week.

The singer remained unfazed and decided to annoy her haters further by sharing some risqué images of herself, sporting a black one-piece swimsuit layered with a white top with the letter “C” in the middle and paired the outfit with black ankle-strap shoes as she posed on a bed and a shower. The caption read, “Get that money sis, keep them on they tip?”.

Comments started pouring in as the artist was shamed for her looks and people even questioned her parenting skills and her relationship with her husband.

Ciara was married to Denver Broncos quarterback Russell Wilson in 2016 and the couple shares three children: a daughter, Sienna, 4, a son, Win, 2, and the oldest Future, 8, from Ciara’s previous relationship. Wilson, however, appeared to have no issues with what his spouse wore that night, which led some fans to comment, “If her HUSBAND doesn’t have an issue with it I’m confused why everyone got an issue with it for him? Lol he saw her outfit when she got it, while she was getting dressed, when they left the house and when he stood next to her and posed AT THE OSCARS.”

Despite the hate comments, Ciara received a majority of netizens supporting her and dropping in comments like “You just breaking the internet e’rday and making the haters madder! I love it!”

Things don’t end there; to irk the haters some more, she released a video on TikTok sporting dark shades and covering herself in a white bedsheet with the caption “Selective Outrage.

The clip was titled “POV: How I’m pulling up to Vanity Fair next year?,” and fans loved the humor and sass with which the artist handled the whole situation.

However, Ciara wasn’t the only one to wear a revealing ensemble, as reportedly, ‘naked dresses’ was the theme for the annual event, also sported by actress Tylour Paige, who was much appreciated by fans who called her look “refreshing.”

With Her Moving Performance, Rihanna Lifts Up the Oscars

On March 12th, 2023, on the stage of the Oscars, Rihanna came and conquered billions of hearts with her sensational performance honoring the late actor Chadwick Boseman. Rihanna was there not to just perform but to carry out heavier work. And with her magical voice, she made everyone feel each word she uttered with passion. Her heart-melting ballad ‘Lift Me Up’, from ‘Black Panther: Wakanda Forever’, a funereal track honoring Boseman. On August 28th, 2020, the actor died of colon cancer at an age of 43. Her performance received a standing ovation from the honorable ensemble crowd. With this number, she received her first nomination to the Oscars as well. The lady in a gleaming black dress with silver linings, and above-elbow gloves, the diamonds around her neck gave accent to her look even further along with her minimal diamond earrings. Prior to the performance, she was seen on the red carpet as well, in a black body-hugging long-tailed dress. Pregnancy has never stopped Rihanna from flaunting herself, and a few days before she posted a cute and candid photo of her nine-month-old son with an adorable caption, “My son when he found out his sibling is going to the Oscars and not him @theacademy #oscarnominee #oscarperformancein1week swipe for tb of my fat man.” Along with that photo, there was a short video of her son apparently reacting to her ‘Lift Me Up’ in the most endearing way.

Previously she revealed that she slept in the studio duo while she was making the track in November 2022. She said, “Just recently I pushed through three days at the studio in a row—like, slept in the studio—to get a song done because it’s a project that’s really important to me coming out.

I believed it, and I wanted to be a part of it, so I got it done.” There is also high anticipation of her ninth studio album, and slightly nudging the rumors in the classic Rihanna way she was “I want it to be this year”. Adding more, “Like, honestly, it’d be ridiculous if it’s not this year. But I just want to have fun.

I just want to make music and make videos.” Keeping her perfectionist-self motivated it seems like the wait is going to end this year.

KNOW ALL ABOUT THE ULTRA MUSIC FESTIVAL: ITS HISTORY, ICONIC PERFORMANCES AND AWARDS

Music festivals are the biggest celebration of art and joy where thousands and thousands of people gather around to listen and have fun. One such music festival is the electronic music festival, Ultra Music Festival. It started in 1999 and currently happens annually in Miami, Florida. Since March is already here, the time for the Ultra Music Festival to return to its glory is about to happen, so let's dig deeper and know all about this outdoor electronic music festival.

History of Ultra Music Festival: The Ultra Music Festival started on 1999 and was inaugurated by Russell Faibisch, Ray Navarro and Alex Omes. Even though currently the festival goes on for 2 days, but back when it started, it started as a one-day festival which happened on 19th march of 1999.

Since the first time, the festival turned out to be a success and created sensations among music lovers with performers like Josh Wink, Rabbit in the Moon, DJ Baby Anne, and Paul van Dyk. It was an instant hit which recorded attendees and concert-goers in thousands and was held at Collins Park in Miami Beach. Even though there was a loss in the inauguration year, the Uotra Beach Music Festival returned for the second time in 2000 and since then its continuation made it one of the largest and most popular music festivals in the world.

Growth of the beach festival:

The concept of gathering people in an electronic music festival and to make it an open-ground festival was something unique and refreshing back then and still is. This along with great performances, festivities and enjoyment, the music festival has become a fan-favorite over the years. The music festival set a whole new record of having an attendance of over 70,000 people in the year 2009 where the lineup introduced more live bands and crossover performances. Some of the performances include bands and musicians like The Black Eyed Peas, The Prodigy, Perry Farrell, Crystal Castles, The Whip, etc. Then the festival sold out for the first time in history and had over 100,000 attendees at its thirteenth annual edition in 2011. Then in 2013, in celebration of its fifteenth anniversary the festival took place for the first time over two weekends. Including artists like David Guetta, Swedish House Mafia, Calvin Harris, Richie Hawtin, Snoop Dog, The Weeknd, Zedd, Afrojack, etc. as headliners made the popularity of the music festival even higher.

Change in location and pandemic:

In 2019, the commissioners of Miami voted against the festival hosting at Bayfront Park, unanimously. The cancellation was because of the noise complaints and other concerns among the downtown residents. So festival organizers proposed moving the festival to barrier island of Virginia Key, and planned to use the Virginia Key Beach Park and Miami Marine Stadium as venues.

Followed by some problems, the festival finally announced its lineup as Chainsmokers, Marshmello, Martin Garix and others as the headliners and hosted at the Virginia Key. Then the next year, the music festival Bayfront Park as the Mayor of Key Biscayne Michael Dave said about the festival that they "did the best they could, but it's just not the right place".

Then due to covid-19 the festival was cancelled as the entire world was suffering from the deadly pandemic and large gatherings in close proximity was not allowed. The festival was cancelled for two years, 2020, and 2021 and returned the next year in its full glory at the Bayfront Park location. In 2022, the Ultra Music Festival happened on March 25, 26 and 27 where the lineup included artists like Kygo, Martin Garrix, Afrojack, Tiesto and others.

Ultra Worldwide: In 2008, the Ultra Music Festival thought of taking the experience worldwide and started Ultra Brazil that took place in São Paulo, Brazil. This now moved to Rio de Janeiro in 2016. Since this global adventure, the festival has taken places in Santiago, Chile - Ultra Chile, Buenos Aires, Argentina - Ultra Buenos Aires, Tokyo, Japan - Ultra Japan, Seoul, Korea - Ultra Korea, Ibiza, Spain - Ultra Ibiza, etc. It also came up with Road to Ultra in 2012 with the concept of single-day, single-stage events.

Awards and recognition:

In the category of DJ awards, the first nomination came in 2007 for the Best International Dance Music Festival. It won the Special Award - Best International Dance Music Festival in 2008. The festival also won awards for World's Best Festival in DJ Magazine in 2016 and 2017 and came in 3rd in 2019. It has won Best Music Event from 2008 to 2011 and was also nominated for the Best Dance Event. In 2018, it won the award for being the Best Festival.

Malala Yousafzai Offered the Perfect Reply When Asked about Harry Styles' Spitting Scene

Nobel Prize Winner Malala Yousafzai made sure what she stands for on the stage of the Oscars. It does not require to say that Malala is one of the leading advocates of women's education in Pakistan. She survived a Taliban murder attempt and won a Nobel Prize for her deeds before even she turned 18. She has become the most inspirational and influential persona at a very young age who is fighting for peace.

The 2023 Oscars witnessed Malala's strong will again when host Jimmy Kimmel tried to bother her with last year's one of the stupidest controversies: "Did Harry Styles spit on Chris Pine during the Venice Film Festival premiere of Don't Worry, Darling?" When Kimmel asked, "As the youngest Nobel Prize winner in history, do you think Harry Styles spit on Chris Pine?" Malala gently replied by skipping a beat, "I only talk about peace." In order to avoid the awkward situation, Kimmel continued, "That's why you're Malala," and concluded with "That's a great answer." Yousafzai came to the Oscars as she is the executive producer of the short movie titled 'Stranger at the Gate'. It has been nominated in the best documentary short subject category at the 2023 Oscars but it lost to 'The Elephant Whisperers.'

Billboard Hot 100 topper and 'As It Was' singer Harry Styles became the hottest internet topic for debate with the #SpitGate after a viral video appeared last fall. In the video, it seemed Harry leaned over Chris Pine and spat. However, a representative for Pine said that it was merely an "odd online illusion" in the clip.

Later on, Pine offered even a more detailed description of the incident by saying "He leaned down, and I think he said, 'It's just words, isn't it?'" He further said, "'Cause we had this little joke. We're all jet-lagged, we're all trying to answer these questions. Sometimes when you're doing these press things, your brain gets befuddled and you start speaking gibberish. And we had a joke: 'It's just words, man.'"

Although, the debate might go on whether it was words or spit; one thing is clear not everyone finds it amusing. The 2023 Oscars has been quite eventful with some of the best nominations and award winners as well as a sense of empowerment.
