'BABY CALM DOWN'

It is 2023 and listeners are still unable to keep calm when they listen to 'Baby Calm Down'. This amazing groovy track by Rema has created a sensation in the music scene that spread over the world. This catchy single was released by Nigerian singer Rema back on 11 February 2022, appearing on his debut studio album 'Rave & Roses'. The track garnered a lot of attention in Africa as well as from around the globe making it the chart-topper. With its worldwide success, the track was also released with a remix version on 25 August 2022, that featured Selena Gomez. The remixed version again broke many records and garnered over 515 million views on YouTube. The track ranked no.1 on both the Billboard Global Excl. US charts and the Billboard US Afrobeats Songs as well as no.3 on the Global 200 chart. Marking Rema's first top-ten hit and Selena Gomez's ninth, the track also ranked third on the US Billboard Hot 100. Quite evidently, the original version and the remixed version, both didn't fail to make the listeners groove. Featuring the breezy beats of Afro-music along with catchy lyrics, made offered this track is a quick entry to every listener's playlist.

'Take Two' has been released by the K-Pop band BTS. Army has been waiting for this gift for a long time and it has shaken the listeners to their core.

The Korean pop band, BTS has come once again with their latest soundtrack 'Take Two'. The band made their comeback nearly after one year and the Army was waiting for it for a long time. Their last work together was the album 'Proof', which was released on the 10th of June 2022. The band took a break from working together for some time and now they are reuniting together to create some magnificent songs like 'Take Two'.

Army was eagerly waiting to see Jin, Suga, J-Hope, RM, Jimin, V, and Jungkook together. Now, this band has dropped this soundtrack on the occasion of their 10th anniversary. That is why, Big Hit Music has announced the release of the song by saying 'All seven members participated in Take Two. The song conveys their appreciation toward ARMY for all the love you shower them with and their desire to always be together with you'.

Even before releasing the song, it secured the highest position in Billboard's Hot Trending Songs chart. But as the song has been released for the listeners it is creating a huge buzz among all of their listeners. With this soundtrack, BTS has topped the Billboard Hot Trending Songs chart for the fourth time. They dropped the song just 2 weeks before their event at Yeouido, Seoul. It will be a public show, which they have organized for their 10-year anniversary.

In this short time span, this song has really captivated the listeners. In 'Take Two' Jungkook starts the vocal then Jimin takes it over. Their flawless vocal skill and enigmatic lyricism have won everyone's hearts. The song has surely amazed everyone but its lyrics shook the listeners.

Here they have sang that 'Oh we young forever, the desert too becomes the sea now and we swim forever, the lonely whale is also now singing together. Cause we're together, I'm not afraid to wish for eternity too. Cause you're my belief and the one and only reason.'

This heart-touching write-up has mesmerized everyone in all aspects. It has been recorded before Jin and J-Hope left for their military training. And it is a perfect gift for all the Army. All of them are showing their love for the song, and it is growing more with each passing moment. Now their fans are eagerly waiting for the performance as they are coming onto the stage after a long time.

Doja Cat's Newest Single 'Attention' Is a Form of Rebellion in the Best Possible Way

Scorching rap and a darker aesthetic, which other rap girlie is doing it like Doja Cat? Her latest single, 'Attention' is out now, marking the start of a new era.

After her Grammy-winning and chart-topping album 'Planet Her,' everyone expected Doja Cat to maintain the pop-rap aesthetic for her next album as well. But if there is one thing that people should learn about the 'Say So' singer, is that she is unpredictable and a bit weird. But, hey that is what makes Doja Cat, Doja Cat! Imagine opening your rap verse with "Look at me, look at me/ You lookin?", this is exactly what you will hear in this new song that just dropped today. Her newest single 'Attention' is finally out and well, it is undoubtedly grabbing a lot of attention. A darker, more brutal, and absolutely unapologetic Doja Cat appears in the song like the talented artist she is and it delivered!

The single arrived with a music video as well, putting an eerie addition to the fame of the vibe and track. Since 1998, this is the first time the world does not have a rap no. 1 hit for more than a month and Doja is here to acclaim her throne again. The artist has gone for a less commercial sound this time, which might be a disappointment for her 'Planet Her' fans, but this is the perfect direction for her career needed to go as a serious rapper. The 'Woman' singer announced the arrival of her newest single on Twitter earlier this week with the release date along with the cover art which features a bloody, upside-down letter 'A', calling it a placeholder. The era has been hinted at by the artist for a long time now, with the look change and additional tattoos.

The nocturnal vibes that the music presents in 'Attention' is an absolute grower and it will make people take female rap and hip-hop seriously again. Her rap verses are what give the song a genuine vibe that talks about her journey with fame and comparison to her peers in the industry. At one time she even mentions Nicky Minaj, where she says "Why she think she Nicki M? She think she hot shit" / Huh, I never gave a F, go stir the pot, bitch". Since the beginning of her hit career, the industry has been comparing her to Nicky Minaj, and this verse right here is a perfect blow to their faces.

Doja has been working on a full-length album as well which supposedly maintains the same vibe and aesthetic so we can really expect some darker sound and more controversial rap verses from the 'Kiss Me More' singer.

GROOVE ALONG THE DIGITAL BEATS AND UPBEAT MUSIC IN THE LATEST SINGLE 'I AM YOUR DJ' BY BKLYN DICTATOR™

One of the most popular musical genres that rose to popularity in the past few decades is electronic music. Part of the reason why it has become so popular in the world is its innovation. There are a lot of chances to play with the beats, drums, guitars, and other instruments. However, not everyone can do that effortlessly and make any track so enjoyable that you are bound to come to the dance floor. Electronic music sensation Bklyn Dictator™ is one such artist who has helped make a bridge between the genre and people enjoying the tracks. His recent release 'I AM YOUR DJ' is a musical creation that is perfect for nightclubs and house parties.

Growing up in the '80s the artist has always been surrounded by music. He was born in the prime of when electronic music started to rise in popularity. Since his childhood, his promising talent was deeply connected to music and it is his passion that led him to make and produce music later on. One of the most in-demand nightclub owners/investors and festival director Mark Campbell has said the artist is a sonic storyteller who is very well capable of creating moods that dictate nightlife. His passion for music helped him realize his talent and led him to work hard to reach where he is today. Bklyn Dictator™ journey of producing music started in the '90s. Some of his musical influences include Chicago House Music, James Brown, The Yardbirds, Marvin Gaye, Depeche Mode, Gary Numan, Led Zeppelin, and many more.

He came into the music scene very early when he started producing in the '90s. He has released several independent projects throughout the 2010s. Some of his earlier production credits include Dr. Dre, 50 Cent, Alecia Keys, Papoose, Busta Rhymes, Large Professor, Nas, Onyx, Mobb Deep, etc. Now he is more focused on electronic and house genres and extends his artistic creativity by exploring different EDM genres. His previous single 'Pole Position' was listed as one of the hot releases on Spotify and Apple Music.

His latest single 'I AM YOUR DJ' has created quite a frenzy since its release. The track is everything you would expect an electronic musical piece would be. The intense digital beats on the track create a dynamic ambiance for the listeners. It is as perfect for enjoying yourselves at night as it is to dance at house parties. Instantly elevating the moods of the audience, the artist did an outstanding job of crafting this enlivening musical track. Back with a Bang, the American Pop Singer TACEY Is Spicing Things Up With Her New Video of 'Cafeína'

In the international music industry, the popularity and demand for bilingual music are on the increase. This means many artists are creating their fan bases and reaching the heights of fame with their bilingual catalogs. The rising musical superstar in this category is TACEY and she intends to keep the buzz by releasing back-to-back hit releases. Her latest attempt, the official music video of 'Cafeína' is already gaining a lot of attention, both for the congenial music and stunning visuals.

One of the reasons why the artist is becoming popular and making a strong name for herself in the international music industry is that she is an all-rounder. She is as much of a dancer as she is a singer, a complete package that is a true entertainer.

The rising star of the Latin American industry has been passionate about music since she was a little child. Since her childhood, it was music that she found to be the most entertaining and interesting. With her developing passion for music, she took being an artist seriously and with hard work and immense talent she is now capturing the attention of thousands of fans and ruling over their hearts. The ignition for music and being able to perform is what kept her motivated throughout her oscillating mu sic career that has just now begun. As mentioned earlier, she is an all-rounder.

Being an independent music artist, she has shown beyond belief talent and caliber as she single-handedly looked after the compositions, writings, mixings, and singing of her musical releases. After her official debut, within a year, she has released five follow-up singles with respective music videos which is surely one of a kind. This proves that the young up-and-coming American Pop singer is here for a long run, is here to stay.

Singing in both Spanish and English, TACEY has shown she can sparkle in both situations and language is surely not a barrier when it comes to the passion of creating music.

Her latest drop, 'Cafeína' comes with a saucy music video as well, perfectly reflecting the spicy vibe of the single. Lyrics like "Better stay awake// Cause I wouldn't wanna miss anything" showcase the passionate love between the artist and her muse. The musician's voice needs a separate room of appreciation as it adds gravity and frankly blows life into the lyrics.

Visually the video is stunning, featuring the protagonist in luscious and seductive clothing that goes ideally with the vibe of the track. You can watch the video on YouTube along with her previous releases, 'Ya Fuiste', 'Otra Notificación', 'Conmigo', etc. Follow her on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Spotify, SoundCloud, and TikTok.

Truck Pierce Is Offering His Very First Soundtrack 'I'm So Blessed'

The artist is trying to reach out to the maximum number of listeners with this enigmatic piece of music. He is a new artist in the industry who is trying to create his own identity in the country music industry with this phenomenal sound design. This artist has always been a little inclined to this specific genre and that is why he started making songs of the same genre. This can be really influential for other musicians too. He is an independent artist, who is single-handedly managing from composing, recording, to even producing the tracks. His unique way of presentation is making him different from all the other musicians.

Hails from Mississippi, but is currently based in Nashville, this artist is gaining some popularity among everyone with his prolific song. The well-versed writing and profuse music have given a completely different outcome to the soundscape. This artist has the caliber of maintaining the authenticity of country music and that is what makes this track even more significant for everyone. Along with that, his flawless deliverance isn't leaving any room for complaints. With this brilliant track, he has tried to relate to his listeners. This heartfelt creation is generating a buzz among all the music enthusiasts in a brief time period. His potential of coming up with heart-touching lyricism is definitely worth appreciation. And along with all this, he likes to try out something new and for that reason, he has come up with such an innovative soundtrack.

Truck Pierce is making his debut in the music industry but it can be said that this artist will surely make an impact in this industry with his more creations like this exceptional song. It has also come to know that, after the song 'I'm So Blessed', he is working on an album, which will have 10 soundtracks.

This artist hasn't dropped any more information on this album, which is why everyone is eagerly waiting for the album and what more he has to offer to the listeners.

This latest track of this talented artist is available on YouTube and Apple Music. Hence, listeners can hear out his songs on these platforms. Apart from that, one can also follow this rising star on Facebook for more updates on his upcoming projects.

Robert Rene Ticks All the Right Boxes to a Sensational Track With 'Save My Heart'

The talented new musician, Robert Rene has brought an immersive new song that sets the mood for the weekend with his newest release 'Save My Heart', which is a part of his first album, 'The Trilogy'. Bringing together an array of enchanting rhythms that lays a firm foundation for the artist in the music industry; the song sets the bar high and builds anticipation for his next releases. The song released on May 19th, 2023 is a follow-up to his first single 'Nemesis', and the track stands as testimony to his well-rounded dexterity as a performer.

Born on July 31 in California, Robert is an American dancer, choreographer, trained singer, and professor of dance for various colleges in the Orange County area. He has performed at various musicals in the LA and Orange County area and has worked with Disney Entertainment both as a performer and a choreographer. He received his master's degree from UC Irvine in 2019 and found his calling in music quite early in life. Being a performer at heart, he greatly emphasizes the importance of rehearsing and then turning that intense hard work into a sublime and memorable performance. He is an entertainer who loves to sing, dance, act, and most importantly put a smile on the faces of

Feel the Authentic Essence of Rock & Roll in BreakTime's Newest Single 'Motor City Mama'

BreakTime is bringing back the retro rock & roll and combining it with modern music beats in their newest single 'Motor City Mama'. The track is now out on Spotify.

The incredibly talented and skillful band, BreakTime is winning hearts left and right with their newest single 'Motor City Mama'. Musically jolly and cheerful, the track is an excellent piece of rock and roll music. Bringing the 60s retro rock and roll vibe with the 80s elements, this song is highly energetic and engaging at the same time. The band has given a terrific performance and has done an outstanding job in presenting such a fun and enlightening vibe with the composition.

The international music industry is one of the biggest entertainment industries in the world which is always in need of something different, something new. Music, being the oldest and most common art form, has the most listeners and people connected to it. This makes the art form even more monotonous, which is why, when people get something refreshing, they cling to it. This is exactly what the band is representing with their newest musical creation as it delivers, what the industry and the listeners require, something invigorating.

The band was founded in 2018, as a standard-issue jersey cover band with four of its members. All four members of the group, Sean on bass, Thommy on lead guitar, Doug on rhythm guitar, and Peter on drums, bring something unique, something enjoyable to the table. BreakTime, what once started as a cover band is now into its own songwriting collective. As the number of listeners at their live show started to increase, the band started to evolve and found passion in procuring original music. The band's listeners, even though they were primarily into shoegaze, punk, hard rock, and country, are now receiving the new musical creations of the band with open arms and ears!

The latest music, 'Motor City Mama' carries the true essence of rock and roll music that can instantly energize the audience with the intense rock guitar tunes and the anthemic and distorted tones of the composition. The pop-rock leaning composition, using both retro and modern beats is the champion in this track. However, the optimistic style of storytelling through expressive, heart-felt, and well-versed lyrics is something that makes the song even more memorable. On top of that, the volume and the repetition of the hook that echoes through the audience's minds are perfectly complemented by the distinctive vocals in the music. The track is finally available on Spotify, and YouTube along with their previous hits, 'Mastermind', 'Rock N' Roll Refugee', 'Maybe No, Maybe Yes', 'Tammie', etc. Follow the band on Facebook, Instagram, and their website.

CLEANSED MY LAUGH IS INFORMING PEOPLE OF THE WORLDWIDE SCAM WITH THEIR LATEST SINGLE 'SHA ZHU PAN'

Monotony is one of the most dangerous things when it comes to art. As music lovers, we all are in search of something fresh, something unique, something that gives us a different feeling every time. This is why versatility is so highly rated in artists and the music that they made. This is also another reason why rock music has gained this much popularity around the world. Well, elevating the genre to the next level, the highly skilled band Cleansed My Laugh is where its latest musical creations are not only musically enriched but also thought-provoking. The band's latest single 'Sha Zhu Pan' is one such track that will force people to listen and think deeply about it.

The incredible and beyond-belief singer and songwriter Alex Pazsak have created this latest track to make people aware of the billion-dollar scam industry in South East Asia, ripping off and destroying the victims completely.

The artist has been passionate about music since his childhood where music was not only his only place to express himself but also a safe corner. This is what motivated the artist to carry forward with music as a career choice, as using this art form, he could perfectly express what he wants and any message that he wants to put out to the world.

Hailing from Hernando County, FL, Alex Pazsak has been writing and recording songs since the mid-1980s. The artist first started his career as a drummer which he continued to play in various groups but as time passed he also took an interest in other instruments like keyboards, guitar, bass, and harp.

He then created the band Cleansed My Laugh, which came from the idea of cleansing the heart and soul and moving forward in life, despite it seeming very hard at times. His first album 'Face It!' which is an 11-track long full-length album, was released on 14th June. The track has various other thought-provoking tracks like 'Better Than This', 'Antidote Blvd', 'Cleansed My Laugh', 'Odin's Smile', etc.

The track, 'Sha Zhu Pan' originally means 'Pig butchering' in Chinese which the artist incorporated in this song to spread awareness of the scamming epidemic the world is witnessing now. Annually this scam claims tens of billions of dollars, which is why the artist is making his listeners familiar with the concept and what harm it may cause. The lyrics are well-versed which complements the vibrant and rock musical beats, elevating the song's essence. You can hear the track on Spotify, SoundCloud, and Apple Music. For more details, follow the artist on .

Chad W. Clifton's New Song 'America Thanks You' Aims to Honor Those Who Have Sacrificed Much for Our Freedom

Chad W. Clifton is a patriot through and through, and he believes in celebrating those who have made America a free country and a great place to live. He says, “As we celebrate our country's independence this July, I would like to dedicate the release of this song to those who serve America, fight for our freedom, and sacrifice so much for all of us. We are so grateful, and America Thanks You!”

This song is made possible through the collaboration of some fantastic musicians. David Lanza, Cody Preston & Whit Maxey helped bring the track to life with their creativity. Chad was also honored to have Pat Barker, Bill Shivers, and Corey Pearson add some incredible vocals toward the end of the track. This music is made possible with the support of Barnes Store in Carrollton, GA.

The inspiring lyric video is out now on YouTube. You can also stream the track wherever music can be found. I greatly appreciate every person who watches/listens to my music, and I hope it leaves you feeling encouraged wherever you are.

Lady Gaga Debuts the Footage of Chromatica Ball Tour in New Awareness Campaign of Migraine Drug

The global superstar Lady Gaga has partnered with Pfizer to raise awareness about Migraines in a new ad campaign for the company's latest drug. The official announcement came from the pharmaceutical company itself in June, Migraine and Headache Awareness Month. The company and the pop star's partnership is in recognition of this year's theme, "Educate Yourself, Educate Others". Migraine is an enfeebling neurological disease that has a tendency to recur and is often misunderstood as a type of intense and extreme headache. However, the study considers the disease to be the second-most disabling condition in the world. The 'Star Is Born' actress and 13 times Grammy Winning musician, Gaga was first diagnosed with migraines when she was just 14 years old.

The pop star told Pfizer "My experience with migraines was debilitating. I would be in bed for days with tremendous pain in my head, behind my eyes, and all throughout my face". She continued, "I couldn't read or have any lights on, and I needed to be alone in a quiet room for hours that could lead to days until the pain subsided." In this new ad campaign, the singer debuts the professional footage of her latest Chromatica Ball tour, which wrapped around in September, last year. "I know what it's like to perform through pain," the singer/actress seemed sympathetic in her voice-over before the advertisement launched the new drug, Pfizer's Nurtec ODT medication.

Gaga has never been a stranger when it comes to being open and vulnerable with her fans. Over the years, the global pop star has been transparent about her several health issues and maintained a clear relationship with her fans. In 2013, she spoke up about the hip injury that limited her from continuing the 'Born This Way Ball tour'. Last year, Gaga started her Chromatica Ball Tour and performed in fully packed stadiums in Europe, Asia, and North America. Chromatica was her sixth studio album which included smash hits like "Stupid Love" and her Grammy-winning Hot 100 No. 1 "Rain On Me" (with Ariana Grande).

Gaga announced her partnership with Pfizer in an Instagram post where she wrote, "Ever since childhood, I've dealt with migraine pain. When I tried Nurtec® ODT (rimegepant) 75 mg for the first time, I'll never forget wishing I had found it sooner. That's why I'm proud to partner with Nurtec ODT. [purple heart emoji] We're in this together. If you're ready to speak to a doctor, ask about Nurtec ODT today. #MHAM"

Taylor Swift Urges Fans Not To Troll Her Ex-Romance Amid The Re-release Of 'Speak Now'

One of the biggest things that the pop diva Taylor Swift is known for, is writing about her personal experiences. Her fans, the Swifties are also pretty good about finding out the people through the numerous easter eggs Swift gives in her musical numbers. In 2021, the 'Shake It Off' singer decided to re-record her past albums, including brand new singles that she titled 'From The Vault'. After her 2012 smashing album 'Red', her 2008 album 'Speak Now' is all set to be released. Ahead of its official re-release, Taylor Swift has urged her fans to control the online trolling and bullying of her ex romances.

With previous records of her ex-partners facing troublesome online bullying and trolling, Taylor might have anticipated the outcome for her famous ex, John Mayor whom she has written about in 'Speak Now'. This is why she addressed the situation on her Eras show on Saturday night. Before performing the very famous track for telling Swift's experience during her and Mayor's short-lived romance, 'Dear John', as one of her surprise songs in the concert she urged her fans not to "defend" her online. She stated, "I was hoping to ask you that as we lead up to this album coming out, I would love for that kindness and that gentleness to extend onto our internet activities," she told the crowd. "What I'm trying to say is, I'm putting this album out because I want to own my music. That's why I'm putting out this album." "I'm 33 years old. I don't care about anything that happened to me when I was 19, except the songs I wrote and the memories we made together," Taylor went on.

She further stated, "I'm not putting this album out so that you can go and feel the need to defend me on the internet against someone you think I might have written a song about 14 billion years ago when I was 19. I do not care. We have all grown up. We're good." This plea, however, sparked a mixed reaction among her fans online. Some questioned why she did not speak out when her re-release of 'Red' started a massive hate train against her other famous ex-boyfriend Jake Gyllenhaal. Others went on about how she said, "someone you think I might have written a song about," as they pointed out she purposefully makes it clear who the subject is.

Rina Sawayama Roars, “I've had enough!” Vocalizing the Sentiments of Matt Healy's Racism at Her Concert

Rina Sawayama dropped some exquisite nu-metal bangers and at her concert, she took the opportunity to be vocal about her beef with 1975 frontman Healy. The emerging alt-pop superstar at her Glastonbury concert on 24th June fired up against Healy and said, “I wrote this next song because I was sick and tired of micro-aggressions. So tonight, this song goes out to a white man who watches Ghetto Gaggers and mocks Asian people on a podcast. He also owns my masters. I've had enough.”

The crowd witnessed as the Japanese-British singer unleashes her rage while her band started with the opening notes of Korn's classic debut album opener ‘Blind’. Sawayama words were meant for the 1975 frontman Matty Healy; he has been in the news for being a part of a show called The Adam Friedland Show earlier this year. And during this show his host did derogatory impressions of various Asian accents. And this time Healy suggested that he watches the violent racially-tilted porn site Ghetto Gaggers. And he also has acknowledged that the videos of that site strongly “brutalized” women.

Not just that he also ridiculed Ice Spice, the renowned rapper, on a recent podcast hosted by Adam Friedland. They simply mocked her heritage by calling her an “Inuit Spice Girl”. And they continued further and made fun of her by faking Chinese and Hawaiian accents. Indicating her parents as her father is African American and her mother is Dominican.

Matt Healy and Rina Sawayama, both are signed singers under the same recording label, Dirty Hit. And the recording label is run by Jaime Osborne, who is also the manager of Matt Healy's band. Till April 2023, Healy served as a dictator of Dirty Hit Limited. And this is why Sawayama claims, “He also owns my masters”.

She referred that if he mastered her masters then he would have access to her copyright to the original music recordings. And this means that he can use individual compositions and lyrics for him as well. Or they can use these features in their remixes and recordings for covers and other releases. It also has been reported that Matt Healy was spotted at Glastonbury. But it is not very clear whether he attended his labelmate Rina Sawayama's concert or not.

Latto ft. Cardi B's Remix of 'Put It On Da Floor Again' Sets Fire to Music Scene

After teasing her song in April at the Coachella, Latto has finally dropped her brand new single "Put It on da Floor" featuring none other than Cardi B. The official music video is well produced where both powerful rappers could be seen engaged in some shenanigans in a department store. Cardi's husband Offset also made a cameo. The MV has garnered over 4.6 million views in only three days after it premiered.

Latto's last release was in February, a single named 'Lottery' that enticed the listeners. Following the release of 'Put It on da Floor', this unwavering female rapper is at the epitome of everyone's attention.

It does not require to say that Cardi B has also done a great job in complementing the track with her quirky outfit, presence, and bars that tease the pop culture. She invoked Britney with her outfit and bars like "I'm sexy dancin' in the house, I feel like Britney Spears." While some fans of Spears have shown their anger with the reference, most music lovers are manifesting a collaboration between Cardi B and Britney Spears.

This is Cradi's 2023's first guest appearance. Last year she featured in many tracks such as "No Love (Extended)," "Shake It," "Tomorrow 2," "Despech Rmx," and "The Seaweed Sway." Her own project "Hot Shit" was a great musical treat for her fans as well. Along with Cardi's flawless deliverance, Latto also offered her lyrical magic that can captivate every. The bad and bougie energy along with the clever bars, do not fail to offer the enticing flavors of new-age hip-hop music with a bit of sultry and swanky attitude. Latto dropped '777' last year which created a huge buzz in the hip-hop scene. She got nominated for Best New Artist and Best Melodic Rap Performance at the 2023 Grammy Awards.

'Put It on da Floor' created a bit of a stir at the time of its release due to a line that Coi Leray thought of as a diss. The line goes "Smokin' on that gas, blunt big as Coi Leray." However, Latto released it later that the lyric was meant lovingly, and Coi accepted that. Check the latest music video on YouTube and on other major platforms. Stay tuned to know more about Latto's upcoming musical projects.

Kylie Minogue's 'Padam Padam' Reaches a New Peak, Ignoring the Radio Snub

The UK's pop sensation Kylie Minogue has defied the odds in an exceptional turn of events and dominates the chart with her latest single, 'Padam Padam'. Despite being snubbed by mainstream radio such as BBC Radio 1 and Capital FM, the song has created such a frenzy in social media, especially among youths that it impacted its performance on the charts. All thanks to its viral success on social media platforms, the song's popularity has skyrocketed and now it is the number one track in the UK Big Top 40. At the same time, it has also secured its position in the 26th spot in the country's overall official singles chart. In a video that was posted on Instagram by the singer, she seemed to show her gratitude for the song's huge success. She wrote in the captions, "WHAT??? LOVERS!!!"

'Padam Padam' is lauded as Kylie's comeback single which has now taken the music world of the UK by storm. It has generated countless memes and entertaining dance videos on social media platforms like TikTok and Twitter. The song has gotten huge success both in streaming and charts, beating the odds. The song was originally targeted at older audiences which caused youth-oriented radio stations to completely overlook it. However, when it comes to Minogue's infectious talent, none is safe, which has found a newer generation of listeners, helping 'Padam Padam' to reach unprecedented heights.

Getting the top spot on UK Big Top 40 charts and the 26th position on the country's overall official singles chart makes 'Padam Padam' the best-selling song of the entire week. At the same time, it is also Kylie Minogue's highest-charting single since "Into the Blue", released in 2014. The success of the song is not limited to the country but has also reached international shores giving Minogue her first Top 40 hit in Australia in more than a decade. This also paved the way for her comeback to the music industry after a hiatus of over 20 years.

Expressing her joy and excitement for the overwhelming response to the single, the singer took to Instagram to share a heartfelt post for the audience. She stated "My heart is bursting with joy. I just wanted to say thank you, thank you so, so much for all the birthday messages and the Padam reaction and the love." The track is inspired by Edith Piaf's track of the same name, released in 1951.

Listeners can't keep calm even if Rema & Selena asks 'Baby Calm Down'

Rema proves himself as the role model of Afro rave with his sky-high success of the hit single 'Baby Calm Down' along with a remix with Selena Gomez that broke all records.

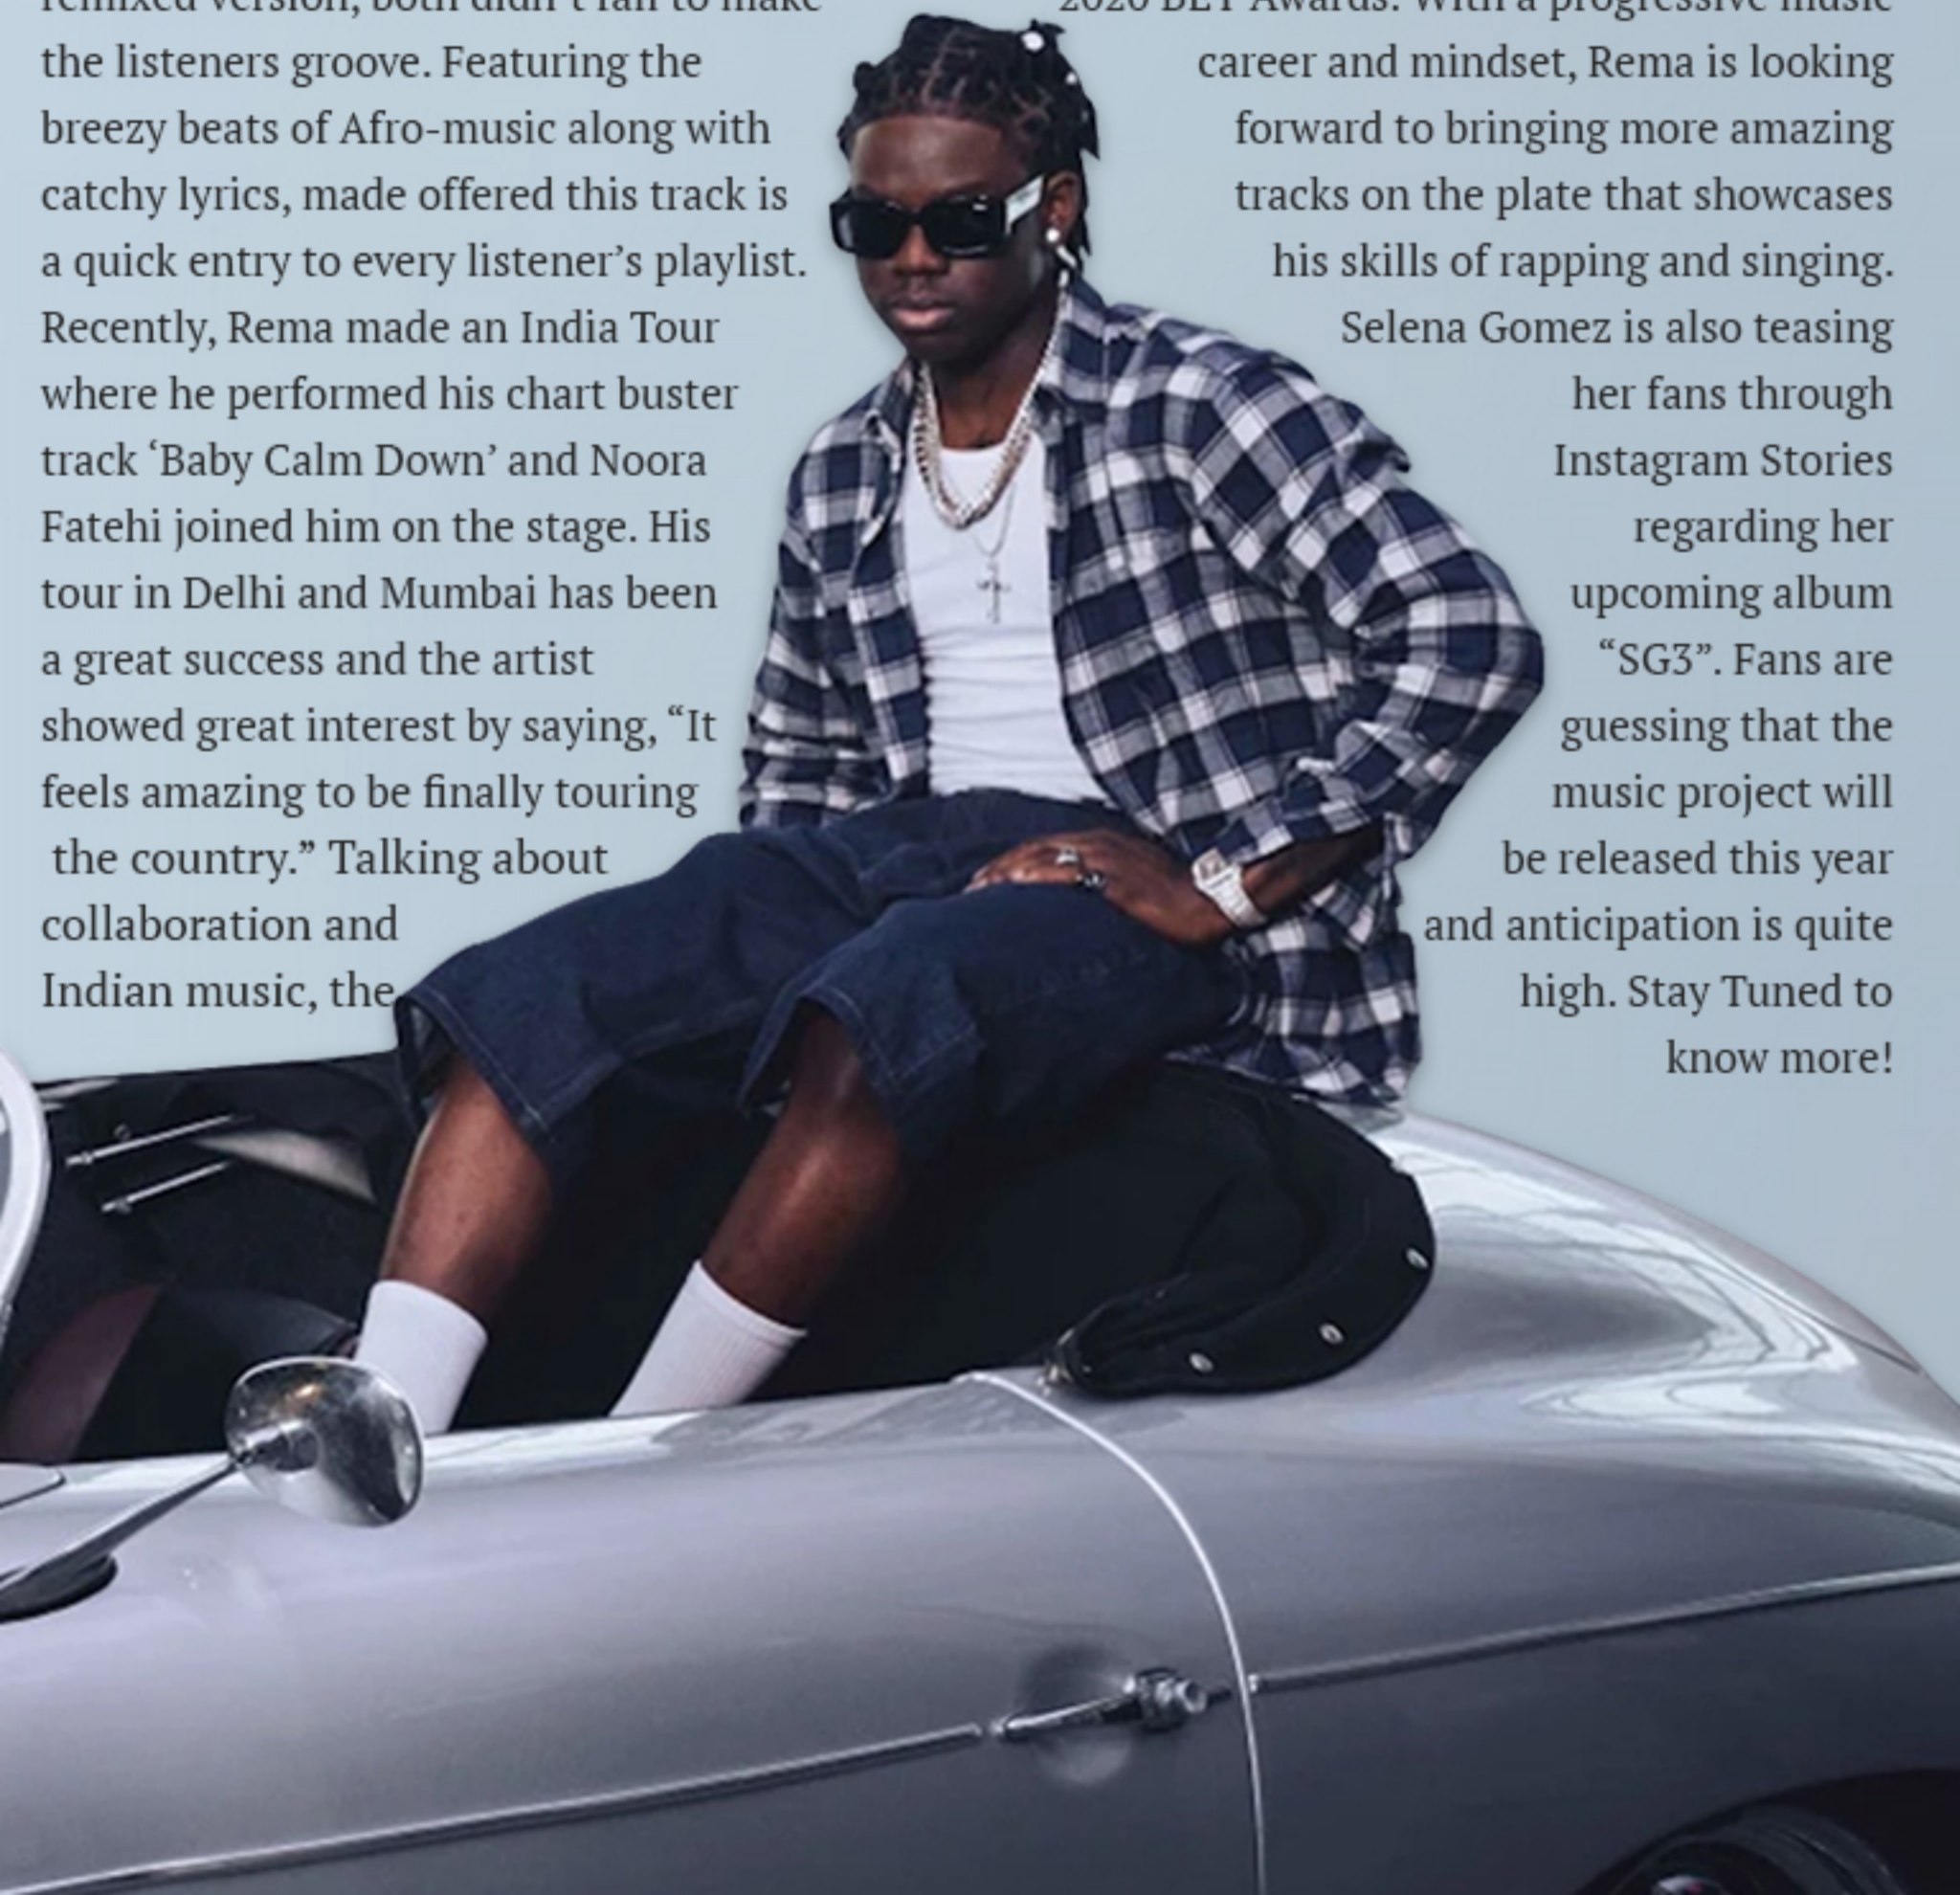

It is 2023 and listeners are still unable to keep calm when they listen to 'Baby Calm Down'. This amazing groovy track by Rema has created a sensation in the music scene that spread over the world. This catchy single was released by Nigerian singer Rema back on 11 February 2022, appearing on his debut studio album 'Rave & Roses'. The track garnered a lot of attention in Africa as well as from around the globe making it the chart topper. With its worldwide success, the track was also released with a remix version on 25 August 2022, that featured Selena Gomez.

The remixed version again broke many records and garnered over 515 million views on YouTube. The track ranked no.1 on both the Billboard Global Excl. US charts and the Billboard US Afrobeats Songs as well as no.3 on the Global 200 chart. Marking Rema's first top-ten hit and Selena Gomez's ninth, the track also ranked third on the US Billboard Hot 100. Quite evidently, the original version and the remixed version, both didn't fail to make the listeners groove. Featuring the breezy beats of Afro-music along with catchy lyrics, made offered this track is a quick entry to every listener's playlist. Recently, Rema made an India Tour where he performed his chart buster track 'Baby Calm Down' and Noora Fatehi joined him on the stage. His tour in Delhi and Mumbai has been a great success and the artist showed great interest by saying, "It feels amazing to be finally touring the country." Talking about collaboration and Indian music, the artist said, "I believe the way forward in music is cross-cultural collaboration. I love to merge Indian sounds and dance with Afrobeat," as he wanted to perform on RRR's 'Naatu Naatu'. Being an icon of Afro Rave, Rema is bringing a new creative wave in the Afro-music industry which is captivating the whole world. He was also nominated as Best Viewers Choice: International Act at the 2020 BET Awards. With a progressive music career and mindset, Rema is looking forward to bringing more amazing tracks on the plate that showcases his skills of rapping and singing.

Selena Gomez is also teasing her fans through Instagram Stories regarding her upcoming album "SG3". Fans are guessing that the music project will be released this year and anticipation is quite high. Stay Tuned to know more!

BLACKPINK Breaks the Record for the Most-Followed Female Act on Spotify

Breaking all records once again, BLACKPINK has become one of the first female groups to have taken over the 41-million followers record on Spotify, thereby making them the most-followed female Asian groups in the history of the platform. The followers of the group, known as 'Blinks', appear to be over the moon when this feat was announced, elevating the group to the same platform as artists like Taylor Swift, Rihanna, Adele, Billie Eilish, Ariana Grande, Selena Gomez, and Neha Kakkar, who were previously the only female artists to have garnered this many followers on Spotify. Some of their most popular songs streamed on the platform include hits like 'How You Like That', 'Kill This Love' and 'DDU-DU DDU-DU', among others.

Fans took to social media to congratulate the group on achieving this milestone, pouring out their heartfelt wishes and congratulations on Instagram and Twitter, with comments like "MY BLACKPINK IS SO BIG AND POPULAR?" and "QUEENS FOR A REASON?". In the midst of this celebration, the group is reported to have set another record for themselves, having amassed over 10 billion streams on Spotify, despite the hiatus in their group music releases, which is a first for any girl group on the platform. This stands as proof that the group has not lost any momentum since its debut in 2016, and is on its way to becoming the most successful girl group in the history of K-pop. BLACKPINK, comprising members: Jisoo, Jennie, Rosé, and Lisa, was also the first K-pop group to have performed at Coachella when they took the stage in 2019. While they had taken a break from group releases, the members Jisoo, Lisa, and Jennie have made quite a ripple with their solo projects. After releasing her solo album 'Me', Jisoo invested in her acting career with the K-drama 'Snowdrop', while Jennie is set to make her acting debut with 'The Idol', featuring Lily-Rose Depp and The Weeknd.

Lisa on the other hand broke the record for the most viewed YouTube video by a solo artist in 24 hours with 'LaLisa' and also collaborated with Taeyang for his album 'Down To Earth'.

The record for the most-followed female Asian act on Spotify had been previously held by Neha Kakkar, until recently when BLACKPINK surpassed her with 41.33 million followers.

The platform has currently recorded a total of 480 million users worldwide, making global music accessible to all of them.

MADONNA “ON THE MEND” AFTER BEING HOSPITALIZED WITH SEVERE BACTERIAL INFECTION

The music industry received a major blow on 24th June when American “Queen of Pop”, Madonna was found unresponsive prior to her upcoming tour. The singer was immediately rushed to a New York City hospital when where she was admitted to the intensive care unit (ICU). Madonna’s manager, Guy Oseary, sent out an official statement on Instagram, and the post read: “On Saturday, June 24, Madonna developed a serious bacterial infection which lead to a several day stay in the ICU. Her health is improving, however she is still under medical care. A full recovery is expected.

At this time we will need to pause all commitments, which includes the tour. We will share more details with you soon as we have them, including a new start date for the tour and for rescheduled shows.”

Soon prayers and wishes for a speedy recovery poured out in the comments section with other celebrities and followers commenting things like “We all love you, Madonna — thank you, Guy. We will hang tight and await good word” and “I am so shocked and to be honest this hit hard . I’ve LOVED Madonna since 84, I don’t care about the tour, my worry is that she gets well and rests. She’s given us so much already”. However, some were not above expressing their criticism with one of them writing, “With all that plastic and Botox on her no wonder she got an infection....I love her but she hasn’t been herself for the last decade! I hope this will be a lesson for her and she’ll get better! ?❤️”.

Madonna’s upcoming ‘The Celebration Tour’ was scheduled to kick start on 15th July in Vancouver, Canada, and then move to the United States with two dates in Seattle, starting on July 18.

The international leg of the Tour was to move to Europe, ending in Amsterdam in December. The announcement of a new start date is still awaited. The Celebration Tour was announced by ‘The Material Girl’ singer to commemorate the 40th anniversary of her career in the music industry. Stated to be a “one-of-a-kind experience”, the Tour is also set to showcase American drag queen, comedian, actor, activist, musician, and reality television personality Bob the Drag Queen, real name Caldwell Tidicue, across all dates.

In a recent report, the singer’s best friend and ‘Goodfellas’ actress Debi Mazar has insisted that the actress is “on the mend”. On 29th July, she posted a picture of herself with Madonna from the 80s with the caption: “Get well Sis! Rest, Restore, Reboot! Strongest gal I know... .” and called Madonna a “Warrior” and a “Lioness”.

Great Van Fleet Dropped Its Latest Single 'The Falling Sky'

Great Van Fleet is making their comeback with their latest single 'The Falling Sky'. It is the new single from their upcoming album, named 'Starcatcher'. The album is going to be released on the 21st of July. Before this track, they have dropped several tracks like 'Farewell For Now', 'Sacred The Thread', and 'Meeting The Master'. The new track 'The Falling Sky' is creating a sensation among all of their fans.

While talking about the song, the band member Jake Kizska said 'An unwavering warrior carrying on the endless, eternal, and impossible battle for salvation; these were the elements of symbolism associated with this particular track'. He has also added 'In essence our fate is sealed, alike the stars that fall from the almighty heavens to the earth. This philosophy is carried through in the story of a bluesman, at the crossroads of the universe'.

This album has been recorded in the RCA Studios in Nashville. Artists of this band have said that with this album, they are trying to explore 'the duality of fantasy versus reality and the contrast between light and darkness'. Along with that, they have also stated 'We had this idea that we wanted to tell these stories to build a universe...We wanted to introduce characters and motifs and these ideas that would come about here and there throughout our careers through this world'.

The bassist of the band, Sam Kizska has made his statement by saying 'When I imagine the world of Starcatcher, I think of the cosmos, It makes me ask a lot of questions, like 'Where did we come from?' or 'What are we doing here?' But it's also questions like, 'What is this consciousness that we have, and where did it come from?'.

On that, Jake has also said 'We didn't really have to force or be intense about writing, because everything that happened was very instinctual. If anything, the record is our perspective, and sums up where we are as a group and individually as musicians'.

The band has also shared the list of songs from this album.

The tracks of this album are-

- Fate Of The Faithful
- Waited All Your Life
- The Falling Sky
- Sacred The Thread
- Runway Blues
- The Indigo Streak
- Frozen Light
- The Archer
- Meeting The Master
- Farewell For No

After releasing the album, the band will start its Starcatcher world tour on the 24th of July, which is making the release even more special for its listeners.

Olivia Rodrigo Is Coming Up With Her Latest Album 'Guts'

Get ready for Olivia Rodrigo's latest album 'Guts' as the singer has confirmed the album will be released on 8th September. The artist has officially announced the date of the release. Before announcing the news, she dropped a few teasers of her latest creations. For that reason, her fans were already assuming that she is definitely dropping some news. And finally, on 26th June, she confirmed the release of her second album 'Guts'.

This artist has said 'My sophomore album GUTS comes out September 8th...I am so proud of this record and I can't wait to share it with you all! U can presave it now! xoxoxoxo'. Rodrigo is a young artist, who got huge recognition for her very first creations. She had quite a successful beginning in her career and reached out to global listeners with her soundtracks. She is always trying new things when it comes to any song. Later she said 'It's definitely a different experience writing a second album after having a debut that was so well received'.

Along with this, the artist has also added 'I still write so much of my music in my bedroom though, and I don't think that experience will ever change. Writing songs will hopefully always be an outlet for me to process my feelings before anything else'. While talking about the album, she has made a statement by saying 'For me, this album is about growing pains and trying to figure out who I am at this point in my life'.

She has also added 'I feel like I grew 10 years between the ages of 18 and 20—it was such an intense period of awkwardness and change. I think that's all just a natural part of growth, and hopefully the album reflects that'. In this new album, Rodrigo has confirmed that the first song of this album would be 'Vampire'. From the promo art of this track, her fans are assuming that the song would be a slow piano-centric ballad and definitely not pop-punk. Her listeners are eagerly waiting for the album to release and it is creating a buzz among everyone from the very first moment of the announcement.

Offset Seem To Be Doubting Cardi B But She Responded Quite Swiftly

Offset apparently claimed that Cardi B cheated on him and shared a story on social media that brought fire on the internet. The screenshots of the post were quickly circulated on Twitter in what seemed to be like an Instagram story from Offset's profile that reads, "My wife fucked a nia on me." He also mentioned, 'gang yall ni* know how I come'.

It is unfortunate for Cardi as recently tweeted as a 'Proud' partner of Offset for his contributions with Quavo for Takeoff at the BET Awards. She also took a moment to utilize Twitter's live audio function where she sang the song "I Should Have Cheated" by Keyshia Cole.

The lyric of the track goes like "First of all let me say / You can't accuse me of all the things / You know that you are guilty of / And I see that it is easy for you to blame everything on me." It pretty much seems like a response to Offset's claims. However, she was not afraid to voice her thoughts on the matter and so she responded to her fans, "Don't pay attention to that country man, y'all."

She further added, "That Spaces the other day? That motherf spiralling and thinking s. Come on, now. I'm f' Cardi B. ... I think sometimes motherf forget, I'm Cardi B."

The rapper further mentioned the industry and said, "If I was giving this p* to anybody, it would be out. I'm not just anybody. I can't f me no regular degular shmegular because they gon' tell the world. I can't f nobody in the industry 'cause they gonna tell too."

Referring to Offset further, Cardi said, "So please, boy, stop acting stupid. Stop acting stupid. Going crazy over a fing Space, don't play with me. The f? Stop playing. That's all I'mma motherf say, because for real, let's be serious."

The Space Cardi is talking about is perhaps the one that came up this weekend where Cardi shared that if she ever gets divorced from Offset, she will be releasing a handful of hit projects while upgrading her life with someone. It does not require to say that Offset who has been married to Cardi since 2017 has been at the center of attention for his cheating stories which made Cardi briefly file a report in 2020.

However, she stayed and said to Vogue in 2019, "When me and my husband got into our issues — you know, he cheated and everything — and I decided to stay with him and work together with him, a lot of people were so mad at me."

GWEN STEFANI'S LATEST ROMANTIC POP BOP NUMBER 'TRUE BABE' WILL MAKE YOU BLUSH

After her last release, Gwen Stefani has returned with a greatly arranged romantic pop number 'True Babe'. This is her first release after her 2021 release 'Slow Clap' featuring Saweetie. For this track, Stefani has teamed up with Swedish production duo Jack & Coke, and for the tunes for this song she has worked with Los Angeles-based rock songwriter and producer KThrash. The narrative of the song is extremely simple, which is finding comfort in a romantic partner and being willing to spend every minute in their company.

The lines of the song go like this, "I want to fly to your shows/Want to wake up in your clothes/Come get you tipsy at 6:30/Want to take tonight slow," and as she sings beautifully these lines the chorus singers follow her and sing, "Cause it's true babe, true babe/I'm sleeping better next to you babe, you babe." And this entire became one of the catchiest portions of the song.

According to reliable and relatable conjectures these swoon-worthy lines are might for her beloved hubby and former Voice coach Blake Shelton. Recently, Gwen Stefani also announced that will be returning to The Voice for its 24th season, alongside coaches Reba McEntire, Niall Horan, and John Legend. Every Voice fans are really excited to see her back on that show. The small teaser has already disclosed the fact that 'The No Doubt Legend' is coming back for this season as well.

This year, Father's Day landed on the birthday of Stefani's husband Blake Shelton. And on June 20th she teased about this latest track. And this is why all the speculations were taking place, as 2023 has been the year when wives and ex-wives have a lot to say to their respective partners through music. And Stefani's 'True Babe' is like a breath of fresh air that will cause your partner to blush.

Stefani's appearance with the Black Keys and the Black Crowes at the Beach Life Festival in Redondo Beach, California, had headlined last month. This summer she is playing a string of European festivals including UK events as well. She will wrap the string of shows with an appearance at BST Hyde Park Festival in London with P!nk.

Morgan Wallen

Morgan Wallen's 2023 studio album 'One Thing at a Time' has been making noises left and right along with its outstanding performance on the charts. The album's third single 'Last Night' has occupied the no 1 spot on Billboard's Hot 100 Songs chart, making its 20th week on the charts. The track is about a couple who are having their 'last night' together. A beautiful composition in the country-pop genre is written by John Byron, Ashley Gorley, Jacob Kasher Hindlin, and Ryan Vojtesak. Throughout this prepossessing composition, the singer has held hope for the couple, hinting that they might sort the issues out, and giving a wonderful experience to the listeners at the same time. The artist's glorious yet emotional vocals make the song even richer.

Doja Cat Announces New Scarlet Tour And She Is Bringing Ice Spice This Time

On June 23rd, Friday the Grammy-winning artist Doja Cat shared an update on social media that she will be headlining The Scarlet Tour. The tour will be in conjunction with Live Nation and will start this fall. The Scarlet tour will also be the "Attention" singer's first North American arena tour. This 24-date tour will kick off on Halloween, Oct. 31, at San Francisco's Chase Center and then will take off to major U.S. cities before finally wrapping up on 31st December at Chicago's United Center. But that is not all, the singer will also bring Ice Spice and Doechii along as her female femcees. In this tour, Doja Cat will make a total of 24 stops in major North American cities like Las Vegas, Houston, Dallas, Denver, Miami, New York, Boston, Detroit, etc.

The Scarlet Tour will have advance registration that will make sure the maximum number of tickets will go directly to the hands of fans, as they will filter out bots and scalpers from the process of ticket purchasing. Fans can start registering now and once the registration process is over, the fans will be randomly selected for a code that will give them access to the pre-sale that will start on Wednesday, June 28. On this pre-sale, a limited number of tickets are available, as the general on-sale for the Scarlet Tour tickets will kick off June 30 at 10 a.m. local time. This tour will also have a variety of VIP packages and experiences for fans. These packages are anticipated to include premium tickets, a photo opportunity with Doja Cat herself in front of the stage, pre-show VIP Lounge access, gift items, and more.

In her career, Doja Cat has toured once as a headliner, that too for a short-run "Amala Tour" back in 2019. During this tour, the team had planned to go to North America to support her then upcoming 'Hot Pink' album in 2020, however, that got delayed due to the pandemic. Then she was also scheduled to open for the Weeknd's "After Hours Til Dawn" tour last year, which also could not happen for her. The 'Woman' singer canceled the tour as she had to go for emergency tonsil surgery.

This tour will be different for her as a music artist and also for her fans as she is entering her new era, a whole new and a bit dark aesthetic, led by her newest single 'Attention'.

JENNIE IS GETTING MUCH CRITICISM FOR HER BOLD DIALOGUES IN 'THE IDOL'

The BLACKPINK famous singer Jennie has recently made her debut in the HBO series 'The Idol'. But surprisingly Jennie is getting a lot of hate comments and criticism. Regarding the K-pop artist's role, a huge controversy is happening. In the series, she is playing the role of a dancer whose name is Dyanne. She is a friend of the protagonist Jocelyn, which has been played by Lily-Rose Depp.

In this series, in the very first episode, there is a bit of portion where Jennie has shown some sensual dance moves. And people are liking it and showing their negative responses. Audiences are not clearly approving what the BLACKPINK artist is trying to showcase in the show.

The first two episodes of it were premiered at the Cannes Film Festival. And from that very first moment, Jennie is receiving all the criticisms. Comments and responses are flooding all over Twitter, which is quite shocking because BLACKPINK is a much-loved K-Pop group. And over the years they have attracted audiences with their talent.

It is not only about the first episode but the second episode was also quite disappointing for the viewers. Jennie was in a scene with the singer The Weeknd who is playing the character named Tedros, where she asked him if 'Jocelyn was better in bed than her'. Actually, there are some uncomfortable scenes and dialogues, which people are not liking at all.

From all these criticism, it is coming to know that she has done a great job with the character given to her but it is the script, which has dissatisfied the audiences. While many people are criticizing Jennie for her character there are also many people who are accepting this new thing that she has tried in her career. A Twitter user has said 'korean movies/dramas got actual s*x scenes while jennie did a sy dance...so what's the issue'.

Another person has said 'although very pathetic, it's lowkey so sad that y'all still gasp and jump in shock when y'all see idols have physical touch with non group members lmaooo Jennie rly a once in a lifetime idol fr, just setting new standards in everything'. Along with that, the third user has said 'The jennie clip not even being remotely provocative and kpop stans are losing their minds...how old are you lot cause she's literally just dancing'.

PHARRELL SAYS KANYE WEST IS THE TRUEST “LOUIS VUITTON DON” AND SHOULD REMAIN THIS WAY ONLY

On 20th June, Tuesday, Swizz Beatz released a video on video on Instagram where he was along with the forever young and vibrant music artist Pharrell to congratulate P on his inaugural Louis Vuitton collection. In the video, Pharrell was seen sharing that Kanye West is the forever “Louis Vuitton Don”. In the video footage, it was seen that Swizz attempting to crown the 50-year-old with the title of “Louis Vuitton Don” but P interrupted by claiming Ye is and always should be crowned with this title.

He said, “Ladies and gentlemen, this is my brother, Pharrell,” Swizz Beatz said, “The Don. The Louis Vuitton Don.” Skateboard P cut the producer off, saying, “Nah nah nah nah. [I’m the] Pupil King, I’m a student. Louis Vuitton Don is the one, great Kanye West. Period. That’s the Louis Vuitton Don. I’m the Pupil King, I’m forever the student.”

After his vivid clarification, he said, “I’m electrified with gratitude,” adding more, “My appointment in this position is a tribute to our brother Virgil. God is the greatest.” He said this to update his audience on the fact that he is in an ecstatic state of mind as he has made his debut with his collection with a huge fashion house like Louis Vuitton.

Kanye West historically referred to himself as LV’s Don, and not just that he also has made a rap mentioning this. The famous rap is heard by everyone which is ‘Last Call’ from his ‘The College Dropout’. In this track, we can hear him telling his story and how he has emerged as an aspiring music producer to a rapper signed by Roc-A-Fella Records. And in between these lines he rapped, “I use it as my gas, so they say that I’m gassed,” he begins on the classic track. “But without it, I’d be last, so I ought to laugh/So I don’t listen to the suits behind the desk no more/You nias wear suits ’cause you can’t dress no more/You can’t say sh*t to Kanye West no more/I rocked 20,000 people, I was just on tour, nia/I’m Kan, the ‘Louis Vuitton Don’/Bought my mom a purse, now she ‘Louis Vuitton Mom.’” He humorously rhymed the word “Don” with “Mom”.

Pharrell’s fresh Louis Vuitton SS24 collection showed off new designs and pieces in his inaugural year, at a star-studded event.

DRAMA UNFURLS AS TAYLOR SWIFT AND BEYONCÉ CARRY ON WITH THEIR RESPECTIVE TOURS

With the world seeing one of the greatest moments in the world of music as both Taylor Swift and Beyoncé tour around in style, setting the stage on fire at numerous stadiums and concert venues, it is only natural that the two would be stacked up against one another. From their music to followers to their recent life events- everything would be held up for scrutiny by the fans and that is exactly what has been happening, especially now that the two have ventured into the international legs of their tours.

Taylor Swift was the first one of the two who took to social media in October to announce her Eras Tour after a hiatus of five years. The announcement revealed the tour to be her biggest, comprising 52 shows, and selling millions of tickets, the number of which stands at 2.4 million according to the last reports. In February, Queen Bey herself announced her 57-show Renaissance tour that is scheduled to take place in 40 cities after a hiatus of 7 years, starting from Europe in May.

Being two of the greatest Titans in the music industry, both Beyoncé and Swift stand tall on the strength of their immense fanbase who leave no stone unturned in showing their admiration and love for their idols. From purchasing re-recorded catalogs to crashing giants like TicketMaster, they have received both positive responses and criticisms from others. Fans of both singers were seen flying in from other countries, spending thousands of dollars to see them perform.

While Taylor has been dishing out one magical performance after another, her personal life has also seen some unexpected development. After having been together for almost 6 years, Swift parted ways with Joe Alwyn, the announcement for which came in April. She had since been seen dating Matty Healy briefly until news about their split appeared. There had been some serious drama at her concert as well when Taylor told a security guard off for manhandling a group of fans during her performance of the song “Bad Blood”. While most applauded this move from Taylor, others accused her of high-handedness, given the security guard was only keeping her interests in mind.

A similar incident took place during Beyoncé’s concert when Selena Gomez was seen “yelling” at a security guard for his behavior towards her fans. Meanwhile, Queen Bey herself came under fire for leaving out songs from her album dedicated to the LGBTQ+ community in Dubai, where homosexuality is illegal, and for accepting the $24 million dollars deal in the country, with fans putting up posts like: “the music may be fire, but beyonce is still a billionaire, black capitalist. she does not care about the liberation of black people. or queer people. or anyone for that matter.”

SHAWN MENDES MAKES SURPRISE APPEARANCE AT ED SHEERAN'S TORONTO SHOW

Shawn Mendes appears to be coming out of his live show hiatus as he joins Ed Sheeran on stage in Toronto, performing duets on "Lego House" and "There's Nothing Holdin' Me Back".

As Ed Sheeran's $+ - = \div \times$ Tour reached Toronto on Saturday, fans were in for a treat as the native pop star of the city Shawn Mendes made a surprise appearance with his guitar. It appears that Mendes, who had pulled almost a year-long hiatus on his live shows in July 2022 on account of his mental health and post-pandemic anxiety, is ready to dip his feet into performing on stage once again. Fans of the "Stritches" star were delighted when Mendes appeared on stage to join Ed for a duet on his track "Lego House".

The duo then went on to sing Mendes' "There's Nothing Holdin' Me Back", rocking the stage and sharing a delightful musical camaraderie. Fans had been rooting for such a comeback from the artist since he took to Instagram to elaborate on his decision to cease live shows for a while: "The reality is I was not at all ready for how difficult touring would be after this time away. After speaking more with my team and working with an incredible group of health professionals, it has become more clear that I need to take the time I've never taken personally, to ground myself and come back stronger."

Mendes' cameo in Ed Sheeran's tour came after his new single "What The Hell Are We Dying For" was released earlier in the month, and the artist took to social media to make the announcement with the caption: "WHAT THE HELL ARE WE DYING FOR? OUT NOW Started writing this song yesterday morning with my friends in upstate Newyork & finished it only a few hours ago..felt so important to me to share with you guys in real time ❤️❤️".

However, the singer soon came under fire over the cover art of the album, where he used an image of New York City being covered in smog from the Canadian wildfires, which a lot of people claimed to be 'insensitive' and accused him of using an environmental crisis for his benefit. After the release of the single, Shawn opened up about his struggle of trying to create new music for a year and a half and said that it was the environmental crisis that inspired him to release the song in the first place, stating: "I think it was a good thing for me to do for myself. I had to dive into the deep end. Otherwise, I would've sat there for years questioning myself."

Here Is the List Of the most prestigious BET Winners in 2023

As this year's BET Awards wrapped up, here is the list of winners of this most esteemed award including Latto, Beyoncé, Coco Jones, and Teyana "Spike Tey" Taylor.

The 2023 BET awards were handed out this Sunday night where Latto accepted her best female hip-hop artist in person. The BET Awards recognizes the best performances across the music industry, TV, film, and sports the whole year. This year, the ceremony also celebrated "50 years of hip-hop" throughout the entire show.

The evening was aired on BET from the Microsoft Theater in Los Angeles. However, on television, only a fraction of the winners of the categories were announced during the broadcast.

The show started with the performance of The hostless show, which included Lil Uzi Vert as the opener along with The Sugarhill Gang, the Hip-hop pioneers performing "Rapper's Delight". The performance also included a heartfelt tribute to the late Biz Markie, with the hit "Just a Friend." Other memorable moments from the show included another heartfelt tribute to another superstar of the Hip-hop industry, Tupac Shakur and Takeoff where Takeoff's tribute was performed by his Migos bandmates Quavo and Offset.

OLIVIA RODRIGO WILL BE RELEASING A NEW SINGLE 'VAMPIRE' ON 30TH JUNE 2023

Get ready to groove with young and beautiful Olivia Rodrigo. She just teased about her upcoming single 'Vampire', released by the end of this month on 30th June.

Olivia Rodrigo has announced a new song through a social media post. The artwork of the album looks quite interesting which showcases her black-and-white photo of her left profile of her face with two mild mauve band-aids possibly hiding her biting mark, she wrote "My new song Vampire is out June 30th! You can pre-save now. So excited for this ahhhhh!!!!!!!"

The song is being produced via Geffen Records and this made her first original release after she dropped 'Sour' in 2021. She made her debut in 2021 with the worldwide acclaimed album 'Sour' in 2021 which has made her climb the stairs of success within a very short time. From awards to limitless love from her audience, she was a star overnight. And not as she plans to drop her new release she has made her listeners anticipate this release too. And with an enigmatic photo has made a good impression on her followers already.

As the Déjà vu singer is going to return to her fans with another single 'Vampire', the words of anticipation have already taken over the internet. A press release has been issued to elevate the release of this song, according to the PR, "Vampire' is the sound of an artist firmly in control, imbued with a sense of maturity and a bold confidence... With 'Vampire,' she is poised to begin an exciting new chapter." Rodrigo wrote it with her trusted "Sour" collaborator Dan Nigro.

Previously Rodrigo has teased social media about a new music release with a mirror selfie, along with the calendar marked on the date 30th June and a heart in the background. "I'm taking today to reflect on all the amazing things that have happened since 'Sour' and looking fORward 2 all the things to come," she shared this on the anniversary celebration of her debut album on 21st May 2023.

This solid Easter egg has disclosed the name of her upcoming album. 'OR 2' is the shorthand of the name of her upcoming album. Along with this her website page started to count down 30th June.; In one of her earlier posts Rodrigo wrote, "The new stuff is so so so so so close to being done I pinky promise," reassuring on the quality of her single, which no one actually doubts even a little.

A Concertgoer Scratched The Eye Of Ava Max At The LA Concert

The US pop artist Ava Max said from a concert in Los Angeles, an audience came up to the stage and slapped her brutally. She said a concertgoer 'slapped me so hard' that it has 'scratched the inside of my eye'.

The video clip of this incident is going viral on the internet. The pop singer had to face such an incident at her recent concert. Everyone is shocked that how anyone can get up to the stage and do this kind of thing. The person slapped her in such a bad way that she couldn't open her eye.

Later that, she tweeted, which says 'He slapped me so hard that he scratched the inside of my eye. He's never coming to a show again'. After this, she also added 'Thank you to the fans for being spectacular tonight in LA though!!' Ava was performing in The Fonda Theatre on Tuesday when the person attacked her.

She was about the end the show when this happened. But when she got injured, she immediately left the stage and after that met with her fans with sunglasses on.

Recently, Bebe Rexha was also injured by a concertgoer and it is really awful how audiences are getting so near where they can harm the artists.

A person from Arizona recorded the whole incident and later said 'She was ending the show with her song The Motto and a fan just ran and jumped on the left side of the stage...As he jumped on stage some of the lights fell to the floor and he was running for Ava with his arms wide open like he was going to hug her'. He also said 'But the security ran and grabbed him and as they did she just happened to turn and his arm was out and hit her in the face'.

He added more information like 'Also, they almost canceled the meet-and-greet because of the situation'. But then 'She had to wear sunglasses and she was disoriented and dazed so it was sad having to talk to her like that'.

Another fan tweeted after the incident that 'The security guard tackled him and literally THREW him down the stairs. Wild!!! It happened so fast'. It was quite a dangerous situation for Ava, which was later taken care of.
