POST MALONE

The SoundCloud rapper who started his career with a strong hip-hop game, Post Malone is now heading towards a different destination on the country road. He embarked on his journey with the single 'White Iverson' which was released in 2015. Austin, better known as Post offered a persona of a swagger, a rapper who can go off limits. But the rapper has gone through fair morphosis throughout his musical career till now whether it is sobriety or a massive shift in his musical style. It was not unknown that the rapper is also a good singer who offered captivating songs like 'Sunflower', 'Falling in Love', 'I Fa 'Circles' and many others. But nobody expected the Tweet "WHEN I TURN 30 IM BECOMING A COUNTRY/FOLK SINGER." Post is a man of his word and his shift in musical works is quite noticeable now. The latest project 'F-1 Trillion' has opened a new chapter of country music for Malone and it can be felt through each song from the album. Whether it is a collaboration with Morgan Wallen for 'I Had Some Help' or the taste of bourbon in 'Pour Me a Drink'; it is evident that the artist had his eyes on Nashville for a long time.

ADELE HALTS HER CONCERT TO WATCH WOMEN'S 100M FINAL AT 2024 PARIS OLYMPICS

Music artists from different countries are showing their support for the Olympians who are showing extraordinary performance at the 2024 Paris Olympics.

This time, it is Adele who stopped her concert in Munich to pay attention to the athletes who are working hard on the tracks.

Her concert was going on in Munich on August 3rd this Saturday. Adele, the 36-year-old English songstress decided to pause her show to watch the women's 100-meter final in Paris.

The moment was captured by a fan and the video quickly went viral among the netizens which was shared through the account of NBC Olympics.

The singer made sure to broadcast the race of 11 seconds on the big screen so that all the concertgoers could also witness the moments. The fans were quite happy in the custom-built Adele Arena and the 10-night residency was launched on Friday.

The crowd at Munich was in complete awe when Julien Alfred of Saint Lucia won the race and, guess what? She finished the 100m race in 10.72 seconds! With this new world record, Julien has managed to defeat U.S. stars Sha'carri Richardson and also Melissa Jefferson who got 2nd and 3rd place and won silver and bronze respectively.

This is one of the best moments in the Olympic history as the small Caribbean country, Saint Lucia has won the Olympic gold for the first time. Adele asked all the concertgoers to give her a round of applause which Julien deserves by all means.

The "Easy on Me" singer also said, "... While I was watching world-class athletes, I'd be like, 'Oh that landing was a bit dodgy, wasn't it? Oh her legs weren't really straight,' Meanwhile, if I tried anything that they do, I'd be dead." Her humorous side was quite enjoyable when she said, "I'd absolutely die if I tried to even do a little, any kind of movement at all." Adele has also helped U.S. gymnast Simone Biles by giving her props. Biles has won multiple gold medals and Adele called her "absolutely brilliant."

The 10-night musical show in Munich will be ending on August 31st. The Weekends with Adele residency at Las Vegas' Colosseum will soon pick up its pace in October this year. Stay tuned to find more exciting moments of the Music industry and also the Olympics.

CELEBRATING DUA LIPA'S BIRTHDAY WITH SOME INTERESTING FACTS

The British and Albanian singer, model, and entrepreneur Dua Lipa has won billions of hearts for her magnifying musicality, and not only that her talent has led to her being seven Brits Awards and three Grammy Awards winner.

Her eccentric personality resonates with her unique musical creations which are a beautiful blend of 70s disco, 80s pop, and 90s club music. This year she celebrated her birthday in Ibiza with her boyfriend director Romain Gavras by her side and the fans celebrated by revealing some interesting and less-known facts about this goddess

'Dua Lipa': A Stage Name or Not: Many think till now that this unique and iconic name is surely a stage name and Dua Lipa has kept her birth name private but, that is not the case at all. Dua Lipa is in fact her legal and birth name. According to the model, singer, and entrepreneur in the early years, she hated her name but later on, it grew on her. Thank god for that as it makes an evidently stunning stage name as well.

Dua Lipa Got Rejected From Her School Choir Group: Just like many other great stories, Dua Lipa might have started her musical career by getting rejected for her voice by people who do not tend to think it was harmonious. Well, she surely proved them wrong and the billions of fans are her witness. The sole reason she became a fan favorite and got rejected from her school choir is her unique and raspy voice. It is safe to say that this rejection could not stop young Dua and she started making covers of popular songs and uploaded them on YouTube which kickstarted her unfathomable streak of fame and popularity.

World Record Holder: Apart from being a mega-talented singer Dua Lipa is also the Guinness World Record holder for two very interesting things. The first record that she holds is for her debut self-titled album which became the most streamed album on Spotify by a female artist. And the second Guinness World Record under her name is for the most tickets sold for a live-streamed concert by a solo female artist in a single year.

Lipa's Musical Heritage: One of the less-known facts about Dua Lipa is that she comes from a musical background due to her father. Dua's father Dukagjin Lipa is a musician belonging to the rock genre. He is the lead vocalist of the Kosovar rock band Oda. That basically portrays the impact of music Dua Lipa grew up in and how much it has contributed to her being the musical diva she is today.

Inhuman Teeth: A normal adult has or is supposed to have 32 teeth but that is not the case for this prolific singer. There is something about Dua Lipa that sets her apart from the ordinary in this regard as well. A recent x-ray scan has proven that this prolific musical personality has 33 teeth which are quite interesting, to be honest.

Dua's a Fan of High-End Fashion: This enigmatic singer has been known to be a huge fan of the brand Chanel, although this year she celebrated her birthday while wearing a tiny sheer Gucci monogrammed black bra and a low-rise playful pair of lavender Gucci jeans embellished with crystals from the brand's Resort 2024 collection. The pair of trousers is inspired by Tom Ford's 1999 Gucci collection which legendary singer Madonna wore to the Grammys. She accessorized the look with giant red Gucci sunglasses and a Y2K-inspired silver Gucci mini bag. From modeling and designing for Versace to white sheer gown at Simon Porte Jacquemus's wedding this singing diva has always seemed to be on top of the trends. Dua Lipa has never been afraid of showing off her high-fashion sense and has her own clothing line in collaboration with Pepe Jeans.

Car-Enthusiast Dua Lipa: The British-Albanian singer herself has admitted to being a car enthusiast who formerly shilled for Jaguar and has signed a deal with Porsche last fall. Right now the model that Dua Lipa has is a Porsche Tayacan Turbo with a power of 625 PS and can accelerate from 0-62mph in just 3.2 seconds if 'Launch Mode' is deployed. Apart from this, she has 11 more cars in her London home which includes some ravishing models like the Rolls Royce Ghost which has impressive exterior and immersive interiors with seats coated in pure leather giving the cabin a feel of plush, the Land Rover Range Rover SV which is the most upscale vehicle in the Land Rover collection due to its powerful engine and undeniable sumptuous interior, the Mercedes Benz G550 which is powered by 4.0 Liter Twin Turbo Premium Unleaded V-8 engine, the Porsche 911 Convertible which is powered by 3.0 Liter H-6 twin turbo premium engine and takes only 3 seconds to reach 60 mph from a standstill position along with other models as well.

Dua Lipa's Philanthropist Efforts: After her parents fled the Balkans and settled in a new area to start a fresh life, young Dua had the opportunity to connect with refugee children and families her desire to continue to be a part of the UNICEF movement was fueled. She even donated signed merchandise to UNICEF's auction to raise funds for the children affected during the COVID-19 pandemic. She is the founder of Sunny Hill Foundation whose mission is to fight injustice and poverty in Kosovo while strengthening democratic values have created a great impact in Kosovo. She being the partner of Global Citizen which is a movement that aims to end extreme poverty globally has also created an enormous impact as well. For her philanthropic efforts and her incredible hard work in spreading international awareness of Albania, she was granted Albanian citizenship in 2022. Her fame has made it possible for her to support various charitable causes like global poverty, social injustice, and mental health, and through her philanthropic work, she has become an inspiration for her fans which demonstrates the power of celebrities to make a positive impact on the world.

TOP COUNTRIES MAKING NAME IN MUSIC PRODUCTION

Previously the boundaries of countries or regions were not broken by the universal language which is music but in recent times, with just one click or a scroll on the internet, one can gain access to thousands of different musicians from all over the globe.

Although the debate about which country makes the best music or produces the best music has there since the very beginning, the debate has intensified a lot with the advancement of technology.

This blog is a mere attempt to try to establish the countries that have contributed more than others in the music production scene.

Russia: The first one on the list is Russia for its long and rich history and heritage. The history of Russian music covers various styles and genres ranging from folk, choral, and classical music to modern hip-hop, and electronic dance music. This diversified amalgamation of styles and genres has contributed in making Russia one of the top countries that are able to produce one of the best-produced music in the industry and it has also scored this country worldwide fame. This country has gifted the music industry with legendary musicians like Alla Pugacheva, Igor Krutoy, Dima Bilan, Valery Meladze and so many others who have been nothing but a revolutionizing storm in the industry.

Italy: Italy is a vibrant country and this vibrancy can be intricately captured by the diverse music industry it has to offer. The rich culture of the country is the home of diversity when it comes to music. Although the main and mostly the heaviest influence has been the tradition of opera, classical music, and folk music it has made its advancement and tapped into the newly hyped genres of music as well. Legendary and popular Italian musicians like Luciano Pavarotti and Andrea Bocelli had become the faces of the Italian music industry. Apart from them, Zucchero, the blues and rock singer hailing from this country has released uncountable successful albums and is known largely all over the world. The pop singer Ferro is one of the most recognizable Italian musicians who has also gained fame all across the globe for his powerful voice and socially conscious lyrics.

France: In this list, France has definitely created a space for itself due to its thriving hip-hop and rap culture. Some of the most famous French artists like IAM, MC Solaar, and Booba have gained a lot of international recognition for their art. The French have a strong tradition of classical and opera music, which has given birth to the most famous composers in the world, such as Claude Debussy and Maurice Ravel, and is the home to world-renowned opera houses which includes the Paris Opera and the Opera of Lyon, however, that does not mean they have not made any advancement in the modern music scene. Some of the greatly popular French artists like Daft Punk, Phoenix, and Air have made a name for themselves in the international music industry as well.

Ireland: The traditional Irish culture is jam-packed with diversity when it comes to music and the support it gets locally and internationally is unimaginable. The rich heritage of Ireland is the home to genres like folk, Celtic, and the traditional Irish dance music. This burst of different flavors is a great way of showcasing the intricacy of the culture and it has also helped Ireland to evolve astonishingly in the field of music production. This evolution has become a success story not only due to the amazing talented artists but also because of the support it got from the Irish government and organizations. The music industry of Ireland is supported by organizations like the Irish Music Rights Organization or the IMRO and the Irish Recorded Music Association or the IRMA. The country also hosts many music festivals like the Electric Picnic and the Cork Jazz Festival which depicts the talent and diversity of the music scene in Ireland.

India: India is known as a country of diversity so it is only natural to find its music industry to be full of diverse genres and styles as well. Although the main part of the music culture is heavily influenced by genres such as Hindustani and Carnatic music which is still hugely appreciated throughout the country but the progressive country is not far behind in the game of modern music as well. The catch beats, the wooing romantic themes, and the eccentric dance numbers of Bollywood have gained a lot of craze over the years all across the globe. Not only this, new genres like rap and electronic music in this country have also created a great impact on the international music market. Reality TV shows like Indian Idols, and MTV Hustle play a huge role in scouting out these talented individuals who are taking over the world of music one note at a time.

Legendary artists like Lata Mangeshkar, Ravi Shankar, A.R. Rahman, and Bhimsen Joshi have enriched the music industry of this country with their ever-lasting excellence.

Japan: The Japanese music industry has flourished exponentially with the support of a number of music festivals, such as the Fuji Rock Festival and the Summer Sonic Festival, which portrays the picture of a cherished dynamic of the music industry. The Japanese government also plays a huge role in the advancement of the music industry by providing funds through initiatives like the Agency for Cultural Affairs, which aids in the development and promotion of Japanese art and culture. The Japanese world of music has given birth to some of the most iconic figures in the music industry, including pop singer Ayumi Hamasaki who has the nickname, 'Empress of Pop', the singer of the theme song to the Kingdom of Hearts games, Hikaru Utada and the rock band One OK Rock which gained global recognition for its energetic live performances.

Australia: The diversity and vibrancy of the music scene are clear in Australia with different artists belonging to different styles and genres helping it to make a break in the music scene. A few of the most popular genres prevailing in Australia include rock, pop, electronic, and hip-hop. The country is famous for producing several eminent musical personalities like Kylie Minogue and the legendary band AC/DC. The evolution of the Australian music industry firmly depends on a lot of things and one of them is their appreciation for live music performances which can be seen through music festivals like Splendour in the Grass, Falls Festival, and Groovin' the Moo.

Creating A Testament In The Line Of Fragrances, Ariana Grande With 'LOVENOTES'

The incredibly talented and super-sweet singer and actress, Ariana Grande has made her debut in the line of fragrances in 2015 with Ari.

Since then she has launched a wide range of perfumes including God is a Woman, Cloud, R.E.M and so much more. Among these, Cloud is by far the highest sold of all and it ranks in the top three of every 'best celebrity perfumes' list. Although many celebrities have tried their hand in this game, very few have become successful like Ariana, and this time she has done something quite interesting and unique with her line of perfume.

The Grammy Award-winning singer seems to be expanding her fragrant empire with the launch of 'LOVENOTES' which is unique as the scents are inspired by different regions of the world and it is also a very interesting way to build a more profound bond with her fans from all across the globe. The announcement of the launch was made on Instagram where this gorgeous singer was seen in a romantic-pink theme gown while simply being amidst floating love letters with heart seals.

The launch is the first time Grande has created region-specific scents which aims to deliver 'little letters of love to my fans all over the world, via scent' says the singer. She adds, 'The line includes Vanilla Suede for the UK, Angle Kiss for Europe, Pink Woods for North America, and Pressed Petals for Australia, each with its own distinct aroma.'

This launch is particularly a huge deal for the singer as it marks her tenth fragrance release, a testament to her successful journey in this industry. Ariana expressed her excitement saying, 'I can't wait for you to smell these, and I hope you love them as much as I do.'

Along with the themed photo shoot for the launch, the singer had also posed holding a giant love letter with her initial 'A' in the heart seal to give personal love for her beloved fans.

This unique idea of region-based perfumes is not only great for the expansion of her fragrant empire but it is also a great way to reach her fans in a meaningful way that only solidifies her position as a multi-faceted artist and entrepreneur.

Baby Babybaby Is Here! Justin And Hailey Bieber Have Welcomed Their First Child

Justin Bieber and Hailey Bieber are officially parents! The 30-year-old famous pop star and his supermodel, entrepreneur wife, 27-year-old Hailey have welcomed their first baby boy together, as Justin himself confirmed the news on Friday, August 23.

"WELCOME HOME JACK BLUES BIEBER," Justin wrote in the Instagram post which featured a picture of his newborn baby boy's foot. Hailey then posted the same picture on her Instagram story, confirming the news even further and sharing her joy of being a new mother with the baby's name, a teddy bear, and a blue heart emoji. Pattie Mallette, Justin Bieber's mother then tweeted congratulating the couple, saying, "CONGRATULATIONS @justinbieber& Hailey. I LOVE YOU FOREVER BABY JACK!!". Stephen Baldwin, Hailey Bieber's father also shared Pattie's tweet adding, "Amen, Congratulations to you and may God continue to bless our family." The star couple of Hollywood first announced that they were expecting their first child in May 2024.

The couple shared the exciting news on Instagram with a series of beautiful pictures and a video. Reports confirmed that Hailey was six months pregnant at that time. The video captured Hailey in a lacy white dress and a veil in what appeared to be the couple's vow renewal. The video and pictures included both Justin and Hailey with their priest where Hailey's growing and glowing bump was visible through the gown. Justin stood behind his model-turned-business mogul wife with his arms placed around her belly and showed off their matching wedding rings. Hailey kept the caption simple and sweet, just tagging her husband.

The couple has been married since September 2018, following their brief engagement. After tying the knot in a New York courthouse, they later celebrated with a big ceremony with close family and friends in Bluffton, South Carolina. The magical wedding had them two sharing vows and Tiffany's wedding bands as the guests watched the sunset. Earlier this summer in July, Hailey gave an interview to W Magazine, where she addressed her pregnancy. "In the beginning [of pregnancy], it was super emotional for me. Like, 'I love this human so much. How can I possibly bring someone else into this?'" the model said. "I'm trying to soak in these days of it being Justin and me, just the two of us."

She also shared how she was able to keep her pregnancy hidden for so long, most of the reason being that she "stayed small for a long time," adding, "I didn't have a belly, really, until I was six months pregnant ... I was able to wear big jackets and stuff." "I probably could have hid it until the end, but I didn't enjoy the stress of not being able to enjoy my pregnancy outwardly," Hailey continued. "I felt like I was hiding this big secret, and it didn't feel good. I wanted the freedom to go out and live my life."

While gracing the cover of GQ Hype, Hailey also addressed the rumors of her being pregnant back in October. "Recently, everybody was like, 'Oh my God, she's pregnant,' and that's happened to me multiple times before," Mrs. Bieber told the outlet. "There is something that's disheartening about, damn, I can't be bloated one time and not be pregnant? It would be a lie if I was like, 'Oh yeah, I don't give a s--.'" "When there comes a day that that is true, you, you as in the internet, will be the last to know," she candidly added.

Oasis Reunion Is Happening! Liam and Noel Gallagher Tease Comeback

Oasis was one of the most celebrated British pop bands producing hit records left and right. Fifteen years ago, the duo disbanded in chaos. However, there may still be hope for the fans as the Britpop band is on the verge of returning. Noel and Liam Gallagher fronted the band, and now they have teased an announcement on Tuesday 27 August, at 8 am which fans are widely expecting to be an announcement for a reunion. The massive hits of the band include “Wonderwall”, “Don’t Look Back in Anger” and “Champagne Supernova”. Oasis disbanded in 2009 which was followed by a backstage scuffle at the Rock en Seine festival in Paris.

Since the big fallout, the Gallagher brothers have never come together and stayed estranged which made a reunion very unlikely. Both the brothers, Liam and Noel have continued their solo music journeys as they released several projects on their own, over the last few years. Liam was busy with Beady Eye and Noel had his own releases with High Flying Birds. However, this recent speculation is based on the hints given by the brothers that got the fans ramped up. On Sunday night, both the brothers along with the band’s official Instagram account shared a message that only the date 27 August, and the time 8 am appeared.

Well, now the announcement was made and the band is officially returning on stage!! The rock band has just announced the long-awaited reunion. But that is not it, the fans are going crazy as the band is also returning to live stages with their first UK and Ireland shows in 16 years. After rumors throughout more than a decade, the day is finally here reuniting not just the band, but all the Oasis fans throughout the entire world.

This proves that the brothers, Noel and Liam Gallagher seemingly have healed their strenuous relationship and will join one another on stage at the Oasis Live 25 tour. On the tour, the band will play a string of live shows in stadiums in Manchester, London, Edinburgh, and Dublin, across the summer of 2025. “I never did like that word FORMER,” Liam, the 51-year-old frontman had teased of his frontman status just hours earlier. He did it while responding to fans who were pleading with him to confirm the news of the reunion.

The tour includes four nights at Heaton Park in Manchester, which is also the hometown of Oasis. Then the tour will get four more shows at Wembley Stadium in London. The reunion tour dates are -`

4, 5 July - Cardiff, Principality Stadium

11, 12, 19, 20 July - Manchester, Heaton Park

25, 26 July and 2, 3 August - London, Wembley Stadium

8, 9 August - Edinburgh, Scottish Gas Murrayfield Stadium

The Gangsta Rabbi Presents an Extended Version of JethroTull's 1972 Prog Titled, 'Thick As A Brick'

Everybody is aware of the multifaceted skills of The King of Jewish Punk, music veteran Steven Paul Lieberman.

This time, the dynamic artist is bringing back memories by recreating JethroTull's 1972 Prog.

While the original composition was around 43 minutes, The Gangsta Rabbi decided to create an hour-long extended version titled 'Thick As A Brick'.

As hard as it sounds, Lieberman has gone really hard on this track and showcased his versatile aura by taking care of everything like a man army. Not only he has sung but played more than 20 instruments for this music project.

The range of instruments includes lefty, righty, baritone, tenor, baby sitter; all kinds of guitars as well as basses, flutes, and what not.

He has also played different types of trombones and recorders which make this music project a true masterpiece.

Lieberman is widely famous in this music community for his exquisite contributions.

He is a composer, producer, arranger, and everything all together in a single entity of unbridled musical energy. Well revered in the Jewish community has doing music for many years now.

He is also the Guinness Book of World Records holder for making the longest song 'The Noise Militia' which comes with a total clock time of 35 hours, 41 minutes and 9 seconds. He is never afraid to make bold moves with his musical experimentations and that is noticeable in his musical compositions as well.

With his dynamic aura, he created a new genre called "Militia Punk" that offers a blended essence of thrash-metal, noise-punk and of course, military music.

Channelling energy and optimism through his music, Lieberman has proved himself as one of the most seasoned metal musicians. He has dropped a sum of 38 cassette albums and 40 CDs which helped to shape the metal industry in classics and also after the 2000s with the studio album releases. Some of his hit album projects are 'Jewish Lightning', 'Jew in the Underground', 'Arbeiter at the Gate', 'Shake the Missile Base', and the list goes on. The latest music project 'Thick As A Brick' is just another milestone on his high-octane musical journey which is currently gaining more attention among the fans. Stay tuned and follow Steven Paul Lieberman on SoundCloud to explore his musical creations.

'Slo' Jams' by Mike Di Lorenzo and Anna Moore Has Hit the Floor

Once again showcasing their harmonious musical talent and synergy, the duo of Mike Di Lorenzo and Anna Moore is here with their latest EP called 'Slo' Jams'.

After making the fans groove to their sensual and relaxing music again and again, this perfect pairing of Mike Di Lorenzo, the prolific keyboardist in the sonic music world with the sensual and musically gifted diva, Anna Moore is here to drop their new EP called 'Slo' Jams' and in a very short period of time, the songs of this EP have made the fans go gaga over it. Especially a song called 'It Wasn't You' has been keeping the listeners hooked to the album, to say the least. The world has witnessed what this dynamic duo is capable of through their tracks like 'Holding All My Love,' 'Play It Cool,' and 'What We Need' which belong to their newly released EP.

The tracks of the EP, 'Slo' Jams' are bound to take the listeners on a soothing journey that is accompanied by perfect blends of instrumental efficacy of Mike Di Lorenzo and harmonious vocals provided by Anna Moore. The astonishing result of the combination of these two musical personalities is songs like 'Days Like These' and it is only natural when people look at the capability of the prolific key boardist.

Throughout his career, he has worked with many outstanding musicians. His current work with Anna Moore and Sonna Rele is bringing a whole new vibe to the music scene. A fusion of contemporary R&B and soulful smooth jazz with their most recent projects, "Play It Cool" and "What We Need", they have placed 5 songs at #1 on smoothjazz.com's listener countdown. His 2022 album "What We Need" also included Multi-Grammy Award-winning artist Joel Kibble of the vocal group Take 6 along with exceptional contributions from vocalists Denise Stewart, and CaiNo with Frank Elmo on saxophone.

He has performed with a wide range of artists including Cissy and Whitney Houston and the

Paris Olympics Closing Ceremony: Billie Eilish, Red Hot Chili Peppers, And Snoop Dogg Set To Perform

The 11th of August is approaching and Paris is gearing up for the closing ceremony of the 2024 Olympics.

The performers' list looks highly promising with influential artists. Paris Olympics is coming to an end and there is too much excitement and anticipation about this day. Since the time everything starts will reach its pinnacle on this 11th and the organizers have shared the performance list which the most celebrated singers like Billie Eilish, Red Hot Chili Peppers, and Snoop Dogg, it seems that this evening is going to be a lot of pomp and fire. All three of them are considered the most influential performers in Los Angeles.

They are going to represent their diverse identities through this extensive performancelist. To top it off, they are also going to bring their cultural heritage to the stage of the Paris Olympics Closing Ceremony this Sunday.

As per the reports, the artists will be seen from Los Angeles in a pre-taped mix and live performances. This also denotes the musical handover of the 2024 L.A. Olympics Games. Being native to Highland Park, Billie Eilish has become one of the leading ladies of music and she is defining the music of this generation with her wide range of musical forms.

She made her debut in this industry with her album, 'When We All Fall Asleep, Where Do We Go?' By the time she released it and took the summit position in the Billboard 200, she became the youngest person to reach this highly respected and widely celebrated position.

She also became the youngest artist to grab 4 Grammys in some of the major categories in the very same year. With hits like 'Bad Guy' and 'Lovely', she solidified her position and now she is headlining the Olympics closing ceremony. This is a grand way to appreciate her efforts and she might have acknowledged her position after she released her concert movie, 'Happier Than Ever: A Love Letter to Los Angeles'.

Similarly, the legendary L.A. singer Snoop Dogg will also be there to rock the stage with his powerful presence. He has been a standout figure for the Paris Olympics, starting from his commentary, which went viral by the way, and he also has been one of the torchbearers for this season of the Olympics.

Spending decades in this industry, he has become one of the most highly respected artists of all time. Lastly, people are at war with Red Hot Chili Peppers smoking the stages with his dripping hot presence as they have started to create this fire since 1983.

Apart from them, Tom Cruise is also going to be there and perform some stunts.

This new venture of outdoor floating LED video sky canopy, which has been created exclusively for this show, will host pop music, dance music, and Hip-hop acts.

This segment will be headlined by Sonny Fodera, The Prodigy, and Skrillex. BBC iPlayer, BBC Radio 1, and YouTube will bring all excitement to your home.

STAR-STUDED CLOSING CEREMONY OF THE PARIS OLYMPICS 2024

Paris has done an incredible job at the closing ceremony of the Olympics with eminent personalities like Tom Cruise, Billie Eilish blessing all with their presence. The closing ceremony of the Olympics 2024 in Paris has been a blast. The city had used its incredibly beautiful landscapes either as a host or a venue for some competitions after a hundred years and the closing ceremony was just the icing on the whole cake. On August 11, Sunday IOC President Thomas Bach accompanied by other athletes and French swimming sensation Leon Marchand extinguished the Olympic flame before declaring officially the closing of the 33rd Summer Games. The baton was passed to the city next in line, Los Angeles for the Games that is to be held in 2028.

The people of Paris got in the mood of celebration when the world-famous French band Phoenix and Belgian singer and songwriter Angèle took the stage and delighted the audience with their hits. Phoenix kept the party going with a live set and playing hit singles from the 2009's, including 'Lisztomania' and '1901' while the French singer Yseult sang 'My Way' by Frank Sinatra.

The closing events on Sunday gave clear hints about the upcoming Summer Games that is supposed to be hosted in California, Los Angeles with star performers representing the state; Billie Eilish who performed her single 'Birds of a Feather' from 'Hit Me Hard and Soft' which was accompanied by Finneas represented the Highland Park, Snoop Dogg and Dr. Dre performed early hits like 'Dropt It Like It's Hot' and 'The Next Episode' who are the pillars of West Coast rap and the Red Hot Chili Peppers which was formed in L.A.

Not only these, Emmy, Grammy, and Oscar-winning artist H.E.R performed the US national anthem at the closing events along with a stunt performed by the very own Hollywood king Tom Cruise which involved climbing down from the top of the stadium to the 'Mission Impossible' theme song and shaking hands with the athletes before receiving the Olympic flag from the star gymnast Simone Biles, putting it at the back of a motorcycle and riding out of the stadium. The social media platforms are crowded with glimpses and pictures of this amazing night with stars posting for themselves as well. After the Olympic Anthem, the Olympic Flag was passed by the Mayor of Paris, Anne Hidalgo to IOC President Thomas Bach which then was passed to the Mayor of Los Angeles, Karen Bass officially declaring the next venue of the Olympic Games 2028.

In a mood of peacefulness and appreciation, Thomas Bach, IOC President said, 'Despite all the tension in our world, you came here from all 206 national Olympic committees and the IOC Refugee Olympic Team, to make the City of Light shine brighter than ever before. Your performances were amazing.

You competed fiercely against each other. Every contest on the edge of perfection. Every performance sparking excitement around the world. You showed us what greatness humans are capable of.' He added, 'The first Olympic Games with full gender parity. These were sensational Olympic Games from start to finish- or do I say: Seine-sational Olympic Games.'

Drake Surprises Fans With A New Cover Of 'Hey There Delilah' And A New Album Announcement!

Drake performed a Toronto-themed cover of 'Hey There Delilah' and surprised fans at the show this weekend with a new album announcement with PartyNextDoor.

The American rapper announced that he is releasing a collaborative album with PartyNextDoor as they have been working on the album for quite some time.

On Friday night (August 2), in front of hometown fans at Toronto's Budweiser Stage, the 'Hotline Bling' rapper performed for over an hour at the end of PartyNextDoor's show.

"On behalf of me and Party, we've been working on something for y'all," Drake told fans at the show towards the end of the concert. "So, you get the summer over with, you do what you need to do. I know all you girls are outside. When it gets a little chilly, [a] PartyNextDoor and Drake album will be waiting right there for you."

The announcement was quickly uploaded to social media where fans showed their excitement. Drake further explained that he was at the concert "as a thank you, to each and every one of you for all your years of unwavering support," especially in the light of his feud with rapper Kendrick Lamar, and the growing popularity of Lamar's diss track against him, 'Not Like Us'.

He started the performance with a remix of his 2015 hit 'Sweeterman' by Ramriddlz. He then transitioned into the live debut of 'Wah Gwan Delilah', the same song but it is Toronto-themed.

The video has been uploaded on social media platforms, and fans could not keep themselves from commenting and praising the rapper. People thought he was mocking Lamar, so one of the comments read, "this is hilarious", while another one said, "drake funny asf".

One of the comments said, "Wah gwan delilah is the best song from the battle lmao", while another one read, "drake is mocking kendrick", and "Man Drake you cooked I mean what in the ?". Rapper Snowd4y – pronounced Snowday shared a cover of Plain White Ts' 'Hey There Delilah' along with a remix and a verse from Drake himself. The track contained the two rappers altering the original Plain White T's song, a bizarre effect that features a healthy amount of autotune, and parody-esque lyrics.

The Plain White T's also shared their reaction on social media to listening to the song for the first time. They found it strange and assumed it was AI. "That's not Drake," Tom Higgenson said as he heard Drake's verse for the first time. "It's crazy that everybody thinks that it's real. It seems like it's very obvious. I don't know. But it's cool. Whatever."

In his set on Friday, Drake performed 'Connect', 'Practice', 'Finesse', 'Redemption' and 'Pipe Down'.

He also called PartyNextDoor the "King of R&B" before the duo performed their 2016 collab 'Come and See Me' to close out the concert for the night.

Rihanna Turns Heads At Barbados' Crop Over Festival In A Dazzling Costume With Feathered Wings

The 'Unapologetic' singer shines more than any 'Diamonds' at the Barbados' Crop Over Festival in her multicolor, ornamented costume with feathers. Everyone was stunned.

The summer sun shines a bit brighter in Barbados, and this 2-month long 'Crop Over' festival was star-studded with some of the most popular faces including the Barbadian singer and successful businesswoman. The only way one can survive this festival that goes for weeks is "Rum and stamina," puns Carol Roberts-Refer, the CEO of Barbados' National Cultural Foundation.

The festival started on the first Monday of August and continues for weeks. While everyone was on the streets in ornamented apparel and following the tradition feathers have always been an integral part of this procession. Rihanna too was glorifying the streets with her incredible deity-like appearance. On this Monday, she caused an uproar when she appeared at the carnival. She rocked the streets with her bejeweled costume with a matching headpiece.

On releasing a video of this event netizens went gaga over her appearance. One person wrote on social media, "Looking amazing as usual!" while another wrote, "A literal goddess". She truly was charming at this event and her fans were truly mesmerized by her daunting style and also her glorifying outfit. She has been consistent with her presence at this festival in the previous years. In 2019, she appeared in a hot pink mini dress along with ostrich-colored feathers.

In 2015, she was at the carnival in a dazzling all-white outfit and she also posted a saucy clip when she was twerking and she captioned the video, "Eye-soul-action #CaribbeanGal #Culture." The owner of 'Fenty Beauty' also has been accused of "photoshop fail" when she posted a picture of herself at the carnival.

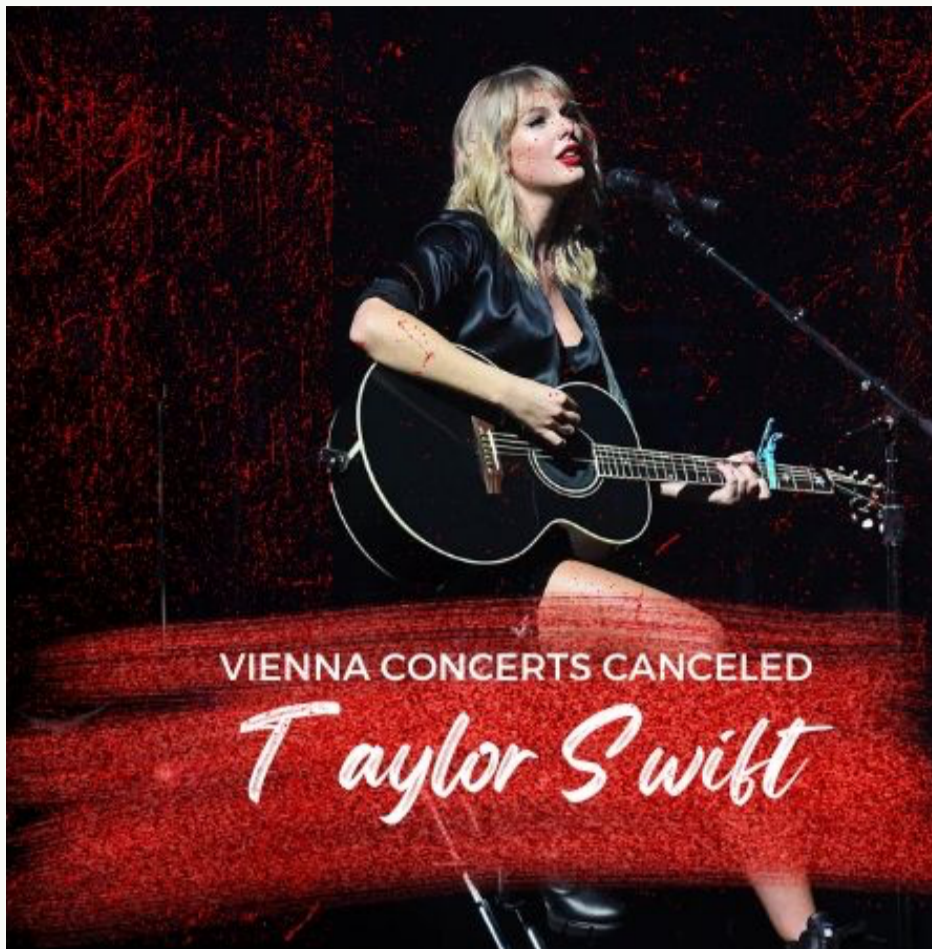

This carnival is all about sugar cane plantations during slavery and it marked the harvest of Sugar cane for the season. This has been the most colorful festival and has been a part of Barbadian culture for centuries. The billionaire businesswoman has confirmed that she will be happy to expand their brood in the future as well.

Earlier this month, she celebrated the first Birthday of her son Riot with her long-time partner A$AP Rocky.

They welcomed their firstborn RZA in 2022 and in the following year, they welcomed their family. Recently in an interview, she said, "I would go for more than two," in April.

She again added, "I would try for my girl. But of course, if it's another boy, it's another boy." She again added, "[I'll have] as many as God wants me to have." The "Umbrella" songstress again added, "I don't know what God wants."

Taylor Swift Called Off The Vienna Shows Due To Terrorist Attack Suspects

Taylor Swift is not going to perform in Vienna for her Eras Tour as the city police have arrested two men for the suspicion of a terrorist attack in the city. Taylor Swift has recently canceled three of her shows for Eras Tour in Vienna, as police arrested two suspected terrorists.

The police have caught two men, whom they suspect were planning a terrorist attack. Taylor doesn't want to take any kind of risk and put her fans in danger. Her shows were about to take place on 8, 9, and 10 August in Ernst-Happel-Stadion. According to reports, they were expecting over 200,000 people to come for the show. Thus, no one can risk the lives of so many people and continue doing the show.

As of now, the authority of the Vienna shows, Barracuda Music has said that everyone's show tickets will be refunded shortly. In a report, it has been said 'Both suspects had become radicalized on the Internet and had taken concrete preparatory actions for a terrorist attack.

Based on current assessments by the State Security and Intelligence Directorate regarding terrorist and extremist acts, the Vienna State Police Directorate has increased security precautions, particularly at major events. The terror alert level in Austria remains high and is continuously evaluated'.

The condition of Vienna is not right at the present time, and for that reason, she cannot continue the shows here. Fans are quite heartbroken after listening to the news. Eras Tour has become the most popular tour of the artist.

Taylor has given some of the most excellent performances during this Eras Tour. For that reason, everyone is quite eager to witness her performing live. But sadly, people from Vienna are not able to experience that. Previously, in many shows, different artists have experienced cruel acts like this in their shows. A huge number of people have died due to terrorist attacks in music concerts. And Taylor doesn't want anything like this to happen in her show.

Apart from doing the shows, it is their responsibility to provide safety to the audience who are coming to watch the concert. So, taking such a high risk is not worthy of anything. Now, she has called off the Vienna tour, but she might come back when the situation is right for the concert.

Taylor has reached the end of the European leg of her Eras Tour. Recently, she has done three shows in places like Poland and Warsaw. And she is about to do five more concerts at the Wembley Stadium, London.

After completing these shows, she plans to return to North America around October and end the tour in Canada. Her Eras Tour will end in December according to the current schedule.

Heavy K-Pop Influence On The MTV Video Music Awards This Year

The MTV Video Music Awards of 2024 has got a new flair with a dash of K-Pop as some of the giants of this genre have been nominated in different categories.

The VMAs are always a huge deal for the fans from all across the globe and the influence of K-pop has also risen to an exponential height in the past few years so it was inevitable to miss them in the award ceremony this year.

On August 6th, the officials of MTV Video Music Awards of 2024 made an announcement regarding the nominations, and the leaders of the K-pop genre are seen to be shining the brightest of all.

The first artist of Korean Pop music to get nominated is Lisa from BLACKPINK, for her solo hit, 'ROCKSTAR'. She has conquered four nominations in different categories which include Best Choreography, Best Art Direction, Best Editing, and Best K-Pop. This goes on to show the diversity and immense talent this singer holds and the love she has gained through her hit solo. She has become a multifaceted personality in the music industry.

The second position is taken over by the youngest member of BTS, Jungkook, who had got everyone hooked on his solo debut 'Seven' which features Latto. BTS has been a heartthrob since the moment they came into the spotlight and nothing less than that is not expected from the members but with the solo debut, Jungkook has made a strong impression on the fans and on the overall music industry.

This memorable track has earned Jungkook nominations in two major categories, Best Collaboration and Best K-Pop. This nomination definitely brings justice to his effort behind the solo debut which the fans and critics seem to agree to. LE SSERAFIM is a newcomer to the VMAs this year as they score their first ever MTV VMAs nomination for Push Performance of the Year, for their record-breaking track, 'EASY'. Along with them, to other another excellent team of young musicians, NCT DREAM for their track 'Smoothie' and New Jeans for their track 'Super Shy' have scored their nomination in the category of Best K-Pop at the MTV VMAs.

Apart from this, TOMORROW X TOGETHER (TXT) for the track 'Déjà vu' and 'LALALALA' by the Stray Kids are also a part of the nomination category for Best K-Pop in the MTV Video Music Awards 2024. The award function will air live from New York on September 10. Fans can cast their votes for their favorite artist via the MTV's website.

Lisa Drops New Woman Music Video Teaser Featuring Rosalia

BLACKPINK's Lisa has dropped a bomb in the form of the video teaser of her new single 'New Woman' which features the sensual diva and Spanish singer Rosalia.

ROCKSTAR from her label LLOUD has created an enormous impact on the audience. The rapper and singer of BLACKPINK has gained the heart of the audience with her comeback solo debut that was backed by powerful lyrics and upbeat tunes.

This time she has announced to drop another bomb which will be her second single from the same label and the fourth solo track of hers after 'MONEY' and 'LALISA'. It is called 'New Woman' and the music video teaser within just hours of its release has gained more than 500k views and more than 100k likes on YouTube.

The much anticipated single has finally let the audience take a sneak peek at the powerful collaboration of the enigmatic rapper, singer Lisa, and the reggaeton-pop sensation Rosalia. For quite some time Lisa has been sharing photos of the friendship she has with the Spanish singer on social media that had the fans speculating about a new collaboration and this music video teaser has finally given some answers to them.

The friendship has been public since April 2023 and the first sneak peek Lisa gave her fans of the new collaboration was through her TikTok account where she released a 12 seconds video of her rap verse in the track which quickly went viral, creating intrigue and anticipation among the fans for the whole song.

After Lisa's ROCKSTAR claimed the 8th position on the Billboard Philippines' Hot 100, the audience has been waiting for the new single, and Lisa has announced to deliver just that on 15th August 2024 on all streaming and digital platforms.

Apart from her solo career, the rapper of BLACKPINK is said to be reunited with the fellow members of the group for another world tour in 2025 which was announced by YG Entertainment.

On the other hand, Rosalia has also been teasing her fans with new music on the way as she hinted at a collaboration with Charli XCX on the latter's remix album to her recently released album 'brat'.

The teaser of 'New Woman' opens with Lisa who has been transformed into an 'IT' girl with her stunning and gorgeous blonde hair sitting in the middle of a room with a commanding pose which cuts to the next scene where she is seen all smiles with the sensual Rosalia.

Both of them looked all things desirable with their unique looks and personalities in the video. In the last scene, the dynamic duo is seen in a black-and-white ensemble, with Lisa in white and Rosalia in black.

What started with 'White Iverson' has now completely changed in 'F-1 Trillion', the latest album by Post Malone. Is this Post's ultimate country transformation?

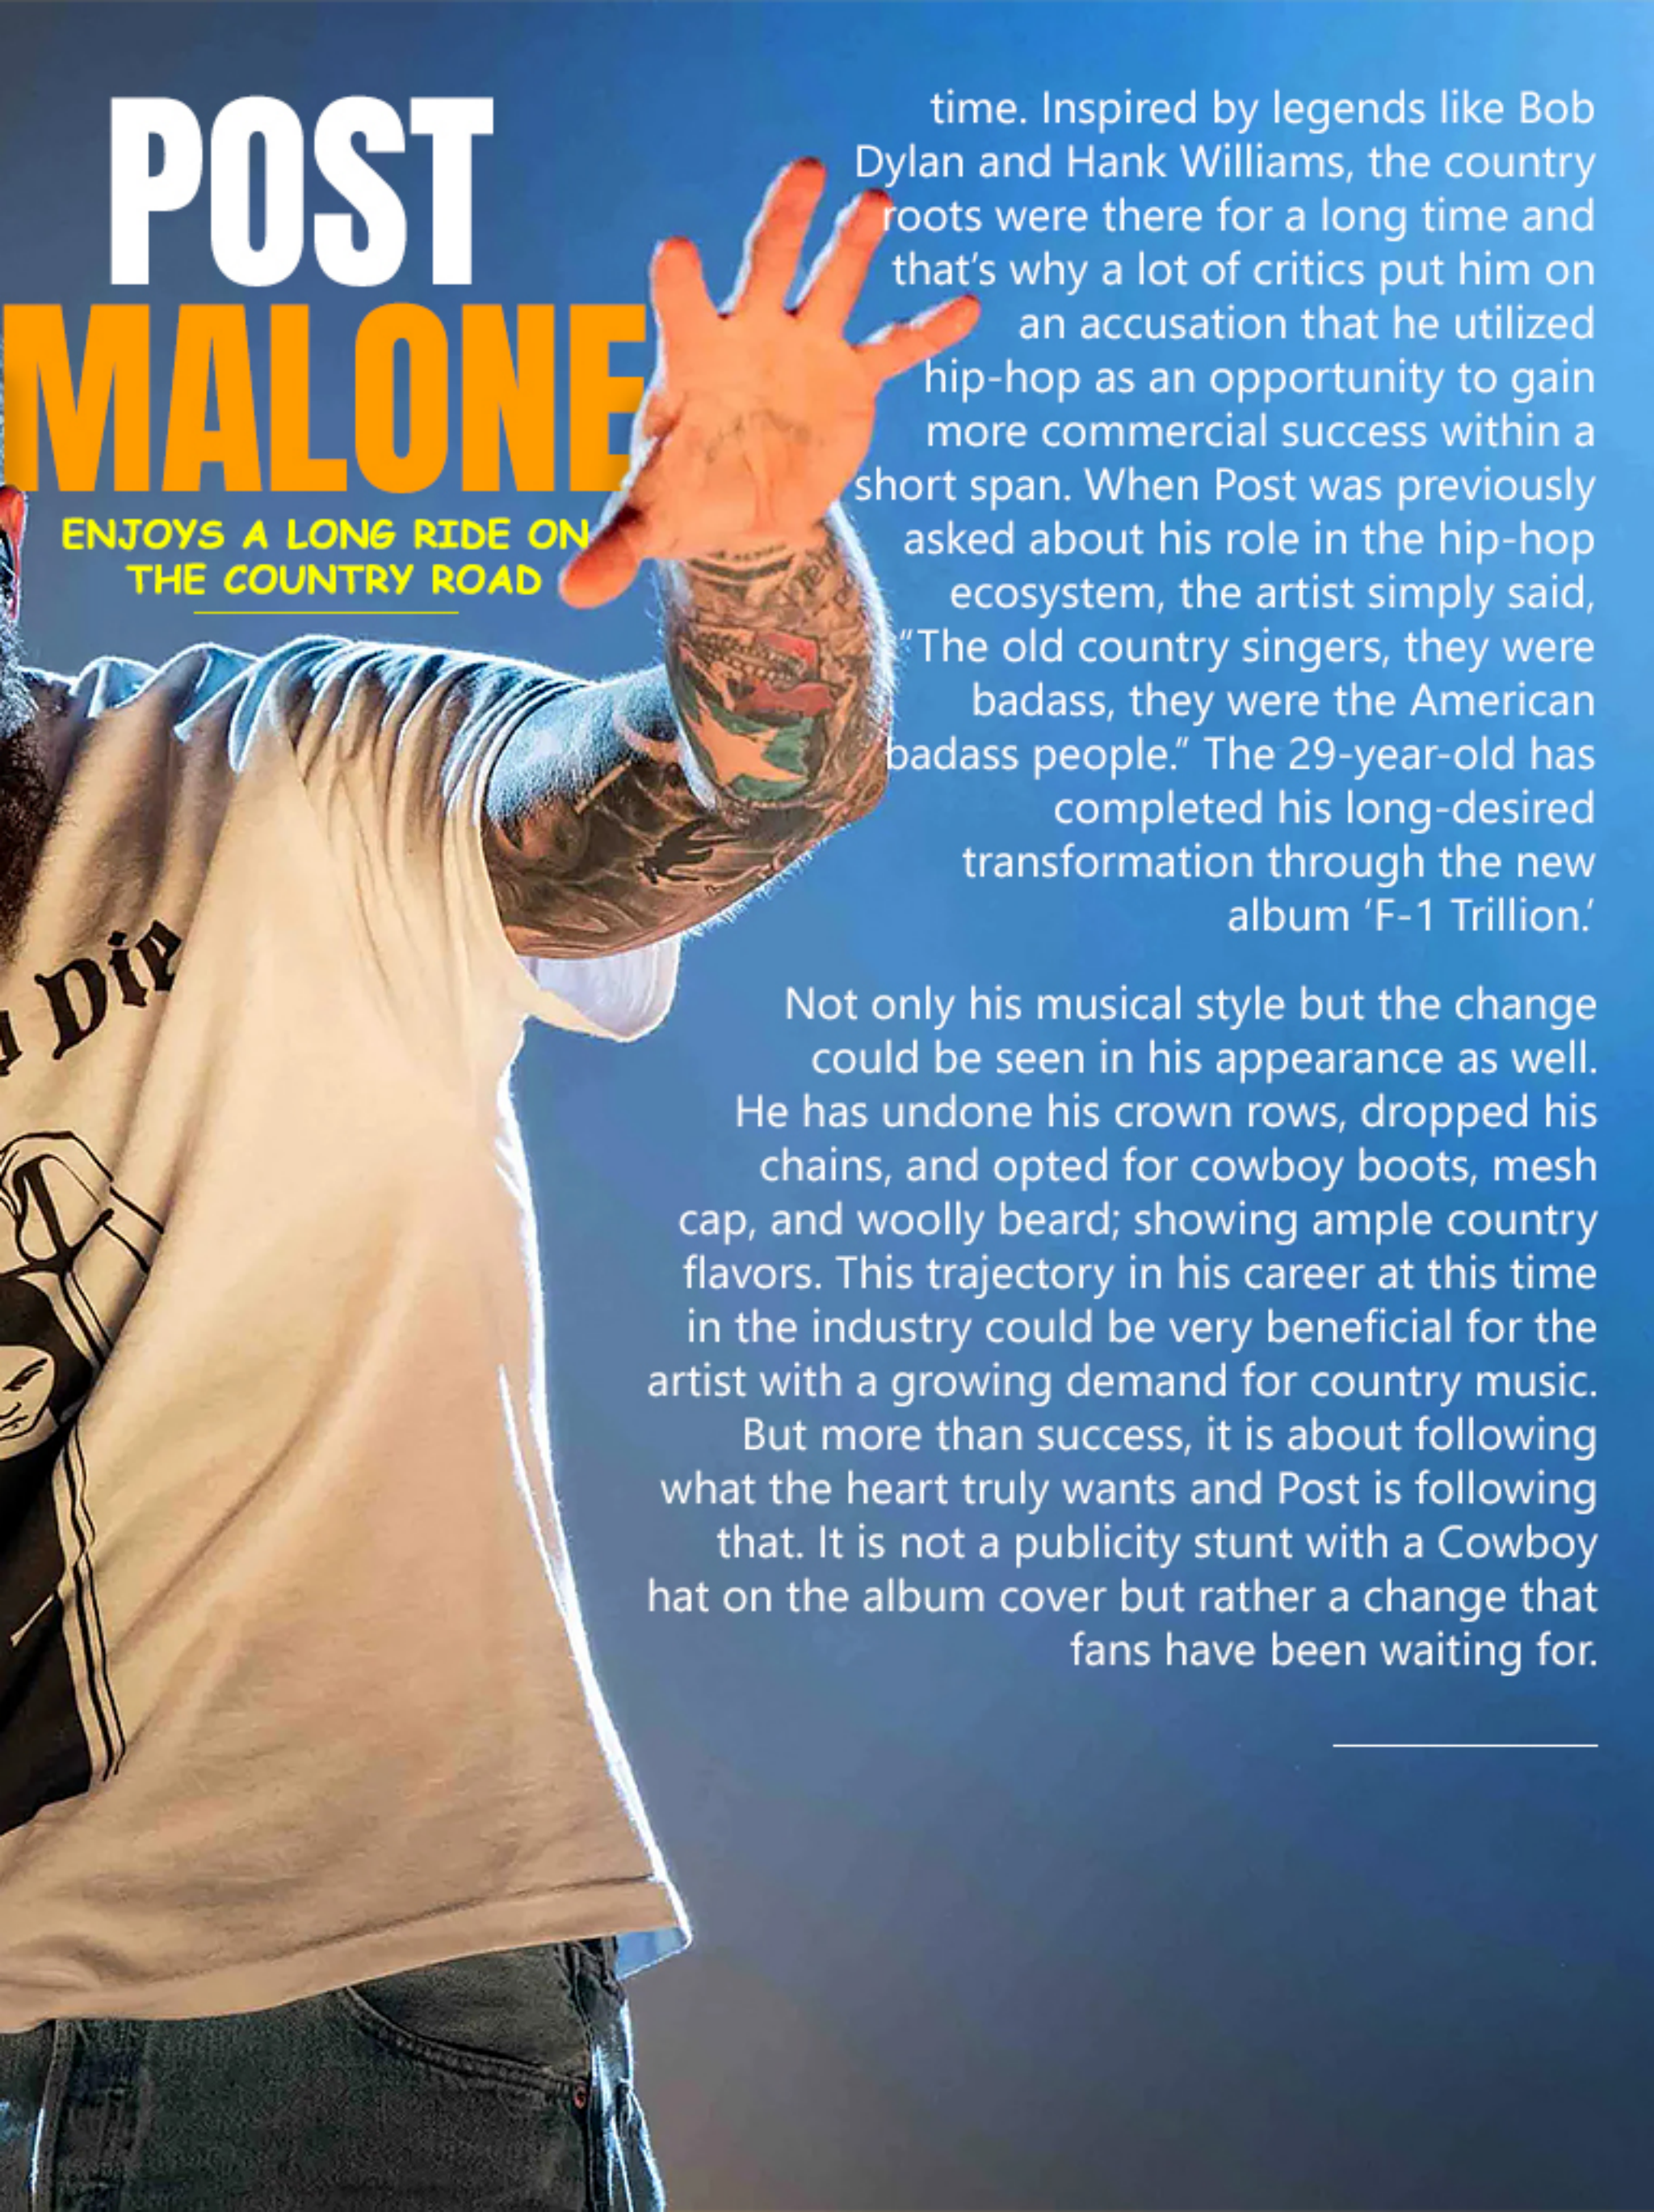

The SoundCloud rapper who started his career with a strong hip-hop game, Post Malone is now heading towards a different destination on the country road. He embarked on his journey with the single 'White Iverson' which was released in 2015. Austin, better known as Post offered a persona of a swagger, a rapper who can go off limits. But the rapper has gone through fair morphosis throughout his musical career till now whether it is sobriety or a massive shift in his musical style. It was not unknown that the rapper is also a good singer who offered captivating songs like 'Sunflower', 'Falling in Love', 'I Fa 'Circles' and many others. But nobody expected the Tweet "WHEN I TURN 30 IM BECOMING A COUNTRY/-FOLK SINGER."

Post is a man of his word and his shift in musical works is quite noticeable now. The latest project 'F-1 Trillion' has opened a new chapter of country music for Malone and it can be felt through each song from the album. Whether it is a collaboration with Morgan Wallen for 'I Had Some Help' or the taste of bourbon in 'Pour Me a Drink'; it is evident that the artist had his eyes on Nashville for a long time. Inspired by legends like Bob Dylan and Hank Williams, the country roots were there for a long time and that's why a lot of critics put him on an accusation that he utilized hip-hop as an opportunity to gain more commercial success within a short span. When Post was previously asked about his role in the hip-hop ecosystem, the artist simply said, "The old country singers, they were badass, they were the American badass people." The 29-year-old has completed his long-desired transformation through the new album 'F-1 Trillion.'

ENJOYS A LONG RIDE ON

Not only his musical style but the change could be seen in his appearance as well. He has undone his crown rows, dropped his chains, and opted for cowboy boots, mesh cap, and woolly beard; showing ample country flavors. This trajectory in his career at this time in the industry could be very beneficial for the artist with a growing demand for country music.

But more than success, it is about following what the heart truly wants and Post is following that. It is not a publicity stunt with a Cowboy hat on the album cover but rather a change that fans have been waiting for.

Shaan Performed At The Inaugural Ceremony Of India House At The Paris Olympics 2024

Shaan said he is quite proud as he became a part of the Olympics 2024 and performed to motivate Indian athletes. It was quite a memorable night for the Indian singer.

Renowned singer Shaan performed at the inaugural ceremony of India House at the Paris Olympics 2024. It is quite a proud moment for the artist as performing at the Olympics is a huge matter.

Shaan performed some of the most amazing songs at the inaugural ceremony. While talking about the performance at the Olympics, the artist said 'I feel blessed to be part of this historic moment and I'm glad I could play a small part in motivating our athletes. I completely believe they will make us very proud'. He also added 'Manu Bhaker has already become the first Indian athlete to bag two medals (bronze medals in 10m Air Pistol women's individual final and 10m Air Pistol mixed team playoff) in a single edition of the Olympics. The Paris Olympics will mark a golden chapter for Indian track and field accomplishments'.

Manu Bhaker is the very first person who bagged two medals for 10m Air Pistol segment. Before her, no one ever got the chance to win medals in this particular segment. That is why, her winning at the beginning of the Olympics has been quite motivating for all the other participants.

In an interview, Shaan stated 'It was a special evening, and everyone was in the mood to celebrate India and our Olympic athletes. I sang songs like Chak De India, Lehra Do, ChaleChalo, DangalDangal, Lakshya and other popular songs. A special track that I performed for the very first time was JeetKaGeet (Chandu Champion). It felt like this song was custom-made for the occasion'.

He also said 'Performing live with my band was an exciting and memorable opportunity for me. It is a privilege to be part of such a historic new beginning, where the Indian Olympic contingent from this day on will have their own country house every time and everywhere they participate at the Olympics'.

At the Paris Olympics 2024, Shaan went with his wife Radhika. And both of them enjoyed the opening ceremony. Shaan even said 'It was so exhilarating to wave out to our Team India, who were all dressed in our traditional attire. What a spectacular setting with such grand performances. Despite the rains, we thoroughly enjoyed it'.

As of now, India has won a total of three bronze medals in the competition. Everyone from the nation is expecting that they will win a few more before the end of the Olympics.

5. Is Karan Aujla an only child?

Since early childhood, Karan had to face a lot of struggle and loss. At the tender age of nine, he had lost his father to a bike accident, and then at the impressionable age of fourteen, he lost his mother to cancer. This period of tragedy had contributed a lot to his success now but at that time, he had to move to Canada to get a fresh start. This fresh start took place with Karan Aujla sister holding his hands while he took the first step out of India.

KISHOR KUMAR'S BIRTH ANNIVERSARY: A TRIBUTE TO THE LEGEND

The fans of the legendary singer of the Indian music industry, Kishor Kumar celebrate his 95th birth anniversary with some interesting facts about the singer.

The name Kishor Kumar is enormously famous, not just in the Indian music industry but all across the globe. On his 95th birth-anniversary on 4th August 2024, his fans remember this iconic voice with not just his songs but also with some quite interesting facts about this legend that many are not aware of, like:

His Early Life:

Even though the whole world knows this legendary figure mainly because of his singing skills, he was also a talented actor, lyricist, writer, director, producer, and screenwriter. His debut in the acting industry was with the movie Shikari (1946) where he played along with his brother Ashok Kumar. The iconic singer may be famously known by the name Kishor Kumar but his birth name was Abhas Kumar Ganguly who was born in Khandwa, which is now in Madhya Pradesh.

Start of Kishor's Musical Journey:

It was under SD Burman, that Kishor got the guidance and inspiration to find his calling in the music scene and he created his unique style. Assisted by SD Burman, Kishor Kumar picked up yodeling from American singer Jimmie Rodgers and Tex Morton, the New Zealand and Australian country music is great. Later under junior RD Burman, Kishor Kumar continued his musical journey. This development led to Kishor Kumar being the voice of great actor Dev Anand from 1950s to 1970s. Under SD Burman, he sang most of Rajesh Khanna's best songs which count up to 245 songs.

Banning of His Songs:

Kishor Kumar was asked to sing for an Indian National Congress rally in Mumbai during the time of the Emergency which he refused to do. This led to a ban on his songs by the national broadcasters, All India Radio and Doordarshan from 1976 till the end of Emergency.

Married Life and Rumors:

This legendary singer was married four times throughout his life. Firstly, he was married to Ruma Guha Thakurta (1950-1958), then he got married to Madhubala (1960-1969) for which he converted to Islam and changed his name to Karim Abdul. Thirdly, he was married to actor Yogeeta Bali in 1976 and got divorced in 1978.

Lastly, he married Leena Chandravarkar in 1980 and they were together till his death. One fact from when he got separated from Yogeeta is that Kishor had stopped singing for Mithun chakraborty after Yogeeta got married to him after leaving Kishor Kumar.

Other Fun Trivia Facts About Kishor Kumar:

He still holds the record for being the winner and being nominated for the most Filmfare Award in the category of Best Male Playback Singer. He had won eight Filmfare Awards out of 28 nominations in this category.

The famous song by Kishor Kumar called PaanchRupaiyyaBarah Anna was inspired by his debt of rupees 5.75.

One quite interesting fact about the legend is that he could sing in female vocals too. In the film Ake SeedhilagiDil Pe, he was heard to be singing female vocals as well.

A funny fact about the singer is that there used to be a warning sign that used to hang by the gates of his house saying, 'Beware of Kishore'.

Ed Sheeran Promises A Heartbreak Upcoming Song For Simon Otto's Animated Movie 'That Christmas'

Netflix is happy to announce that, the 'Perfect' singer will return with a melancholic release "Under The Tree" for the animated movie of Simon Otto, 'That Christmas'.

The director of "How to Train Your Dragon" trilogy Simon Otto will soon be back with a Netflix release. In this movie, you will get to see an ensemble cast including, Brian Cox as Santa, Fiona Shaw (Ms. Trapper), Jodie Whittaker (Mrs. Williams), and Bill Nighy (Bill).

Ed Sheeran promises "Under The Tree" for this highly anticipated movie, set to release on the 6th of December, 2024. The song is written by Richard Curtis and Peter Souter.

"I've been mates with Richard Curtis for years, and we've done a load of fun work for charity, and then both were heavily involved in the movie yesterday. He came to me two years ago to play me the rough of That Christmas," Ed Sheeran added, "It was just sketches and voices, but it blew me away. So emotional, yet so heartwarmingly funny, like all Richard Curtis movies. I find since having kids, there's a real lack of great animated children's Christmas movies, so I thought this was such an amazing thing to make and put into the world."

"The scene that we wrote this song for is so heartbreaking, but so real for many people at Christmas spending it without the ones they love, for so many reasons. I got to work with my older brother on this which is such a rarity and a gift to work so closely with my only sibling, it felt so good to create something my children would watch, with their uncle, based in the country they live in," he continued, "I find it mad that there isn't more animated Christmas films for kids, but this is going to become a holiday staple, at least in our household. Hope everyone loves it and enjoys the song, we had such a great time creating it. x" The director of the movie, Simon Otto said, "I'm beside myself for finally being able to talk about this small Christmas miracle that had landed in our film's stocking. An original song by Ed Sheeran. Ed's song inspired us to shape the key emotional moment in the film in a different way and it allowed us to interconnect the storylines in a way we couldn't see before."

He added, "The song has become the heart of the film ever since and it motivated us artists to bring our best and live up to the beauty and honesty it brings to the film. I'll be forever grateful to Ed for gifting us with such an honest and beautiful piece."

LISA Of BLACKPINK And Rosalia To Collaborate On A New Song

BLACKPINK's LISA and Rosalia are all set to surprise their fans with a new song. A teaser and hints related to this project are flooding social media platforms.

Lisa is far from finishing her previous independent release, 'Rockstar', in June.

On August 2nd, Friday, the pop star proved that she has a lot more in store for this new and exciting solo era. The BLACKPINK star shared a snippet of a new track on social media. The video was posted on TikTok and sent the entire internet into a frenzy.

In the clip, the pink-haired LISA did not show her face but showed off a star-shaped pendant around her neck. "Bangin' it, bangin' it, wanna crack these walls/ Bangin' it, bangin' it, wanna echo through the halls," the musician sang over the Y2K-inspired beat, mid-tempo. "Pullin' up, fresh face, brand new día," she further sings.

The new single is supposedly called 'Brand New Día' which hints at a collaboration with Spanish singer Rosalia. A new wave of excitement was brought to social media platforms when a brand new poster of 'Brand New Día' emerged on X, formerly twitter.

The poster features the fascinating line "pulling up fresh face brand new día", which allegedly is the catchy hook of this new single. The poster's bottom section includes cryptic names LA__A, hinting at LALISA, and _OS_LÍ_, which seems to be a confirmation of Rosalia's involvement in the project and the song being a collaboration. The visual teaser of the track aligns with the additional clues that fans have been receiving from both artists. On August 5th, Lisa confirmed that she is collaborating with a new teaser, which further fueled the speculations.

Additionally, Rosalia also previewed what appeared to be her part of the collaboration on an Instagram live session. She also playfully included what seemed like Lisa's verse on the song. This impromptu reveal session fueled the rumors even more. The possible collaboration between the two artists has excited the fans. Rosalia and Lisa have also previously shown and expressed their admiration and love towards each other's work. They have also been spotted together on several occasions and events.

Now, on August 6th, BLACKPINK's official handle confirmed the news of the two collaborating, and people on social media platforms cannot keep their calm. One person under the official post wrote, "Can't wait BRAND NEW DÍA #LISAxBrandNewDía", while another one wrote, "Lisa y Rosalíavienen a romper la industria".

Another post regarding the collaboration read comments like "two icons about to be iconic," "LISA and Rosalía collaborating on a track together is sure to be amazing.", "we will be streaming", "this gonna be a big hit i just knew it", "Omg pop queens", and "Wow, that's exciting! I can't wait to hear the collaboration between LISA and Rosalía.

Their unique styles are sure to create something truly special. I'm looking forward to this new single!", etc. This brand-new teaser came a month after the global pop star stepped into a new phase of her career, starting a solo journey. She embarked on this solo career with 'Rockstar', an anthem of self-confidence that Lisa paired with a cyberpunk-themed video. This became LISA's first-ever No. 1 hit on the Billboard Global Excl. The U.S.

Sabrina Carpenter Gives Fans A 'Taste' Of Her New Music Video Featuring Jenna Ortega

Sabrina Carpenter dropped a new teaser for her upcoming music video 'Taste' featuring Jenna Ortega. The music video seemingly pays a nod to Hitchcock's Psycho. Sabrina Carpenter just dropped a teaser for her upcoming new music video of her third single from the forthcoming album.

'Taste' features Jenna Ortega and Sabrina herself will be out on August 23. Her upcoming album 'Short n' Sweet' is also due August 23rd. Before releasing 'Taste' Carpenter also released 'Espresso' and 'Please Please Please', the latter becoming no. 1 on the Billboard Hot 100 chart. The singer took to social media to share the teaser of this new upcoming music video, which is coming out this Friday. For the single, Carpenter is credited as one of the songwriters alongside Julia Michaels and Amy Allen. Ian Kirkpatrick and John Ryan have produced the track.

In the 16-second preview of 'Taste' that Sabrina shared on her social media platforms, she was seen holding a knife from a bed where viewers can see nothing but weapons. Carpenter was then seen entering the foyer of a huge mansion and heading straight up to the bathroom. It is where the viewers can see her finding the Wednesday actress and also her fellow Disney Channel alum making out with a man under the shower. Carpenter was visibly enraged and charged at Ortega with a knife in her hand as fear took over the actress.

Dave Meyers directed the music video for 'Taste' which is a visible nod to Alfred Hitchcock's 1960 horror film Psycho. "I've been known to share," Carpenter sings on the track. In an interview with Paper Magazine, the singer shared the lyrics of 'Taste' including "You'll just have to taste me when he's kissing you." In the same interview, Carpenter told Paper Magazine about her songwriting process and her interest in writing about taboo topics. "I'll write any song," the 25-year old 'Please Please Please' singer said when asked about the song's racy and rigid subject matter. "It doesn't mean I'll put it out, but I'll write it. I think the series of unfortunate events I've encountered in relationships are no secret to people who know me or think they know me."

The tracklist for 'Short n' Sweet' is out now and includes songs such as 'Good Graces', 'Sharpest Tools', 'Coincidence', 'Bed Chem', 'Dumb & Poetic', 'Slim Pickins', 'Juno', 'Lie to Girls', and 'Don't Smile'. Naturally, the fans are super excited as they will get both the new album and the new music video from the artist and that is reflected in the comment section of the teaser.

One user on X (formerly Twitter) wrote, "Oh I knew this was Jenna Ortega ????" while another one commented, "already got the autoplay ready. we know". Other fans commented, "WE ARE SO EXCITED!!!!!!", "oh you're 3/3 this era... i might have to add to my stan list", "Another #1 smash hit incoming", "enna ortega cameo wtf oh this finna eat", "WE WILL ALL BE STREAMING", "MUSIC VIDEO OF THE YEAR COMING", etc. After the album's release, Carpenter plans on going on a tour through North America in support of her LP.

Kim Deal Of 'The Breeders' Is Launching Her Solo Album 'Nobody Loves You More'

Kim Deal is about to launch her solo studio album 'Nobody Loves You More' with a collection of 11 songs solely under her name.

Video directed by Alex Da Corte. The frontwoman of the globally recognized band 'The Breeders' is set to release her solo album 'Nobody Loves You More' with the eccentric new single 'Crystal Breath'.

The album is set to be released on November 22nd via 4AD and it marks the first full-length release under her name. The rhythm guitarist and lead vocals of the rock band 'The Breeders' Kim Deal hailing from Dayton, Ohio along with her twin sister Kelley has become a global icon in the alternative rock music genre.

They gained their fame mostly because of their song 'Cannonball' which was their biggest commercial hit and was named the best single of 1993. Even though the band broke up at its peak but Kim Deal is focused on making a comeback with her new studio album.

The band was and still is a huge inspiration to new age musicians like Olivia Rodrigo and this craze and fandom is anticipated to come back once again with the new single 'Crystal Breath'.

The eerie and mystifying soundscore that pushed the traditional and conservative boundary is set to come back in November of this year holding hands with Kim Deal and her album 'Nobody Loves You More'.

The band was so popular back in the days that they had opened for legendary bands like Nirvana on their 1992 European tour.

The first album of 'The Breeders' might not have been a commercial hit but it had gotten praise from legendary musician Kurt Cobain saying that 'Pod' the debut album of the band was one of his all-time favorite albums.

'Crystal Breath' is the second single from the album following 'Coast' which was recorded with engineer Steve Albini at Electrical Audio in Chicago in November 2022.

Other collaborators on the LP included Breeders bandmates Kelley Deal and Jim Macpherson, former bandmates Mando Lopez and Britt Walford, guitarist Josh Klinghoffer, mixing engineer Marta Salogni, and mastering engineer Heba Kadry.

Originally Kim had written and recorded two of her oldest songs for the new album which are 'Are You Mine?' and 'Wish I Was' in 2011 and the new single was recorded just two years ago.

The track portrays Deal singing 'My crystal breath shatters in you / The freak in my reflection sparkles into view / Let's start a new life,' in a spoken word vocal with an eerie and spooky beat, bringing back the vibe of the globally famous and largely praised band 'The Breeders'.

1. 'A Bar Song (Tipsy)' by Shaboozey:

Released on April 12, 2024, 'A Bar Song (Tipsy)' is this week's number one song. This is Shaboozey's fourth single from his latest album Where I've Been, Isn't Where I'm Going. Penned down as one of the most relatable songs by the artist, the song focuses on a frustrated narrator from all the hard and tiring work at his job. Who doesn't get tired sometimes? But what do you do next? Well, Shaboozey then becomes even more relatable when he sings about taking his frustration out by drinking alcohol and having a little fun. The song was written by Collins Chibueze, Nevin Sastry, Sean Cook, Jerrell Jones, and Mark Williams, and produced by Nevin Sastry and Sean Cook.

CHARLI XCX SHARES "GUESS" REMIX VIDEO STARRING BILLIE EILISH

By Daily Music Roll

The 'Brat' season has just got more interesting! Charli XCX has released a brand new remix of 'Guess', featuring Billie Eilish, and a ton of underwear.

The 'Brat' summer continues with another remix! Charli XCX and Billie Eilish released a new collaboration for 'Guess' on Thursday that sent the internet into a frenzy! The pair followed up with a sexy music video that features the stars at a house party, which is quite steamy too.

The real catch of the video is definitely all the underwear flying around, playing on Charli's lyric, "You wanna guess the color of my underwear/You wanna know what I got going on down there." The music video is directed by Aidan Zamiri, who also directed the singer's previous '360' video.

Apart from the different types of underwear, Billie and Charli, the video also features a cameo from the producer of "Guess," the Dare.

All of the undergarments that were featured in the 'Charli xcx - Guess featuring Billie Eilish' music video have been donated to I Support the Girls.

This is a non-profit organization that, according to its website, "collects and distributes essential items, including bras, underwear, and menstrual hygiene products, allowing women and folx experiencing homelessness, impoverishment, or distress to stand tall with dignity."

Now, getting back to the video, Billie Eilish crashes the flying underwear party with a massive tractor driving into the building. In her verse, Eilish responds to Charli's guessing questions as she sings about her "lacy black pair with the little bows/the ones I picked out for you in Tokyo."

The video then features both the artists walking through a post-apocalyptic city completely taken by undergarments.

In the video, Eilish declares, "Charli likes boys but she knows I'd hit it". This was like too much fun to make," Finneas, Eilish's brother and producer, wrote on Instagram Stories hours before the track's release.

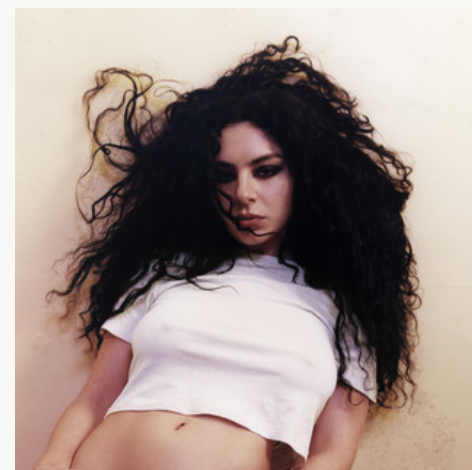

Charli first teased the remix of 'Guess' just a day before as she posted a photo of her standing with the guest artist.

But the picture cropped both the artist's faces. Even though no singer was named, fans under the post were quick to deduce that the mystery artist was none other than Billie Eilish.

They figured it out by pointing out that the rings she was wearing were the same ones she wore during her Chicken Shop interview with Amelia Dimoldenberg. Fans also noticed that Eilish and Finneas were hinting at probably working with Charli during a recent interview with Zane Lowe.

Eilish said, "I was really nervous, because I haven't worked with anyone but Finneas in six years, and I hated it back in the day." Finneas added, "Billie was sitting and telling me why she loved this one artist, and we were watching their music videos together and I know them, and I was texting them like, 'We're sitting here watching your stuff, it's so good.' They were like, 'I'm in L.A.' I was like, 'You want to do a day?'" The video is extremely exciting and entertaining to watch, but not something any viewer should take seriously. As Charli said, "Guess if we are serious about this song" at the end of the video, it is up to the audience whether they have understood the assignment.

KATY PERRY IS BRINGING BACK HER SPIRIT WITH NEW SINGLE 'LIFETIMES'

After the backlash from 'Women's World', Katy Perry is about to take on the world once again with her new single 'Lifetimes' which celebrates eternal love.

Katy Perry's Women's World was dropped off the Hot 100 after reaching the place of 63 on the list for a week but that has not let the singer simmer down. In fact, she has returned with a bang in the form of a new single called 'Lifetimes'.

This new single belonging to the house genre seems to be setting fire on the stage. She has released the official video of the song on Thursday where the singer is seen to be taking a vacation and the track is a part of her 143 album. The video is directed by trusted Stillz who is known to be frequently collaborating with Bad Bunny and it is produced by Lukasz 'Dr. Luke' Gottwald and Vaughn Oliver.

This is the second single of the album and the official video release has been nothing more than a success.

The song is about celebrating the bond of eternal love which may come in various forms. Katy has said in a press meet, 'I wrote it with my good friend and long-time collaborator Sarah Hudson, along with the incredible Vaughn Oliver.

It's about finding that one deep and satisfying love of your life.

Personally, I don't think a soul mate will always come in the form of a partner. It can come in all different ways, a child, a best friend, a pet.

For me it is my daughter – I ask her every night, 'Will you find me in every lifetime?' She says yes, and I feel found. You'll find each other, over and over again, for lifetimes."

The video shows the bike-riding baddie Katy Perry steering through the sea coast of Spain and enjoying with friends on the seashore in a bikini in the daytime and partying like crazy in the nighttime.

No proof is needed to be given when the topic of her incredible vocals comes into the picture and this time too she has not let down her fans with her mesmerizing vocals and her sensual beauty along with the hyped and beating house music.

This song is basically a party song that has a deeper inner meaning which is heart-touching, to say the least. The album has other collaborations with Kim Petras, Doechii, 21 Savage, and J.I.D.

The second single of one of the most anticipated movies of 2024, 'Devara:

Part 1' is out now. 'Dheere Dheere' looks stunning and has the most beautiful melody. 'Devara: Part 1' is one of the most highly-anticipated movies of 2024 and since the time the trailer of the movie was released people have been rooting for this one.

Being one of the biggest movie stars in India N.T. Rama Rao Jr. is returning to the big screens. This movie has an ensemble cast, including artists like Janhvi Kapoor, Saif Ali Khan, Prakash Raj, Srikanth, Shine Tom Chacko, and many others.

This is the second release of the album of this movie. The song is performed by Shilpa Rao and Anirudh. This 3:44-minute-long release will win your heart instantly.

People are already loving this number and already has reached 19 million views on YouTube.

The movie is set to release 27th of September, 2024. After gaining much limelight after the worldwide success of the Shah Rukh Khan starrer movie, 'Jawan', Anirudh Ravichander has returned with this beautiful album. This upcoming project shows a lot of potential while there also is a dichotomy of female leads in Telegu movies, but, apart from that, this movie has a lot of brilliant storytelling aspects. The DOP of this song Rathnavelu also has done a commendable job of insinuating the most charismatic background for this number. Production designer Sabu Cyril and Editor Sreekar Prasad also worked brilliantly to create this visual masterpiece.

This Hindi language number has been penned by Kausar Munir and the vocals of Shilpa Rao have created the most impactful magic for Hindi music lovers.

Bosco Martis has a choreographer for this number. Anirudh Ravichander being the one-man-army has worked on the Synth & Rhythm Program and Electric and Acoustic Guitar.

His team of ensemble young and zesty artists including Keba Jeremiah, Shashank Vijay, Karthik Vamsi, and Ananthakrishnan has created this melodious magic. Thriving under T-Series, this song looks extremely compelling to the masses.

Two months ago, the 'Fear Song' of this album was released which has reached over 47 million views on YouTube. 7 months ago when the glimpse of the movie was first released people were dying to learn more about this release. In this movie, you will see the legendary N.T. Rama Rao Jr. and the Pataudi Prince Saif Ali Khan.

Telugu movie lovers are eagerly waiting for this release and surely this Anirudh melody is surely building on the craze that already existed for this movie.

Janhvi Kapoor has been under the microscope for her previous eclectic movie choices and her latest release 'Ulajh' has been highly appreciated by many.

Featuring John Abraham and Tamannaah Bhatia, 'Zaroorat Se Zyada' is performed by Arijit Singh, and penned down by Kunaal Vermaa, and Amaal Mallik's music creates the magic.

On the 15th of August, John Abraham starrer movie 'Vedaa' will be out in the theaters, the trailer looks compelling, yet what makes the movie more compelling is the recently released number of the movie named, 'Zaroorat Se Zyada', performed by Arijit Singh and Amaal Mallik.

The emotional song shares an exceedingly melancholic tune along with which the video tells the story where the main male lead of this movie played by John Abraham loses his wife played by Tamannaah Bhatia in a very unfortunate way.

This heartbreaking release with the charming vocals of Arijit Singh has created a lot of anticipation for the movie.

Zee Studios has hosted the worldwide release of this number and on the other hand, it should be one of the most powerful ways to talk about this beautifully themed movie.

The song portrays the story of John Abraham losing his wounded wife on the way to take her to the hospital. The theme of the song is widely resonating as there are many who lose their loved ones just because there aren't enough infrastructures in India.

MELANCHOLIC THEMES OF 'ZAROORAT SE ZYADA' FROM NIKKHIL ADVANI'S UPCOMING MOVIE 'VEDAA' WINS HEARTS

By Daily Music Roll

For this movie, John Abraham has co-produced and created a compelling reaction for everything.

The soulful vocal of Arijit Singh has been creating a prevailing effect after the song was released on 10 of August on every platform including YouTube.

The song already has gained over 13 million views on YouTube.

As per the trailer of the movie, the plot of the movie revolves around the character named, 'Vedaa' played by Sharvari. She has been recently seen in movies like Munjya and Maharaj.

She came into the limelight after she became a part of the multi-starrer movie 'Bunty and Babli 2' in 2021. The movie was a flop, but her potential was seen by the world. Since then she has been a part of various ambitious projects.

The trailer also shows the zest that she shines through every glimpse of the movie, from her diction to her resilience as an actor.

After directing movies like Kal Ho Na Ho, D-Day, and Batla House, Nikkhil Advani once again deals with patriotic leitmotifs for his upcoming movie.

The more you watch the trailer the better you will understand this movie is dealing with themes like the societal dichotomy of India and cast system.

Having talented actors like Sharvari, Abhishek Banerjee, John Abraham, and Tamannaah Bhatia this movie shows the due respect to the Constitution of India and how it should be celebrated.

Catch this movie in the theaters on the 15th of August.

LAINIEY WILSON

PROVES THAT HER COUNTRY MUSIC IS JUST BETTER WITH
'WHIRLWIND'

The Nashville
force Lainey Wilson is establishing herself in a completely different style and sense with her album
'Whirlwind',
currently out on streaming platforms.

Country music has a different charm that allures you to its core. Once you are in, it is tough to be obsessed with any other style or genre. But, if there is one artist who can make this experience even better for you, then it is Lainey Wilson, one of the brightest stars country music has ever seen. The artist recently released a brand-new album 'Whirlwind' and a music video for the title track. The reigning CMA Entertainer of the Year has previously written songs for artists like Luke Combs, Flatland Cavalry, etc. But now with her newest music, she proves she can do country music like no other artist.

Since she first released an album back in 2014, the singer-songwriter the singer has built and refined the concept, shaping her artistry, polishing her creativity, and expanding her abilities as a musician. With 'Whirlwind' the Louisiana native masterfully flexes her vocals and songwriting skills. The artist also proved that she is not afraid to take big swings, even if they are silly, or completely experimental. Trying out new ways and not being tied to a comfortable place, Wilson really outdid herself this time. And her fans all around the world seem to agree.

This new music album follows her critically acclaimed 2022 release 'Bell Bottom Country' which took away home the Grammy award for Best Country Album. The new refreshing album has a total of 14 tracks with standout singles like '4x4xU' and 'Ring Finger', showcasing her typical Southern charm and storytelling abilities. One big surprise for the fans was definitely the collaboration with Miranda Lambert on the track 'Good Horses'. This song signifies the struggle people feel between life on the road and life in the comfort of their own homes. The singer revealed that it was written on Lambert's farm. In a recent interview with Billboard, Wilson said, "Miranda said, 'Come hang out and take a nap. Me and Brendan [McLoughlin, Lambert's husband] will feed you and then maybe we can write a song.' They made burgers and pasta, we had everything."

Just like the singer described in the interview, fans could see her range of emotions in the album. Wilson has truly dug deep into her life, love, and career throughout the album, inspired by her life and experiences. The official music video for the title track is now out on YouTube and has already managed to impress her fans and listeners from every corner of the world. With this track, the singer goes back to the roots of country music, bringing out its authentic essence but carefully combining it with modern beats. So there is a beautiful balance that is the most enjoyable thing about not just the song, but the entire album. "For this, it had to be quality over quantity. I couldn't write 200 songs to get to my 14 [songs on Whirlwind]. I had to map out what I want to share, where do I want to get vulnerable, and really figure out the message I want to bring," Wilson stated in the interview. Now that the album is finally out, it is sure to be quality over quantity for listeners and country music lovers.

Celebrate This National Vinyl Day with the 10 Most Valued Vinyl Records

If you are a vinyl lover, you usually go online or to a local store to find your favorite album. Although vinyl records are becoming extinct daily, especially on streaming platforms. However, what if it wasn't the case and money was not a problem? Most people interested in history and rare items would be collectors and gather items such as rare wines, antique furniture and cars, and even vinyl records. The rarest of the rarest vinyl records end up being the most valued as well. On August 12, the world celebrated the National Vinyl Day. To make the occasion even more beautiful, here are the most valued and rare vinyl records.

1. Wu-Tang Clan: 'Once Upon a Time in Shaolin' The price of this vinyl record is reportedly $2 million, making it the most valued and rarest record of all time. The notorious Martin Shkreli paid this huge amount for the 2015 album, which makes Shkreli's copy the only one to be produced. The controversial former CEO of Turing Pharmaceuticals is now behind bars for hiking up the price of the anti-HIV drug of his company by more than 500%. So, it looks like he will not be enjoying the most valued vinyl record for quite some time.

2. The Beatles: 'The Beatles' (White Album) It is one of the most famous LPs of the legendary British rock/pop band The Beatles. The vinyl record is valued at $790,000 and the drummer Ringo Starr owned the first printing of this album. Later it was sold at an auction in the United States. The print number of '0000001' is what makes the vinyl so unique.

3. Elvis Presley: 'My Happiness' Jack White is one of the most creative and passionate musicians in the world, who is also a vinyl record lover. In 2015, the artist attended an auction and bought the test pressing of Elvis Presley's first-ever recording for a massive $300,000.

4. The Beatles: 'Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band' If you think celebrities are the only ones who are buying expensive vinyl records, you would be in the wrong. The fourth on this list is again a Beatles record which was sold for $290,000 at auction. The buyer was from the Midwest and took home the first pressing of the band's definitely most iconic album.

5. John Lennon & Yoko Ono: 'Double Fantasy' Any vintage pressing of the legendary John Lennon is bound to catch a shiny price at any auction. This record that Lennon made with Yoko Ono was sold for $150,000. What makes it a bit tragic is that this was the one Lennon himself signed just hours before he was brutally assassinated.

6. The Beatles: 'Yesterday & Today' This is a compilation record, making it one of the rarest Beatles vinyls of all time. It was only released in Japan, the U.S., and Canada and featured the band's cover of the famous track 'butcher'. The vinyl was sold for $125,000.

7. The Beatles: 'Til There Was You' (10" acetate) If market trend gives any indication, it is that anything with rare Beatles records is considered valued. 'Til There Was You' is another rare and one of the most valued vinyl records that was sold for £77,500, which contains the band's earliest demos.

8. Aphex Twin: 'Caustic Window' (test pressing) This is a much newer release by Canadian artist Aphex Twin, also known as Richard D. James. Markus 'Notch' Persson, the creator of Minecraft paid a reported $46,300 for the rare Aphex Twin in 2014.

9. Tommy Johnson: 'Alcohol and Jake Blues' This record is one of the most valued vinyl records, not because the money was spent, but because the buyer already had it. It was sold for a massive $37,100 because the condition of the record was better than the one the buyer had at home!

10. Frank Wilson: 'Do I Love You (Indeed I Do)' The ersatz debut Frank Wilson was only pressed for 250 copies. Only five of them survived to see the modern-day after the rest of the 245 records were destroyed by the Motown boss Berry Gordy's orders. An anonymous buyer bought one of the remaining five for £25,742 in 2009.
