Charli XCX Releases A Deluxe Edition Of 'Brat' With 3 Exclusive Tracks

Charli XCX's Deluxe Edition of 'Brat' brings more surprises, the new release comes along with 3 additional tracks, and these songs are not any sort of feature releases.

Within three days after releasing 'Brat', the English pop star Charli XCX releases a deluxe edition of this Long Play. This is the same album with three new tracks yet, in many cases, these new tracks mostly feature songs from their previous releases, but not in this case.

Charli has worked out on three new tracks and offered in this latest edition of her recently released album 'Brat'.

These three additional tracks are 'Hello Goodbye', 'Guess', and 'Spring Breakers'. A. G. Cook has produced 'Hello Goodbye', the Dare and Dylan Brady have joined forces to create 'Guess' and 'Spring Breakers'. 'Spring Breakers' samples Britney Spears' 2003 release 'Everytime', which was also produced by A. G. Cook, Jon Shave, and Easyfun.

The album already has surpassed the streaming popularity of her previous 2022 release 'Crash'.

With this album, she has received the biggest streaming debut on this platform. On the very day of its release, the album received 15.9 million streams. Her previous album opened with 5.9 million streams on Spotify.

Before she dropped the comprehensive album she released four singles from this LP, which were, 'Von Dutch', 'Club Classics', 'B2B', and '360', respectively. The remixed of '360' features Swedish acts Robyn and Yung Lean. The record sales for 'Brat' have not started yet, it will start after 'Brat' completes a week of its release.

Hannah Mylrea wrote about this release with a 4-star review, "Growing pains, grief, and aching doubts come alongside self-confidence, celebration, and the knowledge of the place XCX holds in the musical landscape – she kicks off '360' with the knowing: "I went my own way and I made it / I'm your favorite reference baby". With 'Brat', XCX demonstrates that going her own way will always sound pretty good."

Following the release of 'Brat', Lorde praised Charli and her album by writing on social media: "The only album I've ever pre-saved is out today. Charli just cooked this one differently. So much grit, grace & skin in the game." He also added, "I speak for all of us when I say it's an honor to be moved, changed, and gagged by her work. There is NO ONE like this bitch. Brava and welcome Brat."

Celebrating Pride Month With 12 Remarkable Gay Singers In The Industry

June is Pride Month for the LGBTQ+ community and it is celebrated all around the world.

The music industry is also enriched by dynamic music artists who are not afraid to come out and celebrate the hardship and achievement of being authentic to their sexual identities without any worries of oppression, homophobia, and conventional norms of society.

While many artists found themselves through music, many gay artists have always been vocal about their sexuality from the beginning of their musical careers. Good music does not depend on the sexual orientation of the artists but on their creative psyche, individuality, and creativity.

Although the heteronormative society can sometimes be very rigid and disrespectful, music artists have proved that passion can help to find a suitable way.

Let's find some of the best music artists in the industry who are also a part of the LGBTQ+ community. They have fought for their identity, name, and life.

1. Sam Smith: 'Unholy' singer Sam Smith is a heartthrob in the music industry. Hailing from London, this highly talented music artist has offered numerous great releases that helped them reach the top of the charts. They are the first ever openly non-binary singer to have reached No. 1 on the Billboard Hot 100 many times. Their songs like 'Stay With Me', 'I'm Not the Only One', 'As I Can', etc are the greatest examples of their musical works that captivated the masses. They were born on 19 May 1992 and came out with their sexuality in 2014.

2. Lil Nas X: Born in Lithia Springs, Georgia; Lil Nas X is one of the new-age music artists who rose to fame with his usual blend of country and rap through the track 'Old Town Road' that topped all the charts. He was openly gay from the beginning of his career and perhaps the first ever gay artist to do that in his debut music career. 'MONTERO (Call Me By Your Name)' is perhaps the most buzzing project by Lil Nas X that sparked much controversy as he could be seen lap dancing on someone like the 'Satan'. Nas X has a bad and boujee aura along with kindness which makes him stand out.

3. Lance Bass: Lance Bass is one of the famous American music artists who possesses a versatile creative aura as a singer, dancer, actor, as well as a podcaster. Born in Laurel, Mississippi, Lance was quite talented from a young age and he quickly became the bass singer for the popular American boy band NSYNC. 5. Clay Aiken: Clay Aiken is a popular American singer who is also well-revered as an actor, television personality, as well as politician, and activist. Clay came out and declared himself gay in September 2008, through an interview with the People Magazine. Some of his best studio albums include 'A Thousand Different Ways', 'Merry Christmas with Love', 'Measure of a Man', etc many others.

6. Pablo Alborán: Spanish Pablo is well known for winning the hearts of his fans and he is not afraid to come out. Hailing from Málaga, Spain, this singer-songwriter came out in 2020 and has made significant progress in his prolific music career. Till now, Pablo has released a total of five studio albums and two EPs. Each of the album projects became a hit with the love of his fans. This music artist has won the Goya Award for Best Original Song which makes him one of the best among all.

7. Omar Apollo: Hailing from Hobart, Indiana, Omar Apollo is one of the greatest music artists with Mexican roots. The influence of mixed cultures does not hamper his musical journey but only makes it more successful. His parents moved to America from Guadalajara Mexico when he was quite young. Born on 20 May 1997; Omar is one of the most loved LGBTQ+ music artists who started his musical career with SoundCloud. He has successfully garnered more than 15 million streams online.

8. Alfie Arcuri: Alfie is from Australia and grew up in the Central Coast region. This versatile music artist was born on 19 April 1988 and quickly rose to fame by winning the fifth season of The Voice Australia which took place in 2016. After winning the show, the artist wasted no time and came up with his debut album 'Zenith' which was released on the same year only. Other than being a fine music artist, he is also a great architect. The artist came out to his family in 2013 when he was only 24 years old.

9. Rob Halford: Well, a lot of people think that people who are gay are not meant to be badass but Rob has broken the stereotype with his powerful presence. Rob Halford is one of the legendary heavy metal singers who is revered as the lead vocalist from the metal band Judas Priest. Due to his paramount musical contributions and influence, Rob was inducted into the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame in 2022. He also won the Award for Musical Excellence. The veteran metalhead has been open about his sexuality since 1998 when he first came out through an MTV interview.

10. Troye Sivan: Troye is one of the most talented music artists in the industry who was quite open about his sexuality from the beginning of his music career. He decided to come out publicly through a YouTube video which was premiered on 7 August 2013. However, his first musical recognition was when he performed a duet in 2006 with Guy Sebastian, the winner of Australian Idol. Sivan is also famous as an actor who appeared in multiple movies like 'X-Men Origins: Wolverine', 'The Idol', as well as multiple TV shows.

11. Elton John: It is hard to find a music lover who does not know the name of Elton John. This veteran British music artist has been captivating his fans for years with his magical vocal skills and the songs that offer positive energy. With a list of extraordinary contributions, Elton has been reigning in the industry for many years now. He is not just openly gay but also a true advocate for equal rights, and LGBTQ+ rights and also helped many people to get over homophobia as well as drug addiction.

12. Ryan Dolan: Born on 22 July 1985, Ryan is one of the revered Irish pop singers who has offered some of the best music projects throughout his career till now. The artist has released a handful of albums and the most famous ones are 'Frequency' and 'Deep Covers.' Ryan is best known for the 2013 Eurovision Song Contest with Only Love Survives where he represented his nation Ireland. Ryan came out in 2014.

Music artists who belong to the LGBTQ+ community have always utilized their career and fame to shed more light on the community while spreading more awareness among the fans as well as the world. These proudly gay singers have offered their advocacy and helped many others to come out.

until 2018 when he released his debut album making it into the OG rap game of Africa. His debut album, 'Testimony, 1990' brought him to the mainstream African rap game, elevating his works to be one of the most powerful releases of this age. On that year he was nominated for the BET Awards along with Nasty C. They both were nominated for the Best International Flow category in 2020. He always has been one of the few rappers from the East side of Africa who made an impression with his charming rapping style.

10. AKA from South Africa: He introduced himself to the African world of music in 2011 with his 'Victory Lap'. These several chart-topping singles were followed by his debut album, 'Alter Ego'. He is the first South African rapper who have a platinum-selling album. Yet, the tragic death of this shining star is very saddening but he will continue to live through his creative works.

11. Fik Fameica from Uganda: Hailing from Uganda, Fik Fameica acquired the spotlight when he released his single 'Byenyenyanya' in the year 2017. Afterwards, he became extremely popular and his prominence allowed him to become one of the most-booked rappers of his country. Two years before he debuted into the industry with his charming release 'Pistol' he was seen to be extremely engaging with his musical form and brilliant hip-hop elements. His release, 'Pistol' topped many charts and after the time he released his 'Property' and 'Sconto,' his popularity spiked a bit more. He is now a multiple-award-winning African rapper playing an essential role in the shaping history of the African rap game. He is also elevating the local landscape of hip-hop through his songs and powerful narratives, pushing the rap culture of Africa even further, for the world.

12. Octopizzo from Kenya: He is a man with a mission, and his songs show how it should be. She rose from poverty to the utmost glory. He strives to deliver more than just songs through his release every hip-hop lover must learn about him.

BTS's J-Hope Wins An Award In The Army Making Everyone Proud

He is “Truly one of the kindest and talented idols out there” that the world has seen. He has proved to be a worthy warrior as well in the Presentation content of the Army.

On June 4th, 2024 the army hosted a presentation competition named, “Strong Warrior, Army! Presentation Contest”. In this contest, almost 170 soldiers and civilian employees participated. One of these 170 participants, was BTS performer J-Hope.

Fans were swooned by how charming he looked in the uniform when he appeared for the content. First, J-Hope shared a speech which was later posted on the YouTube channel of the National Defense News.

During this speech, he expressed his pride in being amongst the soldiers defending his country, the Republic of Korea. He said, “in the army, I found videos and photos of BTS in the education materials that helped conscripts stay focused (during the session).”

He also added, “Every time conscripts complete their (month-long) boot camp and leave for deployment, they tell me that it was an honor to have spent time with me. It is then that I realized I am taking a valuable first step with those who will become an important part of Korea's security,” After his brief speech, J-Hope ended up getting the grand prize for this event.

This is an honor itself, yet J-Hope also has won 500,000 (USD 360) prize money, his time in the army will end on 17th October, 2024. He said, “A Korean fan came up to me and said this. They told me they were really grateful that all seven members (of BTS) are Korean citizens.

They also said to me that it was an honor that I was with the trainees every time they completed their training. Maybe that's why I feel like I'm spending very meaningful and rewarding days lately. It's a great pride to serve as a soldier for the Republic of Korea.”

This is the latest honor that the army has bestowed upon the BTS member

J-Hope. He currently is a sergeant in the Korean military and he has been given this honor for his time and the dedication he has shown for this army.

BTS has a strong fan base and, each member of the army is going gaga over this news.

Fans didn't make the slightest delay to become vocal about it and social media has been celebrating this instance openly with the world. This is one of the top prizes that anyone can acquire.

Prolific R&B singer and songwriter Joe Lington is making a buzz among all with his captivating music creation. The artist is reaching out to global music enthusiasts with his brilliant music creations. The charming presentations are assisting him to garner maximum ears from all around the world.

The intense music flow along with the mesmerizing lyricism has added a whole new charm to his work. It is his different manner of presentation that is helping him to create an individual identity among everyone. This independent artist is showcasing his talent among all by creating, recording, and producing soundtracks on his own.

The young and talented artist has recently come up with his latest album, named 'SHE'. This album has reached out to many listeners in a brief time. He has given a total of 22 soundtracks in this album. Each song is quite diverse in every aspect. With this album, the artist has conveyed a unique concept. In this modern age, relationships have weakened a lot. Often seen, people would leave each other rather than stand strong against any circumstance.

With this album, he gave a brilliant reference to how a relationship should be in this crucial time. Joe never misses his chance to entertain his audiences. And it is one of the perks that has assisted him to grow more. This artist has always been inclined to music. From an early age, he started learning singing and playing piano.

Thus, singing songs were quite natural to this artist. After establishing himself as a prolific singer, he also started producing music. This way he extended his venture and made an identity in the music realm. In his latest album 'SHE', he has offered many brilliant and diverse soundtracks.

Some of them are 'Pinkeen', 'Move Your Body', 'Hypocrisy', and 'Oh Yeah'. Each of them is truly mesmerizing as it is musically and lyrically enriched.

Joe Lington is a well-known music artist who has given many sound designs in his career. This artist has churned out the true essence of R&B music with his exceptional music creations.

Some of his other praiseworthy creations are 'You & Me', 'Changerais', 'Partir', and 'Tout Seul'. All of his soundscapes are available on Apple Music, Spotify, SoundCloud, and YouTube.

Thus, anyone can listen to his brilliant songs on these music streaming sites. Other than that, one can also follow him on Facebook, X, Instagram, and his website to learn more about his upcoming music projects.

Mike Lawson Brings Creativity on New Single 'Darius Rucker - Alright'

Alternative and Christian Rock music is one of the most appreciated genres in the current music industry.

Very few artists have the ability to present the authentic essence of these genres with ease while conveying the emotions rightly. Mike Lawson is one such artist who is capable of doing that and with each record that he put out, he proved that.

Through several musical releases, the artist has proved it is his talent and hard work that allowed him to reach this level of artistic maturity. Increasing his reach with every release, the artist has now released another track, 'Darius Rucker - Alright' and on YouTube, it is already creating strong waves.

The track is extremely well-made and composed and it has the capability to become the most-streamed track of the artist's discography. It also has the ability to put his name out on the world music stage and get him the recognition he fully deserves.

Lawson is a seasoned musician who has been doing covers as well as original music for long. Hailing from Baltimore, Maryland, the artist has always found pleasure in making music, especially since music has been his passion since childhood. Taking influence and inspiration from the legend of the industry, the artist started on this journey and has been dedicated to his true passion ever since.

Mike Lawson started with music at just the tender age of fifteen. He would dabble in drums here and there and played in a few High School Bands.

After finishing high school he went to join the United States Army where he met various kinds of people and some of them were musicians. It was then when the artist started playing guitar and singing in recreation centers on Military bases and it sparked his interest even more. After coming back from the Army, Lawson began to do local gigs and work with different bands.

Although he has loved playing with the bands, going solo has always been a dream of his that he wanted to achieve. It was that dream that jump-started his career as a solo musician and inspired him to release such an intriguing and influential discography.

'Darius Rucker -Alright' is a cover song that was originally released in 2008, from Rucker's album 'Learn to Live'. Although the song is a beautiful composition on its own, Lawson has given his own touch to the song, elevating the composition to the next level. Released under Pernell Records, the song carries a certain rawness that becomes its main attraction.

The singer has also given great vocals, complementing the beautiful lyrics of the track. You can listen to the song on YouTube, along with some of his previous releases; 'Brantley Gilbert You don't Know her like I do', 'Incubus Megalomaniac', 'Concert - Covid 19 Sessions', 'Maroon 5 -She Will Be Loved', 'Tauren Wells- Hills and Valleys', etc.

Stay connected to the singer on Instagram, and Facebook.

JOIN MAX CINNAMON'S ASPIRING MUSICAL JOURNEY AS HE RELEASES 'MAX CINNAMON VOL1'

The genre of Pop and Rock music is vast, and such an extensive style of music needs skilled musicians to produce unique and new tracks to keep listeners entertained. One such artist is Max Cinnamon who is rapidly changing the rules of the industry with his unique singing and writing style.

It is the fresh and raw emotions that he brings to the table that undeniably give audiences a unique listening experience. Now with his newest EP out, the artist is showcasing his true talent, craftsmanship, and skills to be what it takes to survive in the competitive world of music and still shine brighter than everything.

In his newest EP, the singer brings emotions, tranquility, purity, and the authentic essence of the Pop/Rock genre. 'Max Cinnamon Vol1' has a total of 4 tracks that all bring different listening experiences and vibes to the audiences.

'Thunder Cloud' is written by Jonathan Bluth, Max Zachariah Cinnamon, and The Real Jon Smith performed and produced, both by the artist. Similarly, 'City On Fire', and 'Classical Ending' are written by Jonathan Bluth, Max Zachariah Cinnamon, Vincent Ott, and Jonathan Bluth, Max Zachariah Cinnamon, and Trevan respectively.

However, the song that is impressing the listeners the most is 'I Got The Worst', written by Jonathan Bluth, and Max Zachariah Cinnamon. This track is also produced and performed by Max Zachariah Cinnamon.

This shows the artist is equally talented at singing, songwriting, and composing as he showed expert creativity in every category. The artist has always been really connected to music and made it his one and true passion.

Since his childhood, music has attracted Max Cinnamon which later convinced him to make a career out of it. Born in London, the artist picked up the violin at age 4, realizing his love for music.

Growing up with a sister, it was her singing lessons that helped Max grow into a naturally confident singer who started his singing journey by singing a cover of "You're Beautiful" by James Blunt. So since his childhood, he knew he had to do something for his music, which led him to become one of the most precious talents this music industry has ever seen.

'Max Cinnamon Vol1' is a special project where the artist has shown all of his creative artistry, bringing the A-game to the EP. In his entire discography, and writing credits, the artist has collaborated with several artists, making many songs that the world listens to and dances to. One single that solidified his career, even more, is 'Ailleurs'.

You can listen to the newly released EP on Spotify, Apple Music, and YouTube. To stay updated, follow the artist on Facebook, X, Instagram, and his website.

The Biggest Ukrainian Music Festival Is Going To Take Place For The First Time Since The Russian Invasion

The ATLAS UNITED is going to return for the very first time after the Russian invasion. The largest music festival is going to happen from 12th-14th July.

ATLAS, the biggest music festival in Ukraine is going to take place for the very first time after the Russian invasion. The last time this music festival happened was in 2021.

The total number of audiences in 2021 was 600000, which is a huge number. It was hosted by The Chemical Brothers, Liam Gallagher, Kasabian, Placebo, and The Prodigy.

ATLAS UNITED, which was known as ATLAS will happen at the Blockbuster Mall in the capital of Ukraine, Kyiv.

As of now, it is coming to know that the festival will start on the 12th of July and will end on the 14th of July. The festival is happening after two years, which is a matter of excitement for everyone.

There will be more than 70 Ukrainian artists who will perform at the music festival.

Along with that, many international artists will also perform. The names of the international artists haven't been disclosed yet.

Artists from all around the world are showing their support for this music festival.

The situation in Ukraine is still under threat and the country has been going through difficult times for more than two years.

That is why, it has been decided that the accumulated money of the tickets will be donated to the armed forces of the country.

Many precautions are taken for this music festival. If there is any signal of attack from Russia, audiences will get the chance to avail shelter, which has been structured as underground parking.

Recently, the former Eurovision winner, Jamala has said it is quite important for the artists to be 'loud and creative'.

She has stated 'There are many wars now in the world and, of course, it is not easy to constantly keep attention on yourself so that people do not get tired of our war'.

Jamala has also said 'But that is our task, people who remain in Ukraine, people who are fighting, to be as loud and creative ... this is the task of artists to find new ways of how to reveal and show their country'.

Previously in many cases, it was found out that due to the war, many casualties have happened to Ukrainian civilians. Thus, she fears that this time it shouldn't happen.

Railbird Music Festival Review: Chris Stapleton, Noah Kahan Creates Magic

The two-day music festival Railbird at Lexington surely had on-again and off-again moments with the rain, but the performances shone brighter than the sun! The Lexington music festival Railbird took place on June 1-2, at the Infield at Red Mile in Lexington, KY. This two-day music festival saw over 45,000 people in attendance who rocked in the field to the dynamic music of this year's even more dynamic lineup.

Although the festival had on-and-off moments with the rain, the music and unique collaborations on stage shone brighter than anything, making it worth it. This year's lineup included Chris Stapleton, Noah Kahan, Wynonna, Elle King, Counting Crows, and Hozier, and they gave us some exceedingly memorable moments of music and celebration.

A memorable cheeky moment:

A sweet and kind of weird moment with a fan happened during Chris Stapleton's set at the Railbird on Sunday night. Before the musician's performance of "Parachute", his attention was caught by a young fan present in the crowd. The Lexington-born singer spotted a fan who would just graduate from his alma mater, Johnson Central High School in Paintsville, riding the rail. This sweet young fan brought his diploma with him for Stapleton to sign. "Sign your JCHS diploma? Did you bring your high school diploma to a festival?" said Stapleton. "Hell yeah, I'll sign it. That's too weird man, thank you!"

Rain made its debut!

At the fourth iteration of the festival, second at the Red Mile, the most notable debutante was the rain. At Saturday's action, a persistent drizzle loomed all over, but afternoon showers came straight for Sunday, making the attendees run for cover. The first wave of the rain came in the middle of a fiery performance from bluegrass mainstays the Infamous Stringdusters. Ironically, the band had just begun their set beckoning for the sun to break through the cloudy skies with "Rise Sun."

Cut set for Dwight Yoakam

Pikeville native musician Dwight Yoakam's set started late and was cut short at the Railbird Music Festival due to heat exhaustion. Yoakam, 67, said he was overheated and dehydrated. However, he returned a few minutes later on stage and performed two more songs, ending his set early. He said on the mic, "They gave me a shot of some Kentucky bourbon and I'm better now. I said, 'Man oh man.' I kept looking at that storm cloud and I started seeing images of things coming out of it and I was like, 'This is not right.' But thank you for your patience, and sorry about that. It is historic for me, that's only the second time in my entire career, about 38 years now, that I ever started to pass out on stage. Except for just, you know, the vapors at how good I might have thought I was at one time."

Stage surprises

Besides the rain, the other surprises for the weekend were definitely the unexpected collaborations on the stage. Kentucky legend Wynonna welcomed Turnpike Troubadours' frontman Evan Felker to add harmonica on "Ain't No Thing" and Marcus King for a set-closing "No One Else On Earth." King also kept the surprises rolling as he Nashville by way of Sandy Hook, Ky., native Leah Blevins for the gospel-infused "Down In The River To Pray." However, the biggest surprising collaboration was from Noah Kahan who brought out Counting Crows' singer Adam Duritz to perform the band's "A Long December". But that is not all, the crowd also witnessed him welcome Hozier ahead of his Sunday set for "Northern Attitude."

Governor's Ball 2024: The Phenomenal Music Festival Has Taken Place In New York

This year, one of the most exciting festivals, the Governor's Ball occurred from the 7th to the 9th of June at the Queens's Flushing Meadows Corona Park, NYC. Governor's Ball has recently taken place in Queens, New York City. The Queens's Flushing Meadows Corona Park is not usually filled with visitors but this time in the Governor's Ball the scenario is quite different. Various artists have come to the music festival to perform. The excellent performances have set the stage on fire. Rock band, The Killers have not only performed but also brought a fan on stage for playing the drums for their popular soundtrack 'For Reasons Unknown'.

This music festival took place from the 7th to the 9th of June. This three-day music festival has been one of the most exciting music festivals. One got to witness the brilliant performances of renowned music artists and bands. Other than that, the electrifying pop-ups, different food trucks, and various other activities have made the music festival even more charming.

The music artist Chappell Roan came in all green, which is another spectacular sight for all. Every year, the Governor's Ball comes up with something very new for all the audiences. This time, the mesmerizing transformation in the forest has made the music festival even more captivating. In addition to that, there was a Lady Liberty statue, which had a full tattooed sleeve.

At the venue of the music festival, the pink neon trees have enhanced the whole festival location. The completely transformed Queens Park has been the center of attraction for all music enthusiasts.

Along with listening to music, one can spot many connections of the bar, restrooms, Instagrammable corners, and much more. The name of the music festival came from the venue where it used to take place, which was Governor's Island. But over the years, it is coming to see that the venues are changing with each passing year. It has occurred on Randall's Island and Citi Field. And now it has shifted to New York City. However, the name of the music festival is still intact.

This year at the Governor's Ball, artists and music bands like Arcy Drive, Stephen Sanchez, Queen Herby, Sabrina Carpenter, Post Malone, The Killers, SZA, Tyla, Jessie Murph, and many others have played.

Their outstanding performances have made the music festival one of a kind.

And that is why, it has gotten huge appreciation from all.

Halsey Announces The First Single From Their Upcoming Album Project

The 'Closer' singer Halsey is ready to drop their fifth studio album and the release of the leading track is scheduled on June 4th. Find hints at "ForMyLastTrick.com."

After a long wait, Halsey has finally come up with a brand new album, making their previous pop era disappear. They have confirmed the release of their fifth studio album while teasing the project with its first single. The album is finally complete and the lead track will be released soon.

Halsey took this moment to create anticipation by sharing the cover artwork through social media on Monday, June 3rd. They wrote, "I'm releasing the first song off my 5th album tomorrow 6/04 at 9 am pt / 12 et. Before the first single comes, I wanted to share this. It means a lot to me and I love it." The singer-songwriter further added, "Let's try something different this time and start at 'The End.'"

This announcement follows another incident where fans found that Halsey has revealed a cryptic website which is called "ForMyLastTrick.com." The webpage offers many illustrated badges and some of them can be considered as hints regarding her upcoming album project. For example, there is a badge shaped like a vinyl record that takes listeners to a Spotify playlist that is filled with some of the most iconic retro tracks from the late '60s and early '70s. It shows an illustration of a doctor who is X-raying a patient's heart.

It makes an ominous sound when clicked on the badge. There is also a badge that seems like a ticket stub with the label "The End," and clicking on the badge offers a letter from Halsey that pops up on the screen. The letter starts with "As you may have guessed, I have written a new album," along with a mysterious date "6/?/71," which is perhaps an indication of release. The letter further reads, "But I needed some time to figure out how to say what I needed to say. You see, I've been holding and I need to let it out."

It seems like Halsey has poured down a hefty dose of themselves through this album as the letter reads, "There's so much I am going to reveal on this record, but you need to know some of the story first." Confirming the release of the first single, they added, "So before the chaos and confetti of big singles and album releases I just need to tell you, my friend, why it all matters this time. I'm releasing a new song on June 4. It's just for us."

Let's join the musical journey with Halsey as they said, "Let's start at THE END."

Demi Lovato Finds 'Hope' After Her Dreadful Mental Health Struggles

Demi Lovato has been an open book when it comes to her mental health battle. Now the artist has found 'hope' in her life, which is helping her a lot.

The American singer-songwriter Demi Lovato found 'hope' after dealing with mental health issues for a long time. Previously, the artist has talked about her mental health struggles. She is one of the few celebrities who have uttered their struggles publicly.

She has said how faced problems like eating disorders and various abuses. She has fought many battles in her mental health journey, which is quite inspirational for many.

She has admitted how she is asking for help and confronting all the problems she is going through. Demi also said how she was 'defeated' for the fifth time while seeking help. She stated 'I have been to inpatient treatment five times, and it has something that every single time I walked back into a treatment center, I felt defeated'.

She also said 'And I know that experience firsthand, but I think the glimmer of hope was when I started putting in the work and I started to, whether it was work, a program, or talk to my treatment team and build relationships there'.

Later that, she optimistically said 'I think the glimmer of hope started to change when I started to find joy and the little things in life. And that was something that was so foreign to me before because I was so used to, so used to not seeing hope'.

Demi Lovato has gone to rehab many times. In 2018, she almost gave up and was near death. She has been a drug abuser in her life and that took her to that stage in her life.

Now the artist has been sober for straight six years. After going through a traumatic phase in 2018, she channeled all her emotions to the 2021 album 'Dancing with the Devil... the Art of Starting Over'.

She is overcoming her situation with her music creations. Demi focuses more on her work to deal with her mental health condition.

And now the artist has said how she is finding 'hope' in her life, which is helping her in many aspects. Everyone has witnessed her traumatic journey and is able to understand how much trouble she has faced in her life, which has somehow made an impact on her career too.

Fans can now follow Demi Lovato on Facebook | Instagram | and Twitter

Rihanna Reveals The Launch Date For Fenty Hair's New Hair Care Line

Fenty is Rihanna's 5th business that she has founded. Recently she has revealed recently about her upcoming hair care line, which is going live by the end of this June.

Earlier this week she chose Instagram to share about her upcoming hair care brand. Recently she was seen in a very charming blond pixie cut and made some colorful shorts to create a thriving anticipation for this hair care brand.

In the post, She wrote in the caption, "A new family is moving in! @fentyhair is pullin' up and it's time to finally have the hair experience you've been waiting for," She also added, "You know how much switching my hair up matters to me."

Then she continued, "I've had almost every texture, color, [and] length – from weaves to braids to natural. So, I am launching a flexible line of products for not only every hair want, but every single product is designed to strengthen and repair all types of hair, which is what we truly need! It's time to play and get stronger by the style."

The official document of this upcoming hair care line has shown that it is a "Non-medicated hair care preparations; Non-medicated dandruff shampoo; Hair styling preparations; Hair straightening preparations; Hair relaxing preparations; Hair waving preparations; Non-medicated hair restoration lotions; Hair bleaching preparations; Hair coloring preparations, and Hair glitter."

Hence, Rihanna doesn't have decided which products she should be launching initially.

This is going to be her fifth company after she founded the Exponential Fenty Empire in 2017.

She first started this company with a make-up line and the world is still a fan of this cosmetic brand.

After two years, she started her Fenty fashion house where she brought together the French luxury goods conglomerate, LVMH, and the the size-inclusive lingerie brand Savage X Fenty.

In 2020, she debuted in the skincare line as well. She also launched the Fenty X Puma shoe collection about which she said, "I already got stuff I feel like I could make hits out of".

She also added that she and her partner, A$AP Rocky have to "figure out who's going to use what because it's so good".

According to sources, she filed for Fenty Hair in 2021, and due to the pandemic, this delay has happened. Yet her fans are waiting for her 2025 world tour.

Kevin Jonas Has Undergone A Surgery For Skin Cancer

One of the Jonas Brothers, Kevin Jonas has recently revealed his surgery regarding skin cancer. He said 'Make sure to get those moles checked, people'.

The eldest of the Jonas Brothers, Kevin Jonas has unveiled the news of getting skin cancer. The artist has gone through surgery and getting more treatments.

Recently Kevin shared the news of getting diagnosed with basal cell carcinoma. He had a small mole on his face, which came out as cancer cells. Now the artist is trying to raise awareness regarding skin cancer.

This particular type of skin cancer occurs due to excessive exposure to the sun's UV rays. For our skin UV rays are really dangerous.

Not taking any kind of precautions can lead to things like this. Kevin shared a video of himself where he revealed the news.

And at the very first he said while showing the cancer spot that 'Yes, that is an actual little skin cancer guy that has started to grow. And now I have to get surgery to remove it, so here we go'.

Later in the video, he added a clip of his post-surgery and stated

'Alright, I'm all done. Now it's time to heal. Heading home. Make sure to get those moles checked people'. In the post, he has captioned 'Friendly reminder to get your moles checked ?'.

This news has created a buzz among all of his fans. People have been quite concerned about his health condition.

But the artist has assured all that his health condition is now better. Currently, the Jonas Brothers are on their tour 'Five Albums, One Night'. In between the tours, he came to know about his condition. As of now, they have taken a break from the tours. It is coming to know that the Jonas Brothers will start their tour again in August. They will start from Mexico and later they will go for the European leg of the tour.

Their tour for the European leg will start from 9th September to 16th October.

For Europe, they have planned many things. They have announced to perform in places like London, Paris, Birmingham, Glasgow, Belfast, Manchester, Amsterdam, Dublin, and more.

Their fans are eagerly waiting for the 'Five Albums, One Night'. Due to the 'unforeseen scheduling conflicts', the dates of the tour have been postponed. But it is going to resume very soon.

Bebe Rexha Was Found Slamming G-Eazy In Heated Now-Deleted Post

Pop singer Bebe Rexha seems to be quite pissed with G-Eazy's behavior as she slammed the rapper in the Instagram post. It is safe to say, that there are never working together!

Well, it seems like Bebe Rexha and G-Eazy are never going to work together again. Even after 9 years of smashing the track together, "Me, Myself & I," the bitterness is still there and it was revealed through an Instagram post on Thursday.

Rexha called out her collaborator G-Eazy and said that the artist has been treating her poorly after the release of the hit track together in 2015. However, the post is now deleted.

She wrote "You're lucky people are liking you again," and tagged G-Eazy. The singer further added, "Cause I could go in on all the sh*tty things you've done and how you treated me after giving you your only real hit." However, there was something that triggered the artist as someone from her team asked her whether she still wanted to work together with the rapper for social media content.

Rexha shared the screenshot and said, "You have my number." She further added, "Why don't you text me and ask me yourself you stuck up ungrateful loser," and savagely concluded, "Btw the answer is no," and said, "Hope you good."

Bebe Rexha calls out G-Eazy after she was asked to shoot social media content with him: "you have my number. Why don't you text me and ask me yourself you stuck up ungrateful loser. You're lucky people are liking you again. Cause I could go in on all the sh*tty things you've done and how you treated me after giving you your only real hit. Btw the answer is no." (X)

'Me, Myself & I' was one of the greatest music projects by the duet that debuted on the Billboard Hot 100 back in 2015. The duet also worked together for the music project "F.F.F." which appeared on Bebe Rexha's EP project 'All Your Fault Pt. 1.' This track also performed well and reached No. 51 on the Billboard 200.

The now-deleted Instagram post came after G-Eazy dropped a brand-new single, titled "Anxiety." In May, Rexha has also dropped a new song "Chase It" which is currently garnering much attention. However, the singer is pushed to her limits by the concertgoers as she is found putting out a concertgoer at her show which took place in Wisconsin.

The person was apparently trying to throw something at the singer when she shouted "Out, out." Last year, Bebe Rexha suffered a serious facial injury when one of the concert-goers threw his phone at the artist during a show. She said, "Or, if you wanna hit me in the face, I had to press charges for the other guy — I'd love to become richer."

Talented American singer and songwriter Dasha is known for beautiful country vocals that can enthrall the listeners and she is proving that again by dropping an official music video for her hit banger 'Austin'. It goes without saying that she has poured a hefty dose of creativity into the track that offers a renewed flavor of country music. Music lovers might have already witnessed the country approach among all artists, especially the young and emerging artists who are offering a new creative wave in the genre. Dasha is one of the top of them and she is currently getting much attention with 'Austin' revamped popularity.

'Austin' is the first music project by her that allowed her to make her first entry to the Billboard charts. In this month, the song has peaked in the top 20 list on the Billboard Hot 100 chart. The song received global attention from not only music lovers but also the country music industry which is reviving with the innovative approaches by the artist Dasha. She started her musical career back in 2020 with the single "Don't Mean a Thing" which was released under the label of Famouz Records. Later on, the artist signed with Quadio Records and offered her fans many creative projects like '21st Birthday', 'None of My Business', '$hiny Things', etc to name some. Spreading her creative all around the world, the singer dropped her debut album 'Dirty Blonde' in 2023 which offers an accumulation of her string of single projects.

American country singer and songwriter, Dasha is currently revolving at the epitome of everyone's attention with the latest official music video of her hit song, 'Austin'.

Dasha's Raw Country Essences reflects Through 'Austin's Latest Music Video

In 2023, Dasha released the track 'Austin' on November 17 and created a major buzz in the country music scene. Considering Beyonce's 'Cowboy Carter', the popularity of Shaboozey, and Post Malone's collaboration with Morgan Wallen; all these music projects and their popularity among the global music lovers show that country music is back to new heights. Thanks to unique artists like Dasha who knows how to pour a hefty dose of individuality through each music project. 'Austin' is a highly emotive music project that consists of a fair share of romantic essence too. With the latest music video, the theme is well established and the singer has done a good job with her acting skills too.

Anna Dasha Novotny, better known as Dasha is only 24 years old now, and she has already peaked on the top charts. It is evident, that the country singer-songwriter to prepared for a long and successful musical journey. She has signed with Warner Records and also performed at the 2024 CMT Awards which took place in Austin, Texas. Performing 'Austin' in Austin is truly remarkable, isn't it?

Ankit Tiwary Stopped His Show As A Cameraman Fainted On Stage

The Bollywood music artist Ankit Tiwary stopped his concert midway in Mumbai as one of the camerapersons fainted and fell on stage suddenly.

Renowned Hindi music artist, Ankit Tiwary stopped his concert in Mumbai on the 8th of June. The artist stopped midway as one of the cameramen fainted and fell on stage. Ankit's concert took place at the Carter Road Amphitheater.

The singer and composer stopped singing when he saw that a cameraperson had fallen on stage. On Instagram, from a video, it came to see that the artist rushed right away towards the man when he saw him. The cameraman was filming his performance when it happened.

After that, Ankit offered water and made sure that he had gotten the right treatments. Till now it was his song that captivated his audiences, but after the incident, it was his gesture that everyone praised. Netizens have said 'This is called humanity' and the other person said 'He is gem'. Truly, he showed an admirable gesture. This should definitely be appreciated.

Ankit Tiwary is a renowned singer and composer who has given many songs in his career. He worked in phenomenal movies like 'Aashiqui 2', 'PK', 'Singham Returns', 'Roy', and more.

Later, he got involved in some controversy in the music industry and after that, he has gone through a tough time in both his personal and professional life.

The scandal almost destroyed his music career. However, the artist is now started working on more music projects and focusing on his career. In an interview, once he said 'People stopped working together, pulled their hands back.

Without giving any reason, they withdrew me from many projects. Most of my work which was in the finishing stage was also closed. I lost so much. But that doesn't mean I gave up. I have been doing something'.

The artist also said 'When such phases arrive, very few people stand with you.

There were some people in the industry who were with me, whom I actually call my family. Those with whom I have worked were also in my support.

It is said that when all the doors are closed, God keeps one gate open. The same happened to me. When all the doors were closed, one gate was open. I left from there too. I have come a long way now'. Later on, the artist started regaining his fame by working on movies like 'Malang', 'Big Bull', 'Baaghi 2', 'Shiddat', and more.

Enjoy The Full Sufi Experience With The 6 Best Sufi Songs

Sufi music is one of the most popular musical genres in India and the subcontinent. So here are the best Sufi songs that will give listeners a memorable experience.

The rise of Sufi music in India, and especially the Bollywood film industry is something that should be noted. Rahat Fateh Ali Khan, the eminent singer-composer says, "One thing is certain if something is gaining popularity that means there is a market and audience for it."

New things will come but pure Sufi music will stay as it has for centuries." When we talk about Sufi music, it is not something that came out of the blue, it is a form of spiritual music that has been in the subcontinent for years, acknowledged by real artists, artists who dared to experiment with their musicality. Now, with the help of talented composers and music directors, this music genre is gaining massive popularity in mainstream Hindi movies and the music industry.

So what makes Sufi music so popular and loved across the various languages and music lovers? The answer lies in the intensity of the music type. According to researchers and music experts, Sufi music presents an ecstatic and transcendental state for the listeners, which is an entire experience in itself. At the same time, the style addresses emotions like the pure love for the divine, the anxiety of being separated from the supreme reality, and the curiosity to be close and really know about the creator of the universe, which is quite uncommon in other musical genres.

What is Sufi music?

Sufi music is a type of music that refers to the devotional music of the Sufis, people from the school of practice, focusing on the spiritual search for God while abandoning materialism. The music started from the inspiration of Sufi poets like Amir Khusrow, Rumi, Hafiz, Khwaja Ghulam Farid, and Bulleh Shah.

The music is central to the Sema ceremony of Islam culture, the whirling dervishes. Qawwali is the best-known form of Sufi music, and the love and devotional songs are performed as ghazals and Kafi. If you, like many others in India and the subcontinent, enjoy Sufi music, then here are the best 6 songs from the genre that will give you the ultimate Sufi experience.

1. Duma Dum Mast Qalandar - This beautiful composition is considered a Sufi anthem for real music lovers. This is the ultimate spiritual Sufi song that often finds its place amid the convergence of both spiritual music lovers and party-holics. Its rich history which dates back to the 13th century was written by the original and eminent Sufi poet Amir Khusrow. Khusrow crafted the beautiful poem to honor Lal Shahbaz Qalandar, the most admired Sufi saint. The astonishing lyrics were penned by Amir Khusrow as a prayer and later modified by Bulleh Shah in the eighteenth century.

It was Bulleh Shah who woven the poem into the music of Qawwali. Over the years 'Duma Dum Mast Qalandar' has been subjected to several renditions, reviving the craze for the hypnotic composition from time to time. One of the most popular renditions of the track is the melody composed by Pakistani music composer Master Ashiq Hussain. The song is called 'Lal Meri Pat' and was originally composed for the 1956 Pakistani film "Jabroo", sung by Inayat Hussain Bhatti, Fazal Hussain, and A.R. Bismil. However, the most popular rendition was 'Dama Dam Mast Qalandar' from the 1969 Pakistani film "Dillan DeySoudey".

This included the original composition of Ashiq Hussain and was sung by Noor Jehan. Legendary Pakistani musicians Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan and M. Arshad composed a new rendition of the track, inspired by "Dam Mast Qalandar", with a completely different melody and arrangement. Khan later sang this song and used it in the Pakistani film "Boxer" which was popularized as 'Dam Mast Qalandar' or 'Mast Mast'.

2. Khwaja Mere Khwaja - Another Sufi rendition that will fill your hearts with love for the divine and give you that ultimate feeling of being blended with the demiurge, is 'Khwaja Mere Khwaja' from the Film Jodhaa Akbar. The film came in 2008 and was directed by Ashutosh Gowariker which focused on the political marriage between Mughal Emperor Jalaluddin Akbar and Jodhaa, daughter of Raja Bharmal. In the beautifully designed set, the song comes in to present one of the most beautiful moments the Hindi Film industry ever witnessed. Written by Kashif, the song was composed, and sung by the illustrious musician, A.R. Rahman. The composer and singer later confirmed that the song was not made for any film in particular, certainly not for Jodhaa Akbar. Rather he composed it for himself to listen to. Interestingly, this song is one of the most splendid Sufi compositions that Bollywood has.

3. Saansonki Mala - A beautiful Sufi rendition that is penned down by the most dedicated devotee of Lord Krishna, Meera Bai is 'Sansonki Mala pe Simrun Mai Pee Ka Naam'. It is one of many bhajans that Meera Bai wrote for Lord Krishna in the sixteenth century. The lyrics of this bhajan are extremely powerful and perfectly convey the all-consuming love that a devotee has for her lord, whom she considers as her 'Priyatam' or lover.

Now the song is one of the most popular songs that is performed at Hindu devotional gatherings. The song showcases how powerful the love of a devotee can be so that it can transcend the devotee to the higher dimensions of spirituality. Later Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan re-wrote this as a song and performed during the time of his first visit to India in 1979.

In 1996, the song was recomposed for the film "Jeet" by Nadeem-Shravan. The film had Salman Khan, Karisma Kapoor, and Sunny Deol. 'Saansonki Mala' was again used in the 1997 Hindi film "Koyla", starring Shah Rukh Khan and Madhuri Dixit. It was recomposed by Rajesh Roshan and was sung by Kavita Krishnamurthy. The last rendition we heard was in 2011, for the film "Trishna" where Michael Winterbottom used the original composition.

4. Piya Haji Ali - A clue that hints toward a great Sufi song is that it must be soaked in devotion and 'Piya Haji Ali' is the kind of song that if you listen just for once, it will be very hard to forget.

Used in the movie "Fiza" in 2000, the masterful composition is done by none other than A.R Rahman and penned by Shoukat Ali. "Kiske Dil Me Kya Chupa Hai, Sab Tumhe Malum Hai", the lyrics are soulfully dedicated to Pir Haji Ali Shah Bukhari, the eminent saint from the nineteenth century.

This beautiful Sufi rendition is written from the irrespective of realizing the divine's unbiased and pure love. Singing or even listening to the track in a quiet place can be a soul-bearing and powerful experience for anyone. If you are in search of a deep sense of relaxation and the feeling of uniting with the celestial being, then 'Piya Haji Ali' is most definitely your song.

5. 'Chap Tilak Sab' - 'Chap Tilak Sab' is another Sufi rendition that dates back to the fourteenth century. Penned by the renowned Amir Khusro, the mystical and melodious lyrics of the track made it one of the most popular and well-loved songs in the world of modern Qawwali and Sufi music lovers.

The poetry is the ideal blend of true Islamic and Indian cultures and is written in the Western Indian language, BrajBhasha. This poem is known as Khusro's most popular Kalam, a penned version of the imagination of his devotion toward the omnipresent and how it binds them together. The poem is also an epic example of the Middle Eastern art form entangling with Indic philology.

'Chaaptilak sab cheeni' revolves around the theme of the power of just a mere glance from the divine. The composition has later been sung by various legendary singers like Ustad Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan, Mehnaz Begum, Naheed Akhtar, Abida Parveen, Lata Mangeshkar, Asha Bhosle, Rahat Fateh Ali Khan, Kailash Kher, Kavita Seth, and many more.

6. 'Bhar Do Jholi' - Another popular and heartening Sufi rendition of the modern world is 'Bhar Do Jholi' which was popularized by the late Sabri Brothers. The song was penned by the eminent Urdu poet Purnam Allahabadi in praise of Allah.

The lyrics are about the supreme divine who is also a provider of spiritual bliss along with materialistic needs. In the 1970s, the Sabri Brothers released their greatest hit qawwalis including 'Bhar Do Jholi'. The song 'Bhar Do Jholi Meri Ya Muhammad' was later heard in the film "Bin BadalBarsat", released in 1975.

The most modern rendition of the song was heard in the 2015 movie "Bajrangi Bhaijan". Starring Salman Khan, Kabir Khan, and Nawazuddin Siddiqui, the movie had the song in the voice of Adnan Sami which received much love and appreciation from the Sufi lovers all across.

Other than these 6 tracks, some of the other most famous Sufi songs are 'Mera Piya Ghar Aaya', 'Halka Halka Surroor', 'Eri Sakhi Mohe Piya GharAaye', etc. Sufism can be seen in nuance in various Indian music, art, and literature forms.

The ideology of Sufi music voices for peace, love, and harmony, moreover, the idea that the love that we receive from the omnipresent is equal for everyone.

Arijit Singh Collaborates With Globally Renowned DJ Martin Garrix

Indian singer Arijit Singh is teaming up with world-famous DJ Martin Garrix for an upcoming music project and the DJ has just shared a photo of them together.

India's heartthrob singer Arijit Singh is now collaborating with acclaimed DJ Martin Garrix and it has been confirmed that there is an upcoming track ready to release.

This global union and unique music project are sparking a huge buzz among the fans along with a fair share of anticipation.

A recent photo of these two artists sitting together has just gone viral what seems to be a jamming session on a comfy rooftop. Fans are quite excited to experience the fusion of Singh's mesmerizing vocals along with Garrix with his skills in creating outrageous EDM compositions.

Garrix has shared the photo on Instagram and the Indian fans are now going crazy over it.

Previously, Arijit Singh has shared his desire for collaborating with Martin which was perhaps an indication for the latest partnership. The photo on Instagram was captioned "incredible week, thank you @arijitsingh" which affirms that these two have been working on a new music project for the past week.

It goes without saying that fans of both artists have showered love and appreciation through the comments and some of them also said, "This is huge, cannot wait for the collab," as well as, "One of the biggest collabs is coming, wow".

Last year Arijit Singh appeared in a podcast hosted by Tarsame Mittal.

At the podcast, he shared his dream of collaborating with globally famous DJ Martin Garrix and also appreciated the DJ's works and compositions that inspired him.

Right after the podcast, it was noticed that Garrix and Singh are following each other on Instagram and it seems like they have secretly cooking a new music project.

Martin Garrix is one of the best DJs around the world who is best known for his hit tracks like 'Summer Days', 'Animals', 'In the Name of Love' and many others.

The DJ has previously shown appreciation for his Indian fans and said, "India is one of my favorite countries to perform at, so I'm super excited to finally return and party with all my fans".

The DJ has been coming to India for many years now and last year he performed for a tour at Bengaluru.

There's no doubt that he is going to make millions of more Indian fans with this upcoming music project.

Megan Thee Stallion Has Just Dropped An Alternate Album Cover For 'MEGAN'

Fans have offered more approval after Megan Thee Stallion dropped an alternative cover for her upcoming album project 'Megan' which is all set released this June.

The anticipation for Megan Thee Stallion's upcoming album was already quite high and now, the artist has increased it a notch higher with an alternate album cover.

A couple of weeks before the release of the album 'MEGAN', she is teasing the projects with an artistic cover that has garnered many positive reviews.

On the album cover, Megan could be seen coming out of a broken eggshell with a big 'M' behind it.

Seductively shimmering and as powerful as always, the album cover enhances the hype among the fans.

Perhaps the album cover signifies a rebirth of the artist as the other cover also shows Megan getting out of a cocoon just like a butterfly.

The alternate cover art has gained more approval than the first one fans provided positive responses.

However, it is still unpredictable whether Megan will decide to change the previous art cover with the alternate one or not.

But fans on Instagram have shown their bias over the alternate cover with even a pole.

Megan is currently gaining at full throttle on her musical journey and music projects are lined up.

She has recently joined Flo Milli and Latto for a "Sunday Service" remix.

'Megan' is going to be her third studio album after the 2022 release of 'Traumazine'.

'Megan' holds more attention as this is the first eponymous album by Megan and her first album was

'Good News'.

Usually, music artists release such eponymous albums as their debut which offers an introduction to them and their work.

Releasing a namesake album after gaining much popularity could signify that Megan is planning for something big.

There are a lot of serpentine references in this tracklist as each single is titled after snakes.

The lead single is 'Cobra', the second single is 'Hiss' and the third single is 'Boa'. Stay tuned to find out more about the upcoming album.

Katy Perry Makes An Epic Comeback With 'Woman's World'

It is time for Katy Perry to return to the music industry with a blast as the artist has just announced the release of a brand new track 'Woman's World', also appearing on her upcoming album.

American Idol's judge Katy Perry is well revered for her daring moves and playful nature however, fans have been missing her music too.

Well, no more waiting as Katy Perry is all set to increase the buzz again with her upcoming music project 'Woman's World'. This upcoming track is all set to drop on July 11th.

Perry's epic comeback to music as an artist seems like a rejuvenation of her career as she has been only participating as a judge for a long time.

It is safe to say that the 'Roar' singer is ready to own the music scene again and the anticipation is quite high.

'Woman's World' will be also released with an accompanying music video that is scheduled on July 12, following the audio release.

The artist has also released a teaser for the new project where the single cover's artwork can be found.

British photographer Jack Bridgland did a worthy job as Katy is 'Slaying' in her sexy white bikini outfit that is complemented by the robotic or armored legs. It is amazing to witness how Katy Perry has not aged at all through all these years.

Katy Perry's manager, Bradford Cobb, confirms that Katy's leaks circulating online are not real. A little snippet of the song can be also found in TikTok where Perry sings, "Sexy, confident / So intelligent / She is heaven sent / So soft / So strong," along with a bouncy pop beat.

The name of the track and lyricism suggest that the upcoming project is also based on the theme of women's empowerment. 'Woman's World' is the lead single from Katy Perry's seventh studio album which will be released soon.

The song is currently available for pre-ordering on a CD as well as a 7" vinyl pressing.

This year, back in February, Katy Perry officially announced at Jimmy Kimmel Live! that this year is going to be her last season as the judge of American Idol, which is season 22.

This season's singing champion Abi Carter gave her sobbing eyes by singing "What Was I Made For?" by Billie Eilish. Evidently, Perry is ready to come to the music industry as the 39-year-old music artist still has a lot to give to her fans.

The release date for the upcoming album project has not been announced yet. However, it goes without saying that the KP6 era is going to be powerful enough to captivate everyone.

Post Malone Announced His Upcoming Album 'F-1 Trillion'

The American rapper, Post Malone has recently made an announcement regarding his latest album 'F-1 Trillion', which will be released on the 16th of August for all.

Austin Richard Post aka Post Malone has dropped the news of his upcoming full-length album. His new album, named 'F-1 Trillion' is going to be released on 16th of August. He announced the news on Instagram and made a post of a picture, which is a billboard in Nashville.

The artist has also confirmed that one can pre-save the album. As of now, he has also said that the album will have a total of six songs. He hasn't revealed the track list names, and all of his listeners are eagerly waiting for the release.

As Post Malone has shared a few information regarding the album, everyone is getting to know that he has collaborated with many country music artists. Thus, everyone is assuming that the album will be a little inclined to country music. It is something very new for this artist and that creates even more buzz among all the listeners. Malone is trying some new genres in his previous creations.

In the month of April, he performed in Nashville and did a cover of Hank Williams. It was a big surprise for the audience. After that, he also performed at the Stagecoach Festival where he did a complete set of country cover songs.

Not only that, however, after one month he released the song 'I Had Some Help' in May, which he did with Morgan Wallen. His sudden change in the music genre has started everyone.

Post Malone also performed at Country Music Awards where he did a performance on 'Never Love You Again'.

He is coming with back-to-back new performances and all of them have a hint of country music.

That is why, everyone is expecting that his upcoming album will have a certain touch of country music. And it is another thing that is helping him to create a buzz among all.

This American rapper has given a completely different type of song till now.

Currently, everyone is waiting for this new release, if they will get to witness something very new from the artist or not.

Previously in 2022, he said 'To be honest, there's nothing stopping me from taking a camera or setting up in my studio in Utah and just recording a country album and putting it on fucking YouTube'.

Well, the journey of personal development was quite crucial for Post Malone and it would not have been possible without the help of others. Post is sharing his gratitude along with Morgan Wallen through his track ‘I Had Some Help’ which establishes again that humans are collective creatures and everyone needs help for growth. The humble rapper cum singer Post is well known for his highly emotive tracks that also provide a positive energy. This time, he has collaborated with country singer Morgan Wallen to offer a country-like essence with raspy vocals and organic music. In the official music video, the two cowboys could be seen enjoying themselves in a bar and later on, behind a truck with a big American flag waving behind.

ARIANA GRANDE DROPPED THE MUSIC VIDEO OF 'THE BOY IS MINE'

Pop music artist, Ariana Grande has come up with the music video of her song 'The Boy Is Mine'. The exceptional presentation created a charm among all.

Ariana Grande has released the latest music video of the soundtrack 'The Boy Is Mine' from her album 'Eternal Sunshine'. This new video drop has created a huge buzz among all of her audiences.

Directed by Christian Breslauer, the music video is quite an interesting presentation. The video starts with a press conference by the city mayor, which has been played by the 'Gossip Girl and You' actor, named Penn Badgley. And Ariana turned on the television to watch the conference.

It is quite a unique music video and the presentation of it is quite different from all of her music creations.

Ariana always comes up with innovative music presentations and that is what makes her different from all the other musicians.

During the interview at The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon, Ariana performed her song 'The Boy Is Mine'. Later, she also talked about how she got the inspiration behind making this album.

Along with that, she has also shared her experience working with the actor Penn Badgley.

From this, it can be understood that the soundtrack is a great success. The captivating lyricism along with the hooky tune has made the song even more brilliant.

In this music video, everyone got to see that the city mayor had come up with the idea of getting rid of the rats in the city.

And that is why, they are rounding up stray cats to execute the plan. At that moment, the singer came up with an idea and transformed into a Cat Woman.

This way she got the chance to sneak into the mayor's apartment.

In the music video, the singer did all this to inject the love potion into the mayor.

Previously, Ariana never made such an interesting music video in her career.

There is no wonder that all of her songs are quite different, but this one is exceptional.

While talking about the music video, she has said 'I've been a fan of [him] my entire life, it was just so amazing to work with him. I'm such a fan'.

The music video was released on the 7th of June. And in less than 24 hours the video has gotten more than 4 million views.

It captivated all the listeners instantly.

VICTORIA MONÉT CREATES SENSATION WITH HER LATEST MUSIC VIDEO 'ALRIGHT'

Working with choreographer Sean Bankhead and director Dave Meyers has finally paid off for Victoria Monét and the latest music video 'Alright' proves that again.

The buzz is high again among the fans with Victoria Monét dropping a brand new music video for the track 'Alright', appearing in her album project Jaguar II for which the artist has received a Grammy Award.

This Kaytranada-produced music project is gaining more attention with its fine visual representation and dance moves that can tantalize everyone.

Choreographer Sean Bankhead has done an amazing job and has also worked on the music video for "On My Mama".

Director Dave Meyers also deserves a special mention due to his amazing vision of changing narratives into fluid motion.

Talking about the music video, Monét shared in a press statement, "Alright" is about liberation and freedom at its core! This video is a visual presentation of that sentiment through freedom of movement and fluidity between masculine and feminine energy."

She has also shared a fair amount of gratitude and credibility for Meyers and Bankhead by saying, "It was an honor to work alongside Dave Meyers and Sean Bankhead and this cast on this visual! What a crazy combo!!"

The humble artist also gave credit to the crew and said, "Plus, EVERY single person who had their hands on this visual was extremely passionate from inception, and we all worked really hard to bring it to life! They showed up with their A-game surpassing what we all imagined. Serious teamwork!"

Victoria Monét is well known for her advocacy for the LGBTQ+ community and she thinks Pride month is the best time to release this music project that speaks about liberation and identity.

She said in the statement, "We all patiently and meticulously crafted it and are extremely excited to release it into the world! There's no better month to release this visual than Pride Month, Black Music Month, and the beginning of summer '24! I can't wait to see where dance artists and the ballroom culture take it."

Previously in Grammy 2024, Monét won the awards for Best R&B Album, Best New Artist, as well as Best Engineered Album, Non-Classical which is quite remarkable for the progression of her prolific music career.

The official music video is currently available on YouTube and gaining millions of views from fans.

Starting with a rotating platform and shimmery silver moves, there is a robotic vibe enhanced by electronic grooves.

Within a few minutes, the viewers can find Monét and co-dancers offering a tribute to MJ.

With dance in the rain at the climax, the music video offers a taste of self-exploration in a gender-fluid way!

Truly, Monét has done a great job with her versatile skills, and that is reflected through the OMV of 'Alright'.

Guru Randhawa and Ikka have finally released the music video for 'WHO'S THAT GIRL' has been finally released.

Set in a poppy and fun set, it is a must-watch! It seems like 2024 is the year for the die-hard Guru Randhawa fans! The singer has come up with a movie, live performances, and new music, all in one year that cannot make the fans any happier!

His latest endeavor is the music video for 'WHO'S THAT GIRL', where he is a featured artist. Punjab's one of the most talented and aspiring rappers, Ikka has released the mentioned track from his album 'Only Love Gets Reply'.

The album is already a hit, considering how music lovers from all over the nation are grooving on the melodies. Now the video release of 'WHO'S THAT GIRL' is just the cherry on top, making the listeners even more excited.

The song is composed by Sanjoy and Ikka penned down the lyrics. The music video shows a playful, and happy connection between Guru and Ikka as they stroll in a car, looking at the beautiful girls on the road.

The set is colorful and gives a very cheerful vibe that is maintained throughout the video. The visualization also keeps the elements of typical Punjabi video songs, featuring luxury cars and beautiful women, both of which are a visual treat to the viewers' eyes. Both the artists took to their social media platforms to share the arrival of the music video and fans cannot just keep their calm ever since. As expected, the fans bombarded the comment section with all the praises and love. Some of the comments on the post read, "Old Guru vibe!!!!!!", "Ikka my bro!!", while the other ones read, "What a beautiful song "who's that Girl" Waal kaalekaalesaahkudeterimornijichalkude waiting and excited for MV All the best GR", and "Hit confirm".

The video oozes a fun and playful time when both artists are seen persuading a group of beautiful girls. However, they both mainly focused on one girl and dedicated the lyrics to her. This brings back the conversation about the dating life of both artists. Guru Randhawa earlier opened up about his romantic life. He said, "I feel very good about it when people talk about my dating life. Fans link me with beautiful girls all over the world, so it feels great, every boy wants that attention. I want people to keep doing that [talk about my love life] for me. Even if I am not dating somebody right now, because of that news, I might start dating someday soon. If the reader [of this interview] is a girl, I am single. But if the reader is a boy, I am taken (laughs)."

The song is featured on Ikka's latest album 'Only Love Gets Reply'. Talking with Radio Mirchi about choosing this name for his latest project, Ikka said, "Actually it was some time back when we saw a trend of "unnecessary hatred" on Twitter (now known as X).

And what happened to me was that I made a mistake that I used to reply to those hatred messages. And later I realized that I shouldn't have done this. And that was the time when I understood that this so-called hate does not deserve our replies because you cannot make yourself understood to the whole world.

Then I thought that only it is love that deserves our responses and replies. So, the thought generated from there. I had various options for the titles, but I loved this one the best. You know, one thing I realized is that as a musician, there should be no negativity in you and if you want to be creative, you need to stay positive.

If you have a negative mind, you can just create negative things."

ALLU ARJUN AND RASHMIKA MANDANNA STARRER 'ANGAARON' IS RULING HEARTS AND YOUTUBE!

Rashmika Mandanna and Allu Arjun's grooving moves are back with 'Angaaron'.

The lyrical music video which shows what happens at the site is putting YouTube on fire. Pushpa 2: The Rule is one such movie that the entire country is whole-heartedly waiting for. The movie starring Allu Arjun and Rashmika Mandanna as protagonists has got the whole country waiting for its theatrical release, as people can't keep their calm for the action drama to hit the movie halls soon. Every song that was released from the movie has been a viral hit and trending.

Now with the newest song out on YouTube, the country is grooving with the moves and the sweet angelic voice of Shreya Ghoshal. Angaaron (The Couple Song) Lyrical is out on YouTube and has already gathered more than 500 million views on the platform.

It is the second single which is a romantic couple song, perfectly showing the chemistry between the two leads.

The video is a lyrical music video, showing the behind-the-scenes of the shoot, giving the audience a glimpse of what really goes on in the set. The electrifying music personifies romance and chemistry between the two actors is something that is enough to start new trends across social media platforms.

The screen presence of the artists is something that added so much fire to the video, but let's not forget the devotional and intimate lyrics. The beat and the casual yet romantic dance steps are the bereft ones to groove to in this monsoon with your partner. With Pushpa and Srivalli recreating their iconic dance steps, what is not to like in the video? Written by Raqueeb Alam, and sung by Shreya, Devi Sri Prasad has composed the song and brought the lyrics to life. Ganesh Acharya has also done wonders by choreographing the song, ideally reflecting on the love between the characters.

Sharing one still from the song, Rashmika Mandanna took to Instagram to showcase her excitement and love for the song. She captioned the p ost, "I truly had manifested for a song where I could get the whole country grooving again.. and her is it.It's the couple's song...It's the family's song... it's the sibling's song...it's the friend's song... It's the bestie's song...It's the song. I hope you like it as much as I lovvveedddd dancing for this song.! I love you.. and we present to you...Srivalli and Pushpa."

The first installation of the movie showcased the fight for power amid the red sandalwood smuggling. Pushpa: The Rise was a massive hit at the box office, both domestically and overseas, and had hit songs like 'Oo Antava Oo Oo Antava', 'Srivalli', and 'Saami Saami'. Now the impressive star cast of Allu Arjun, Rashmika Mandanna, Fahadh Faasil, Dhanunjaya, Rao Ramesh, Sunil, and Anasuya Bharadwaj are all set to return for the second installment, Pushpa - The Rule. Written and directed by Sukumar, is soon to be hitting the theaters with its title of "one of the most anticipated movies of the year."

Swift's "thank you aIMee" Is Surely a Dig At Kim Kardashian

Swifties are convinced that she took a dig at Kim Kardashian, very subtly though, while Taylor Swift was performing on stage at Wembley Stadium during the 2nd night.

Every Taylor Swift lover is completely certain that "thank you aIMee" from her latest album 'The Tortured Poets Department' is a subtle yet obvious dig at Kim Kardashian. While introducing the song at the Wembley Stadium show, She said before debuting this number on stage, "Every time someone talks s, it makes me work even harder." To this, the London crowd became completely overwhelmed. Then she further added, "It makes me that much tougher. It also makes me incredibly thankful for those people," before she performed "thank you aIMee" on the show.

This was the first time she performed the number after she released her latest album "The Tortured Poets Department" in between her Eras World Tour. When she released the song in April one fan pointed out that Taylor has deliberately made sure that the letters K, I, and M and in capitals while the rest of name of the song is in small case. The fan wrote online that this song is "million%" about Kim Kardashian.

This one approach has created an impactful impression and at the same time, fans were speculating about potential references in the song as she mentioned Kardashian's 11-year-old daughter North West in her previous release 'Shake It Off' in 2014. This song is all about ignoring haters, however, in this new number she mentions, "Aimee" stomping over her grave.

The song goes like this, "And maybe you've reframed it," she continues to sing, "And in your mind, you never beat my spirit black and blue/ I don't think you've changed much/ And so I changed your name, and any real defining clues/ And one day, your kid comes home singin'/ A song that only us two is gonna know is about you." And then the chorus gets started, "All the time you were throwing punches, it was all for noting."

The song also has a portion where she sings, "And I can't forgive the way you made me feel/ Screamed "F you, Aimee" to the night sky, as the blood was gushin'/ But I can't forget the way you made me heal." She clearly is not happy with this Aimee girl, and her fans are well aware of why she is so mad at this person. Everyone thought her 2017 release 'Look What You Made Me Do' was a revenge album as she released this after the feud between her and Kardashian started in 2016.

The bud of this long-going feud started in 2009 when Kim's boyfriend, rapper Kanye West stormed the stage while Swift won the prize for Best Female Video in 2009 at the VMAs. He protested and said Beyonce deserved the award for 'Single Ladies', and the rest is a historical continuation.

Fête De La Musique: Amazing Facts About World Music Day 2024

Every year, on June 21st, World Music Day is celebrated around the globe. Also known as the 'Fête de la Musique', it is a celebration of musical diversity all around the world that brings unity among humans, the music lovers. World Music Day originated in France back in 1982 and since then, its influence has been spread all over the world and is now celebrated in over 120 countries including Italy, Germany, Greece, Mexico, the USA, India, Brazil, Canada, and many others. Let's find out more about this celebratory moment.

The History of World Music Day

Back in 1982, when the date for World Music Day was announced; the global music industry was growing rapidly with changes in styles and thousands of new music artists. With a musical revolution, the French Minister of Culture back then, Jack Lang decided to announce this day as the World Music Day in agreement with composer Maurice Fleuret and radio producer. June 21st also collides with the day of Summer Solstice when all the music artists come together and join a prolific musical journey that comes with passion and love.

The music artists and as well as listeners unite and appreciate each other on this day. Many global public forums take place on this day and a lot of artists also perform in free events or open shows where everyone can enjoy music. The idea that was first embarked on June 21, 1982, is now a successful event where global artists could be seen performing on the street and in parks where listeners would vibe with them. The celebration of music received massive support and appreciation from all kinds of music lovers which is the sole reason why it is a successful approach that is enjoyed by all.

Significance of Global Musical Celebration

There is no doubt that music brings more peace and solace to the human hearts. Music is capable of creating an audible sensation that can captivate all kinds of listeners. While there are numerous genres and millions of musical content, the united effort is visible among all and it can diminish all the boundaries of languages, regions, and cultural differences. Music plays a crucial role in every human's life and World Music Day is celebrated to embrace that. This global event celebrates unity among diversity where there are numerous musical styles and genres are enjoyed by different kinds of music lovers and performed by different kinds of artists, yet they all share a common dream of creating a world full of music. It is celebrated to support this art form, its evolution, and its importance.

Amazing Facts About World Music Day

'Faites de la musique' is the main theme for World Music Day which means 'make music' It encourages emerging and rising music artists who are still skeptical about their musical craft. However, the event is celebrated with a particular theme every year. The theme for World Music Day 2024 is still unknown. Last year in 2023, the theme for the day was 'Music on the intersections'.

World Music Day is celebrated with the love for music that lies within everyone's heart. There is no commercial purpose behind this and free music events are being arranged all over the world. Even if some renowned musician decides to join the journey and perform for the audience, they tend not to charge anything. The free gigs are the symbol of freedom in music. Therefore, do not consider it an event where only rich people go.

World Music Day celebrates all kinds of music around the world and it is not exclusively focused on any particular style or genre. All kinds of music artists can take part in it, whether a singer, a rapper, or a music producer. Starting from folk to metal and rock to pop, all kinds of artists and bands join the roads together to celebrate this day. This global music event does not celebrate the exclusivity of the industry but the diversity of it.

Although World Music Day is celebrated on June 21st, the celebration of world music is not limited to a single day only. In some countries, World Music Day is celebrated for a week or longer to churn out every essence of it. Fostering a sense of global music community, World Music Day aims to bring all music lovers together with a global celebration that does not care about languages, boundaries, and other barriers. It celebrates the unified emotion that is shared by all music lovers.
