TAYLOR'S VERSION

Taylor Swift seems to be proceeding on her journey of breaking records as her re-imagined version of '1989' or '1989 (Taylor's Version)' has broken another record on Spotify. The song has made Swift, the most-streamed artist in a single day, according to the platform. Spotify has also said that the latest version of the album '1989' has also outpaced the record of her previously re-released project 'Speak Now (Taylor's Version),' with a significant difference. 'Speak Now (Taylor's Version)' took a couple of days to reach the top spot but this latest project did that in less than a day. Such faster and more widespread buzz is re-establishing Taylor Swift's career with a blended essence of folk and pop. Spotify is known for offering record-breaking statistics a music project outperforms. It is a pretty standard practice to let the listeners know. However, they did disclose any numbers of specific figures regarding the overall streaming numbers. The platform also mentioned that the new Vault track, 'Slut! (Taylor's Version)' has created another milestone by making its debut at No. 1 in the US with 5.2 million streams and around the globe, it has gathered more than 11.3 million streams. Considering the ranking on global charts; the non-Vault track, 'Style (Taylor's Version)' is also putting up a strong debut with more than 11.6 million streams.

Selena Gomez Joins Coldplay And H.E.R On Stage For A Surprise Live Performance Of 'Let Somebody Go'

Selena Gomez surprised Coldplay fans and the live audience at the band's Los Angeles gig with a special appearance. On Sunday evening, October 1st, the band performed at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, California where the members, Chris Martin and H.E.R were joined by a special guest on the stage. The fans and the live audience needed to take a moment to "Calm Down" as Selena Gomez appeared on stage to reprise their 2021 collaboration, 'Let Somebody Go'. The singer came on the stage when the song was down a couple of verses and received loud cheering for her appearance.

At the beginning of the song, Chris welcomed two super fans, a pair of sisters who came to watch the show on stage. The younger one from the sister duo had a fan sign that requested the song, 'Let Somebody Go' to be added to the set list of that night as Chris commented, "Right now, you two represent the whole audience." "This song you've chosen, we used to play it a bit. But when we recorded it, we recorded it with Selena Gomez," Chris added. "She was very gracious when she came to the studio and made the song so much better, but we never get to sing it with her. Please forgive me if it doesn't sound quite as good as the record."

During the performance, H.E.R. joined the stage to sweeten the deal, however, the real and loud cheering came along when Selena Gomez appeared from the back of the stage. Featuring the highlights of the event, Selena added "Thank you @coldplay @hermusicofficial for an amazing night" on her Instagram story. Their collaboration was featured on the ninth studio album of Coldplay. The story highlights featured Gomez walking on the stage with a big smile as she joined Chris Martin and H.E.R. with loud cheers from the crowd. The 31-year-old 'Wolves' singer was wearing a black bodycon dress with long sleeves and the look was completed with detailed silver lining on the hip and black lace tights.

She also posted a mirror selfie on Instagram showing off the attire which she captioned, "Thank you @coldplay @hermusicofficial for an amazing night!". The Only Murders in the Building actor gave this live performance after a month after her newly released track, 'Single Soon'.

Cardi B Claps Back At Kanye West Calling Her An "Illuminati Plant"

Cardi B has recently responded to Kanye West calling her an "Illuminati plant" in a now-deleted tweet. The comment was made on an old resurfaced leaked segment from an unreleased 2018 documentary. West, who is legally known as Ye was seen on a phone call where he claims that the 'Bodak Yellow' rapper is an industry plant planted in the industry by Illuminati. The Chicago native claimed that Cardi's career and her rise to fame was not organic but it has been orchestrated and supported by a larger entity. In the clip, the 46-year-old artist also named music industry exec Corey Gamble, who is the partner of his ex-wife Kim Kardashian's mother Kris Jenner, to be an operative for the CIA.

Cardi has now responded to this claim by sharing another old clip on Twitter in a now-deleted tweet. The 'WAP' singer responded to this claim with Ye's own words in a 2022 clip where he spoke highly of Cardi's talents in an interview with

Jason Lee from Hollywood Unlocked. Ye championed Cardi whom he collaborated with in 'Hot Shit' in 2022 from when she was on the VH1 reality series 'Love & Hip-Hop: New York'. West commented "I always believed in her since she was on the show" which Cardi uploaded with a red heart emoji which is now deleted from Twitter. In the old clip from his 2018 documentary, West was seen saying "She doesn't write her raps. She's just there to sound as ignorant as possible." and making songs like "F*** them and get some money." West who is now staying out of the spotlight since the last time he was making headlines for his anti-semitic remarks made headlines once again for this resurfaced clip where he also claimed: "She has literally replaced Nicki Minaj, purposely that they put her there, and now she doesn't know what to do, and she has no idea what the fuck is going on." He claimed that Cardi B is not aware of the behind-the-scenes and other endeavors by higher powers that have ensured her success in the i ndustry. He further commented, "She thinks it's just a blessing from the universe - it ain't no blessing from the fucking universe".

Cardi B is not the only female successful singer who has been accused of being an industry plant or has been attacked by Kanye West. According to Urban Dictionary, an industry plant is someone "who has Major/Indie Label backing their movement but presents themselves as a "home grown start-up" label to create a pseudo organic following." other female performers including Billie Eilish, H.E.R. Katy Perry, and recently Ice Spice has also been accused of being an industry plant. However, Cardi's reaction and comeback to this claim has now been deleted from her X account (formerly known as Twitter). Another mentioned rapper on the clip, Nicki Minaj is still yet to comment on Ye's claim.

Ed Sheeran's 'Perfect' Soccer Club Rendition Hooks The Internet

Even hard-core soccer lovers can't resist the charm of Sheeran's 'Perfect' magic. In the midst of Sheeran's latest 'Not-so-Perfect' album release, the British singer is doing everything in his power to make this work. From gate crashing a wedding to this impressive glimpse of him singing with a group of footballers at the Ipswich Town Football Club, this is his hometown soccer club and this video wins over the internet, yet, 'Autumn Variation' has proven to be variation-less.

The town TV caught the footage of the moment when Sheeran and the soccer players were singing in the locker room. The go-to hangout place was filled with the chorus singing the lines of 'Perfect'. Being around the bashful singer, everyone started to sing the song on top of their voices. They surrounded him and embraced each other lifted their hands in the air and sang the song. In the later part of the clip, Sheeran was seen making a video of this holding his mobile out in the front.

He also donated a guitar to Town TV and the signing of the guitar was also been recorded on camera. During this "Magical" visit of the singer to the football club he also received a soccer shirt gifted by the players. These appearances are working as promotions for his latest album. The album has received diverse reactions from the audience, unlike his previous releases which have complete surrender from his audience. In one of his recent interviews, Sheeran stated that he has no intentions to work under his label from now on, he is only publishing his music through his independent label, Gingerbread Man Records.

The singer said, "Each record before I've done, like, all the big going in and doing all these radiointerviews, and going on the late-night shows, and doing, doing all this stuff. And this record, there's not even a single for it. There's not, there's not a music video. I'm just putting it out."

From weddings to smoking weed, the drastic transition of Ed Sheeran has wooed his audience; even though his last release got polarizing reactions he continued to promote his album. He performed 'Magical' for a newlywed after gate crashing their wedding. In another recent video, he was seen alongside Snoop Dogg smoking weed. The singer also shared a story on Conan O'Brien's Needs a Friend podcast released this Tuesday.

On the meeting with Spoon, he says, "They're really cool. I don't really smoke at all and I was in the dressing room and they're just blunt for blunt for blunt and I'm like, I guess at some point in the night I have to just to be like, 'I smoked with Snoop Dogg.' So I was having this conversation with him and I was like this is good, like a good memory."

'Swalla' Singer Sued By Emaza Gibson For Seducing Her Forcefully

Emaza Gibson, the aspiring singer claimed that the 'Glad U Came' singer Jason Derulo forced her to have sexual intercourse with him right after Gibson signed to his record label. However later, he let her go as she constantly denied having physical intercourse. Gibson, now 25 accused the 'Wiggle' singer of telling her if she wanted to be successful in the music industry, she "would be required to partake in 'goat skin and fish scales,' which is a Haitian reference referring to conducting sex rituals, sacrificing a goat, goat blood and doing cocaine."

Ron Zambrano, Gibson's attorney stated, 'Mr. Derulo's behavior toward this young artist was despicable,' continued saying, 'He not only broke promises and breached contracts, but his threats of physical harm and unconscionable sexual advances toward this young woman who is just trying to break into the industry were outrageous and illegal.'

However, the representative of the 'Savage Love' singer did not accept the allegations that were stated in the complaint, saying, "These claims are completely false and hurtful," the statement read. "I stand against all forms of harassment and remain committed to supporting people chasing their dreams. I strive to live my life in a positively-impacting way, so I am deeply offended by these defamatory allegations.'

The singer also stated in 2021 September that she was given 'inappropriately large amounts of alcohol' at an ongoing recording session, and had to drink as she felt 'pressure'. Gibson also shared that she talked with the 'Talk Dirty' singer regularly over text message to schedule record sessions but the singer invited her for drinks and dinner 'repeatedly'. However, she refused to meet him outside work as she wanted to keep the relationship professional only. She further claimed during a meeting in

New York, she encountered another female performer who also claimed that she was there as Derulo tried seducing the lady.

Moreover, Gibson stated that after she met 'that' lady she went to confront the 34-year-old singer but he instantly lost his cool and started hitting his armrests aggressively and screamed, 'What does she have to do with you!? We weren't going to tell you anything! We don't have to tell you anything!' In addition to that, She shared that she was suffering from post-traumatic stress disorder and required medical help for 'breakdowns, weight loss, insomnia, mood swings, hopelessness, loss of motivation... [and] feelings of betrayal and deception' after Derulo seduced her forcefully.

Well, Harris, Atlantic and RCA Records representatives of the 'Watcha Say?' singer denied comment about the matter till now.

Old Dominion Joins The No Bad Vibes Tour At The Crypto.Com Arena, Ending On October 27

Time to enjoy the exciting country flavors by Old Dominion as this five-piece band is all set to perform at the Crypto.com Arena in Los Angeles, on October 27.

The enthralling five-piece country music group Old Dominion is ready to create another buzz among the fans as the band is preparing for their performance on the No Bad Vibes Tour. The last day of the event is taking place at the Crypto.com Arena on October 27, this Friday. Fans are ready to hit the arena in Los Angeles and the anticipation is high!

The frontman Ramsey expresses the fact that he along with the four members of the band are feeling quite good by finding a new sense of comfort in their creative process, stage presence, and performing together. After spending 16 years, each member of the band is capable of captivating the audiences effortlessly with no room for error. For them, “all flows naturally, devoid of any sense of effort or strain.” The sense of comfort with ease and flow is also vividly noticeable in the new 18-track LP that offers some of the most exciting country singles such as “Easier Said With Rum,” “Ain’t Got A Worry,” “I Should Have Married You,” etc to name some. However, the song that created the most buzz is nothing but the “Memory Lane.” It captured the No. 1 spot on country radio and now that song can be heard live on stage with No Bad Vibes Tour.

The Old Dominion also known as the Academy of Country Music Awards Group of the Year started as a collective of aspiring songwriters in Nashville. However, their passion brought them together Ramsey explained how it turned into a close-knit family. Previously, the band only focused on radio plays but now it is time for their individual stories to grow. “Break Up with Him” off the sophomore album and ‘Meat and Candy’ (2015) are two highly acclaimed musical projects by this band that prove their superiority. It was the first Billboard No.1 hit by the band that turned their musical career on the route to success.

The fifth studio album by the band, ‘Memory Lane’ is going to be another successful milestone on their musical journey that offers something different than their classic country flavors. Listeners find the taste of electric guitar solo as well as the sensuality of R&B through this album.

Ramsey said, “It’s pretty obvious in this record that we feel a lot more confident in our abilities as musicians and as a band.” The confidence reflects organically as the artist said, “we just feel really good about who we are as people and this stage of life.”

the mood for the whole track. Cat creatively utilizes her smooth and sultry vocals which not only make the lyrical approach sound more interesting but hypnotic too. While there is sadness, there is plenty of romantic essence as well when Doja sings, "Kissin' and hope they caught us, whether they like or not, I wanna show you off." Starting from youthful infatuation to a proud display of love; the song is quite captivating for all. Doja is a creative genius who knows how to playfully dabble between her menacing rapping and sensual singing of

R&B. She effortlessly switches between rapping and singing which makes her singles even more catchy and enjoyable.

The official music video of 'Agora Hills' is more like a cinematic masterpiece that is filled with plenty of aesthetic and trippy elements; offering an enveloping trance-like effect. The track explores the excitement and emotions of a blossoming romance along with a modern-day love story and admiration.

Quite undeniably, Doja added more energy to the track with her charismatic personality along with the music video that is slightly hellish and depicts an imaginary land of Agora Hills. Directed by Hannah Lux Davis and Doja Cat herself; this masterful creation is gathering a lot of attention from around the world. The album 'Scarlet' offers a total of 15 highly engaging songs and 'Agora Hills' is one of the best among them. Check the latest songs on major music platforms.

Adele Pays Tribute To F.R.I.E.N.D.S Star Mathew Perry On Her Las Vegas Show

The world stood still with the demise news of celebrated television actor Mathew Perry. On Saturday, Perry was found dead in the hot tub of his Los Angeles residence. Adele had her Las Vegas show paused for a few moments to honor him and his works. The actor was 54 and the world was shattered by the demise of their beloved Chandler Bing from F.R.I.E.N.D.S. Adele said, "I'll remember that character for the rest of my life," referring to Perry's "F.R.I.E.N.D.S." character Chandler Bing. And to this line, the crowd at the Colosseum at Caesars Palace cheered along, and then, she added, "He's probably the best comedic character of all time."

Adele paused her Las Vegas show to pay tribute to Matthew Perry, who was found dead Saturday in L.A. To give a touch of Halloween Adele had dressed as Morticia Adams for her weekend performance.

After the pause was over she started her celebrated number 'When We Were Young', as she was two-thirds done with her segment she worked her way through the audience to collect childhood memories of the attendees of her show.

During the show she also recollected, "One of my friends Andrew when I was, like, 12 did the best Chandler impression." Then she added, "He would do it all the time to make us laugh and if any of us were having a bad day or feeling low he would just pretend to be Chandler." This was very thoughtful of Adele to address her own drinking problem she had before and how she stopped drinking earlier this year. Reminiscing Perry's issues with alcohol and opioid addiction, he himself has stated about this in his 2022 memoir, 'Friends, Lovers, and the Big Terrible Thing'. http "He was so open with his struggles with addiction and sobriety, which I think is incredibly, incredibly brave," she added.

She has also stated, "never met [Perry] in my life," but she was emotional on hearing Perry's demise news, like millions of people across the globe.

Alongside Adele, Mira Sorvino and Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau also paid tribute to Perry in their respective shows. Apart from that, "It's a very emotional night" for her as she saw her OB-GYN in the audience, she burst into tears.

The dynamic band recalled the time on touring in 2012, where it all began with a gig in Perth. Andrew Farriss shared, 'To be fair to us is that,' further continues, 'as people losing someone as talented, dynamic a frontman as Michael, it became really in the forefront of our minds that, okay, we've created this legacy and we own it. And so we'll decide when we want to play or not. That's the important point, to not have it dictated to what we can and can't do when we feel like it.'

He also shared his view on the other side of the coin, 'which is appealing to me,' moreover added, 'is who that singer could possibly be. There must be someone that we haven't even thought of or discovered or found it. That could be an amazing thing to happen.'

Additionally, Bass player Beers, the Australian musician and bassist now based in California exclaimed as he wished to meet his old band-mates on the home-ground. He also shared, 'Being broke and young back in the day, we used to take up offers to go to people's houses and eat their food. So, you got to meet a lot of people. When you look back at the book, you remember that we did matter to people, not just musically, or for successes. People helped us along in many ways.'

BIRTHDAY WISHES TO KATY PERRY: LOOKING BACK AT HER LIFE AND ACHIEVEMENTS ON HER 39TH BIRTHDAY!

Katy Perry just turned 29! The singer celebrated her birthday on Wednesday, October 25th and she has shared her most intimate wishes with Entertainment Tonight. So let's see how she celebrated her 39th birthday this year.

Katy Perry turned 39!

She had a carnival-themed birthday party which was completed with a huge birthday cake for her and her guests at the party. During blowing out the candles she, just like everyone else on this planet, wishes something for her upcoming year and that is what she shared with the rest of the world. Talking to Entertainment Tonight, Katy revealed that she has got everything she could want and for that, she feels really blessed. Blowing out her candle on the birthday cake, the singer said, "I know what I'm wishing for. I'm wishing for peace." She revealed to the outlet that she would be celebrating her birthday with her family and wanted to keep the party "so low-key." However, talking about her next birthday, the singer expressed that it might not be so humble. She said, "For 40, I already planned three years ago," she added. "I'm asking for it all!"

Who are the guests in her attendance?

Starting with who was not seen at the party, The American Idol judge's fiancé, Orlando Bloom, and their daughter Daisy were not seen at the birthday party. But the singer said that she would be celebrating her birthday with her family separately in order to make it a more cozy, and low-key celebration.

Coming back to this giant carnival-themed birthday celebration, the party was hosted by Ryan Seacrest, where the 'Roar' singer celebrated with her fellow American Idol judges Luke Bryan and Lionel Richie. The musical icon also got some birthday love from Paris Hilton on social media. The social media star took to Instagram to share her sweet message for Katy along with a series of photos with her. She captioned the post: "Happy Birthday @KatyPerry!! ????? No one knows how to sliv quite like us California girls?? ☀️ Love you beautiful Birthday Girl, you endlessly inspire me! Keep shining! ✨ Have the best day ever!! ???"

What about social media and her fans?

While the star did not share any photos or videos from the birthday celebration on social media, she did give her fans, the KatyKats a little gift in return with her newest show line, The Katy Perry Collections. The brand made an Instagram post acknowledging Katy's birthday where it wrote, "Tomorrow is our CEO @katyperry's birthday so we're giving you something good to celebrate! Get 30% off the entire store until 10/31."

Now that we know how her birthday went, let's look back at her contributions to the music industry over the years.

Katy Perry's studio albums and the journey:

In her long music career, Katy has released a total of six studio albums. They are 'Katy Hudson' (2001), 'One of the Boys' (2008), 'Teenage Dream' (2010), 'Prism' (2013), 'Witness' (2017) and 'Smile' (2020).

'Katy Hudson' was the singer's first studio album which she released while she was still using her father's last name. Although it was technically the singer's debut, due to financial crutches it could not get the proper promotions or marketing which made the album a considerable flop.

'Teenage Dream' is probably the most noteworthy album of the singer's discography which was released in 2010. In the following year, "Last Friday Night (T.G.I.F.)" became the fifth song to hit No.1 on the Billboard Hot 100 from the album, and along with it, Perry became the first female singer and the second singer overall after Micheal Jackson to have five No.1 hits from one album in Billboard. According to the data published by the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA), Katy Perry's three best-selling albums are – 'Teenage Dream' which sold 9 million certified units, 'Prism' which sold 5 million units, and 'One of the Boys' which sold 3 million units. These figures are just from the US market so the worldwide figures are much higher.

'While Witness' and 'Smile' both were pretty weak at selling certified units compared to other Katy Perry albums.

Her industry achievements: Her musical achievements include being the first female singer to have five singles hit Billboard no. 1 from a single album and the second artist overall. Other than this, according to a report published by Nielsen Music in 2017, her top 15 best-selling songs are -

"Firework" – 7.1 million, "Roar" – 6.4 million, "Dark Horse (feat. Juicy J)" – 6.3 million, "E.T. (feat. Kanye West)" – 5.9 million, "California Gurls (feat. Snoop Dogg)" – 5.8 million, "Hot 'N' Cold" – 5.7 million, "Teenage Dream" – 4.9 million, "I Kissed a Girl" – 4.7 million, "Last Friday Night (T.G.I.F.)" – 3.8 million, "Wide Awake" – 3.5 million, "Part of Me" – 2.9 million, "The One That Got Away" – 2.8 million, "Waking Up in Vegas" – 2.3 million, "Unconditionally" – 1.3 million, and "Thinking of You" – 1.1 million.

According to RIAA in 2017, Katy Perry was the "first artist in RIAA Gold & Platinum Program history to earn three RIAA Diamond Song Awards" with her "Roar", "Dark Horse" and "Firework", all over 10 million in sales and streams in the US. On 21 June 2023, "California Gurl (feat. Snoop Dogg)" became her fourth Diamond-certified song on RIAA. As of September, "Firework" remains her highest-selling song with over 12 million units sold, followed by "Dark Horse" with 11 million, and "Roar" tying with "California Gurl (feat. Snoop Dogg)" with 10 million units sold.

Music catalog rights: Katy Perry very intelligently increased her net worth by at least several million as she sold her music catalog from 2008 to 2020 to Litmus Music for reportedly USD 225 million. Carlyle Group confirmed the news in September 2023 making the 'Dark Horse' singer one of the top 10 artists with the most expensive catalogs.

Net Worth and Investments: The entrepreneurial spirit and Katy's business acumen have contributed significantly to her enormous net worth. After selling her music catalog, Forbes reported in 2023 that the singer's net worth skyrocketed from less than USD 200 million to a massive USD 340 million. The report also states that Perry is now one of the richest self-made women in America.

Apart from her hotshot brand endorsements with companies such as Adidas, Proactiv, Walmart, H&M, Pepsi, and CoverGirl, she launched her own perfume series with Purr in 2010, followed by Meow in 2011 and Killer Queen in 2013. Later in 2016, she joined Global Brands Group for her own shoe collection, Katy Perry Collections. In 2020, this shoe brand became available in 20 countries and had registered sales of more than $120 million.

Perry is also one of the initial investors in the music streaming platform "Spotify" along with investing in another company, "Core Hydration". This is a premium bottled water brand which was acquired by Dr. Pepper in 2019 for a whopping $525 million. This generated a significant amount for investors, including Katy Perry

Chvrches' frontwoman Lauren Mayberry releases new solo single 'Shame'

Lauren Mayberry, frontwoman of Chvrches has recently released her new solo single named 'Shame'. A lot of people will know Chvrches for the brutal abuse aimed towards musician Mayberry but the band is also famous for their stormy synth-pop.

However, Mayberry graciously spreads her aura to Liza Minnelli's 'Maybe This Time', releasing glam of punk-pop wearing sparkling make-up and an oversized T-shirt. The phenomenal artist is a delightful mix of hometown nerves and energy and shared her feelings by saying, 'This is the show I've been most excited and most worried about'.

The frontwoman said about her debut solo at UK show, 'I'm gonna play a bunch of songs that none of you know.' Mayberry started her solo career last month with her single 'Are You Awake?' along with a thread of mind-blowing performances in the US.

Mayberry commented on the affair, 'I had the idea for a while of a song that had the tagline of 'what a shame,' but in a sarcastic way,' continued sharing, 'And the word 'shame' having a double meaning — the shame you feel and internalize, but what a shame you feel like that and can't change it.'

Well, compared to the synth music tracks that are emo-inflected, the structure of Mayberry's solo project is more of a pure pop, and her choreographed on-stage dance routine has set the whole frame of performance on fire. There is surely something creatively refreshing about the pop moves that are vulnerably feminine yet perfectly sit along with the rage, it also includes the closing song 'Sorry'.

The Iconic singer highlights the feelings of hypocrisy and schizophrenia while she is reeling over the jarring between what she has said and what she feels. She added, 'Looking back on a lot of my life in terms of relationships, sexuality and my sense of self in the world, there is a lot of shame associated with that,' moreover added, 'I came into my teens in the early-mid 2000s, a time period we now regard as a bit of a shithole in terms of gender and media messages.'

Additionally, stated, 'What was deemed "attractive" for women and girls was quite disturbing in hindsight, and that's what went into my brain at a formative time, romanticizing bargain basement, local band boy versions of Reality Bites Ethan Hawke. But now I know better, my wiring is still to find those things attractive on a cellular level. I know not to want those things academically, but emotionally, romantically, and sexually, I have been trained to find those things valuable and attractive. I know you are what you eat and it's the taste that keeps me tame.'

STAR COUPLE HAILEY AND JUSTIN BIEBER SHOW OFF THEIR 'CASUAL-COOL' FASHION IN STYLE

Since the power couple tied the knot in 2019, Justin and Hailey have walked on the red carpet together as a couple numerous times, treating their fans with mind-blowing styling whenever they made their appearance from the Grammys to the Met Gala. Biebers loved to dress up their best whenever they were out whether in a professional outfit in New York or for a romantic dinner date in Los Angeles. Their styling statement reminds their fans of the phrase 'Opposites attract'. Their appearances are proof that partners who stay true to their styling can still uniquely complement each others' outfits. Their off-duty outfits are the ones their fans have their eyes on. The stylish couple Hailey and Justin Bieber went out for dinner on a beautiful evening on Sunday at Santa Monica hot spot Giorgio Baldi while stylishly coordinating with each other. The phenomenal model and founder of Rhode was seen wearing an oversized sweater as a dress, hot shorts along with a highlighted statement outfit, and knee-high leather boots complemented the whole look. She brilliantly accessorized the whole outfit with a shiny maroon handbag made of leather and rectangular sunglasses, her funky gold ear hoops were just the cherry on the top. Hailey beautifully played with her pretty hair, she made her hair into her statement ballerina bun and her radiant deep berry lip made her look dreamy.

Well, the 'Beauty And A Beat' singer effortlessly coordinated with his wife by choosing all black for his styling. He was seen wearing an oversized black top and blazer pairing them with black shoes, a black baseball hat that made his swag reflect in his outfit, pleated beige slacks, and massive black sunglasses that were going fine with the whole outfit. The 'Love Yourself' singer was hugging his wife Hailey from the back very affectionately while walking out of the restaurant after having dinner. The power couple has a distinct habit of mixing their street-wear gems.

The global couple's off-duty including date-night style has modified over the years. Hailey dresses up much more than just a pop artist, the charming couple has been conquering synchronized fashion. Recently, in the previous month, after the charming couple celebrated their fifth anniversary, the husband and wife made an appearance where both wore oversized jackets and white tops paired with baggy jeans, and their comfy shoes made them look effortlessly delightful to watch. Later, Mrs. Bieber made a post on her Instagram where she and her husband mastered the coordinated fashion game in funky leather outfits, Justin looked dashing in a huge jacket and Hailey sparked in a tiny miniskirt. The Biebers are known for serving looks and impressing their fans with their boundless charm. They understand the assignment of fashion and play it well with sheer proficiency and creativity. Although fans believe that couples do not have to dress identically if they match each others' energy that would be an absolute visual treat to experience.

The agency ATTRAKT is responsible for managing the rising popularity of the pop band, however, has now terminated the contracts of three core members of the group, have all got notices from the agency which say that their contracts with the company have ended, stating that the three members of the group has 'slandered and defamed the agency' and broke the contract as well.

ATTRAKT was also accused of a 'conspiracy' between the three members of the group and SIAHN, Sung-il Ahn who is the founder/CEO of the Givers, in a statement. The Givers is the K-pop consulting firm that co-manages the group along with ATTRAKT, the producer of 'Cupid'. The agency has filed a complaint against SIAHN and The Givers for being involved in the contract and trying to get the group away from ATTRAKT for their benefit.

SIAHN shared at the time, 'We plan to propose a new label structure for FIFTY FIFTY — a separate label for them, solely concentrating on the artist's development,' further added, 'K-pop companies have an entrenched 'artist-agency' relationship, which poses a significant obstacle to an artist's long-term global expansion. To overcome this persistent problem, The Givers is exploring a structure where the label directly contracts with the artist while the main producer oversees the creative aspects of the group and collaborates with the label.'

The producer of Cupid, ATTRAKT stated officially obtained by the Kpop Herald, 'We notified Saena, Sio, and Aran that their contracts would be terminated back on October 19. The three members of FIFTY FIFTY have taken legal action against us without any reflection or correction on their serious contractual violations. We are discussing follow-up measures against them in the future,'

Moreover, ATTRAKT also accused the trio of being 'slandered and defamed the agency, and to this day continue to distort facts and make false claims, repeating arguments that have been rejected by the court, without any remedy for the breach of contract'

The alienation between the FIFTY FIFTY members and the agency ATTRAKT began when the band filed to dangle their exclusive contracts under the label, violating the contract. Shockingly, a court in Seoul rejected the plea by the musicians in August 2023. Well, in the middle of the controversy Keena, a member of FIFTY FIFTY dropped the lawsuit against ATTRAKT and came back to the agency.
