Tyla Discloses The Magic Behind 'Water' In New Making Video

TYLA

'Water' is a song that you absolutely cannot escape on social media. From TikToks to Instagram Reels and YouTube Shorts, the song and Tyla are everywhere, and rightfully so, the music is enchanting! Tyla is a 21-year-old musician from South Africa who is also the youngest to secure the historic Billboard Hot 100 debut. The catchy track fuses a lot of different genres and styles such as Afrobeats, pop, R&B, and Amapiano, which is a South African style of electronic dance music. Now on the new video released on her channel, Tyla takes us through the making of 'Water' explaining what inspired the song in the first place. In the video for Vevo Footnotes, Tyla explains the viral hit 'Water' was inspired by one of her favorite songs from her childhood, Aaliyah's 'Rock the Boat'. She says that she has always been fascinated by songs that tend to discuss mature concepts in a metamorphosing way. Tyla thinks this is the way anyone who loves music can enjoy the track without the song being too much. Which is how she sees 'Water'. Despite the song being mature, and adultery, the tune is catchy, making it resonate with anyone who listens to it. The hook of the track is extremely snappy, and catches the attention right away, which is why the song is such a hit on social media and streaming platforms today, rising on the charts as well.

Cardi B and Offset Celebrated New Year's Eve Together, Teft Fans Curious

Offset and pop star Cardi B were spotted together partying together while welcoming 2024. Threw dollar bills like confetti and danced all night all energized, the former stylish couple sent social media as they got reunited in a strip club in Miami.

The 31-year-old musician looked all marvelous as her hair was stunningly styled during the evening. Her estranged husband Offset bragged a stylish demeanor, counting casually a bunch of cash.

Cardi B said, "Was I clubbing with my baby daddy? Yes. Did I get d-ked down on New Year's Eve? Yes. I needed d-k on New Year's Eve," moreover she added, "I feel like we were vibing on New Year's Eve, we had a good time."

She shouted while on Spaces, "Shut the f-k up," continued saying, "Did I say I was back together with somebody?! Did I said [sic] that?!"

Cardi shared that she saw none "talking s-t" about her marriage besides her immense fan base, known as Bardi Gang. She continued, "Did I say — Did he say it — No!" furthermore stated, "Leave me the f-k alone!" The Grammy winner shared on X, formerly known as Twitter, after the outburst to declare that she was not taking the 'toxic' essence into 2024.

She tweeted last Friday saying, "I must be a lil toxic cuz I enjoyed cursing ya out today... but we not taking that into 2024," moreover added, "Now have a good day. No, make it a bad day!"

Offset and Cardi privately tied the knot in 2017's September.

She also shared a controversial post at the time about the sensational relationships, she wrote, "You know when you just out grow relationships," continued saying, "I'm tired of protecting peoples feelings...I GOTTA PUT MYSELF FIRST!" Cardi B also stated on the X chatroom, "Shut the f-k up! Did I say I was back together with somebody?! Did I said that? The last time I got dragged was with my own f**king fanbase. I don't see no one talking s**t about my own f**king fanbase! Did I say — Did he say it — No! Leave me the f**k alone. I am about to unfollow all of you all because that's all what I see. This s**t is f**king annoying! For three days you all have been doing the same s**t. Did I say I was back together with somebody? Did I said that? No! Don't tell me to calm down."

However, fans are all confused, one internet user wrote, "Cardi B couldn't stand all the attention and love Nicki Minaj and her album has been getting so she pulled yet another publicity stunt lying about her and Offset splitting. However, it was a lie the whole time. The desperation is at an ALL-TIME HIGH."

Another one left saying, "Cardi B admitted that her and Offset spend quality time together yesterday". Another one said, "Do y'all think they will get back together?"

Kelly Clarkson Reveals the Secrets of Her Weight Loss

Singer-songwriter Kelly Clarkson was found opening up about her "dropped weight" strategies in a recent interview with The People. The Kelly Clarkson Show host was seen revealing some lifestyle habits as she picked up on a few self-care activities. According to her, these activities have greatly helped her in weight loss.

The singer said, "Walking in the city is quite the workout," as she enjoys going out on walks with her kids namely, River Rose, who is currently 9 years old, and Remington Alexander at 7 years old. Exploring New York City is a new fun activity for them as Clarkson said, "We go walk the dogs a few times at the park. We'll go for ice cream because my daughter will wear me down. We'll go make slime and we go to the museum." The singer further added, "And I'm really into infrared saunas right now. And I just got a cold plunge because everybody wore me down."

Clarkson also said that she has to change her diet. The singer said, "I eat a healthy mix. I dropped weight because I've been listening to my doctor — a couple years I didn't." She further admitted, "And 90 percent of the time I'm really good at it because a protein diet is good for me anyway. I'm a Texas girl, so I like meat.. sorry, vegetarians in the world!"

She further said that moving to New York was a good decision for her as it helped her embark on a healthier lifestyle, both physically and mentally. While talking about the shift of her talk show to the East Coast, she said, "I was very unhappy in L.A. and had been for several years. I needed a fresh start."

The singer explained, "We told NBC, 'I'm not trying to sound ungrateful, I just can't stay here anymore for my mental health; for me and my kids.' They weren't doing well either. For the past few years, I'd just been showing up and smiling and doing what I'm supposed to do, but you can only compartmentalize so long until you break."

The 'Since U Been Gone' singer has dropped over 41 pounds in 2023 and made a headline. Her shocking weight loss transformation gave birth to many rumors which were quickly diminished after this reveal.

Kim Cameron is Offering Her Creativity and Talent In Upcoming New Music

2023 has been a colossal year for the talented singer and songwriter Kim Cameron. In the music industry, several artists offer their creativity and talent in a unique way that separates them and helps them create their own identity. Kim is one of those artists who is absolutely unrivaled in the global music industry. 2023 proved to be a blast for the artist where 20 of her songs hit the iTunes charts worldwide. Now this year, she is moving forward with the same zest and passion and determined to make 2024 even bigger than the previous year. She is all set to make this year bright and happening, with her upcoming house song 'Meet Me At Midnight.'

This decision to continue to rule the music scene of 2024 came after the success of her last album. Leveraging the success of her album 'Influencers,' where Kim delivered 4 singles hitting the USA's top 10 Dance charts, and 1 hitting the top USA 100, the artist is moving forward this year with another banger. After her last mind-blowing performance, her fans and followers have been eager to listen to what new the artist has to offer. This high-energy, 2-time Top 20 Billboard & iTunes chart-topping singer and songwriter, is soon expected to be releasing a house banger that will take the genre to the next level. Cameron has always attempted to stay with the current trends and her upcoming track is said to be bringing a new and unique style to the genre of house music that people will witness for the first time.

'Meet Me At Midnight' will bring an absolute package to the audience which will include Turkey's SerkanDemirel who is known for producing massive hits in the Middle East. While talking about the song and the making process, the singer said, "I was inspired after a chance meeting this past fall. It's a 'like' story. We've all had those stories at one point in our lives, so I figured it was time to tell it." The fans and followers of Kim from across the world have full faith in the artist as she is no stranger to making hits and memorable music. With records, she kept proving her talent and ability to craft unforgettable and catchy songs, and fans are assured that this time will be no different.

Among her many talents, Kim Cameron is known for delivering creativity. When Kim is not performing, or writing songs, she can be found busy producing TV shows, films, documentaries, etc. She has produced two documentaries (This is Kim & Carpe Musicam), a new TV series (Miami's Listening Party), and two full-length animated features 'Seaper Powers In Search of Bleu Jay's Treasure and Seaper Powers Mystery of the Blue Pearls'. So make sure to show her the same support this year by listening to her on Apple Music, and Beatport and follow her website for more details.

ICE SPICE'S NEW SINGLE 'THINK U THE SHIT (FART) IS INTERESTING

Globally recognized young rapper Ice Spice has finally released a brand new single 'Think U The Shit (Fart)' with a music video and started a new era.

Ice Spice is back, and this time with a new song titled 'Think U The Shit (Fart)'. The Bronx rapper teased the track earlier this month and went viral with the hook line "Think you the shit, bitch?/You not even the fart." This release was also accompanied by an official music video on YouTube. It followed her last collaboration with Rema in last year's October. In a way, after her successful EP 'Like..?' this is the comeback of Ice Spice who has gone to the heights of global recognition and fame. At the same time, social media platforms have also gotten the rapper much attention since her viral hits like 'In Ha Mood' and collaborations with Taylor Swift and Nicki Minaj. To return to the music scene since such viral hits and fame with a song called this is an interesting choice. However, people who are familiar with the Bronx rapper's game would know that she loves fun.

The track is an ultimate reminder of what fun music is supposed to be like. 'Think U The Shit (Fart)' is not a revolutionary song, not that it claims to be. It has silly lyrics that a girl enjoying herself at the age of 24 should vibe to.

4.8/5

By Daily Music Roll

That is exactly the ambiance that Ice Spice creates with this newly released track.

The beat is fun, and it is a typical Ice Spice hook. On one hand, the beat is zesty and fun, and on the other hand, it avoids being too monotone. So overall, it is short, it is entertaining, and the fact that the rapper went on with that title shows courage, shows that she is forever winning the IDGAF war on social media, and perhaps in her real life.

The song also did not sit well with many listeners who called the track entertaining for the first 20 seconds. Additionally, many listeners have also said the track "TikTok soundbites" or "viral moment chasing", especially when she is up for the Grammy Best New Artist this Year. Some of the social media users have also gone ahead to claim that if the song was released by any other rapper, there would have been no excuse for this poor writing, but since it is Ice Spice, it is being excused. However, at the end of the day, it is important to remember that music is subjective, and not every musical piece is made to question reality, sometimes music is there, being just goofy.

Although the track, 'Think U The Shit (Fart)' is poorly written, and delivers no musical value whatsoever, it is a fun, simple track that you and your girlies can vibe on. Catch the music video on YouTube and follow Ice Spice on social media platforms for more updates.

ARIANA GRANDE IS SPILLING FACTS ON HER NEW SONG 'YES, AND?'

'yes, and?' by Ariana Grande has been released that is attracting every listener. The artist gave answers to all the criticism that she got in the last years.

In the new year, Ariana Grande came back with her latest soundtrack that is setting the stage on fire. The artist has made a narrative shift that has mesmerized everyone. Ariana never fails to impress her audiences with captivating soundtracks. And this time she has blown everyone's mind with the song 'yes, and?'. The excellent music and her brilliant lyricism have attracted listeners instantly. And the outstanding execution has enhanced the charm of the tracks even more. Ariana has not only grabbed the attention of listeners with the song, but she has amazed everyone through the music video too. The beautiful musical projection has effortlessly won the hearts of all the listeners.

Through this song, Ariana has given to all those who have made various comments on her personal life. The 30-year-old singer had to face several hard situations in her life over the past few years. At first in 2017, a brutal incident took place at her Manchester Arena concert by a suicidal bomber. Regarding that, one year later the artist released a song named 'No Tears Left to Cry'. But right after that, ex-boyfriend, Mac

Miller died accidentally and for that reason, she didn't do her engagement with Pete Davidson. In this meanwhile, she was getting harsh comments from people. And the song 'yes, and?' is just a reply to all that.

Audiences are definitely one of the significant parts of their career, but these kinds of reactions are also not acceptable. For all the hate comments, Ariana sang 'Don't comment on my body / Do not reply / Your business is yours and mine is mine / Why do you care so much whose d**k I ride?'. Her fans are really appreciating this fact and supporting the artist. Ariana had to take this initiative as she was getting massive criticism. She took the help of music to give answers to all, and her followers are giving positive responses to that.

Along with that, amidst all these, Ariana once made a social media post that said 'I have never felt more pride or joy or love while simultaneously feeling so deeply misunderstood by people who don't know me, who piece whispers together and make what they want out of me and their assumptions of my life'. Therefore, through this soundtrack, the artist has put her heart out, which is making a huge positive impact on the global listeners.

LIL NAS X DROPS 'J CHRIST' SONG, CREATES A BUZZ IN THE MUSIC INDUSTRY

American musician creates a sensation on the internet as Lil Nas X resurrects himself on his latest single 'J Christ' on Friday. Dedicating the new song to Christ.

The American rapper Lil Nas X revealed his much-awaited new music video 'J CHRIST' on 12th January, Friday, a beating single that experiences the 'Old Town Road' singer celebrating his own banging comeback, much like the 'MAN WHO HAD THE GREATEST COMEBACK OF ALL TIME' Jesus Christ, as the proficient rapper narrated him. Independent artistry of an impressively high quality always emerges from the elusive musical, the latest releases being far from the exception. The self-composed, wrote and directed the official music video that arrived in the middle of the night and began the artist playing several roles up in heaven, and down in hell. The 'Call Me By Your Name' star hooks it up on a basketball court, acts as a cheerleader, receives it on the gladiatorial ring, and then we see him buckled to the cross.

Moreover, he continues to sing on the slick chorus, 'Is he up to somethin' only I-I know?/ Is he 'bout to hit 'em with the high-high note/ Is he 'bout to give 'em something vi-iral,' before he announces that 'B—h, I'm back like J Christ.' The gorgeous vocal chorus continues to sing 'Is he up to somethin' only I-I know? Is he 'bout to hit 'em with the high-high note? Is he 'bout to give 'em somethin' vi-iral? Is he 'bout to hit 'em with the high-high note?' Forever walking his own path with boundless creativity, Lil Nas X maintains a sense of going against the grain but manages to balance with a refreshingly honed ear for what connects and what engages with listeners, 'J CHRIST' almost feels like a floor-filler at its peak, fuses genres and offers an engaging and evoking story in the process.

An easy anthem-like track, smooth yet unpredictable enough to hit the scene with impact if given proper chance, featuring heavy bass and rhythm with an instantly captivating, RnB style hook welcomes an essence of passion and intensity that extends throughout the grit and personality of the rap verses.

The scenic beauty of the music video attracts millions of his subscribers and fans. Several other tracks like 'Old Town Road ft. Billy Ray Cyrus', 'STAR WALKIN', and many others have managed to gather music enthusiasts.

Follow the artist on social media platforms to learn more about his magnificent creations including heavy bass and contrasting vocal delicacy, winning the hearts of millions already.

The simplicity and stripped-back audio yet uplifting and fast-paced bars redirect things towards the freestyle composition and character.

JENNIFER LOPEZ DROPS ROCK VIBES BLEND GRITTY AUTHENTICITY IN HER LATEST 'CAN'T GET ENOUGH'

Majestic creator Jennifer Lopez impresses fans with an enjoyable music video. The melodic hook 'Can't Get Enough' offers escapism with gritty beats and scenes.

Introducing the music project with a sort of rock anthem blended with a blues stomp vibe, 'Can't Get Enough' leads with a likable balance of addictive groove, captivating hook, and evoking lyrics that engage you to listen more closely. The strong and catchy start is both familiar and intriguing in its presentation of an artist who goes on to utilize more than an unpredictable thread of creativity. The composition and the writing of the music video are categorically its core strength, Jennifer Lopez is refreshingly stunning for this quality, not focused on volume or simple personality but rather highlighting an affinity of human emotion and artistic storytelling. The style is rarely impressive in modern music and should be celebrated more often. The musical wraps things up with more grungy nostalgia and some essential twists of artistry that now effectively attract the listeners for the magnificent artist's freedom of expression and identity.

Far from confined to a single mood or style, the music project is quick to assert its diversity and emotion-fueled freedom of direction, presenting a more melancholy, sixties-esque instrumental embrace and enchanting. The majestic music video delivers a brilliant balance between the intensely personal and the broadly infectious, and the quality layer offers the turns and twists of the 'Can't Get Enough' to take the listener somewhere new.

Lighting up the scene with nostalgic rock qualities and a fine combination of distortion and pace, hitting with a boosting tempo and brightness that is addictive yet also allows the mind to wander. The accompanying video relays an engaging cinematic story to further compliment the vibrancy of the audio, fulfilling the process for an experience that is easy to replay time and time again. Bringing a refreshing twist wonder and joy to modern music, adding a creatively boundless layer to the modern rock music industry, the enveloping listen, familiar yet new and in how inviting and inclusive lyrics and instrumentals are, offers a quick place to escape right now.

Shortly, brilliantly, energizing from the moment it starts to play, Jennifer Lopez creates something that walks a skillful line between fresh and familiar.

The vocal and this melodic balance of optimism and melancholy feel originally new, whereas the overall distorted rock establishment and these warped solos provide a hint of nostalgia that is comforting amidst the modern landscape.

The music video is a spectacular structure in full, loaded with fast riffs and the live crash of instrumentation, led by an impressively expressive and thoughtful vocal that would undoubtedly captivate and engage at presentations.

The immensely talented star has captured a stunning sound of her focus on the mood and realness of the instruments. Several other majestic sound videos including 'Baila', 'I'm Real (Remix) ft. Ja Rule', 'Play', and 'Ain't It Funny ft. Ja Rule, Cadillac Tah' have managed to attract millions of audience within a very short period.

Enjoy all the stunning tracks available on YouTube.

Christina Aguilera Apologetically Postpone Las Vegas Residency Shows

Christina Aguilera has just started her Las Vegas residency at the end of 2023 and already she was forced to postpone just after days. The 43-year-old Grammy Winner revealed on her Instagram story on Wednesday that she contracted the flu right after the opening weekend of her Las Vegas residency. She opened the residency at the Voltaire Belle de Nuit venue inside Sin City's Venetian Resort. In the same story, she also mentioned that she is "sorry" to her fans while she promised to be back on stage in a few weeks, with better health.

"After welcoming all of you to the new year from the stage in Las Vegas, I've been welcomed with a new year flu!" the "Genie in a Bottle" singer wrote.

The singer wrote to her fans and followers that she is incredibly "sorry" to have rescheduled the upcoming weekend's dates so that she can "rest" to be in better spirits and health. "I cannot wait to be back on that stage in a few weeks," the singer insisted while continuing to express how she is also "incredibly proud" of the show and the crowd, and "grateful" for "all the support and love" she had received after her opening of the residency on Dec. 30 and 31. "See you soon ??," the 'Lady Marmalade' singer concluded her message.

On opening night, Christina reflected on 2023 while she celebrated "the beginning of a new chapter" with the audience. "I couldn't think of a better way to bid farewell to this incredible year than to spend this night in LAS VEGAS with all of you, surrounded by your energy and enthusiasm," she said enthusiastically.

"Cheers to the magical moments we'll create, the music that will fill our hearts, and the endless possibilities that lie ahead?," the singer continued. The Grammy Winning singer announced the big news of her residency in Las Vegas in October 2023 along with a sultry photo showing her absolutely rocking in a plunging black corset in a platinum blonde bob and wearing elaborate diamonds. The singer also described the show as a "fusion of art and music" while promising the concertgoers to deliver a "modern twist on the performance experience."

Once she recovers, Aguilera is going to have a very busy year ahead. Adding to her performance at the Las Vegas residency, she will also serve as an executive producer on a stage adaptation of her 2010 film musical 'Burlesque' - although this does not have a premiere date yet. Back in October she also played tribute to the film and her co-star, the Oscar Winning - Grammy Winning singer and actress, Cher.

Selena Gomez's Last Album Might Be Her Last

Can one person do it all? Only if it is Selena Gomez, apart from having a huge music career she is a fairly popular face in the TV series also. She is a highly prolific businesswoman with her worldwide celebrated brand 'Rare Beauty'. Recently she has been nominated for the best actor for her on 'Only Murders in the Building'. Apart from Golden Globe she also has been nominated for the Grammy's for her most recent release 'Single Soon' in August 2023. But as per her, she is "Tired" of most of it.

In this conversation, she said, "I started having a lot of fun with music and then touring was really fun. But I was doing my TV show [Wizards of Waverly Place] at the same time and I just found it really fun so I just kept going, but the older I get, the more I'm kind of like, I would like to find something to just settle on." She also shared about the workload she experiences each day, which impacts her mental health and for this, she is willing to make this switch from her thriving singing career.

"I went to a mental institute and canceled one of my tours," Gomez shared. Putting forward the mile she is willing to walk to cope with her present mental stability. She also added, "It just got to me because I love working and it distracts me from bad things." It is evident that the star is willing to take a step down and concentrate on one thing at a time as she has been her plate full since she was a teenager. Gomez added, "I do feel like I have one more album in me but I would probably choose acting." She shared, "I don't think I'm the best singer but I do know how to tell stories and I love being able to make songs."

Recently this week, she appeared on the SmartLess podcast. And on this podcast, she shared that she has been thinking about focusing on one thing at a time. As her works are available in assorted segments of art this could take some burden off her shoulder. And across all the things she does, music is not at all on top of her priority list, for now.

Rapper DDG and Halle Bailey's Newborn Son Makes His Music Video Debut

It is good news for the fans and everyone as Halle Bailey and rapper DDG have welcomed a member in the house, their newborn baby boy, Halo. Before even the couple announced their son's birth, Halo made a music video debut with his father.

In the latest music video of "Darryl Freestyle," DDG could be seen cradling his son in a white blanket and the wholesome moment made the fans cherish. The music video was released on Saturday and that is how everybody came to know about their newborn son.

However, the rapper has provided plenty of references to his son and family with the engaging bars of the latest banger. Darryl Dwayne Granberry Jr., aka DDG, has offered a shoutout to his wife Bailey and son Halo through the lyrics and it sounds invigoratingly good. He raps, "Silver Spoon kid / I know Halo don't want for nothing," and it further goes "He crying / His mama coming / She's stronger than Wonder Woman." Evidently, he appreciates his family and is grateful to them for being there.

The cover art for the song on Sound Cloud shows an image of a baby's face. However, it is not certain whether that is Halo or not. The "Little Mermaid" star Halle, 23, and "I'm Geekin" rapper DDG, 26; have announced the birth of their son on Saturday evening after the premiere of the music video.

Bailey posted on Instagram, "even though we're a few days into the new year, the greatest thing that 2023 could have done for me, was bring me my son.. welcome to the world my halo." She further added, "the world is desperate to know you." She also posted a picture of her baby boy's hand which has a little gold bracelet on his wrist and inscribed 'Halo' on it. DDG also took a moment to share a caption that reads, "my biggest blessing by far son son.. never been so in love baby halo," and it is evident that the couple is quite happy and so are the fans.

The pregnancy rumors started back in September when Bailey attended the MTV VMAs. She was wearing a flowing orange dress that hid her stomach and she was also quite mindful about staying away from the pink carpet.

With fewer hugs and more handshakes, some of the fans predicted that she might be pregnant. However, all those predictions came true with joy with the birth of baby boy Halo.

Billie Eilish Addresses The Sexuality Rumors at Variety Hitmakers Event

Variety's seventh annual Hitmakers brunch recognized artists, writers, producers, and music executives behind the 25 biggest singles of 2023. This event took place on Saturday, at NYA West in Los Angeles, and Billie Eilish was among the musicians who were present there. Previous multiple honorees, Eilish accepted the Film Song of the Year Award for their Barbie ballad, "What Was I Made For" with her brother and collaborator, Finneas.

The singer wore a blue satin Dodgers jacket for the event and kept her acceptance speech short and sweet. However, the real spotlight was snatched by her conversation at the event's red carpet. During this conversation, she opened up about her recent rumors regarding her sexuality. Here she also confirmed the fact that she indeed came out on the cover story of Variety's recent "Power of Women" issue.

On Saturday's red carpet, Variety correspondent Tiana DeNicola asked Billie if it was her intention to come out as a queer on the cover story of Variety's November issue.

To this question, the indie-pop star answered with a giggle saying, "No, I didn't! But I kind of thought, wasn't it obvious? I didn't realize people didn't know! I just don't really believe in [coming out]. I'm just like, why can't we just exist? I've been doing this for a long time, and I just didn't talk about it." In the November cover story, the 'lonely' singer told Katcy Stephan, a Variety journalist, "I've never really felt like I could relate to girls very well. I love them so much. I love them as people. I'm attracted to them as people. I'm attracted to them for real. ... I'm physically attracted to them. But I'm also so intimidated by them and their beauty and their presence."

The Oscar winner then proceeded to explain that she saw the article written about it and thought to herself, "Oh... I guess... I came out today!" Said Eilish: "...OK cool. But it's exciting to me because I guess people didn't know... but it's cool that they know." She then said, "Ooh, I'm nervous talking about it!", before she finished the red carpet interview with, "But... I am for the girls!"

The young music superstar was last romantically linked to the Neighbourhood's frontman, Jesse Rutherford, however, the pair ended up in a mutual breakup. Billie in her career has also hinted at her sexuality in the past, most notably in her slumber party-themed music video for the single 'Lost Cause'. This was the one that sent social media into a frenzy as many viewers and users accused the singer of queerbaiting.

BRITNEY SPEARS DENIES WORKING ON LATEST MUSIC PROJECT, DELETES POST

The pop star Britney Spears recently announced that she has put an end to her career in the music industry in a very heating post. Before her account, she wrote, "I will never return to the music industry !!! When I write, I write for fun or I write for other people !!! I've written over 20 songs for other people in the past two years !!! I'm a ghostwriter and I honestly enjoy it that way ."

She moreover clarified, "People are also saying MY BOOK WAS RELEASED WITHOUT MY APPROVAL ILLEGALLY and that's far from the truth," continued, "Have you read the news these days ??? I'm so LOVED and blessed !!!"

Along with her Instagram which is now gone, she made it to Twitter where she teased her million fans with a teaser into the future project. She posted a video, and captioned it, "Something new coming soon,"

Upsetting many fans, it won't be any kind of musical collaboration as she captioned her now-deleted Instagram post, writing, "Just so we're clear most of the news is trash !!! They keep saying I'm turning to random people to do a new album. "

The latest post on Twitter suggested fans sign up for her mailing list to "be the first to know" what she is about to drop. Fans are all excited to see what the megastar has in stock. One wrote, "We can't wait for whatever it is Britney,"

Few fans think they have already found out what is going on, one said, "To anyone who doesn't automatically realize it's new merch... bless your heart."

They underlined that the teaser aligns with the anniversary of 'Baby One More Time' and think it could be just a vinyl or the latest March launch. The teaser video included drawn flowers reminiscent of Britney's throwback career.

Many of the fans also showed their concern, especially sharing her recent declaration to dip out from her music for her whole life. A fan stated, "Ok but after the album debacle I want to know if this is approved by Britney because I have zero trust in her team. I love Britney and will always support her but after her team tried her my trust levels are at the bottom now." They were pushing back on the potential cash grip from management. Another fan said, "Oh please sell us something new not remotely considering Britney's feelings and life."

The fiery news appears amidst the 'Toxic' artist's current divorce from Sam Asghari as many popular media houses confirm, their break up was confirmed back in August 2023.

Moreover, the former personal trainer and ex-husband wrote in his Instagram story at the time, "After 6 years of love and commitment to each other my wife and I have decided to end our journey together," continued adding, "We will hold onto the love and respect we have for each other and I wish her the best always. S--- happens. Asking for privacy seems ridiculous so I will just ask for everyone including media to be kind and thoughtful."

K-Pop Singers V And RM Impress Fans, Earn Top Honors At The Military Graduation Ceremony

BTS' V and RM have successfully fulfilled their training at Nonsan Training Centre and were remarked for their exceptional courage and performance. The immensely charming and talented artist will proceed to their respective duties at the training camp afterward. The clips from the recruit training graduation ceremony highlight the artists getting their honors, marking both members as two of the six core elite graduate performers recognized for their outstanding performances.

However, on 16th January, a video dropped on the internet showcasing the singers of 'Layover' and 'Indigo' in military uniforms, standing straight in a row, they looked sincere and disciplined. A press release from Big Hit Music on January 2024, 15, informed fans about the upcoming schedule of BTS members Kim Namjoon, Jungkook, Jimin, and Kim Taehyung.

Moreover, it added, "We would also like to ask for your cooperation during the recruit training graduation ceremony. To prevent any issues that might occur from crowding, we ask fans to please refrain from visiting the site. Instead, we ask you to keep your heartwarming words of support and farewell in your hearts. We ask for your continued love and support for the BTS members until they complete their service and return. Our company will also strive to provide every support they need during this time. Thank you."

The agency also suggested that fans avoid sending gifts to the training center, "The military barracks are communal spaces shared by military personnel for training together. If a large number of letters and gifts from the fans arrive at the center all at once, it would be difficult to store them and they could easily be lost. Therefore, we urge fans to refrain from sending anything by mail. Instead, BigHit Music will assist in making sure the artists can see any heartwarming messages fans leave on Weverse using the hashtags 'Dear_RM_from_ARMY', 'Dear_Jin_from_ARMY', 'Dear_SUG

A_from_ARMY', 'Dear_jhope_from_ARMY', 'Dear_Jimin_from_ARMY', 'Dear_V_from_ARMY', 'Dear_JungKook_from_ARMY'."

Extremely joyed fans are showering their excitement and joy as they get to witness their idols getting the highest honors at the auspicious ceremony. Both of them have finally completed their five-week military training and will be now performed according to their guidelines. A fan commented, "Kim Namjoon.. Leadership is in his blood" while another one left saying, "Kim Taehyung along with Kim Namjoon were among the only 6 Elite Trainees at Nonsan. Both of them were awarded for their exceptional skills during the military." In addition to that, one wrote, "Congratulations Kim Namjoon & Kim Taehyung."

TAYLOR SWIFT'S 'ERA'S TOUR' BECOMES THE HIGHEST-GROSSING CONCERT FILM OF ALL TIME

Taylor Swift is now the artist with the highest-grossing concert film of all time with her 'The Eras Tour' movie, beating the King of Pop, Micheal Jackson. Taylor Swift is kicking off 2024 with yet another record under her name! After the release of "Taylor Swift: The Eras Tour" in the U.S. theaters on October 13, her movie is officially the highest-grossing concert film in box office history. The 'Era's Tour' movie became the top-grossing film among documentary and concert films with more than $261.6 million earned from around the world. This news came one week after the release of the film in China, with a tally of $8.7 million after its debut on 31st December.

"The Eras Tour" becomes the highest-grossing ever in concert films, beating the previous record held by Micheal Jackson's "This Is It". This film opened in 2009 and grossed over $261.2 million at the global box office. Now Taylor has officially snatched the title from the King of Pop and all thanks to her loyal fanbase, Swifties.

Much of the total gross that the concert film has earned can be attributed to the record-breaking opening weekend it had in October. "Era's Tour" earned $92.8 million in North America and $30.7 million internationally for a cumulative total of $123.5 million. This also marked the biggest start for a concert film of all time. It beat Justin Bieber's "Never Say Never" which opened in 2011 and earned $73 million in the same timeframe. It also stood as the second-biggest October debut ever at the domestic box office, behind the 2019 release "Joker", which pulled $96 million and became the seventh-biggest weekend opener of 2023.

This huge success comes after the "Shake It Off" singer played a non-traditional release. She partnered with AMC Theatres, the world's largest cinema chain, instead of opting for distribution from a major studio for the release of "The Eras Tour." AMC Chairman and CEO Adam Aron said, "On behalf of all of us at AMC Theatres, I send my congratulations and eternal gratitude to Taylor Swift for her remarkable and record-setting box office performance with 'Taylor Swift: The Eras Tour' concert film." "Her spectacular performance delighted fans around the world and serves as another strong reminder about the power of extraordinary film making and magic of movie theaters," he continued.

Those fans who were not able to catch the film in the theater can watch it at home starting on December 13 as she released "The Era's Tour" on streaming.

GOLDEN GLOBES 2024: THE CHICK LOOKS OF THE NIGHT IS MESMERIZING ALL

Golden Globes 2024 recently occurred at the Beverly Hilton Hotel, Los Angeles. The 81st award show has been hosted by the comedian Jo Koy. It is one of the most anticipated award shows that honors both film and television. This award show is not only known for recognizing the best creations but also for the fashion that comes to see. All the celebrities showcase their best looks on the night, which grabs the attention of global audiences. This year, at the Golden Globes, 'Succession' and 'Barbie' got the highest number of nominations. Both these have been nominated for nine categories. On the other hand, 'Oppenheimer' is in the second position with eight nominations. There is no wonder that these three are the best creations of last year.

This year, apart from the movies and TV shows, audiences go to see some spectacular fashion that has amazed everyone. Margot Robbie is being in her character as she came for the award night. The actress wore the 1977 'SuperStar' Barbie dress. It is a V-neck dress, which is covered in sequins. Margot also draped a pink boa around her arms which made the look even more stunning. The beautiful dress has been made by Giorgio Armani Privé. In addition to that, she has completed the whole look with a pink clutch, pointy-toe heels in the same color, and splendid diamond pieces of jewelry.

For the award night, Jennifer Lopez also came in a pink gown from Nicole + Felicia Couture. The strapless and oversized blooming rose sleeves have added a whole different charm. It is a dress that has been styled by one of the best designers Rob Zangardi and Mariel Haenn. The blush pink colored dress has assisted her to create a refreshing look for the night. Jennifer completed the look with a pink clutch and minimal earrings that maintained a classy and stunning look.

Brie Larson, the Marvel woman also attended the Golden Globes 2024. The actress showed up in a breathtaking custom Prada dress. The simple yet stunning look has grabbed the attention of everyone.

with the gorgeous flowing gown, she also wore a pair of pointy-toe heels. Along with that, she also wore jewelry from Kwiat and Fred Leighton. Each of them helped her to create the perfect look for the night. On the special night of the Golden Globes, Taylor Swift also came to see on the red carpet. She has been nominated for her 5th Golden Globes which has made the night even special for her.

She has been seen wearing a sparkling custom-made green Gucci gown. It can be said that she shimmered the whole place with her enigmatic look.

All the celebrities tried to go all chick and bold, and at the same time, Billie Eilish gave one of the trendiest looks. Eilish walked down the red carpet in a school uniform-inspired dress. For the night she wore a beige colored pleated skirt. Along with that, she wore a light blue Peter Pan collar shirt and paired it with a black blazer. She has also accessorized the look with a ribbon around her neck that she got on her recent birthday. Among all the celebrities, Billie stood out completely differently.

For the Golden Globes, Timothée Chalamet showed up in a glittering Celine homme tuxedo, which has created an edgy look for the actor. Timothée went for all-black for the award night and subtly added a shimmered blazer on the top, which enhanced his look completely. He also wore Chelsea boots to give the most desired look for the night.

On the night Jonathan Bailey mesmerized everyone in his all-white attire. The British actor is widely known for his role in Bridgerton. And now he has won everyone's hearts with his perfect look. He went for a Givenchy suit along with wide-leg trousers that have made his attire even more brilliant. It can be definitely said Jonathan has attracted the attention of global audiences with his acting skills and fashion sense.

DISCLOSES
'WATER'

South African singer Tyla discloses a lot of secrets behind her viral hit 'Water' in a new video. In BTS of 'Water' Tyla shares her inspiration in Vevo Footnotes.

‘Water’ is a song that you absolutely cannot escape on social media. From TikToks to Instagram Reels and YouTube Shorts, the song and Tyla are everywhere, and rightfully so, the music is enchanting! Tyla is a 21-year-old musician from South Africa who is also the youngest to secure the historic Billboard Hot 100 debut. The catchy track fuses a lot of different genres and styles such as Afrobeats, pop, R&B, and Amapiano, which is a South African style of electronic dance music. Now on the new video released on her channel, Tyla takes us through the making of ‘Water’ explaining what inspired the song in the first place.

In the video for Vevo Footnotes, Tyla explains the viral hit ‘Water’ was inspired by one of her favorite songs from her childhood, Aaliyah’s ‘Rock the Boat’. She says that she has always been fascinated by songs that tend to discuss mature concepts in a metamorphosing way. Tyla thinks this is the way anyone who loves music can enjoy the track without the song being too much. Which is how she sees ‘Water’. Despite the song being mature, and adultery, the tune is catchy, making it resonate with anyone who listens to it. The hook of the track is extremely snappy, and catches the attention right away, which is why the song is such a hit on social media and streaming platforms today, rising on the charts as well.

In the video, Tyla also explains that ever since she started making music, making a distinctive sound that is African but can travel through the corners of the world has been her priority. So mixing Amapiano with R&B, and pop on ‘Water’ is her way of adding some extra twist to Amapiano, and giving it a ‘Tyla’ version. On the original video version of ‘Water’ the viewers could see that the vibe is set on a beach, which is what Tyla’s original vision for the song was as well. But that is not all, Tyla also discussed how the iconic dance challenge on the track was incorporated with a love interest, which the rising star did not do in a video before. After going through hundreds of references for the right look, and tone, Alex Webb Photography was among the selected motif, along with Beyonce’s ‘Baby Boy’, and Britney Spears’ ‘Slave For You’, as child., the director described.

Catch the ‘Making of Water’ video on YouTube, and follow Tyla on social media platforms.

TOP 10 POP ALBUMS OF ALL TIME

Along with some of the greatest, biggest, and best-selling pop albums, the music industry has given its listeners updates, changes, new styles, and whatnot. The reason why pop music is one of the most popular musical genres out there is because it resonates with the general public who find music not only as an escape but also an inspiration, a means to lead life and enjoy the atmosphere. But that is not the only case, pop music is also one of the most versatile genres out there which can be easily merged with almost any other style of music. Does it mean pop music listeners are superior in the race of music lovers? Well, kinds, because this genre will give you a blend of anything and everything out there.

This makes artists run that extra mile, experiment with their sounds, and continue trying to reinvent themselves. History proves, that only these artists survived the evolving taste of music listeners from all over the world and have given the industry some of the biggest, most astounding pop albums of all time. So here is the list of top 10 pop albums of all time.

10. Katy Perry - One of the Boys

There is something about 2000's and 2010's pop music that is still considered one of the greatest eras of the genre. Katy Perry is one artist who can take a lot of credit for this and her 'One of the Boys' proves the point. She launched herself with such a brilliant album in 2009 that it continued to influence pop music to this date.

9. Taylor Swift - 1989

Taylor Swift is arguably the greatest pop star of this generation and her '1989' album is a living, breathing example of that. From a time when she was being heavily criticized for leaving her country roots for a more mainstream pop star image in 'Red', this album is a direct answer to everyone who has ever questioned the artistry of Swift. In singles like "Style", "Bad Blood", and "Out of The Woods", she proved that she has the caliber to become the greatest pop artist. Her move of going full-length pop with '1989' also proved that genres don't indicate authenticity. So the audience showed their love and this album became the most commercially successful album of Taylor's life.

8. Justin Bieber - Purpose

The image of pop boys changed ever since Justin Bieber came into the industry and 15 years into his career he has gifted the world with some of the most magical songs they have ever witnessed. His 2015 release 'Purpose' is by far the most astounding creation of his discography. This is the album that made Bieber one of the most iconic comebacks of all time, where he left his trouble-making, ladies-girl image and entered a more spiritual, at-peace era. Single like 'Sorry', 'What Do You Mean', and 'Love Yourself' went on to become some of the finest, most experimental work Bieber has ever done. With mesmerizing vocals and unique compositions that mixed modern digital music with good old pop music, Bieber not only outdone himself in this album but also solidified his status from just a pop singer to a music legend.

7. Carole King - Tapestry

'Tapestry', released in 1971 is believed to be the album where Carole King reinvented herself and put her newfound spirituality into account of her craft. Great albums have a habit of becoming a hit among critics and audiences and this one is a musical piece that is still referred to to this day as one of the greatest records ever made. This is also an album that had gotten 4 Grammys at once and presented Carole as an American melody whose introspection went on to become a phenomenon. One of the greatest traits of 'Tapestry' is its lyrics, and how simple, conversational, and almost telepathic. All of the compositions on the album feel like reading the collective minds of the listeners, which is why even the newer audience can't seem to escape the magic that tracks like "You've Got a Friend" and "Will You Love Me Tomorrow?" created ages before.

6. Lady Gaga - The Fame

Lady Gaga's entry to the public consciousness was not with a whimper but was more like a loud bang. Everybody knew her striking personality before, but with this album she redefined herself, she placed herself as one of the greatest singers and performers of all time. Armed with a disco ball era, Gaga's image solidified her craft and made her a household name in the world. With this album, the singer took much of her inspiration from "New York's 90s Club Kids" putting the themes of drugs, money, and sexuality in 'Fame'. One of the main singles "Paparazzi" went on to become one of the most popular hits of all time. To this date, her 'Fame' themed highly-styled party girl image feels like the most intimate Gaga has ever been with the world.

5. Prince and the Revolution - Purple Rain : Released in 1984, this is the sixth studio album of Price and is considered the most pop-inflected music that he has ever made. Getting a perfect 10 from Pitchfork and being placed at 8 on the Rolling Stone Greatest Albums rank, this album not only is a favorite of the critics but also has gotten a perfect score from the general audience. The artist previously was known for his weird persona and fire music which left the audience wanting something more, something different from him. 'Purple Rain' was something that shifted the focus from the made-up persona that Price carried throughout his career, and shares a glimpse of his personal life, his origin story. This is what makes the album and its compositions, rough, yet vulnerable, common, yet funny, and musically rich.

4. Adele - 21 : Most regard 21 to be Adele's best album to date, and we second that. Coming into the 21st industry and placing yourself and your craft in the list of the greatest of all time is something Adele has done with utter perfection. '21' is bitter, it is revengeful, and at the same time, it is honest, and places itself as a sonically mature record getting out with its entire personality intact. From the powerful vocals of the singer to the jazzy piano, every composition feels like the perfect combination of gritty and growled vocals stretching into big belting notes and raw emotions. His is also Adele's first album that got international attention and placed her as a significant artist in the industry.

3. Fleetwood Mac - Rumours : There was a time when the global music world was ruled by Fleetwood Mac and the group's 1977 release 'Rumors' takes the cake of being one of the top pop albums. The reason why people still love and enjoy listening to this masterpiece, even in the era of digital music and EDM is because of the absolute emotional honesty that compositions deliver. It is one of those finest albums that has gotten perfect scores from critics and at the same time has ruled over the hearts of music lovers. All the pent-up emotions, the anger, and the turmoil within the band can be heard on every track of the album, paired beautifully with pop-influenced rock music. Some of the albums are influential, and some of the albums carry the influence through generations, FM's 'Emotions' is one of the latter examples.

2. Britney Spears - Britney : No pop music conversation can be completed without the 21st-century pop revolution and what Britney Spears brought to the table. With her 2001 release of her self-titled album 'Britney,' she shifted an entire genre, an entire audience. This album is the artist's attempt to shift her music in a more mature direction. This album has everything, from her signature coming-out-of-age music to sexy numbers like "I'm a Slave 4 U", and "Boys", the singer truly reinvented herself by every means. Her signature vocal fry shined brightly on this album, however, her ability to sing "e" like an "ay" is something that made the entire album step onto a different level.

1. Michael Jackson - Thriller : When it comes to timelessness, and widespread appeal, the King of Pop came through and gave the world its biggest, arguably the best pop album of all time. Released in 1982, 'Thriller' is Jackson's sixth studio album which gave the listeners a taste of what quality pop music should sound like and is yet to be moved, or be challenged! As mentioned earlier about pop music's ability to become versatile, Michael Jackson did the same where he blended a bunch of other genres like dance, R&B, afro music, rock, and whatnot and gave the audiences what they were missing out on. For starters, every single composition on this album is catchy and can make listeners feel something. The clear, and dynamic vocals of the singer also made the album feel timeless, even almost 42 years since its release.

BLACKPINK'S Jennie Shared Why She Started Her Own Label, ODD ATELIER

Jennie recently appeared as the founder of her own label on KBS 2TV's music talk show, named 'The Seasons: Lee Hyori's Red Carpet' when she shared her plans to set up a one-person agency.

The 27-year-old artist unveiled speaking about her agency, "I carefully founded the company because I wanted to have more freedom and comfort in my personal activities."

During the pop star appearance, Jennie said to Lee Hyo-ri, the host that the BLACKPINK's team activities will be "managed by the same agency I've worked with for the past seven years", she stated that she took to launch for her own company as she wanted "more freedom and ease for my solo activities", as per popular news and media agency.

K-pop singer Jennie shared, "My long-time crew joined me on this journey. With them, I want to do all my future work without any limitations," moreover continued,

"The name shows my desire to do well in my future works, even if the path I take is odd or different." The magnificent musician later spoke about how she was "I learned a lot at YG Entertainment", she wished to "be brave and take on a new challenge" as she stepped down on her own. She furthermore added, "It feels surreal to share all this with the world for the first time,"

She continued to tell Lee Hyo-ri, "BLACKPINK's group activities will continue to be managed by the same agency I've worked with for the past seven years. However, I wanted more freedom and ease for my solo activities. That's why I started a company called ODD ATELIER."

Additionally stated, "My long-time crew joined me on this journey. With them, I want to do all my future work without any limitations."

The member of BLACKPINK later explained the meaning of the company's name, ODD ATELIER, "The name shows my desire to do well in my future works, even if the path I take is odd or different. It feels surreal to share all this with the world for the first time with a microphone in my hand. I'm happy to be doing this in front of you, unnie."

However, Jennie resumed stating, "I learned a lot at YG Entertainment, where I started as a trainee. But for the past few years, in the spirit of pushing my limits, I've been asking myself, 'What could I accomplish on my own in the future?'. I decided to be brave and take on a new challenge."

As Lee Hyo-ri asked if ODD ATELIER plans to introduce other artists, Jennie replied, "Actually, I didn't plan to. But while I was setting up the company, I did think about what it would be like and found the idea intriguing. However, we'll focus on this artist called JENNIE for now and consider it when a great opportunity comes."

Lee Hyo-ri jokingly commented, "My contract with Antenna, my current agency, ends in late February. So, do not hesitate to contact me. Produce me, please." where Jennie said, "Give us a call."

NICKI MINAJ'S 'STARSHIP' PRODUCER REACTS ON HER DISLIKING FOR THE SONG

In one of their recent encounter with the media, Nicki Minaj said, she doesn't like her 2012, hit single 'Starship'. RedOne, the producer of the song, has responded to this criticism. The Swedish producer is responsible for hits such as Lady Gaga's "Just Dance" and "On the Floor" by Jennifer Lopez. Recently, they also have discussed the Young Money rapper's comments with the media. Previously, the 41-year-old told the audience, "Hold on. Psych, psych, psych, psych. I don't perform that song no more, y'all." She also added, "I don't like it, what y'all want me to do?" She also demeaned the number by calling it "Stupid". She said, "I hate 'Starships,' I mean ew, 'Starships?'" She also added, "I'm like, 'Why did I do that? I really think that every time I hear it.'"

To this public exhibition, RedOne clarified that they have no problem with Nicki's attitude to this number. They said, "I have the utmost respect for Nicki Minaj and I love her work very much. I will always respect an artist's wishes." They also added, "I feel very proud to have made that record with her along with the global success it made."

Apart from Nicki Minaj's 'Starship', she also has collaborated with RedOne for her second album, "Pink Friday: Roman Reloaded" including another of their popular release, "Pound the Alarm", "Whip It", and "Automatic." 'Starship' is not the only song Minaj has expressed disgust; she has been criticizing her previous release every now and then. She also criticized her 2014, megahit 'Anaconda'.

During her Q&A in 2020 she shared, "So much of my discography," she said, "I wish I never recorded 'Anaconda.' I like the video but, ugh." She also added on that 2020 Q&A "My first ever solo song on Billboard was 'Your Love.' To this day I like the video but I hate the song. I could go on and on. I hate 'Starships,' I mean ew, 'Starships?' I'm like, 'Why did I do that?' I really think that every time I hear it."

Despite her self-criticism, 'Starship' remains one of her biggest releases by far selling 9 million copies of this number in the U.S. alone. But upon release, 'Starship' had received mixed responses from the audience.

Rage Against the Machine Won't Go on Any Tour Said Brad Wilk

Rage Against the Machine, the rock band has said they will not go on tour again. After this response from Brad Wilk, all of their fans have gotten disheartened. They were on a reunion tour, which has been canceled due to the injury of Zack de la Rocha. Previously, many of the reunion show dates were canceled. This happened in the year 2022, and since then there has been no announcement regarding the rescheduling or postponement of the shows.

The drummer of the band Brad Wilk has said 'While there has been some communication that this may be happening in the future'. He also added 'I want to let you know that RATM (Tim, Zack, Tom and I) will not be touring or playing live again...I'm sorry for those of you who have been waiting for this to happen. I really wish it was'. In March 2023, band member Tim Morello said 'If there are Rage shows, if there are not Rage shows, you'll hear from the band'. He also said 'I do not know. When there is news, it will come from a collective statement from the band. There is no news'.

This group was built in 1991 and since then they have been entertaining their listeners. And now they have suddenly announced they will not go on any tour. This news has created a sensation among all the rock music enthusiasts. In a very short time span, all of them got a huge success. In 2000 the band even split up for the artists to explore the individual ways.

At that time, the lead singer Zack de la Rocha said 'I feel that it is now necessary to leav e Rage because our decision-making process has completely failed'. He also stated 'It is no longer meeting the aspirations of all four of us collectively as a band and from my perspective, has undermined our artistic and political ideal'.

After 11 years, they came up together in 2020 and played for the 'Public Service Announcement'. Then Zack de la Rocha said 'I still look down at my leg in disbelief'. He also added 'Two years of waiting through the pandemic, hoping we would have an opening to be a band again and continue the work we started 30 some odd years ago'.

Nick Jonas Shares Adorable Pictures of His Daughter's 2nd Birthday

On Tuesday, 16th January, Malti Marie Jonas turned 2; the entire Jonas family along with the Chopra family celebrated her birthday and shared some extremely delightful photos from that day. Point to be noted that this is the first time the world gets to see a picture of Malti, by far they have been keeping her face a secret from the world but, they just have shown some of her extremely precious photos of her 2nd birthday.

On her birthday, Nick Jonas and Priyanka Chopra announced their firstborn, Nalti Marie Chopra Jonas in January 2022. They shared, "We are overjoyed to confirm that we have welcomed a baby via surrogate. We respectfully ask for privacy during this special time as we focus on our family. Thank you so much," on Instagram. Along with this brief message they post it with a heart emoji, and they both shared the same note in their separate Instagram handles collectively. The couple faced a long hard time in 2022, Nick shared about how they have spent "100 plus days" in the NICU to take care of their little bundle of joys, he said on 8th May 2022, Every family's journey is unique and requires a certain level of faith."

But on her 2nd birthday, overcoming everything, the Jonas Brothers captioned the photos with, "Our little angel is 2 years old." In these photos, Malti looks extremely adorable. She is seen wearing a pink sweater with red hearts along with that she is also wearing a pink tiara and heart-spaced sunglasses. Through every photo, Malti is seen in some of the most Canadian photos along with some photos where she is posing with her mom Priyanka Chopra. Apart from that there are some extremely charming photos of her with her Jonas uncles, Joe Jonas and Frankie Jonas as well.

Not just the Jonas brother

Priyanka Chopra also shared some of the most blissful photos of her daughter and Malti enjoying her time on her 2nd birthday. In the first photo shared by Chopra Malti is seen wearing a Indian traditional garland which is longer than she is and along with that adorable photo, there are more photos where she is seen having a great time in her Elmo-themed birthday celebration.

Lana Del Rey Shares A Song Snippet Of An Unreleased Country Track Named 'Henry, Come On'

Last Wednesday, January 17th, Lana Del Rey posted an unreleased song snippet over Instagram which is currently buzzing among the fans. Last week. The artist was announced as one of the three main headliners at Coachella 2024.

As the audiences have witnessed BLACKPINK and Frank Ocean last year, headlining in Coachella does not necessarily mean the artist is going through an album cycle but Lana seems to be preparing for something ahead. In the Instagram post, she captioned "Henry, come on @lukerobert," telling the name of the unreleased track 'Henry, Come On' and tagging Luke Laird who took care of the production and songwriting credits for many artists like Kacey Musgraves, Carrie Underwood, Thomas Rhett, and many other country artists.

The lyrical approach in the track shows that this is another track where the artist again portrays her ache of love for a man named Henry who lacks seriousness and cannot be held accountable. Lana sings, "I mean, Henry, come on / Do you / Think I'd really choose it? / All this off and on / Henry, come on / I mean, baby, come on / Do you / Think I'd really lose it on ya?" "As the song further goes, "If you did nothing wrong / Henry, come on / Last call, hey, y'all / Hang his hat up on the wall / Tell him that his cowgirl is gone / Come on and giddy-up;" it is evident that Lana is not looking back anymore. The feel of the track is greatly engaging and the comments by fans on Reddit agree with that. Somebody said that the song is offering "Ally and Jackson Maine vibes" which is definitely considerable. While the country vibes are strongly available, fans are looking forward to coming posts as they are eagerly waiting for an upcoming album by Del

Rey.

The recent Instagram posts say that something is going "to get crazy" as the singer posted a photo of a SKIMS box alongside the message that reads "Warning: things are about to get crazy... For a long time." If Del Rey chooses to drop an album this year, it will follow last year's 'Did You Know That There's A Tunnel Under Ocean Blvd' which is considered to be one of the best music projects in alternative music by Lana. Stay tuned to know more.

'Greedy' Tate McRae

'Greedy' by Tate McRae is one of the hottest pop tracks in the scene right now which was released in September, last year and helped McRae set a new benchmark for pop music.

3.

'Cruel Summer' Taylor Swift

'Cruel Summer' is Taylor Swift's one of the greatest hits this year which appears in her seventh studio album, Lover. Working with Jack Antonoff, and St. Vincent, Swift did a remarkable job.

'Lovin On Me' by Jack Harlow

Jack Harlow is putting more colors into hip-hop with his apologetic bars in the latest banger 'Lovin On Me'. This groovy single was released in November and still buzzing at the 2nd Spot.

'Yes, And?' by Ariana Grande

Ariana Grande is back on her reign in the pop industry with the latest single 'Yes, And?'. This song is the lead single from the singer's upcoming seventh studio album called, 'Eternal Sunshine'. Release on January 12th, this song currently buzzing among the pop fans, offering a great kick start for Grande. The song offers a blend of pop with house and other ballroom elements which creates a dreamy texture. After its premier on YouTube, this song has become the #24 global top music video with more than 31 million views already. While the music video offers some awesome choreography, the lyrical approach speaks about preservation and self-confidence that helps to get over negativity. This empowering single by Grande is currently at the top of every song chart.

'Nazar Teri Toofan' From Katrina Kaif, Vijay Sethupathi's Upcoming Movie 'Merry Christmas' Wins Hearts

This magnificent Sriram Raghavan movie, Merry Christmas has gripped the attention of every Indian movie lover, since it dropped its first teaser online. The ensemble star cast of the movie comprises names like Katrina Kaif and Vijay Sethupathi. The "Tiger" actress is sharing the screen with the "Super Deluxe" actor for the first, and their chemistry on this song is supremely magnificent in the song 'Nazar Teri Toofan'.

Papon has crooned the number while Varun Grover is the lyricist of this number. The music is composed by Pritam. The melody does not just showcase the dilemmatic relationship of the two main leads it also showcases the dichotomy of their situation, from one end it seems steamy and from the other perception it is rivalry, only the audience will get to know once they catch the movie on the big screens.

And in between all these eccentric shots from the trailer of the movie, you get to see a number like 'Nazar Teri Toofan'. The zest of both the actors is shining through their eyes, and one cannot shrug off the possibility of a blooming romance between the two leads, but it all seems too good to be true. And the makers possibly intend to ignite the same curiosity amongst their audience.

During one of their promotional interviews, Vijay is sharing his experience with working with the Raajneeti actress.

He says, "I never expected I'll work with Katrina Kaif. I'm a very big fan of Katrina. I was very happy when I saw her on the first day and I couldn't express (my happiness). She is a very thoughtful actor. She has so many questions. She thinks a lot. She is very dedicated. She comes up with an idea and she is ready to adapt."

Then he added, "Even if she can't accept your thoughts, she will listen to you. She will put in a lot of effort to make a scene better. That's why she is in the industry not only because she is beautiful but also because she is sensible.

Just on the basis of beauty, you can't survive for so long. There should be sense and understanding. I felt it when I was working with her." Movie buffs have already booked their tickets for this movie this weekend.

MANOJ JOSHI AND SONU NIGAM TO ATTEND AYODHYA RAM MANDIR PRAN PRATISHTHA CEREMONY

The long-awaited Pran Pratishtha ceremony of Ram Lalla will be held in the majestic temple on Monday, 22nd January. The prime minister is all ready to guide over the ceremony at Ram Mandir in Ayodhya. The ceremony is coming after the 51-inch idol of Ram was situated in the 'garbha griha' of Ram Mandir on 18th January. Several artists were spotted leaving for Ayodhya to attend the ceremony of a lifetime. Actor Manoj Joshi is all set in a golden-hued printed kurta and pyjama. He said, "This is an amazing feeling. We are going to realize a divine power. Our Ram Lalla will be 'pranpratishthit' today... Such a long wait over several years, several of our generations waited for this. The wait is now over... This is a very emotional moment. I can't describe it in words."

Singer Sonu Nigam also added his opinions about the people who have rejected the invitation to the auspicious Pran Pratishtha ceremony. He also expressed that some of the leaders have declined the invitation, saying, "They have been given checkmate. They have been invited but if they come, it will be difficult for them. If they don't come, even then it would be difficult for them. This happens in politics, so I won't blame them. Politically speaking, PM Modi has given them a checkmate..."

The Padma Shri-winning singer expresses that the whole ceremony is an 'emotional' moment, saying, "This is a very emotional moment. I am happy that there is joy and enthusiasm in the world wherever there is Sanatana Dharma. It feels great that we can see this, that God chose us to be born in an era when such an event is taking place. I am one of the fortunate people who have received an invitation..."

In addition to that, Amitabh Bachchan, the legendary actor in Indian cinema, and Abhishek Bachchan(son-actor) were also seen at Kalina airport, Mumbai on Monday as they are starting their journey to Ayodhya. The 'Shahenshah of Bollywood' was wearing a white kurta, pants and a half jacket, sneakers and a muffler. A book was being carried with the living legend. Furthermore, the chairman of the Adani group, Gautam Adani stated that the 'Ram Mandir in Ayodhya will bring peace and prosperity to the country's people. He wrote on X (formerly known as Twitter), "On this auspicious day, as the Ayodhya Mandir's doors open, let it be a gateway to enlightenment and peace, binding the communities with the timeless threads of Bharat's spiritual and cultural harmony," Rishabh Shetty, the 'Kantara' star has also been invited to be present at the Ram Temple's 'Pran Pratishtha' ceremony, celebrated in Ayodhya, Uttar Pradesh. Rishabh shared on social media, showing his excitement, "I am deeply grateful for this opportunity, as my heart overflows with gratitude." Harmanpreet Kaur, an Indian skipper has received the invitation to attend the grand ceremony, following cricketer stars MS Dhoni, Sachin Tendulkar, Mithali Raj, and Ravichandran Ashwin are the latest stars to get the invitation.

Shaan And Devi Chitralkhaji Collaborate For A Masterpiece Track 'Awadh Mein Ram Aaye Hain'

Magnificent singer Shaan joins to create a spiritual musician and singer Devi Chitralkhaji in a noteworthy tuning tribute, offering a majestic touch to the auspicious occasion. Their latest track is a heart-touching bhajan named 'Awadh Mein Ram Aaye Hain'. The soul-stirring musical was released on 17th January to celebrate Pran Pratishtha in Ayodhya Ram Mandir.

The singer posted a teaser of the song on his Instagram account and wrote in the caption, "Jai Shri Ram (along with spiritual emoticons) A 50-decade wait finally coming to an end! A moment of joy, celebrations & happiness across the world to welcome our very own Ram Lalla. Today, let us all stream "Awadh Mein Ram Aaye Hain" & celebrate the Ghar Vaapsi of Ram Bhagwaan."

The majestic piece is a part of Shaan's released spiritual music label of 2023 named Shaan Music Devotional. The masterpiece was written by Harshit Vishwakarma and composed by Shriyansh Pratap Singh. The music track captures the energy and spirit of the much anticipated Ram Mandir consecration and welcomes all listeners to take part in the inauguration of the Ram Mandir.

Moreover, PM Modi shared that he wants to apologize to the Lord as it took very long to construct the Ram Temple, saying, "There must be something lacking in our effort, sacrifice, and penance that we could not do this work for so many centuries. Today, the work has been completed. I believe that Lord Ram will forgive us today..." He additionally said, "I have a firm belief and immense faith that today, the devotees of Prabhu Ram are completely absorbed in this historic moment...the devotees of Prabhu Ram, in every corner of the country and the world, are deeply feeling this...This moment is divine, this moment is the holiest of all..." continued adding, "January 22, 2024, is not just a date, but the beginning of a new era. The construction of Ram Mandir has filled people with a new energy," In 2019, the Supreme Court delivered the disputed area to the Hindus after a controversial legal battle followed by the demolition of the mosque, However, Muslims were given land outside the town for a mosque but they have yet to build one. One of the members from the community stated to a remarkable media house, "We did not accept that decision happily, but what can we do," he moreover shared, "But we are also sad because it was built after destroying a mosque".

Officials also stated that they are creating a "world-class city where people come as pilgrims and tourists", however, several people have stated to the media house that their houses, shops, and "structures of religious nature" have been either partially or fully destroyed to expand roads and build other facilities.

KAILASH KHER PERFORMED "RAM DHUN" AT THE RAM MANDIR PRAN PRATISHTHA CEREMONY IN AYODHYA

The much-talked-about events at the Ram Mandir in Ayodhya became a more star-studded occasion. Along with numerous devotees, there are many Bollywood artists who were invited to attend this ceremony. Singer Kailash Kher, who is known for his charming musical qualities and high vocal ranges, performed at the Ram Mandir Pran Pratishtha Ceremony in Ayodhya. He conveyed his thoughts with a reflective sense of devotion. Amid everything, he was summoned to the stage after this historic inauguration ceremony was over, to perform.

Kailash Kher was completely overwhelmed by this honor and he said, "Witnessing the event is something that will be etched in my memory for life, aisa laga ke humne bhagwan Ram ke real mein darshan kare hain. My parents had a lot of expectations and dreams to see this day come true. They passed away with that thought. It is their dream that has been turned into a reality, and I felt lucky to witness it," to the crowd present there at that moment.

The 50-year-old 'Allah Ke Bande' singer also added, "It was a deeply spiritual moment for me. I must have done something right that I got a chance to witness this historic moment. There comes a moment in life that one is at a loss of words and embraces silence because of the extreme happiness, and that was my state after witnessing the ceremony".

After the revelation of the Ram Lalla idol, there was a shower of rose petals and to honor this moment he momentarily performed his song 'Ram Dhun', from one of the latest movies 'Main Atal Hoon'. The movie is based on the life and legacy of Atal Bihari Vajpayee and Pankaj Tripathi has given a powerful performance. He said, "I feel so honored and blessed that I got an opportunity to sing for a short while. I sang Ram Dhun on the stage". "It was a very special feeling," He added.

According to the prolific singer, seeing the serene of the Ram Lalla was a "deeply personal" moment for him. And he will never forget such a moment in his life. Looking at the idol he smiled and said, he feels genuine calmness, "It is in my heart forever".

11 UNKNOWN FACTS ABOUT LIL NAS X THAT FANS DIDN'T KNOW

Since the explosion of “Old Town Road” in 2018, Lil Nas X made it clear that he is here to stay. He is a reliable hitmaker and a rapper who knows no boundaries. Being an icon in the music industry, Nas X also created a unique style with his individuality. Whether it is creating a buzz in the world of Vogue or setting a benchmark in the hip-hop and R&B industry, Lil Nas has aced in everything. However, he has made this significant improvement at a very young age as the rapper is only 23 years old now. Let’s find out more amazing facts about this unwavering Grammy-winning rapper who became a role model for many.

1. His Stage Name is Inspired by a Twitter Fan Account

Montero Lamar Hill, better known as Lil Nas X was born in in a suburb of Atlanta, Georgia. His stage name Lil Nas X was a result of his fan account on Twitter where he had the username @nasmaraj. It was a fan account for Nicky Minaj from where he took the name ‘Nas’ by which most people know him. The rapper started the fan account in his teen years and since his teenage, Nicky has always been a role model for him. The rapper was found telling in an interview with Variety, “I felt like Minaj was unique to the rap industry—somebody who is super talented but didn’t get all the credit because of her being a woman.” he further added that, “She’s super outspoken, she’s a boss and she goes after what she wants. I love all those attributes.” Evidently, Lil Nas X carries that creative boujee aura as well. Some also claim that it is a tribute to the famous rapper Nas who dominated the hip-hop industry.

2. Family Enriched His Musical Talents

Lil Nas X is highly influenced by his family as music runs among them. His father R.L. Stafford is one of the well revered gospel singers who helped him pursue his passion in music. Stafford could be heard in a choir on the Montero song “Dead Right Now”. Not just his father but his brother CloudJay has also played a vital role in his musical career who is an emerging music producer. Nas explained, “It’s insane ’cause we were together for the first five months of me making music,” and then his brother had to join the military. Nas further added, “Boom, he leaves; two months later, I put out my first hit song.”

However, his parents were divorced when he was only 6 years old. Due to the split between his parents, Nas moved into the Bankhead Courts Housing Project back in 2005. He lived with his mother and grandmother for three years until he finally started living with his father in Austell, Georgia.

3. Nas X Loves Self-Help Books

Self-help books have helped a lot of people including the artists and Lil Nas X is one of them. He appreciates a good self-help book that can help to proceed in life and loves to read it. In an interview last year, Lil Nas X offered a long list of self-recovery books that he really loved reading. The list includes, “The Rose Effect: Eight Steps to Delivering the Performance of Your Life” by Keana Henson, “The Four Agreements: A Practical Guide to Personal Freedom’ by Don Ruiz, and lastly, the “The Subtle Art of Not Giving a Fuck” by Mark Manson.

4. Mushrooms of Creativity

Lil Nas X has been working hard with the producing partners Denzel Baptiste and David Biral for Montero during the pandemic. They have been making day trips in different Airbnbs and in an interview with the WSJ. Magazine, Nas revealed that he has tried psychedelic mushrooms for the first time. It helped him become bolder with his songwriting skills and creativity. He said, “I was able to open up a lot...I was able to write actual stories about my life and put it into my music. I actually did that for the first time.”

5. The Layered Origin Story of His Debut Album : If you remember the artwork from Montero, it was actually inspired by artist John Stephens’s computer-generated Genesis II. The rapper said that he first encountered the picture “in this guy who I was dating’s dorm room.” The title refers to a chapter in the Bible and the rapper read it. “I read it and it’s the final day of God making his work and he’s resting,” Nas said. According to him, it was fitting as he said, “That, for me, it’s like, ‘Okay, I’ve been making this album. I’ve been creating this. This is the final day and it’s out to the world.’” Who would have known that classics have this much influence in the modern world?

6. His Success Started with Memes on TikTok : When Lil Nas X first released Old Town Road back in December of 2018 he was only 20 years old and the popularity of this only one track helped him reach newer heights of success. He bought this song's beat anonymously online, from a Dutch producer named YoungKio. You would be surprised to know that he bought the beat for only $30 and earned millions. Now that’s a great deal! The reason behind his unbridled success was not only the song but also the promotional strategy which was outrageously good. Instead of advertisements and promotions, the rapper utilized TikTok to create memes and share among the users. These memes quickly went viral and the song was buzzing through every listener. He created the #Yeet Challenge meme which quickly garnered a lot of attention from around the world.

7. A Proud and Openly Gay Rapper : June is the global Pride Month and there is no better time than this to come out. In June 2019, Lil Nas X came out as an openly gay proud person who first came out to his parents and then made the big announcement on Twitter. Making this fair bold move by the rapper well-received and appreciated by his fans and the media. He is the first openly gay black performer who received a CMA Award.

8. Lil Nas X is Perhaps Not So ‘Lil’ : Lil Nas X once said that he noticed a bunch of other new rappers would add “Lil” to their stage names and he also wanted to do it because it seemed fun. The X was to help listeners distinguish and quickly recognize him. However, when it comes to height; Lil Nas X is not so ‘Lil’ or little after all. He performed at the Grammy Awards alongside rapper Nas and Nas is 5 feet 7 inches tall. Lil Nas X appeared to be much taller than him as in reality, he is more than 6 feet.

9. Advocacy and Efforts for HIV/AIDS Awareness : Despite being young and famous, Lil Nas X knows power comes with responsibility, and with the power of his fame and position in the music industry; he is putting a lot of effort into spreading more awareness regarding HIV/AIDS. He is good at speaking about the matters that are important to him and he efficiently did that in the 2021 MTV VMAs. During his performance with Jack Harlow, he brought a special guest on stage named Mardreus Harris who works for the Southern AIDS Coalition. He was standing out in a black shirt with the number 433,816 printed on it in red at the back. It is the number of how many people are currently living with HIV in the American south. LNX had no obligation to bring Harris but he did it because such sensitive issues require more attention and awareness and he is all for it.

10. Cooking Panini with Ramsey to Modeling for Coach, He is Internet’s Most Influential : Starting from learning Panini from Gordon Ramsey to showing a stylistic muse for clothing and apparel brands like Coach, Wrangler, Crocs, and many others; Lil Nas proved that his creative aura is not just limited to music and entertainment but he has a personality to be a part of everything. Back in 2019, he became the Internet’s Most Influential person by the Time Magazine. He was also featured on Forbes’ Highest-Paid Country Acts in 2019 as well as Forbes 30 under 30 list the next year.

11. From Six Flags to Six Figures and Becoming a Millionaire : Before Lil Nas X became the famous music artist whom everybody loves and appreciates today, he used to supervise kids’ rides at the Theme Park. He told his father and stepmom that he was going to take some time off to focus on music and he really did that with all the savings he made from the Six Flags. And that is the beginning of his successful musical journey. He is currently one of the most talented music artists in the industry whose net worth is more than $9 million.

Two Concertgoers Sued Madonna For Starting Show Late

The pop icon Madonna has been sued by two concertgoers as the artist started the show late. It came to know that Madonna had a concert at Barclays Centre, in New York City on 13th December. And she started the show very late that had caused problems among the audience. Her admirers Michael Fellows and Jonathan Hadden filed a lawsuit against her. They said, the ticket for the 'Celebration' tour was for 8:30 p.m. but the artist came on stage at 10:45 p.m.

Later, those two men said that they couldn't come out of the venue before 1:00 a.m. and not only that, they had to face many difficulties, as there was limited public transportation. In addition to that, they have also said that had to pay higher prices for the ride-sharing. And all these have created many problems for them.

As the show was for a certain time, everyone came prepared only in that way. So, when the artist is doing extreme delay, they need to think about the audience too. These two people have claimed a breach of contract and sued her.

They have also stated that they are seeking for class action lawsuit for starting the show that late.

In the lawsuit, it has been said 'Madonna had demonstrated flippant difficulty in ensuring a timely or complete performance, and Defendants were aware that any statement as to a start time for a show constituted, at best, optimistic speculation'. Along with that, there is more that says 'Based on the years-long history of Madonna arriving several hours late to prior concerts (and which conduct continued at concerts in other cities after the Concerts at the Barclays Center, including concerts in Washington, D.C. and Boston), Plaintiffs knew or should have known that the Concerts would not start at 8:30 p.m., and that Madonna would not take the stage until several hours after the start time, causing Plaintiffs and all Class Members to have to wait several hours'.

After the lawsuit, Madonna or anyone from her team hasn't responded in any way. The artist didn't utter regarding this in front of the media or social media platforms. Therefore, it can be said that in the future, she might share her opinions.

Billie Eilish, Dua Lipa, and Olivia Rodrigo Will Take Over the Stage for the Grammys 2024

The first round of performers has been revealed by the Grammys 2024. There's going to be three leading ladies who will be taking over the Crypto.com Arena stage on the 4th of February, namely, Billie Eilish, Dua Lipa, and Olivia Rodrigo.

They are also the three artists who have received the most numbers of nominations for the 66th Grammy Awards. Moreover, they have already been honored for their works by Grammys previously as well. You can watch the show live on the CBS Television Network from 8:00 p.m. onwards., you can also stream it on Paramount+.

The Grammy's official post revealed, "The 2024 GRAMMYS will feature performances by GRAMMY winners Billie Eilish, Dua Lipa, and Olivia Rodrigo. Hosted by Trevor Noah, Music's Biggest Night airs live on Sunday, Feb. 4, from Crypto.com Arena in Los Angeles." Apart from the performances, Trevor Noah will be returning to host this award show for the 4th time in 2024 as well. But along with his return, he also has gained a nomination this year for the Best Comedy Album category for his "I Wish You Would."

The seven-time Grammy winner Billie Eilish has been nominated for six GRAMMY Awards this year. She has been nominated for the categories of Record Of The Year for 'What Was I Made For?' from The Motion Picture Barbie, Song Of The Year again for 'What Was I Made For?', Best Pop Solo Performance for 'What Was I Made For?', Best Pop Duo/Group Performance for 'Never Felt So Alone' with Labrinth, Best Song Written For Visual Media 'What Was I Made For?', and Best Music Video for video 'What Was I Made For?'.

Apart from her, the three-time Grammy winner Dua Lipa has been nominated for two GRAMMY Awards in 2024.

Her nominations are Song of the Year for 'Dance The Night' From The Motion Picture Barbie and Best Song Written For Visual Media again for her Barbie 'Dance The Night'. Olivia Rodrigo also has received 3 Grammys previously and is up for 6 nominations in 2024.

These nominations are Album Of The Year for 'GUTS', Record Of The Year for 'Vampire', Song Of The Year for 'Vampire', Best Pop Vocal Album for 'GUTS', Best Pop Solo Performance for 'Vampire', and Best Rock Song for the 'ballad of a homeschooled girl'.

Selena Gomez Blushed Hard on the Emmy Red Carpet as Benny Blanco Blew a Kiss to Her

The Emmy Awards 2024 recently took place in Peacock Theater, Los Angeles on 15th January. On that night, Selena Gomez's show 'Only Murders in the Building' was nominated for the best comedy. The actor and singer came to the award night with her boyfriend Benny Blanco. Selena appeared in an outstanding Oscar de la Renta dress. The artist was looking spectacular in the dress on the red carpet.

The couple attended the award night together but didn't pose together to be photographed. They stood a little far from each other on the red carpet. But Benny Blanco subtly blew a kiss towards her while walking away from the carpet.

This gesture of Blanco made Selena all blush and their fans also enjoyed the moment extremely. There is no wonder why Blanco did what he did. Selena was looking glamorous in that custom outfit. The dark red dress has a scalloped neckline and the artist paired it up with black heels. The designer of the dress, Oscar de la Renta has said it is made from more than 450000 paillettes, and behind making the dress, 930 hours were required to do the hand embroidery. The dress itself is amazing and it was looking gorgeous on Selena.

For the complete look, Selena went for a burgundy lip, an updo hairstyle, and a wave of hair on the side of her face. Altogether, the actor and singer created an elegant look. Being a part of the show 'Only Murders in the Building' is very much happy for the success it has got. Along with that, the artist is even happiest in her relationship. While talking to her fans on Instagram regarding her current relationship, she said that the producer is 'my absolute everything in my heart'. Not only that, she is also the 'happiest' in her relationship.

This particular statement has made her audiences even happier. From other sources too it came to know that 'She seems to be really feeling herself at the moment...Maybe that's Benny or maybe that's just where she's at personally and professionally'. In addition to that, one has also stated 'Everyone is so happy that she's happy'.

BTS' Jungkook Ends 2023 With 2 Tracks In US Top 10 Best- selling Downloads

Hats off to Jungkook, he concluded this year by proving his global dominance in the music field. He has been constantly topping the Billboard charts with each of his releases, and not just that he also has achieved sweeping success on iTunes across the globe. He capped off this year with an astonishing success, he has become a part of history by becoming the sole artist to boast multiple tracks concomitantly ranking in the top 10 best-selling downloads in the United States.

According to the year-end data released by the US, Jungkook excelled with two of his releases 'Seven' and 'Standing Next to You'. Now, both of these songs have positioned the golden maknae (Korean for 'Youngest') with multiple entries in the US Top 10 downloads list. His debut solo album 'Golden' was released on November 3rd, 2023, featuring the all-English title track 'Standing Next To You'. This song not only has been a milestone for him but has achieved him a new Billboard record as well.

Jungkook was the youngest member of the South Korean Boy Band BTS, including him there were 7 members in this band. Since each of the members has started their solo career, Jungkook's solo career has made him one of the most prominent artists in this music industry as a prominent figure. On the other hand, when the year-end data was released on 27th December, as per the report released by Billboard his release 'Standing Next to You' was once again in the top position on the Digital Song Sales chart.

This accomplishment has gained him a pinnacle position for the fifth time. His number matched

Justin Timberlake Confirms New Single 'Selfish' in A New Instagram Post

It has been a long since Justin Timberlake released any music, but now the pop star is coming back. In a new Instagram post, he spills details about new music.

Once a global sensation, Justin Timberlake is coming back!! After a drought of five years, during which his fans could not get even a sample of solo music from the artist, Timberlake has finally announced his comeback in a recent Instagram post. He has announced his new single 'Selfish' will be available for his fans and music lovers after a long time. The former boy bander casually broke the news of this new single with a simple post of what appears to be the cover art of 'Selfish'. He posted the announcement on social media on Monday, January 22nd. Shot by photographer Charlotte Rutherford, the cover art for his new single features Timberlake staring at a lush canyon sunset, facing away from the camera. He captioned the post with simply "1.25". That's right JT Nation, Timberlake's new single is coming this Thursday, January 25th, after 5 long years. Apart from this Instagram post, the 'SexyBack' singer also confirmed on X, formerly Twitter, that his new project is called 'Selfish'. This will be an R&B-infused song that the singer already debuted live at his concert in Memphis which was on January 19. The alleged lyrics from the new single include "So if I get jealous, I can't help it/ I want every bit of you, I guess I'm selfish."

On the same night, Timberlake also posted a trailer for his upcoming sixth studio album. The trailer revealed the project's official title: 'Everything I Thought It Was'. In the trailer Timberlake also appeared to be facing away from the camera, similar to his single cover art. The narrator, Benicio Del Toro muses, "Oh, there's Justin! Why won't he turn around? What the f— is he staring at?"

The album's lead single 'Selfish' will mark the 'Mirrors' singer's first solo release since 2018's 'Man of the Woods'. Timberlake is also set to appear as a musical guest on Saturday Night Live the day after "Selfish" arrives where Dakota Johnson will be hosting the episode.

Trainer Chris Brickley Shared The List Of Best Celebrity Basketball Players

Chris Brickley, the celebrity basketball trainer has trained some of the finest NBA players and various rappers from the music industry. It can be said, that he has seen some of the best talent from all around the world. And not only that, he has offered them to the basketball court.

There are nearly 30 teams in the NBA and one of the most popular games all over the world. Chris has been a proficient trainer of the NBA and he has trained many brilliant players in his life. And recently, he has shared a list of singers whom he had trained for NBA games.

The trainer has given a list of 10 singers who played in the tournament. There are many other celebrities too who play the sports quite well but the trainer has given the top 10 list. On Instagram, he wrote ‘This is a heavily talked about debate!! But let’s get into it’. He has also added ‘What artist has the best game? I could have done 15 of these slides. But I picked 10. Talk to me, who looks the best??? Also, what other artists can really hoop!’.

In the list, Chris didn’t rank any singers. All he did was share the names of the singers who were best according to him. The trainer includes artists like Justin Bieber, Drake, J. Cole, Lil Durk, Travis Scott, Quavo, Chris Brown, H.E.R. Rowdy Rebel, Dave East, and Quavo. He posted highlights of the singers who are brilliant at playing basketball too.

Right after the post, a lot of sensation took place in the comment section. And Chris Brown wanted to give the no. 1 position to Dave East. Thus, the rapper said ‘Dave the only N—a that can really hoop... Y’all better stop playing I will cook the rest!!! Yall know my body’.

Later, Quality Control Music A&RWayno said ‘[Dave] East, and he don’t even trained if he trained one month ain’t no rapper beating him in ball’. After sharing the list, Sheck Wes was very much shocked as he wasn’t on the list. And he said that the list is ‘blasphemy’. Other than that, the list of best basketball players list has attracted many people from all around the world.

Billie Eilish Receives the Oscar Nomination for Best Original Song

Billie's fans are quite excited as the artist has received the Oscar Nomination for Best Original Song, marking her second nomination for the Academy Awards. The nominations for the 96th Academy Awards were announced on Tuesday and shortly after it came out, Eilish and her brother Finneas O'Connell didn't miss a moment to share how thrilled they are! They received the Best Original Song nomination for their contribution to the movie 'Barbie', "What Was I Made For?."

The Grammy award-winning singer shared an adorable photo of her hugging 'Barbie' star Margot Robbie, who has also produced the film. The photo went quickly viral on Instagram and soon, the siblings shared a joint statement. They said, "We are so incredibly honored to receive a nomination for 'What Was I Made For?'".

The hitmaker duo further added, "As lifelong fans of film, music in film, and the Academy Awards, this means everything to us. We are so grateful to the Academy, its members, and to be recognized alongside so many songwriters that we respect and admire."

They expressed their utmost gratitude for the blockbuster film 'Barbie' along with its Director Greta Gerwig, Robbies as well as Noah Baumbach. They wrote, "Our deepest gratitude and thanks go out to the incomparable Greta Gerwig and Noah Baumbach for their genius vision and execution, the entire Barbie cast and crew, Lucky Chap Entertainment and the Warner Bros. Pictures team."

Mark Ronson and Andrew Wyatt have co-produced the track "What Was I Made For?," who also received the Best Original Song nomination for "I'm Just Ken" themselves. Eilish and O'Connell also thanked them saying, "Thank you to Mark Ronson and Andrew Wyatt for weaving our song into the fabric and heart of this film so well." They concluded their statement by adding, "And a special shout out to Margot Robbie for her incredible foresight as a producer and brilliant performance that resonated with us so profoundly when writing this song;" the two added, "We are truly honored. Thank you."

Truly the 'Bad Guy' singer and her brother Finneas are currently 'Happier Than Ever'. They won their first-ever Oscar in 2022 for their magical creation "No Time to Die", writing for the James Bond Franchise. Not just this duo but fellow nominated artists also shared their gratitude towards the Academy Awards for recognizing these musical talents.
