LANA DEL REY'S

Widely appreciated and extremely loved artist Lana Del Rey is back with another heavily armed album. From the enthralling beauty of this album to the explicit and audacious narrations, this album is a complete package for Every Del Rey fan. 'Did you know that there's a tunnel under Ocean Blvd' smoothly takes everyone back to 2014 when publically wished she was dead. Numerous articles and news were written regarding this line. That was the time the singer was miserable after getting a sour response post the release of her first album. At that point, she had underlying fatalism and she was widely criticized. Most of the media accused her of feeding the media with her 'Born to Die' persona, and it was nothing but a fabrication consciously made by the artist. Her creative ambitions were always carved for unusual associations. She yearned to connect with tragic geniuses like Kurt Cobain and Amy Winehouse. She was always an eccentric intellect and her works were always been gravitating but her recent release is widely consuming and will almost arrest your heart.

Hot 97's 2023 Summer Jam Concert Returns to New York with Cardi B as the Headliner

Hot 97 has announced the lineup for its annual Summer Jam festival set to be held at the UBS Arena in Belmont Park, New York, on June 4, with Cardi B as the headliner.

To turn up the heat this summer, Hot 97 has announced the lineup for its annual Summer Jam festival, with rap-queen Cardi B set to headline with artists like Fivio Foreign, Ice Spice, Glorilla, French Montana, and Coi Leray, each of whom will be performing their own set. There will also be performances by Lola Brooke and Lil TJay, and the rest of the lineups will be revealed in due course. The LOX will hit the stage to pay tribute to the 50th anniversary of hip-hop.

2023 will see the Summer Jam returning to the UBS Arena in Belmont Park, New York, after over two decades, and much anticipation has been building up regarding the same. The festival is scheduled to take place on Sunday, June 4, 2023, and tickets officially go on sale on April 8 at 10:00 AM EST. Pre-sale tickets would be available for American Express Card Members from April 4, 10:00 AM to April 6, 10:00 PM, before they are available to the general public. For more opportunities to will tickets, along with exclusive content, updates, and hip-hop news, it is recommended to download the HOT 97 App. While featuring some of the most eminent names on the hip-hop horizon, the event will also bring to the front the rise of women to the vanguard of the hip-hop movement in recent times.

The President, Chief Operating Officer, and General Counsel, Bradford Tobin commented in a press release, “HOT 97’s Summer Jam is a hip-hop staple and we are excited to bring the most electric show of the summer back to NY for hip-hop’s 50th anniversary.”

Fans are stoked about the imminent performance of Cardi B, whose last album ‘Invasion of Privacy’ appeared in 2018. Last year she collaborated with artists like Kay Flock, Glorilla, and Rosalía, and also partnered with SZA and Summer Walker for the single “No Love (Extended Version)”.

A music video of her song ‘Hot Shit’ featuring Kanye West and Lil Durk was also shared by her.

The previous month, Glorilla also released the expanded version of her EP, ‘Anyways, Life’s Great... (Bonus Edition)’ which cemented her name as one of the most talented hip-hop whizzes. The original version of the EP became on biggest label debut EP by a female rapper in the last three years and sold about 400,000 units.

With such a star-studded lineup, “The show is all about bringing hip-hop’s biggest stars to the stage,” as stated by multimedia personality and VP of artist and label Relations TT Torrez.

‘HIGHER THAN HEAVEN’: ELLIE GOULDING DECIDED 7TH APRIL FOR THE RELEASE

Reece Van Schalkwyk Impresses Fans in the Monumental Music Video of 'Forgive It All'

Enchanting forest and cavernous emotions blow the fans away in the new music video of 'Forgive It All' by ever-talented Reece Van Schalkwyk, available on YouTube.

Music has always been the oldest form of self-expression among human beings and artists to date use records to explain and express their personal journey and growth. This makes the listeners relate to them and find a mutual solace. Sticking to the denotation, gifted artist Reece Van Schalkwyk releases a brand new video where the brave musician explains life struggles and the journey to overcome the complexities. 'Forgive It All' is a captivating track that makes the listeners keep it on repeat. If you are in search of some soul-connecting music, then this track will be an absolute bliss for you. From the stunning visuals, showcasing the intimate journey toward forgiveness of the artist, to the record's composition, dense lyricism, and poignant vocals, the song has all the beguiling elements.

The artist is a 23-year-old from South Africa who has always found peace and passion, in music. Since he was a child he has struggled with his mental health and life in general and has lost his purpose of living. However, music has been his lifelong best friend which allowed him to express himself and found a greater sense of life. In this short yet meaningful musical journey, the adept musician has taken most of his inspiration from the legend Celine Dion. Her ability to hypnotize her audience with technicality and emotive voice has inspired Reece Van Schalkwyk to move forward and achieve greater fame in the music industry.

The artist has released several records in his musical career and all of them are extremely detailed and showcase the extensive passion he has for music. Previous tracks like 'Look After You (The Fray)', 'Breathe Without You', 'For God's sake I Changed My Mind.', 'Can't Lie Anymore, Don't Rely On Me', 'Free Falling' are all expressive and intimate that showcase the artist's talent perfectly.

'Forgive It All' is a track about personal growth and fighting the negative feeling that every person goes through at least some days. The artist has written the track completely by himself on his hardest days when music was the only reliable thing in his life.

From the weight of sky-rocketed expectations and the fear of not reaching the gold, this song was born which reflects the most intimate and sensitive side of the artist so far. You will find every element of this song to be impressive. The personal and expressive lyrics are perfectly complemented by the idiosyncratic vocals and emotive composition.

You can watch the video on YouTube and listen to the previous records of the artist on Spotify, SoundCloud, and Apple Music.

Dynamic Duo Crystal Penny Shows Their 'Standards' of Prolific Musicianship

Get drenched in a hefty dose of R&B and Soul with Crystal Penny as this musical duo has come back again with another gem of a musical creation.

Offering a punch of retro vibes and breezy tunes, their latest track 'Standards' is currently buzzing in the industry. This dynamic duo is best known for their amazing vocal skills and sync between two which sounds a like single energetic entity. Let's find out more about these talented music artists.

Crystal Penny is formed by Sisters Crystal Wilson Blackmon and Penni Wilson, the musical powerhouses who started music at an early age. They became seasoned music artists by their teenage and started performing as professionally as the Lovations.

Their sheer individuality and the original essence of the soul could be noticed in their musical psyche. With the tunes and grooves of "I Keep Singing La, La, La, Ooh," "I Want You," "Later Baby," and "Heaven Told Me So"; this duo came to Los Angeles to follow their dreams. After singing for legendary Motown Records, they have performed with numerous artists like Maurice White, Rick James, Diana Ross, Lou Rawls, Curtis Mayfield & the Impressions, and many others.

This dynamic duo has also appeared on OWN network's reality TV show, "Flex & Shanice," which featured Crystal's daughter and Grammy-nominated recording artist Shanice Wilson, and her family.

They have previously dropped a few songs like 'My Vow to You', 'My Heart Belongs to You' that offer a redefined taste of soul music. Amid the global pandemic, with the help of fans from the UK; this musical duo started revolving at the center of attention with their timeless hit track "Keep Singing La La La Ooh." It garnered over 350K views on YouTube and 150K Spotify streams. Bringing back their original essence and the trademark soulful harmonies, the musical duo has come up with another new R&B and Soul track named 'Standards'. Beautifully crafted and masterly produced by Ivan Hampden Jr., the track offers an amazing groove along with an enticing musical experience. Not to mention, their eclectic vocals skills add more creative layers to the track. It is amazing to witness how two artists can be so much in control while complementing each other. Currently, this song is buzzing through all the major music platforms such as Spotify, SoundCloud, Apple Music, etc.

Follow Crystal Penny on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter to get more updates on their upcoming musical projects.

Ken Howard's 'On the Boulevard' Is a Collection of Magically Tranquil Poignant LGBTQ-Themed Modern Music

Being extremely talented and wildly fascinating, Ken Howard has emerged with highly intriguing music along with consumingly themed music releases. His recent release 'On the Boulevard' is an LGBTQ-themed modern music album, this track has awestruck the music world since its inception. Coming from an extremely talented family background his works showcase the unyielding magnificent charm that can create a highly consuming impression. Not just being exceptionally themed this album also is a tribute to classical music. This is a massive undertaking as it features a substantial number of collaborations and incredibly fascinating performances. And each track from this album tells a bit more about society in the most playful way.

The wildly creative aspects of Ken Howard cannot be measured or determined, it can only be enjoyed. The creativity and roots of classical music are in his blood and gene, which have driven him to concoct some of the best lyrics of all time. He is the great-grandson of J. William Howard II, a prolific music director who has offered incredible numbers like 'Me Marilyn', 'Blossom Time', 'The Student Prince', and many more. His musical bloodline doesn't end here as he is also the great-nephew of the renowned actress Esther Howard, a prominent figure of the 1920s Broadway musical. Having a historically creative and fascinating gene, his works show he too has the skill set.

After graduating from the UCLA School of Theatre, Film, and Television, and the University of Southern California, he now is a California Licensed Clinical Social Worker and AASECT Certified Sex Therapist. He also founded GayTherapyLA.com, this is a private physiotherapy and coaching organization for gay males and couples for over 30 years. He always had a deep connection with music and this truly vast venture has allowed him to unleash his core musical self to the world. He is married to Michael Ryan, and living happily together a blissful for 21 years now in West Hollywood, California.

His highly ambitious 'On the Boulevard' Original Cast Concept Album has 29 incredible soundtracks and he and Malcolm Heenman are solely responsible for the extremely engaging librettos of this album. His words are packed with zest and serenity and the playful music intensifies his writing skills. This is also an adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion", and alongside Ken Howard, Stuart Wood, and Michael Van Bodegom-Smith are in authority for the music direction and recordings. And the songs are sung by various artists. Visit independent music promotions to know more about this unparalleled musical venture.

Travel To a Different Dimension With Cosmopolis' Multi-Genre Single 'Parasite'

Get through a highly immersive musical experience with Cosmopolis as the band has come up with a brand new musical project. They dropped a single this year named 'Parasite' that can take listeners on a multi-dimensional musical journey. Unique, attractive, and thought-provoking; this single offers a blend of multiple music genres which makes it even more enthralling. Brewing swaths of Gothic Rock, Post-Rock, Prog, Electronica along with Lofi sounds; the song is brilliantly made and leaves no room for error. This band's experimental music is also complemented by scathing lyricism and gutsy social commentary, which make it more intriguing for all kinds of listeners. Through its clock time of 4 minutes and 20 seconds, the song takes listeners to a uniquely dark and enigmatic soundscape that offers a deep impact.

Cosmopolis is a dynamic group just its musical arsenal. With members belonging to Belgium, Australia, and England; the band offers a global essence of diversified music genres and cultures. The band is well-revered for its beautiful instrumentation and poetic lyricism which is setting an example in the constantly evolving music industry. They are greatly inspired by Pink Floyd, Swans, Nick Cave, Joy Division, and Massive Attack, and as a result, there is a fair amount of progressive rock and psychedelic elements present in their musical representations. With the art of blending disturbing and thought-provoking lyricism along with masterfully crafted musical arrangement; this band is able to create a musically dark atmosphere that can captivate everyone. The latest track 'Parasite' is just another example of their unparalleled sense of original music as well as united effort.

Gavin Kendall, Nicholas Platten, and David Hussey are the three members of this musical group who work together to create such masterpieces. Gavin takes care of the vocals, keyboards, and guitars while Nicholas helps with his guitar, bass, and keyboards skills. Being an expert percussionist, David helps with the drums and beats. As they belong to different parts of the world, not every time they get to jam physically; they mostly do it virtually.

Therefore, the music they create is recorded in multiple locations and it is arranged, mixed, and mastered via cloud. The band says that their name 'Cosmopolis' is inspired by a European literary magazine that was published during the 1890s in London, Paris, Berlin, and St Petersburg.

Follow the band on Spotify and YouTube to know more about their musical creations. They also have an official website along with Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram handles.

Let's go Back in Time With Emery Pulse's 80's-inspired Soft Rock Ballad 'Heart Fulfilled'

Listeners can get drenched in a highly romantic soundscape with Emery Pulse as she has come brand new single this year. The song is called 'Heart Fulfilled' and just like its title suggests, the track does not only satisfy the eardrums but the heart too. Sweet, melodic, and fulfilling; the song has a wholesome nature that intensifies with Emery's brilliant vocal skills that evoke emotions. Being a talented Retro Pop Artist, she has successfully offered an 80s-inspired Soft Rock ballad that asks the big questions most people tend to ruminate on. Spanning around 4 minutes, the track offers a great hook, an enjoyable musical experience, and thought-provoking lyrics that every listener can absorb. The song has been released in February, creating the perfect mood for Valentine's Day. This song also reflects the artist's sincerity and dedication to her craft.

The track 'Heart Fulfilled' is built with the united musical effort of Chris Camozzi on the guitars, Lee Brovitz on bass and Brett Brown on drums and percussion. The song is jointly produced by Emery and Brett and mastered by James Auwarter from Coda Room Audio. All of their contributions helped to create this masterpiece that is currently garnering global attention. Talking about her music, Emery said, "As a fan of 80's pop, I love bringing a retro flare to new music." When she was asked about the latest single, the artist said, "Heart Fulfilled incorporates a late 80's soft rock feel into the present. Staying on brand, the lyrics reminiscence on what used to be and wonder about the now. Could you still be the man you were once more?". Truly, her creative power in music comes with a blend of artsy and philosophy.

Hailing from Marco Island, Florida, Emery Pulse is a highly talented singer, songwriter, and recording artist. Being a lover of 80's pop, she is capable of bridging between the past and the present through her music.

Her creative approach to music churns out a retro feel that can make listeners take back in time. Utilizing 80's pop snares and synths with a hint of nostalgic essence, her music offers an original taste that can captivate everyone. Her other singles like 'Gift Box', 'Show Me Who You Are', etc are the greatest examples of her dedication, determination, and consistency.

Emery is looking forward to dropping more amazing tracks in the coming days. Follow her on Spotify, YouTube, Facebook, and Instagram to know more.

Wordsmith Patrick Ames Is Back with Another Melodiously Musing Cocktail, 'Somehow I'll Find a Way'

Coming out of the heart of the Wine Country of California, Patrick Ames always offered soulful and extremely heartfelt songs. And his latest release is also an extremely well-arranged number full of introspective thoughts and highly relatable lines. 'Somehow I'll Find a Way' has shown the great potential of the brilliant wordsmith. His laid-back voice uttering the most intriguing thoughts along with his skilful compositions, has elevated the experience of this utterly satisfying number. This is the first release after his widely acclaimed album 'Harmonium', making his foothold stronger in the base of melodious profoundness. Jon Ireson has produced this number and Ames once again shined with his charming shield of melody and lyrical efficiency. This number could take on a joyride of good old American vibes that has the power to reconnect with your roots all over again.

The basic motif of a great track is symphony and poetry, but when you dig deeper you will find highly intriguing feelings that serve purposes. And 'Somehow I'll Find a

Somehow I'll Find a Way

Produced by Jon Ireson

'Way' offers a bittersweet feeling where the writer is willing to quit songwriting and find a job and buy a home where he can spend his life with his loved ones. The playful catchy vibes of this number are truly fascinating to understand and witness. The song creates an atmosphere where he is driving a car and playing air drums, and you can also relive this song whenever you are going for a long drive, steering your wheel across the dusty road at dusk. The song tells the story of everyday life, from small achievements to not living up to your expectations. This number shares the story that we all have gone through at least once in our lives.

The daunting wisdom of this great musician and lyricist is truly a blessing for his listeners, but humans are greedy in nature, and we want more from this benevolent music artist to offer more of his musical vibes and narrate song intriguing brainstorming numbers again and again.

The rawness along with its mournful side have made the song highly engaging but the hopeless romanticism made this number ecstatically charming. His songs can bring nature, passion, knowledge, and spirituality through his melodious releases. Patrick Ames has gleefully offered the most interesting concoctions of music, poetries, and passion.

He is driven by his dreams and that's what keeps him going on and on. Follow him on Spotify, Facebook, YouTube, Apple Music, Official Music website.

Red Bird Rising Is Bringing the Essence of Demurral Against War In 'My Revolution (feat. Taras Kuznetzov)'

People often say that great and moving writing comes with great inspiration and a state of urgency. Renowned musician, songwriter, and producer Red Bird Rising has taken this opportunity to pen down one of the most heart-rending songs and collaborated with Taras Kuznetzov to create an emotive track. His recent release, entitled 'My Revolution (feat. Taras Kuznetzov)' features some excellent, emotive writing along with poignant vocals. The track was released on 28th January and was received with incredible appreciation and support from the audience. If you find music to be meaningful and think it should come with a message then this track is the perfect choice for you. Not just the message, but the musical arrangement and elements of this song are crafted to utmost perfection, so much so that once you listen to it, it will be hard to not hear this again and again.

The tracks can be explained and described as a community effort that is based on a wide range of musical instrumentation and features Ukrainian artist Taras Kuznetzov on the lead vocals along with artist Ana Pshokina on bass. While describing how he feels about music and how impactful that thought has been on this particular track, the artist said, "I have a world worn faith in the power of music to significantly change people's lives." Diedrich Donald Weiss, also known by his musical alias Red Bird Rising has put his entire faith in this collaboration and acknowledges both the importance and magic of this act.

The theme is focused on the ongoing war between Russia and Ukraine and how in this difficult time music can be one of the most powerful artistic weapons to put an end to it. If putting an end to the war cannot be achieved at least through music people will be aware of the horror that war comes with. While searching for an answer to the age-old question, "What can I do in this situation?" Weiss went in to create this masterpiece that has fearless songwriting and storytelling. The stirring writing is ideally complemented by the powerful and ample composition, using a wide range of musical instruments that fit together perfectly. You will be an instant fan of the vocals in the track, as the strong emotions in the voice will move you to the core. A music video featuring the terror of war that was filmed in Odessa under threat of bombing by Russian missiles is also released on YouTube. You can listen to the track on Spotify and follow the artist on Instagram.

The list of nominees did not end here as it included few of the Oscar and Emmy nominees as well. Austin Butler, an Oscar nominee for his breakthrough role in 'Elvis' is also nominated here for the 'best performance in a movie'.

The other nominations are Florence Pugh in 'Don't Worry Darling', Keke Palmer in Jordan Peele's 'Nope', Tom Cruise in 'Top Gun: Maverick' and lastly, Michael B. Jordan in 'Creed III'. The same scenario is also seen in the 'Best Song' category where Lady Gaga's "Hold My Hand" from 'Top Gun: Maverick' and Rihanna's "Lift Me Up" from 'Black Panther:

Wakanda Forever' is fighting with Doja Cat's "Vegas" (Elvis), Demi Lovato's "Still Alive" (Scream VI), Taylor Swift's "Carolina" (Where the Crawdads Sing), and OneRepublic's "I Ain't Worried" (Top Gun: Maverick).

Millie Bobby Brown Announces Her Engagement with Jake Bongiovi

Stranger Things star Millie Bobby Brown took the internet by storm as she announced her engagement to Jon Bon Jovi's son Jake Bongiovi. Millie, who rose to fame with her role as Eleven in Netflix's award-winning show and as Enola Holmes, had been dating Jake Bongiovi for two and a half years. However, Jake decided to take the relationship to the next level and make things official at what appeared to be a seaside retreat.

Soon after, the actress, 19, took to Instagram to share the exciting news of her engagement with a mushy black and white photo where she appeared to be rather giddy and emotional as she flaunted her ring, while her fiancé, 20, wrapped her in his arms. The caption read: "Verified

I've loved you three summers now, honey, I want 'em all ?", which is taken from the Taylor Swift song, 'Lover'. All the actress's celeb pals and fans flocked to the comments section to congratulate her on the occasion.

Jamie Campbell Bower, who played the role of the villain Vecna in the Season 4 of Stranger Things, commented a string of heart emojis, while her Stranger Things co-actor Cara Buono commented, "Beautiful! So happy for you." Paris Hilton commented on the photo: "Verified Congratulations beautiful! ❤️❤️❤️" while Hannah Dodd wrote: "Congrats guys!"

Her fans also seemed to be over the moon about the engagement as a long series of congratulations flooded in for the couple. However, there were quite a few who were not so impressed with the news and expressed their concern and criticism over the fact that the couple was too young to be engaged.

One fan wrote: "Isn't she only 19 years old?" and another quipped, "Omgg too young".

Others defended them with comments like, "She's technically an adult and can make her own choices. I got engaged at 19 and was married at 19 and now almost 10 years later we're still together."

Jake also posted two photos of the same with the caption: "Verified Forever ?", and fans showered their love and adoration, with one of them commenting, "He liked it, and he put a ring on it ?❤️."

The couple first got acquainted with each other on Instagram and struck up a friendship.

They made their relationship public in June 2021, when she shared a picture of Jake kissing her cheek on the London Eye, and commenting that they were now "Instagram official".

Rapper Ravi is Facing Legal and Online Consequences for Evading His Service Time with the Korean Military Rapper Ravi is about to face 2 years of imprisonment for violating the Korean Military service act. The first trials involved nine people accused in this military evasion case. And this list of nine people includes rappers Ravi and Nafla. It was held in the 7th Criminal Division of the Seoul Southern District Court on the 11th of April. During the courtroom process, the prosecution asked that Ravi should serve two years in prison to compensate for his deeds. And Nafla is about to serve two years and six months in prison.

Both of the rappers are facing these consequences and the Korean government has pressed charges on them of evading military service. They tried to avoid their serving time in the military by showing a false diagnosis of epilepsy. They have conspired with a broker and submitted a false diagnosis to the Military Manpower Administration. Both of the rappers are facing a hard time as they both have tried to escape their time with the Korean military, especially Ravi.

According to some reports, Ravi left his band VIXX post this accusation and case. In Korea, serving a period of 18 months with their National Military is a mandated process once a citizen turns 28 years old. On January 28th South Korea's probing agency reserved Ravi for evading military services by offering a false health record. And right after this, the management company of VIXX, Jellyfish Entertainment announced the departure of this rapper. In their statement Jellyfish said, We sincerely thank the fans who support VIXX, and we inform you of member Ravi's departure from VIXX." This evasion case has shocked K-netizens, and they have shown their eager disappointment and disapproval of this service evasion case. The internet was flooded with disapproving comments by netizens.

Here are some examples, "He's really stupid. I don't want to see him on tv ever again," "Did he not learn anything from Yoo Seung Joon or MC Mong?" and "This is the worst." Some said, "This is so upsetting and so embarrassing," "I'm embarrassed for him," and "I really thought he was a good guy. Man, why did he do this to himself?" "I really liked his songs but this is really disappointing," "This one wrong choice really put his career down the drain."

ARIANA GRANDE ADDRESSES FANS' CONCERNS ABOUT HER WEIGHT AND URGES TO STOP BODY SHAMING

Pop icon Ariana Grande is the recent one to speak about comments addressing her body after a long list of other celebrities like Lizzo, Rihanna, Ashley Gramah, Bella Hadid, Selena Gomez, etc. The entitlement to other people's bodies and vile body shaming comments have now forced Ariana Grande to open up and address the issue in her latest 3-minute-long TikTok video. In this candid TikTok video, the 'Thank You Next' singer talked openly about the comments followers and fans have made on her social media regarding her body recently and over the past few years. At the start of her video, Grande said she has a body that is "paid such close attention to", so she "wanted to address" concerns. She then urges her fans and followers to "be gentler and less comfortable commenting on people's bodies".

The 29-year-old singer explained that the body people were comparing to, was "the unhealthiest version of my body". In that video Grande was shown to have a gentle attitude and a calming voice when she explained the dangerous results of body shaming, warning people that they do not know what is going on with other people's bodies. Even if the concerns are coming "from a loving place", she has urged to put an end to them.

She said, "I think we should be gentler and less comfortable commenting on people's bodies, no matter what. If you think you're saying something good or well intentioned, whatever it is. healthy or unhealthy, big, small...we should really work towards not doing that as much."

Speaking on the comparison that her followers and the general public on social media have been making, she explained that the body that she was compared to was the unhealthiest version of her. She further went on to explain "I was on a lot of antidepressants and drinking on them and eating poorly and at the lowest point of my life when I looked the way you consider my healthy but that in fact wasn't my healthy."

after reminding her millions of followers that there are different versions of beauty and looking healthy, her fans applauded for her honesty but at the same time showed disappointment in saying she did not have to explain that. After so many stars coming forward and urging people to stop commenting about their bodies, maybe the social media will take lessons from it and put them to a final end.

Taylor Swift Went for Dinner near Cornelia Street Right after Her Break Up

The globally renowned pop singer Taylor Swift is not hiding anything from her life. On 10th April, she was captured outside a restaurant in New York City when she went for dinner with a few celebrity friends. It is coming to know, that has recently broken up with her long-time boyfriend Joe Alwyn.

Taylor was seen with Jack Antonoff and his fiancée Margaret Qualley for dinner in Via Carota restaurant in Manhattan. But the most astonishing part of this situation is that in the restaurant she went to is just a few blocks away from Cornelia Street. She has talked about this particular street in one of her songs from the album 'Lover'. In that song, she said 'And I hope I never lose you, hope it never ends / I'd never walk Cornelia Street again / That's the kind of heartbreak time could never mend /

I'd never walk Cornelia Street again'. Along with that, she also used to have a house on the same street. Thus it can be understood that it plays a significant part in her life. This news of her break up has surprised everyone because currently she is in the middle of an ongoing tour. And suddenly this kind of news has broken the internet. According to the report, they separated their ways for 'differences in their personalities'. They were together for almost six years and that is why her fans got shocked even more.

From a source, it is coming to know that 'They had plenty in common and fell in love in a safe bubble, while she was retreating from the world during Reputation. Then the (Covid-19) pandemic hit, and they were locked down together and able to continue growing their relationship in this insulated way. But he didn't really 'know' her yet outside of that bubble...

He has struggled with Taylor's level of fame and the attention from the public. The differences in their personalities have also become harder to ignore after years together. They've grown apart'

Taylor dropped another shocking news recently. Now, she is in the middle of an ongoing tour. And in this period of time, she dropped four new songs.

She stated on Instagram stories that 'In celebration of The Eras Tour I'm releasing four previously unreleased songs tonight at midnight 9 (clock and smile emoticon) Eyes Open (Taylor's Version), Safe & Sound (Ft. Joy Williams and John Paul White) (Taylor's Version), If This Was a Movie (Taylor's Version) and All of the Girls You Loved Before'.

With The Latest RIAA Records Gain, Post Malone Release New 'Diamond Collection'

Post Malone is known for his rapping skills and always arriving with Swag and this time was no different. The musician bagged three new RIAA Records and set out the compilation of his greatest hits. With the brand new three records, the artist always set up a benchmark and created a record for the most RIAA Diamond-certified singles from any artist, with a total of eight certified records. Universal Music Group issued a statement on Monday which is also a member of RIAA which says the three tracks of the rapper, "Circles," "Better Now," and "I Fall Apart" have successfully crossed the diamond threshold. This is awarded to the tracks which have accumulated 10 million certified units in total.

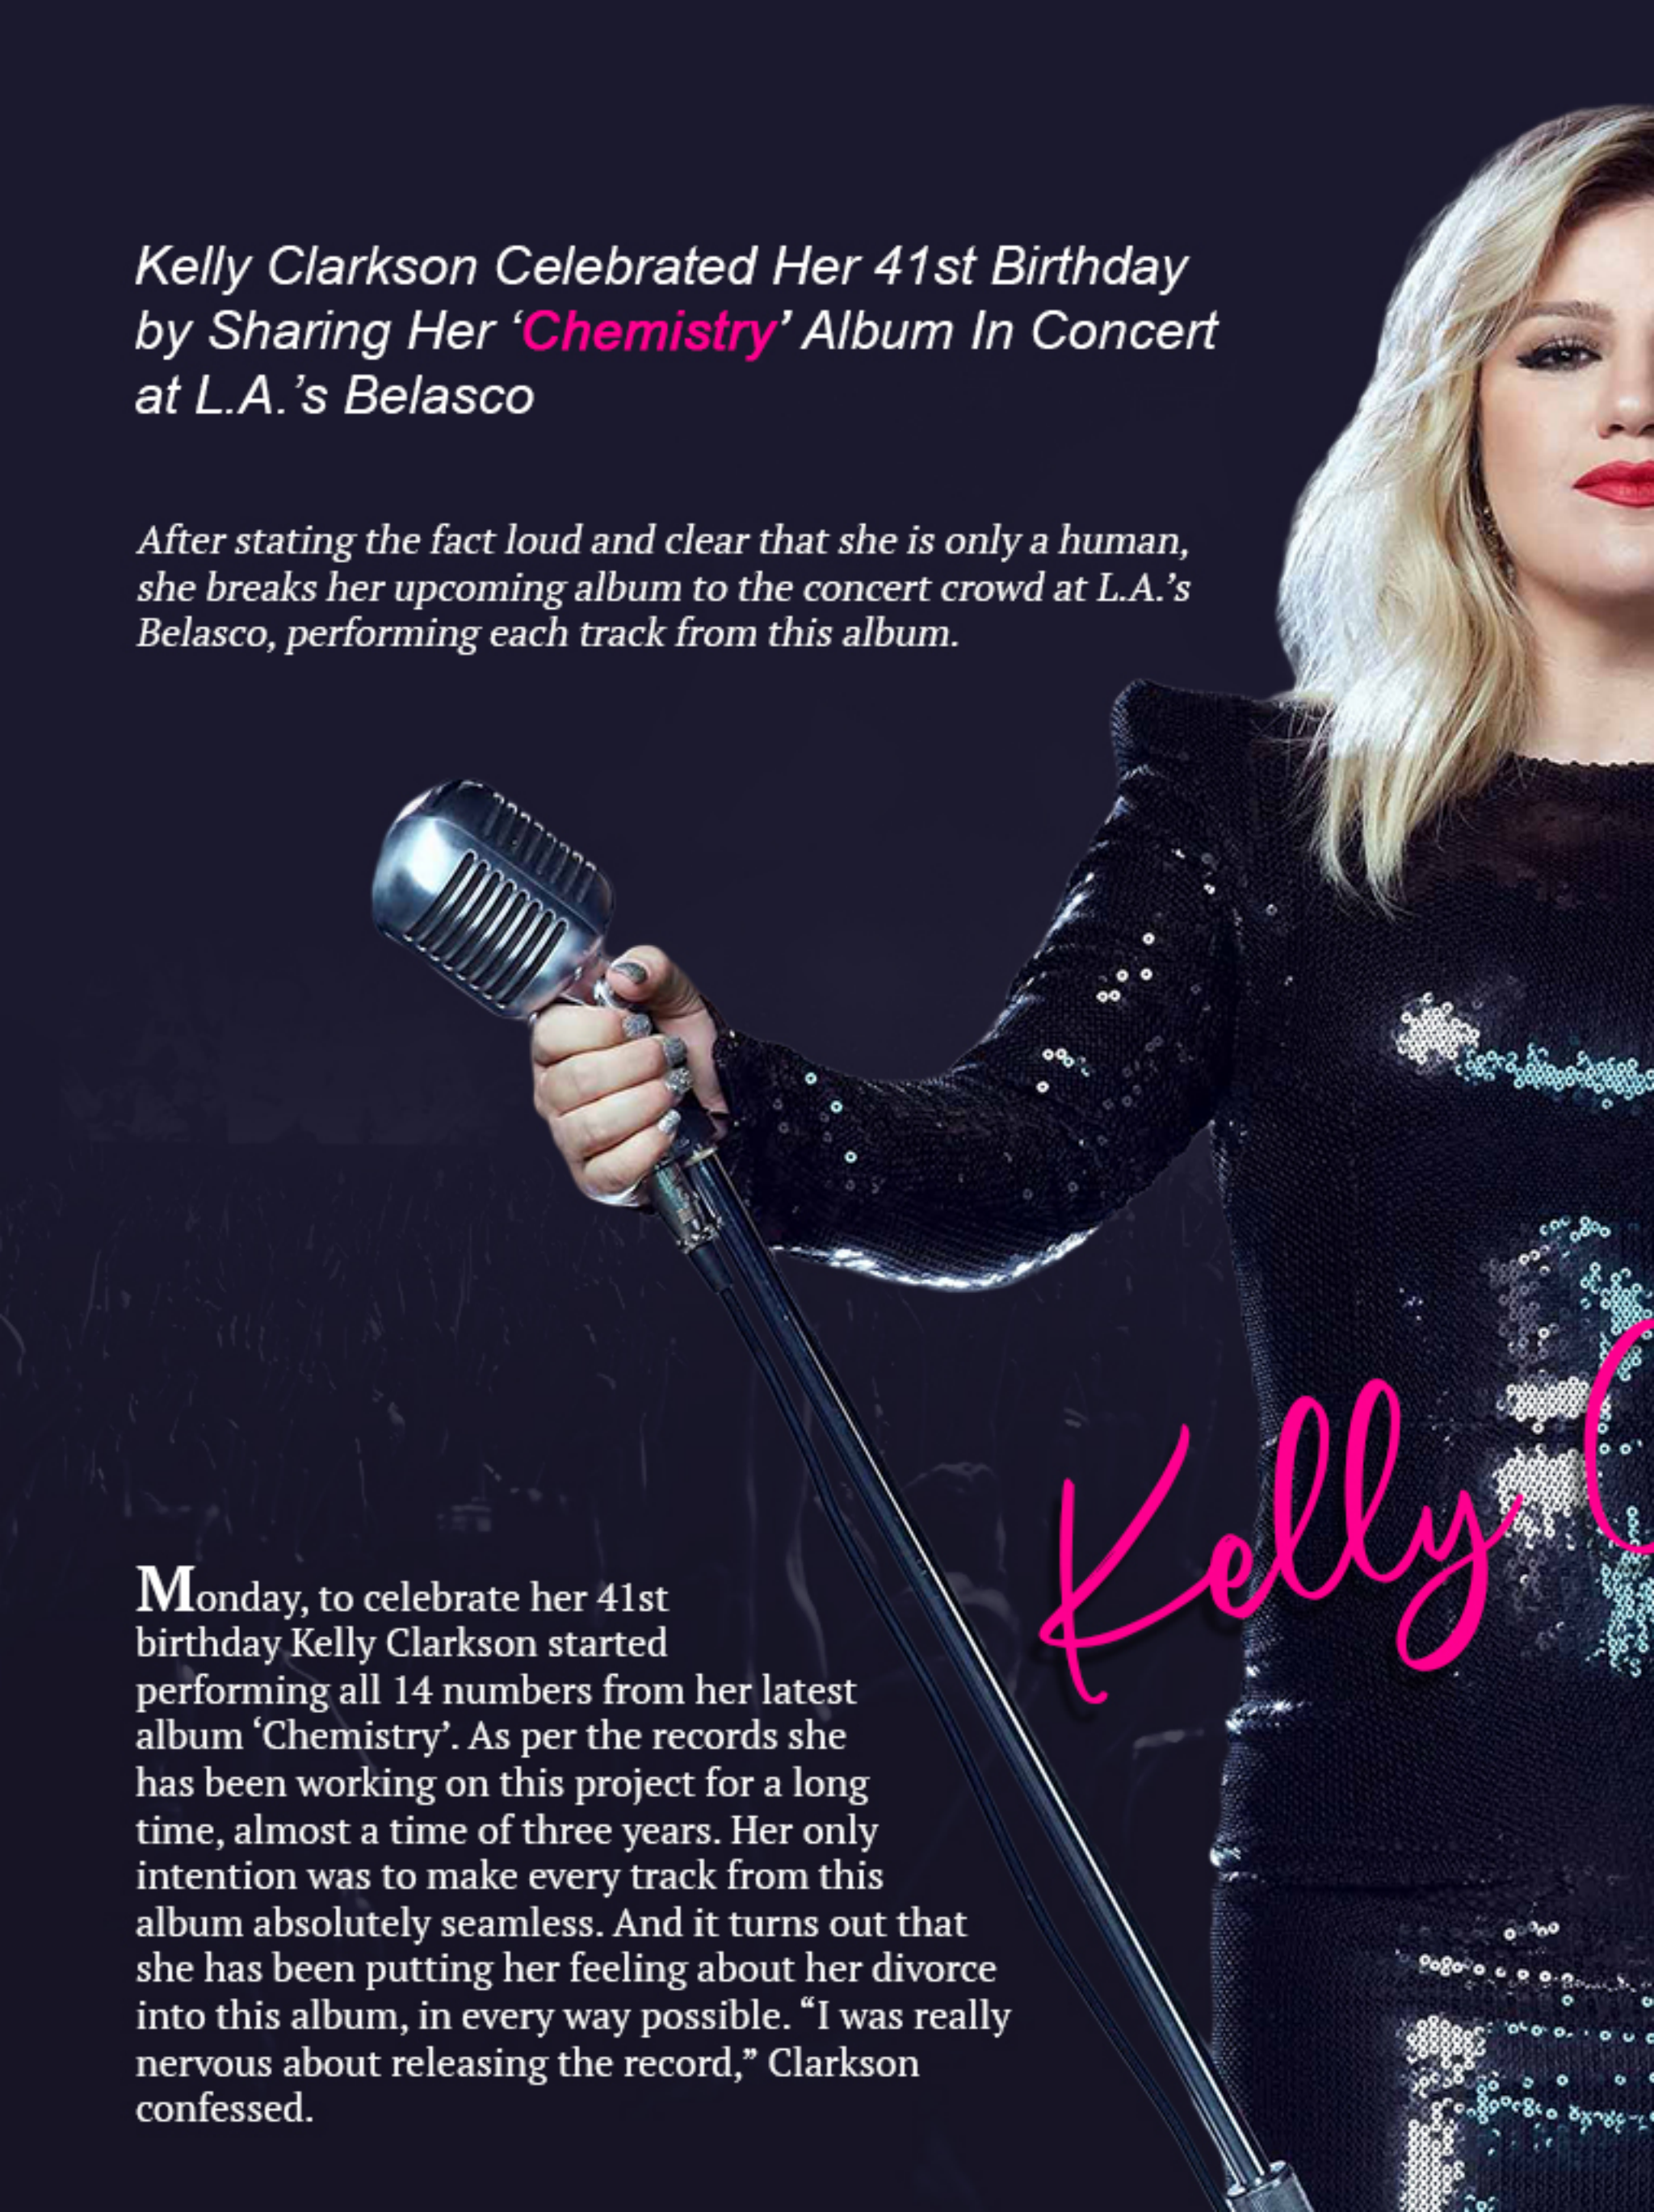

Post Malone created a new record with eight of his singles and smashed the previous record that was held by R&B singer Bruno Mars with six RIAA-certified singles. Now the rapper/singer is tied for the highest platinum-certified single of all time with his enormous hit "Sunflower" featuring Swae Lee, as the track hits platinum 17 times. To celebrate his latest victory and record, Post Malone worked with Republic Records and released 'The Diamond Collection' which is a compilation of all of his Diamond-certified hits along with his latest single 'Chemical', a pop-leaning track.

'Chemical' is the first track of his anticipated fifth full-length studio album which is the first song released after Posty's 2022 album 'Twelve Carat Toothache'. The song helped Malone start a new era and debuted just outside of the U.K. top 10, at the 11th position. This is based on the midweek data that the Official Charts Company published.

This new era is set to reflect a whole new Post Malone. This was a topic of discussion before when the artist gave an interview to Billboard and said about changing his art, "Every time you change your art and your way of thinking for someone else's, that takes a little piece of yourself off every time. I feel like I'm trying to rebuild."

Posty's last album, 'Twelve Carat Toothache' grabbed the No. 2 position on the Billboard 200 whereas his previous albums, 'Hollywood's Bleeding' (2019) and 'Beerbongs & Bentleys' (2018) both secured the No. 1 position on the charts.

Kelly Clarkson Celebrated Her 41st Birthday by Sharing Her 'Chemistry' Album In Concert at L.A.'s Belasco

After stating the fact loud and clear that she is only a human, she breaks her upcoming album to the concert crowd at L.A.'s Belasco, performing each track from this album.

Monday, to celebrate her 41st birthday Kelly Clarkson started performing all 14 numbers from her latest album 'Chemistry'. As per the records she has been working on this project for a long time, almost a time of three years. Her only intention was to make every track from this album absolutely seamless. And it turns out that she has been putting her feeling about her divorce into this album, in every way possible. "I was really nervous about releasing the record," Clarkson confessed.

Kelly C

The emotional angel of this album along with its powerful and good-humored aspects also has enriched the album to a great extent. In the running time of 2 hours, during the concert at downtown L.A.'s Belasco, it was filmed for being used in the future. She said one of her crew members of 3 years have told her, "I was listening to your record and, boy, did you nail that — loss and grief. And even the part where you remember the good; that's what keeps you going back."

In her 'Remember the Good' songs she revisited the early stage of their relationship with her former husband Brandon Blackstock. This has worked on the commercial appeal of the album and has increased the attractive quotient of the album as well. In the midst of sadness, these tracks have maintained the zest of her highly intriguing musical vibes. This album is a concoction of melody, melancholy, and engaging upbeat vibes, this unique blend has created the magic on stage.

While introducing a charming love ballad 'Lighthouse', Clarkson said to her adoring crowd, "This is possibly the saddest song I've ever written." Yet the performance had to declare time-out when one of her patrons fainted in the packed floor area. Clarkson remained on stage as she showed her keen concern for this man, and the medic attended to the person. She, later on, sounded quite apologetic for noticing that person in the first place. But she ended on a merrier note as she said, "I thought I was the only one here just sweating like a whore in church," punning as always. Along with this, she also has performed two on-'Chemistry' encore numbers 'Miss Independent' and 'Since U Been Gone'.

Doja Cat Reacts to Losing Her Blue Tick on Twitter; Calls it a Symbol of a Higher Chance of Being "a Complete Loser"

American rapper and singer Doja Cat has now responded to losing her blue tick on Twitter and has commented that a Twitter blue tick represents a "higher chance that you're a complete loser" and is a cry for validation.

For years the blue tick has been an emblem of credibility and authenticity for Twitter users. However, on April 20, 2023, the CEO Elon Musk, who acquired the company in late 2022, initiated a clampdown on this legacy, announcing that only individuals or organizations that have paid for the premium subscription to Twitter Blue will be allowed to keep the verified credential of the blue tick on their profile. As a result, multiple celebrities lost their blue tick mark, while some paid to have it retained. This move has been described by Musk as being one about "treating people equally" on the platform and offering "subscribers a way to enhance and customize their Twitter experience".

Fans were quick to notice that Doja Cat was among those who had lost her blue tick on the platform and a torrent of comments flooded in after that. One fan wrote: "No blue tick? It's over." Another fan followed up with: "You have to pay for Twitter Blue now? What has Elon done to you, Doja?"

However, the singer showed that she was not one to remain silent and addressing the issue, soon posted: "Having a blue tick now means there's a higher chance that you're a complete loser and that you're desperate for validation from famous people." When a verified account quipped to the comment saying, "And what does that mean for me tho bestie? I'm not a loser right? ??????" to which Doja replied, "you have a higher chance of being one for sure. people buy blue ticks to feel important not because they built anything meaningful." The fan then wrote: "well dm me and let's build something meaningful in the studio then bestie ???".

However, it appears that Doja isn't the only celebrity to have expressed her disappointment about the elimination of the blue tick.

William Shatner, best known for his role as Kirk in the Star Trek franchise, commented, "I've been here for 15 years giving my [time] and witty thoughts all for bupkis. Now you're telling me that I have to pay for something you gave me for free? What is this? The Columbia Records & Tape Club?", while Black Jack also stated: "I don't know if I'm going to pay for it.

I'm a little embarrassed by the blue check, to be honest with you. Maybe it's cooler not to have checks. It's definitely not cool to pay for it."

Maren Morris celebrates after Tucker Carlson Leaves Fox News

The unexpected exit of Tucker Carlson from Fox News is truly dramatic and Maren Morris did not leave a single chance to celebrate it. A statement has been issued by the channel on April 24 that the highest-rated anchor of the channel is opting for separate ways.

His final broadcast of Tucker Carlson Tonight took place on Friday, April 21. Until the new host is named, this right-wing channel has decided to fill the 8 pm slot and it will be led by a rotation of Fox News personalities.

The report reads, “Fox News Media and Tucker Carlson have agreed to part ways. We thank him for his service to the network as a host and prior to that as a contributor.” This shocking incident was quite delightful for Morris and the “Humble Quest” singer is using social media to share her thoughts on the matter. Carlson has previously referred to Morris as a “lunatic” and a “fake country music singer.”

It all started after Brittany, Jason Aldean’s wife, appeared on the show to speak about her beliefs and share her thoughts on transgender children.

In an Instagram story, Morris wrote “Happy Monday, MotherTucker.” It was shared along with a screengrab that shows the face of Morris and reads “Lunatic Country Music Person” on Tucker Carlson Tonight. Morris has further shared rainbow cover art which reads “THE ONLY TUCKERS ALLOWED ARE THE DRAG QUEENS.”

Being a true advocate and supporter of the LGBTQ+ community; Morris did not spare Brittany either. She called her out by saying, “It’s so easy to, like, not be a scumbag human? Sell your clip-ins and zip it, Insurrection Barbie,” in response to Brittany’s statement “I’d really like to thank my parents for not changing my gender when I went through my tomboy phase. I love this girly life.”

Advocating for trans rights, Morris sold t-shirts with Carlson’s “Lunatic” label. The Grammy Award winner singer-songwriter raised more than $150,000 for GLAAD’s Transgender Media Program. Trans Life Line is also a part of the project, a non-profit organization that provides financial and emotional support to LGBTQ+ individuals.

Fox News had to reach a $787.5 million settlement with Dominion Voting Systems and Carlson’s exit came following by but it took a lot of time. Previously, the company had filed a defamation lawsuit against FOX News in 2021. Fox Network also claimed that Dominion helped “rig the 2020 presidential election.”

Singer Shaan Has Been Criticized For Wishing Eid to Everyone

Shaan Mukherjee, a popular singer in India is experiencing a lot of criticism in recent days as he made a public post to wish everyone for Eid. He has been a renowned artist in the Indian Music Industry for his massive contribution to the industry. This artist has been in the industry for more than 20 years and he has gotten a lot of love and support from everyone in this time. It is quite surprising to see all these negative comments on a little gesture.

On the day of Eid, Shaan posted a picture on Instagram where he has been wearing a skull cap and said 'Eid Mubarak to you and your family'. The photo was a screenshot from the song 'Karam Karde', which was made in 2020. Right after that, he received tons of negative comments where people said that he is a Hindu and how can he dress up in Muslim attire. People's anger was raising and that is why the artist had to turn off his comment section.

Later that incident, the artist posted a video to respond to all the trolls he has been receiving for the past few days. In the video, he said that from childhood he has been taught to respect and celebrate every festival of the culture even after being born into a Hindu Brahmin family. He also mentioned that the photo was from 2020 from the music video 'Karam Karde'. He added more 'Usme ye Look Tha .. toh socha it goes with the occasion .. bas itni si baat'. In response to everyone's question, he stated 'I am a Brahmin, I am a Hindu, I am very proud of who I am, I am also an Indian and a human being'.

The artist also added 'Since childhood, I was taught to celebrate all festivals and respect every religion. This is what I believe in and this is what every Indian should believe in too. Baaki aapki soch aapko Mubarak'. Along with that, he said in the video 'Love each other, respect each other, don't keep such polarised thinking and thoughts. Any nation which has walked on the path of religion has not moved ahead. We are the biggest democracy in the world and today, we have the maximum population in the world, we should change our thinking, we should be more inclusive. We should look toward creating a beautiful world, not just a beautiful country'.

BEBE REXHA IS TAKING LISTENERS ON A TRIP TO THE 70S WITH HER NEW ALBUM 'BEBE'

Popstar Bebe Rexha has released her self-titled album 'Bebe' and netizens are pouring appreciation for the singer's effort to take listeners back to the retro era.

Bebe Rexha turns the clock around in her recent album, entitled 'Bebe' which features the 70's disco sound and 80's pop music mixed with modern musical compositions. Her third studio album is all set to infect the audience with pop anthems including the massive hit 'I'm Good (Blue)' that samples from Eiffel 65's 'Blue (Da Ba Dee)'. The netizens are leaving appreciation and support for this latest effort by Bebe on social media, calling it probably the best craft in her discography. Consisting of 12 songs in total, 'Bebe' by Bebe Rexha is a sonically cohesive album that is vocally powerful and brilliantly done in the department of studio mixing and engineering.

The album opens with 'Heart Wants What It Wants' which is composed of a bluesy guitar line combined with a pounding bass. Bebe's smokey vocals do an amazing job elevating the soundscape along with the beat kicking. Soon the song turns into a vintage soundscape vibe while maintaining the traces of originality. The next track, 'Miracle Man' is an instant attention-grabber with its funky bass line. 'Satellite' opens with a familiar voice where the rapper Snoop Dogg is present with the first feature of the album. Sonically, the album is a journey to the good old days, especially with the 70's synth on tracks.

Snoop Dogg is not the biggest and only feature on the album as we soon hear the legendary Dolly Parton on the acoustic ballad, 'Seasons' which is placed at the perfect spot on the album, as a closer. There are also quite a lot of dance anthems on the album, tracks like 'When It Rains', 'Call On Me', and the unforgettable 'I'm Good (Blue)'. The last one is a collaboration with the popular DJ David Guetta. This instant pop banger will force you to let the air breeze into your hair and dance your heart out.

The tone changes with the next track, 'Visions (Don't Go)' which turns towards a more bluesy composition with an enchanting chorus. Then the vibe changes in 'Born Again' is a piano-driven ballad, showing off the sexy, yet emotional vocals of the singer. 'Blue Moon' is one of the strongest tracks on the album which is extremely high-powered and danceable. Overall, Bebe takes her audience on a colorful and nostalgic journey with this versatile album.

Jennifer Lopez Is Facing Backlash on Launching Alcohol Brand for Double Standards

The American actress and pop diva, Jennifer Lopez is known for her entrepreneurial side and has successfully launched various businesses in her lifetime. Already leading a successful life with her acting jobs and singing career, it can only be said that she has a thriving career. Now she has launched a brand-new alcohol line, 'The House of Delola' that got her into the news recently.

But that is not the only thing that is happening with JLo as she is also trending due to negative comments on this latest business venture. Since the actress and singer stayed sober for years and have been publicly vocal about the harm that alcohol has caused her and continues to cause millions of other people, the internet is not too happy with her.

In addition to her recent shoe line 'the Hustlers' and her cosmetic line, 'JLo Beauty', Jennifer Lopez has launched 'The House of Delola', a company that will serve spirit-based, and premium bottled cocktails, that are made with natural botanicals.

In her recent social media posts, the artist announced that her cocktail brand is called Delola. The company will serve people different flavors of cocktails and will have a lower percentage of alcohol, almost as much as in a glass of wine.

She announced this news by uploading a video on social media sites where she explained the idea of Delola and that the inspiration behind the cocktail line came from her love for lavish lifestyle and hospitality on the Italian coast. She was seen saying she wanted to make something for people who loves to enjoy life but without a lower amount of sugar and no artificial content. "The secret is out!!! I'm proud to share with you @DELOLA ... my new collection of unique, mixology-level ready to enjoy spritzes" she posted on Instagram. While there is absolutely no doubt that people, especially her fans are very excited about this brand-new venture and are all ready to try it out, the rest of the internet is not too happy and the artist has been facing backlash since. The backlash and the calling out by the internet users are happening namely because JLo and her husband Ben Affleck, both are known to be sober. Jennifer Lopez has been publicly vocal about the negative impact alcohol can create on human lives and her husband, actor Ben Affleck has had a very public battle with substance issues over the past years.

BLACKPINK's Jisoo Is at the Top on Hanteo with the Highest 1st-week Album Sales

After the release of 'ME', Jisoo has been reaching the heights of success with her solo music career. Though other members from BLACKPINK have already embarked on their solo ventures, Jisoo seems to gain more attention with the launch of the latest musical album. 'ME' has created a record by making the most sales within the first week of its sales. No other female K-pop artist has achieved this mark before. According to the recent data revealed by Hanteo, her first solo album has already sold over 876,249 copies in less than a week. This solo album has been released on March 31 and currently, it is buzzing on all top charts. The total number of sales till is counted to be around 1,172,351 copies.

This album has become the highest-selling album by any female solo artist only within the first week of sales. Her album is currently ranked in second place right after the group's last album

'BORN PINK'. With over 1 million units sold, the album has debuted at no. 1 on this week's Circle Chart.

The main track from the album titled 'Flower' is currently debuting at the top of the Worldwide iTunes Song Chart and the service's top songs charts in over 60 countries. Upon its release, the track landed at no. 6 on Global Spotify Chart. Jisoo is the fourth and final member of BLACKPINK to initiate a solo career with her debut solo musical project. Jeenie first initiated her journey with the project titled 'Solo' in 2018. In 2021, both Rose and Lisa dropped their solo projects namely 'R' and 'Lalisa', respectively. However, Jisoo is the only member to ever achieve this record of becoming the most-selling artist in just its release week.

Selling over a million copies within a week is not an easy task, but Jisoo's unwavering personality and musical skills made it possible. She recently dropped an amazing dance performance video for the song 'Flower'. Featuring some of the most gorgeous formations and steps with the crew, Jisoo has proved her skills are not limited to music only.

The track 'Flower' has earned over 4,674,337 filtered streams on Spotify within 24 hours. As a result, Jisoo has unlocked another achievement of gaining the highest number of first-day streams for any song by a female K-pop soloist in the history of the platform.

Kill Bill

SZA

SZA scored her first Billboard Hot 100 No. 1 with 'Kill Bill', the song which has been already on the list for the past eight weeks. Appearing on her second studio album 'SOS', the song has also premiered with an official music video that offers similar vibes to Tarantino's legendary Kill Bill movie. However, the plot is quite simple in this case where a bride is on a quest to kill her ex-boyfriend and get revenge. Whether it is R&B flavors or SZA's mesmerizing vocals; the song is highly enjoyable and it went number one in seven territories worldwide. While some critics have considered that song as crazy relationship dynamics or a stalker lullaby; it is evident that SZA unlocked her potential as a pop icon.

USTAD ZAKIR HUSSAIN: THE LEGENDARY PRACTITIONER OF RHYTHM

‘dha, dhin, dhin, dha’

These were the first words that were whispered in the ears of Ustad Zakir Hussain when he was born. None other than his father, the legendary Ustad Alla Rakha or ‘Abbaji’ whispered those words in the infant’s ears and considered it Kalma as he believed it was as sacred to him as his prayer. Actually, it is the ‘bols’ to the tritaal, the foundation of all Indian percussion starting from tabla, dhol, and many other instruments.

This is the kind of passion for music that these Ustads possess for their craft and that is how the mastery of the craft is passed on from one generation to another. Zakir Hussain not only took his father’s legacy forward but became the most recognizable icon of Indian classical music around the world. The man established himself as the synonym for the tabla. Not only his father but Pandit Ravi Shankar Ji’s guidance also put influenced this artist. However, what made Zakir Hussain one of the most dynamic rhythm artists ever is his vision to create something new. The artist successfully made a cross-over between Indian Classical Music and Western pop culture.

Sitar still remains one of the most utilized Indian musical instruments of classical music which is associated with psychedelics, Woodstock, and a fair portion of Western popular consciousness. However, people began to understand the widespread influence of tabla with the help of Ustad Zakir Hussain. This unwavering personality of Hussain was not only limited to his mastery of tabla but also to endorsement deals.

In the late 80s and 90s, when sportspersons and film stars could be seen participating in many commercial advertisements and Ustad was one of them. One does not even require to drink tea but still would think of Ustad Zakir Hussain every time they hear ‘Wah Taj!’.

Hussain is also one of the most popular and sorted musicians in the Indian industry and concert circuit. As a result, every other musical prefers to work with him. Vocalists and Instrumentalists across different generations have agreed to have a great experience working with Ustad. He likes to stay true to his roots as well as to his craft and his dedication is immense. Zakir inherited from his father and made sure that tabla is never considered to be a ‘lower rank’ on the stage. A tabla does not overwhelm other instruments or overlap them, rather; it paves a way for smooth and melodic progression. Embracing its subtle yet powerful presence in different music, Hussain represented tabla on a global level.

Some amazing facts about Ustad Zakir Hussain

Ustad Zakir Hussain was born on March 9, 1951. At the age of only 7 years, he attended his first stage performance and by the age of 11 years; he already embarked on global music tours. Some say that Ustad’s original family name is Qureshi and Hussain was added later. Zakir Hussain’s first work as an actor was in 1989, titled ‘Heat and Dust’. He did not only show his acting skills but also composed the whole soundtrack for the movie. Ustad Zakir Hussain is the first Indian to get invited to the White House by former US president Barack Obama to attend the All-Star Global Concert.

Zakir Hussain got married to Italian American Kathak dancer, Antonia Minnecola. Currently, this couple has two daughters. Hussain won Padma Shri in 1988, Padma Bhushan in 2002, and Padma Vibhushan in 2023. He has also received Sangeet Natak Akademi Award in 1990.

Discography

Starting from 1970 to the ‘2000s; Hussain has worked on numerous musical projects. Whether it is working with George Harrison's 1973 album 'Living in the Material World' or the 'Karuna Supreme' with John Handy with Ali Akbar Khan in 1976, his creativity and innovation in fusing tabla with different musical styles widely prevailed. Who's to Know (1980), A Handful of Beauty (1976), Making Music (1987), Saturday Night in Bombay (2001), Save Our Children (1998), and Spirit into Sound (1999), etc are some of the greatest examples of his collaborative projects that helped other artists with the musical representations.

He has worked for the soundtracks in a number of movies such as,

In Custody (1993)
 Little Buddha (1993)
 Saaz (1998)
 Vanaprastham (1999)
 The Mystic Masseur (2001) and Mrs. Iyer (2002)
 One Dollar Curry (2003)

Wrapping Up

The legend of rhythm has been always remarkable in his field and never hesitated to experiment with other music even though Ustad Zakir Hussain belongs to strict classical background. This is the passion for innovation that Ustad spread among all music artists as well as the listeners and his fans.

BEBE REXHA HAS ANNOUNCED HER THIRD STUDIO ALBUM 'BEBE'

Pop artist Bebe Rexha has announced that she will drop her upcoming studio album 'Bebe' on 28th April. This announcement has left everyone too much excited.

The American pop artist Bebe Rexha has finally announced her third studio album 'Bebe'. This news has blown up the social media platforms and generated a buzz among all of her listeners. The new album 'Bebe' is going to release on 28th April 2023. Her fans were eagerly waiting for an album, because the last album she released was in 2021, named 'Better Mistakes'.

With this new creation, she is all ready to mesmerize her listeners once again. On Wednesday she dropped the news on Instagram and since then the excitement is increasing. The Grammy-winning artist shared a rose-gold tinted, retro-looking photo on Instagram and captioned the picture as 'my third studio album "BEBE" is out april 28!!!!!!'.

From the photo, people were expecting that there will be retro essence in the album, and later on, she also made it obvious by saying 'It's a blast into the '70s. That's why we're doing a little bit of Farrah Fawcett'. The artist has added more by saying 'I grew up with immigrant parents, so we didn't really listen to '70s music that much. We listened to Albanian music, and then I did a deep dive into the '70s, and I was like, 'Wait, Fleetwood Mac? Diana Ross? What's going on?'

As of now, it is coming to that she has collaborated with artists like Travis Barker, Ty Dolla Sign, Trevor Daniel, Lil Uzi Vert, Doja Cat, Pink Sweats, Lunay, and Rick Ross. Thus, it can be said that all these singers are going to make this album even more memorable with their presence. Their contribution will make the album even more enriching. Alongside, listeners will get to experience so many talented musicians in one album.

In her previous work, we have seen that she always comes up with something very new. That is why, from this album, listeners have a lot of expectations. In recent times, she has also amazed everyone with her latest song 'Heart Wants What It Wants'.

This was released on the 17th of April and she has also given a teaser of the music video too. Therefore 'Bebe' is creating a sensation and people are expecting it to be worth waiting for.

Know the Details about BBC Singers/LSO Event; Filled With Music and Words

Simon Rattle conducted a concert in the Barbican Hall on Sunday for the BBC Singers event where Mahler's Seventh and Richard Strauss's 'Don Quixote' was played.

The BBC Singers, a top-tier professional chorus has recently been threatened with extermination but then it was paused and reprieved. In the evening, Mahler's Seventh Symphony was supposed to be the evening's solo performance, however, the outrage was so big and threatening, that the LSO invited the now-reprieved BBC Singers to perform. As a gesture of solidarity, LSO was made to invite the singers to the concert led by outrage over the threat to the generous amount of UK singers in the country's classical music scene.

In the interval, Simon Rattle protested and said how "the Arts Council's swingeing cuts in November" and "the proposed vandalism by the BBC" impacted the artists and their musical lives in the UK. He then angrily made another statement saying, that the "political ignorance of what this art form entails" and the "stubborn pride in that ignorance" weighed heavily on the part of those who have wreaked such devastation and damage.

Although Poulenc's piece carries extensive symbolic resonance itself, as it was written under Nazi occupation from 1943 to 1944, in secret. As an iconic work, it sets for "two a cappella six-part choruses" by Paul Éluard. Initially, Poulenc considered the French choir for this but given the complexity of the vocal writing, he handed it out to the BBC Singers, who were also known as the BBC Chorus. They gave their first performance in March of 1945.

The entire performance was sheer excellence as the singing was a reminder of their distinction as musical interpreters and their eminence as an orchestra. Rattle gave the musical space to dissonances without hampering the momentum. The emotional trajectory in the performance was done with fierce intelligence from quiet anger to prodigious closure with a mighty demand for freedom. Mahler's Seventh had an opening moment that was nothing short of a rollercoaster ride with moments of pure beauty, contrasts, and mood swings. Rattle's command in this score was absolute and the interpretation was completely created on the tempi, giving the performers enough space to play and maintaining the sense of momentum.

The strings, both upper and lower eloquent, especially when they needed to respond to the conductor's entreaties were impressive. The finale, which was so often labeled problematic, was indeed a rampage of colors, where Rattle beautifully controlled the "rhetorical ritardando".

72 SEASONS: THE ALBUM OF METALLICA WILL BE RELEASED ON 14TH APRIL

The metal music band Metallica is all ready to drop their upcoming album '72 Seasons' on 14th April 2023. Fans are eagerly waiting for the album to drop.

The wait is over as the globally renowned band Metallica has announced that their 11th studio album '72 Seasons' will be released on 14th April 2023. All their fans are eagerly waiting for the album to be released. This prolific band is coming back after a lot of time and that is what created a buzz among all the music enthusiasts. As of now, it is coming to know that, there will be a lot of lyrical references to their previous creations. They are trying to recreate a memory and present it to their fanbase. Their work is appreciated by everyone because they are known as a metal music band. But still, they have tried a different kind of metal genre in their creations.

Now they are coming back to their roots and again making songs that are good old-fashioned metal. Their diverse way of presentation has made them different from everyone. And that is why they have succeeded to create an image among everyone. Recently, it is coming to know, that the name of the album was something else at the beginning.

James Hetfield's decision was something else. He said 'My vision was I wanted this album [to be] called 'Lux Æterna' because that summed up all the songs for me, kind of an eternal light that was always inside of us that maybe is just now coming out... And I was out-voted, which is great. '72 Seasons' is definitely more chewable. You get to figure out what it is. You get to dig into it and chew on it a little more. But that color came out of 'Lux Æterna'. In the end, they came up with the name '72 Seasons' for the first 18 years of someone's life. There is much more depth in this name and probably listeners will get to relate to them even more. With this album, they are trying to convey the 72 seasons of sorrow in a person's life. But it is not only sorrow that people have that is why they have kept the name only '72 Seasons'.

The album can be a little raw but it will have the potential to captivate listeners' hearts. It is the relatable approach that keeps the charm alive. There are a lot of expectations from this album of Metallica. And it has already created a sensation among all Metallica fans. This album is recorded under the label Blackened Recordings.

Why Regional Radio Stations are the Next Target for Brands and Advertisers

Over the last few years, the radio industry is witnessing a huge amount of rise in advertisement volumes especially for top-tier cities. According to a recent report released by TAM AdEx, Gujarat is the leading state in this field with over 21% share of ad volumes for the first quarter of Jan-Mar, 2023. It was quickly followed by the other states in India such as Maharashtra and Uttar Pradesh. Cities like Surat, Hyderabad, and Lucknow are receiving a huge demand for radio ads which confirms only one thing the maximum growth is coming from the regional market only.

LIC of India and LIC Housing Finance are the top two advertisers in this case and only the top 10 advertisers are claiming more than 18% share of ad volumes. TRAI Performance Indicators Report shows that revenue earned from the radio stations is increasing significantly as it grew 11% to Rs 385.86 crore as against Rs 345.12 crore for the last quarter. Chief Revenue Officer Neeraj Saraswat said, “The regional market was always going higher than the metro markets and they have bounced back much faster. This is the reason why we have a lot of brands, both local and national, inclining towards the small markets.”

The CEO of Radio City, Ashit Kukian expressed, “Radio stations offer regional brands and advertisers a low-cost, high-impact value proposition making it a captive marketing channel.” Rahul Namjoshi, Chief Executive Officer from MY FM, said, “The phenomenon which is prevalent in all smaller towns of India is the democratization of technology leading to information access that was not there a few years back. If we coupled that with higher disposable incomes & increased aspirations, the same will result in demand.”

Talking about the prospects of the radio stations, COO & Director of Red FM and Magic FM, Nisha Narayanan said, “Our focus is on developing diversified content that reflects our regional strengths. In the past couple of years, we have successfully created regional podcasts and digital and on-ground IPs that are well-received by the audience. We bank on our strength that lies in the regional market space to expand our vision into the vast culture of India.”

With these insights and market growth, Digital radio is on its way to bringing more vibrancy to this field. With this digital radio, “broadcasters and listeners alike will now have an improved multimedia experience. Radio stations can now precisely target audience segments while providing for their core audience,” said Mitesh Kothari, the Co-founder and the Chief Creative Officer of White Rivers Media.

WHICH IS THE BEST MUSIC STREAMING PLATFORM APPLE MUSIC OR SPOTIFY?

Music is an integral part of our daily life. With each passing day, our way of listening to music has changed a lot. And now we are completely dependent on music streaming platforms. There are many online music streaming platforms where we can find our favorite songs in seconds. Currently, there are a few leading platforms and among them, Spotify and Apple Music are on the top. But it is quite difficult to differentiate which one is the best. There are several changes that these companies have brought to their users to make their experience even better. It is seen that whenever a listener switches their platform of listening to music, in maximum cases people have switched from Spotify to Apple Music. Thus, let's know this at a wider scale to get a better idea-

Price:

The price structure of Apple Music and Spotify is quite similar but it has a difference in the free starting tier. If you use Spotify, then in the free tier you will get many ads, which can create a disturbance for you. But if you switch to their platinum package, then you will get ads while listening to music. Along with that, in the premium package, you will also get the opportunity to use two accounts at the same time. And it is one of the best features of this music streaming platform. On the other hand, in Apple Music, a listener will not get the advantage of using two profiles at the same time. Besides, every package of Apple Music is a little bit more expensive rather than Spotify. So, when it comes to prices, then Spotify is more pocket-friendly.

Music library:

The music library is another important thing for a music listener. But both these music streaming platforms are offering a large number of songs to their listeners. According to the reports, Apple Music has over 100 million songs and on the other hand, Spotify has over 80 million songs. In this place, Apple Music is a little ahead of Spotify. Along with that, both these platforms have podcast services and there is a whole separate service of Apple Podcasts. As of now, there are 2.6 million podcasts on Apple Music. Therefore, in this particular part, Apple Music is a lot ahead compared to Spotify.

Sound quality:

Between these two music streaming platforms, there is quite a difference in their sound quality. Before, Apple Music's standard music quality was 256kbps AAC files. But recently they have changed a few things about their services. And now in every song they use ALAC in resolutions, which is ranging from 16-bit/44.1kHz (CD-quality) up to 24-bit/192kHz (hi-res audio quality). Now they have worked more on the sound quality to provide a better service to their users. On the other side, Spotify is offering three different kinds of sound quality to their listeners. These three qualities are 96kbps, 160kbps, and 320kbps. They have structured the quality in this way according to the subscription package. This way listeners will get to understand different types of sound quality with each premium package. Along with that, their sound quality is vividly understandable when you are listening to songs on speakers, wired headphones, or earbuds. It can be a little disturbing, thus apple music's service is clearly user-friendly for the listeners.

Browser playback:

Now you don't have to use iTunes to listen to songs on Apple Music. It is another edition that Apple Music is offering to listeners. Just like that Spotify users can also browse their library without installing any other applications.

They can also use the playlist, which is created as 'Made for you'. Both platforms are giving the same kind of features, thus it is not possible to say who is ahead of whom.

Design:

Recently, it is coming to see that, after the redesign for iOS 10, apple music's design has become a lot similar to Spotify. Both these music streaming platforms' interface is designed with large images. The images on this both sites are tile-like UI and give the same vibe. Along with that, all the navigation options are also at the bottom of the display. This way listeners can access different options quickly. Thus, both look kind of the same and no one is better than the other.

Social media:

In this scenario, Spotify is quite user-friendly. If you want to share a song on any social media platform, then you can easily share them. Along with that, you can also send the songs to anyone personally. There are more features on Spotify Playlists too. You can share a whole playlist with anyone. But when it comes to sharing songs from Apple Music, it is quite similar to Spotify. But if you want to share a playlist with someone, then you can only share it with people who have registered in AirDrop. But when you try to share a song on social media platforms it becomes a little hectic. Thus in this part, Spotify is much better than Apple Music.

These are some things where you can get the idea of which app is better in various aspects. From these things, you can understand which music streaming platform is better for your use.

YG Entertainment Has Officially Announced the Upcoming Mobile Game 'BLACKPINK The Game'

YG Entertainment has announced that they will come up with a mobile game with BLACKPINK's intellectual property (IP). On 4th April KST, they confirmed that in the second quarter of this year, the game will be released.

This mobile game will be developed by collaborating with Takeone Company. It is the same developer who has assisted to create BTS's 2019 mobile game BTS World. In the 'BLACKPINK The Game', all the characters will be the same as the girl group singers. And the players will get the chance to customize the characters according to their choice. This is going to make the game even more attractive for the players.

Along with that, players can communicate with other fellow players too. Thus they can get a much better experience while playing. YG Entertainment has announced in a press release that 'Players will witness the never-seen-before sides of BLACKPINK in a variety of ways. We hope all fans around the world will be able to enjoy the game'.

The most interesting part of this mobile game is that the player can also play as the producer of the group and help the members to grow. Along with that they can also train the members, office building management simulations, and decorate the characters. All these things will be included in the game and players can thoroughly enjoy it.

This exclusive game will have high-quality photos and videos of the girl group. The wide range of photos from their photoshoot will make the game even more attractive and pleasing to play. Alongside all, there will be an original soundtrack and music video in the game, which has been officially sung by BLACKPINK. This song and video will be released later and will be included in the game.

YG has also said 'You will be able to meet various aspects of BLACKPINK in a new form that you have never seen before'. All the BLACKPINK fans are eagerly waiting for the game to be released. Though YG Entertainment has said that the video will be released in the second quarter of this year. Therefore get ready to experience a whole new game with 'BLACKPINK The Game'.

Canorous New Single 'Follower' By FIRSTBORNE Feat. CHRIS ADLER And JAMES LOMENZO Is Out Now

Upon its debut, the band FIRSTBORNE impressed listeners with its renowned band members and enthralling musical releases. Now they have released a fresh single, entitled 'Follower' making their feet in the industry even stronger. The band includes the Grammy award-winning artist Chris Adler along with the bassist from the popular band MEGADETH, James LoMenzo. Released in February, the beguiling track 'Follower' was produced independently by the band. They feature Myrone, the soft-shred pioneer in guitar along with Girish Pradhan, the rising star on vocals.

The band has an impressive track record of releasing enrapturing tracks starting with 'Bad Things' and 'One Of A Kind' which were released back in September, of the previous year. Then the next venture of the band gifted the audience with three brand new tracks, 'Dead Rats' released in October, 'Intercontinental Champions', released in November, and lastly, 'Sinners' released in February followed by the recent release. All of these tracks are produced by the band members themselves, independently, showcasing their true caliber to the audience.

Chris Adler had high hopes for this band, and after the release of their first two soundscapes, he said about the trajectory of FIRSTBORNE "We've made good use of the time. For the next year-plus we will be releasing a song a month, starting here and now with a one-two-punch." He then continued sharing his excitement about the upcoming projects saying, "I'm thrilled to be in a creative partnership that can do just about anything. Feels like playing in 'God Mode' on Guitar / Band Hero. It's a passion project and it's fun for us to share."

As an independent group, the band enjoys its freedom in the creative choices it makes and it is one of the most important things for artistic expression. Acknowledging this, the guitarist Myrone said, "No Labels, No Management, NO GODS, NO MASTERS!!!!" The vocalist, Girish Pradhan, is someone that holds the band together, and represents the most extraordinary global collaboration. The band's debut EP was self-titled and was released in 2020 which marked the first dedicated release of Adler since his departure from MEGADETH and LAMB OF GOD. The EP included five tracks and two lyrics videos and earned much recognition for the band.

A Political Affair: Country Music Stars Get A Bit Controversial at the CMT Awards

Like every year, on this Sunday hottest country music artists gathered to celebrate their annual CMT awards. The highlights of the night include a heartfelt duet, a surprise cameo, and another emotional return of a country artist to the stage, making the evening exquisitely wholesome. Yet, there were plenty of incidents where political boundaries have been breached showcasing some audacious statements by country music stars.

Kelsea Ballerini opened the show with a moving tribute to the victims of last week's Nashville shooting at the Covenant School in Tennessee. Ballerini said, "On March 27, 2023, three 9-year-olds — Evelyn Dieckhaus, William Kinney, and Hallie Scruggs — along with Dr. Katherine Koonce, Cynthia Peak, and Mike Hill, walked into the Covenant School and didn't walk out." Adding more, "the community of sorrow over this and the 130 mass shootings in the U.S. this year alone stretches from coast to coast."

After that Ballerini shared her own experience with campus gun violence. As she has witnessed her classmate die from the shooting at her high school in Knoxville, Tennessee. She went on saying, "I wanted to personally stand up here and share this moment, because, on Aug. 21, 2008, I watched Ryan McDonald, my 15-year-old classmate at Central High School, lose his life to a gun in our cafeteria,"

"Tonight's broadcast is dedicated to the ever-growing list of family's friends, survivors, witnesses, and responders whose lives continue to forever be changed by gun violence. I pray deeply that the closeness and the community that we feel through the next few hours of music can soon turn into action — like, real action — that moves us forward together to create change for the safety of our kids and our loved ones," she concluded.

Later in the evening, she performed her 2022 single "If You Go Down (I'm Goin' Down Too)". Along with her "RuPaul's Drag Race" alum Manila Luzon, Kennedy Davenport, Jan Sport, and Olivia Lux also performed at the award function.

On the other hand, Grammy-winning country star Kacey Musgraves, alongside Dolly Parton, Mickey Guyton, and Shania Twain took the Equal Play Award. In her acceptance speech, Twain said, "I believe in all-inclusive country music. We're family. This is a genre of music with a rich history that raised and nurtured my own songwriting and performance and recording career from childhood."
