MILEY CYRUS AND MAXX MORANDO'S

Rumors have been already buzzing among the fans that Miley Cyrus is dating again and it is perhaps true as the singer could be noticed with drummer Maxx Morando. The rumor took its peak in 2021 when the music artists could be seen together in Miami. Miley was in the town for the special program of Miley's New Year's Eve Party for NBC and it seemed like her New Year went pretty well. The couple was caught having a moment in their Miami hotel which sparked the rumor. However, they also seemed very happy enjoying themselves and dancing to their hearts' content in some of the glimpses. After a few months, in March 2022, it was revealed that Miley and Maxx are maintaining a 'low-key' relationship. By 2023 the bonding of the couple developed pretty strong and that reflects.

Dolly Parton Sings 'Smoky Mountain DNA' On Her Family's Story

Dolly Parton is one of the most iconic American singers and songwriters and she recently revealed her musical backstory. The legendary musician's musical story goes back somewhere most people would not expect, to the 1600s British Isles.

That is where the ancestors of the singer-songwriter come from before eventually landing on the familiar mountain ranges of the hollers of East Tennessee. However, they did not come alone, they brought all their music with them.

This is what Parton reveals and explains in her new record. The new album 'Smoky Mountain DNA: Family, Faith & Fables' is coming out on Friday and credited to Dolly Parton and family. The record explores the great legacy of the Partons and the Ows, Dolly's maternal family. In this record, the world would witness

Dolly Parton performing alongside five generations of family members. "My grandpa used to say when I got famous, she said, 'Well, she came out crying in the key of D,'" Parton told The Associated Press in an interview. "I think we all did."

'Smoky Mountain DNA' is an absolute labor of love, a record that taught Dolly more about her family's history and roots. "We're kind of like the Carter family. We go back generations," Parton said. The Carters are widely considered the first family of country music, and according to Parton, her family is similar to that.

"I would imagine this will be my favorite album," Parton said. "This really involves, you know, my grandmas and my grandpas, my uncles and my aunts, and all the people going all the way back that had the biggest influence on my life. The ones that I remember from being little, and it even goes on farther back from there."

Richie Owens., Parton's cousin is the one who produced Smoky Mountain DNA. Richie is someone who Dolly considers "the family historian".

In the interview, he revealed that the family has long been activists. Although the idea of creating a record started around 2010 and 2011, delayed by a few unfortunate deaths.

He further explains that Dolly Parton approached him right before the pandemic and asked him to work with her.

Owens mentioned that Parton approached him and said, "We need to get together and start trying to get all this information (and) material together."

As he had already been working on a family story, specifically tied to his grandfather's fiddle, the duo teamed up for a new record, what is now 'Smoky Mountain DNA'.

The record had some songs where Owens used digital technology which he compares to the new Beatles song 'Now and Then' and its AI-assist.

In the Beatles track John Lennon's voice was extracted from an old demo and used "restoration work" on a new composition. "With the technology that's been available, we were able to achieve wonderful, miraculous situations where we were able to go in and build new music tracks," he says.

"I got very, very emotional many times when I was singing, especially with the ones that have already passed and just remembering their voices, hearing them," Parton additionally says.

"It just kind of threw me into a deep emotional place, just like I had them back again. So, the whole thing was very heart-wrenching. But it was really amazing and very restoring. It had so many colors of emotions in it."

Is Free AI The Future Of Music Generation? Tools Worth Exploring In 2024

The music industry has gone through different transformative phases, from the advent of vinyl records to the uprising of digital music streaming platforms. Now the industry is stepping into another different phase while holding hands with Artificial Intelligence. Yes, music is getting a facelift with the help of AI and the results are something extraordinary.

Just like in every aspect of human life, the music aspect has also been adapting to the uprising of Artificial Intelligence. AI has created many inroads to transform the overall scenario of the music industry from a free AI music generator to creating an entire song with the help of AI. These tools are only a few clicks away from the hands of any artist, whether they are fighting to stand out or veteran musicians with several years of experience.

The AI music generator is viewed as a revolutionary tool capable of composing an entire musical piece with minimal human input. If you are a musician or an artist, then you should know more about these AI tools to make your musical journey smooth and effortless.

This blog will try to explore some of the tools that have proven to have become crucial in the music industry in recent times.

How Do They Work?

The AI song generator is based on a sophisticated algorithm that analyzes the existing vast libraries of music. They analyze the existing style, rhythm, pattern, and genres through deep learning and machine learning which makes them able to mimic the creativity of humans in the field of music.

Enhanced Production Techniques

AI-powered software revolutionizes music production by automating complex tasks and enhancing audio quality. Tools like LANDR use AI to master tracks, ensuring they sound polished and professional. AI can also assist in mixing by suggesting optimal levels for various elements in a track, making the production process more efficient and accessible to those with limited technical expertise.

Virtual Musicians and Collaborations

AI is giving rise to virtual musicians and collaborations that were once the stuff of science fiction. Virtual artists like Hatsune Miku, a Vocaloid software voicebank developed by Crypton Future Media, have amassed large followings and released chart-topping hits. Additionally, AI can facilitate remote collaborations between artists, allowing them to work together seamlessly regardless of geographical boundaries. This opens up new possibilities for creative partnerships and genre-blending projects.

Challenges and Ethical Considerations

While the future of music production with AI is promising, it also raises several challenges and ethical considerations. Questions about copyright and ownership of AI-generated music need to be addressed. Who owns the rights to a song created by an AI? The original artist, the AI developer, or both? Additionally, there is concern about the potential for AI to replace human musicians and producers, impacting jobs and the creative process.

Now let's come to the AI tools that you can use to create music:

Hydra II by Rightsify: This is a specialized AI music generator that creates royalty-free music for commercial use. It comes as a solution for business and creators looking for tailored music for various purposes like background scores for music videos, commercials, stores, and other settings.

Key features: On-demand music creation: Generating music tailored for commercial settings, such as retail, hospitality, and online media.

Instant global distribution: Provides access to a global music catalog, ensuring users can instantly distribute generated music to international markets.
Compliance and licensing: Ensures full legal compliance for all generated music, making it easier for businesses needing pre-cleared, royalty-free audio for commercial use.

AIVA (Artificial Intelligence Virtual Artist)
 This is a composition tool created for creators, composers, and musicians who need original music for personal or professional projects. It excels in producing highly detailed, customizable compositions.

Key features: Emotional music composition: AIVA is known for composing music with a high degree of emotional resonance, making it suitable for projects requiring expressive, narrative-driven music, such as films or video games.

Classical and orchestral focus: Specializes in classical, orchestral, and instrumental music composition, assisting with the creation of complex pieces.

Fine-grained control over musical elements: Users receive granular control over musical elements like harmony, rhythm, and structure, allowing for highly personalized compositions.

Score creation: Allows users to create and export sheet music directly, making it ideal for composers and musicians who must produce scores for live performances or detailed arrangements.

Mubert: Mubert is an innovative, AI-powered platform that blends human creativity with machine learning to produce personalized royalty-free music. It is designed for creators and developers and offers versatile music solutions for streams, podcasts, and mobile apps.

Key features: Real-time music generation: Allows users to generate soundtracks on the go for live streams, apps, or interactive projects, ensuring the music adapts dynamically to the context.

Developer API: Mubert's API enables developers to integrate its AI music engine into apps, games, or platforms, providing real-time, personalized music generation within their software.

Collaboration with human artists: Collaborates with musicians and producers, feeding its AI with diverse sound samples to ensure the generated music feels organic and artistically inspired.

User-generated music: Users interact with the platform to create music based on preferences for mood, genre, or duration, offering flexibility for content creators needing customized soundscapes.

Boomy: Boomy is a popular AI song generator that helps musicians to create songs from scratch. Once they log in to the website, they are asked to choose the style of the music. The website offers various options like Electronic Dance, Rap Beats, Lo-Fi, Global Groove, and more. After that, they will be asked to choose the mood of the music, and then Boomy will take a few seconds to present the music.

Boomy allows you to edit the music it has created. You can edit the instruments used in the song, change the composition, edit the tempo, and rearrange the segments. You can also add vocals to the music generated by Boomy. You can add custom vocals; record anything, or upload a recording from your computer and the best part is it offers the AI music generator free of cost.

Key features:

1. Boomy uses AI to help users quickly generate original songs, requiring no prior experience in music production.
2. Users can upload their creations to streaming platforms and earn revenue whenever their songs are played.
3. The platform features a variety of playlists like Boomy EDM, Ambient, and LoFi, catering to different musical tastes and moods.
4. Boomy supports a worldwide network of creators, offering collaboration opportunities and a space for shared musical exploration.

Selena Gomez Talks about SIBO and Hits Back Body Shammers

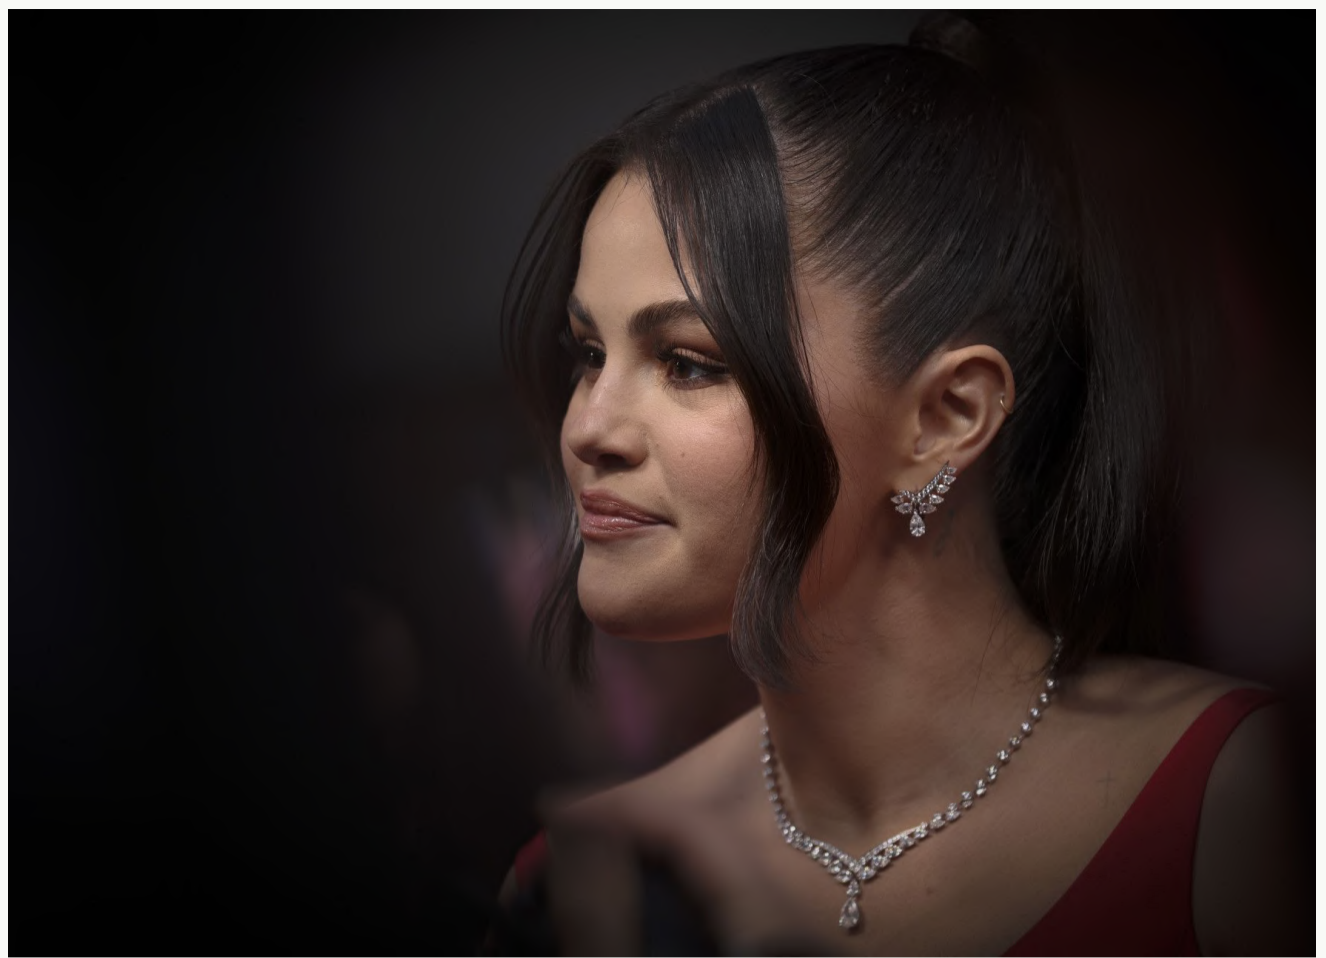

A TikTok video was circulating on social media a platform which was created to body-shame the iconic singer and actress Selena Gomez when she made an appearance at the premiere of Emilia Pérez at the American French Film Festival in Los Angeles.

The singer had commented on that particular video but the content was soon deleted. The main focus of the now-deleted video was Selena's pose while getting photographed.

Even though the Wizards of Waverly Place was looking stunning in a slit black dress with ruched fabric, in many of the photographs her hand was placed around her torso which led many to believe that she was trying to hide her body in some way.

This eventually made the singer slam back on the body-shaming comments by making a point about how her primary concern is her health and not her looks.

Through a social media post on Twitter, she explained how the whole video and comments have made her feel sick, in the post she wrote 'This makes me sick. I have SEBO in my small intestine. It flares up. I don't care that I don't look like a stick figure. I don't have that body. End of story. No, I am NOT a victim. I'm just human.'

According to renowned clinics, SIBO also known as Small Intestine Bacterial Overgrowth occurs 'when there is an abnormal increase in the overall bacterial population in the small intestine particularly types of bacteria not commonly found in that part of the digestive tract.', Kaytee Hadley, a functional medicine dietitian, SIBO specialist, and founder of the insurance-based private practice Holistic Health and Wellness said.

She added, 'SIBO is treatable, but it cannot be gotten rid of through a healthy diet alone and requires an individualized approach with a knowledgeable healthcare provider ... I cannot stress enough the importance of working with a SIBO specialist, as treatment is not straightforward and can take many months of targeted interventions.' By now, the whole world is aware of the health issues this young and vibrant superstar has to deal with and the fact that she is not afraid to share her side of the story is even more inspiring.

In an interview, Selena Gomez said, 'I like to remind people that that is definitely nowhere close to where I am now. My mind was not right and chemically imbalanced, and it was really difficult. People were calling me a victim. That frustrates me, because being vulnerable is actually one of the strongest things you can do. That narrative is not going to take over my life. I'm grateful every day. And I have my days like everyone else, but I'm no victim. I just survived a lot. There isn't a part of me that wants anyone to feel sorry for me.'

Hilarious Condom Scandal Of K-Pop Star Eric From THE BOYZ

A post for his fans turned into something utterly embarrassing and hilarious for the K-pop idol Eric from the boy band THE BOYZ.

On November 11th, a special day dedicated to love is celebrated which is known as Pepero Day. The name is mainly related to a kind of chocolaty snack that has the same name.

So it can be assumed that on Pepero Day, the couples and the loved ones gift each other with packets of Pepero the chocolaty snacks. Eric posted a picture of this so-called love chocolate on a popular social media platform along with a handwritten letter.

Little did he know, it was not a packet of chocolaty snacks that he posted a picture of. Later on, he realized that it was a packet of condoms that had a very similar packaging to the Pepero packets. In the handwritten note he had said, 'I could buy 4.03 million Pepero sticks for the Derbys I love.'

Honestly, it was not even his fault many of his fans said in the comments while sympathizing with him in humor, 'Anyone would have mistaken it for Pepero,' 'Even the store employees must have been confused,' and 'I almost bought one too!' During Pepero Day, people give each other a stick-shaped snack which is similar to Japan's Pocky as a gesture of friendship and affection. The holiday originated because of the numbers '11/11' resemble four Pepero sticks.

After realizing his mistake, Eric quickly deleted the post and apologized on social media writing, 'Happy Pepero day, everyone...Honestly, I feel so embarrassed I want to hide for a week'. He explained, 'I bought it after work from display outside the convenience store near my dorm. I had no idea it was anything other than a Pepero.' He continued, 'There were many types of Pepero, but I picked one labeled 'Dear'—thinking of our fan song 'Dear' and wanting to write 'Dear. TheB' for our fans. If it shocked you, I'm sorry. I hope you all got my letter. Now I'm off to hide!' This cute and hilarious scandal surely made Pepero Day for THE BOYZ's fans even more memorable than they could have imagined.

Right now the boy band is promoting their song 'Trigger' which is a dramatic combination of house electro-pop and grand hip-hop sounds, and its development is very impressive. The word 'Trigger' means 'fuse' or 'opportunity,' which is a keyword containing THE BOYZ's strong ambition to create a significant impact and change in the world.

Byeon Woo-Seok Is going to Perform 'Sudden Shower' at the MAMA 2024

Byeon Woo-Seok's presence will make the 2024 MAMA even more exciting. The actor and singer will be among the performers and presenters this year.

All of his fans are immensely excited about this award show. He is widely known for his K-drama, named Lovely Runner. It is coming to know that Byeon will do a special performance of 'Sudden Shower'.

This news has created a huge buzz among all of her fans. People are eagerly waiting for his performance. The authority of the MAMA confirmed on 12th November that Byeon will perform at the award show on 23rd November.

In addition, they have confirmed that he will present awards on 22nd November. Due to Byeon Woo-Seok's existence, MAMA has become even more exciting for everyone this year.

It has become the highlight of the award show for all the audiences.

Along with that, it is also coming to know that apart from the performance, there would be something special for his fans too.

This year, 'Sudden Shower' is the nominee for the Best OST. Therefore, it can be said that a lot of things are waiting for the fans of Byeon. Previously, in 'Lovely Runner', Byeon played the character of Ryu Sun-Jae. He was a K-pop lead singer of a fictional band.

While playing the character, he has showcased his charm as a musician. Now, audiences are getting the opportunity to watch him perform live.

It is something really big for his fans. The soundtrack, 'Sudden Shower' is an excellent presentation. It has broken all the records and became the very first song to achieve so much success.

Right after the announcement, one of his fans made a post on X and said 'YOU MEAN WE'RE GONNA SEE AN AUDIENCE FULL OF FANS, ARTISTS & IDOLS SING ALONG TO SONAGI & WHATEVER SONG (HOPING FOR YOU & I & RUN RUN) HE SINGS LIKE SOLIE DID? ???'. Byeon's fans are eagerly waiting for 23rd November and watch him perform live 'Sudden Shower'.

Sophie Summers Spreads a Crimson Tint With Her Latest Single 'Scarlet Sky'

Are you looking for some music that can tantalize your heart? Well, Sophie Summers has got you all covered with her brand new musical representation 'Scarlet Sky'. Some people acquire musical skills and develop their passion and some people are just born to become music artists.

Perhaps Sophie Summers belongs to the latter as her musical creations reflect so. This talented music artist has come up with a brand new single titled 'Scarlet Sky' which is currently buzzing among her fans.

Beautifully woven with a fine music arrangement and a romantically poignant lyrical approach, this song has the ability to captivate everyone with its individuality essence.

While the sound design offers ample organic elements of classical guitar and soft percussive grooves, Sophie's raspy vocal skills add more engaging hooks. Simple, relatable, and highly impactful, the track is well-made and currently being another milestone on her progressive musical journey.

'Scarlet Sky' offers a fresh taste in music which can also feel strangely familiar and nostalgic sometimes.

Creating a bridge between the past and the present; Sophie's offers a blended essence that can captivate listeners of all ages and musical tastes. Some of her other singles like 'Why Do I Still Love You', 'Pleasure In The Madness', 'Push Comes 2 Shove', etc are the best examples of her sheer dedication and consistency in music.

Each of these tracks consists of a romantic yet poignant essence that defines what true love feels like. The songs are well made and offer the signature essence of Sophie's musical creations. It is quite hard to put genre-bending tracks into a single style as she keeps experimenting with music and her creative vision.

Born in Southern California, Sophie is a native Valley Girl who found herself indulging in music from a young age.

She grew up listening to legendary artists like Michael Jackson Madonna and many others. However, when it comes to her most favorite; it has to be Duran Duran.

Singing and writing her own tracks, Sophie made huge progress within a short span of time with nothing but her immense passion and love for music. Sophie Summers came a long way with the support of Austin John but there is no stopping now.

The singer is looking forward to dropping more music projects in the coming days and this is just the beginning. Stay tuned and follow this music artist on Spotify, Apple Music, and YouTube to explore her musical creations. Sophie can be also found active on Instagram.

The Highly Anticipated 'The Algorithm's Anomaly' Offers Listeners Illuminating Journey

What happens when two underground powerhouses come together to give audiences a unique experience of music listening? Discover the answer by streaming 'The Algorithm's Anomaly'. This is the newest album by Eternal Mind and Balens Klerede, both of which are very well-known and respected figures in underground Hip Hop circles.

It is the duo's first full-length album, that is indeed a standout moment for not just the artists but true hip-hop lovers. Released on November 29th, Friday, this album provides the authentic essence of Hip-hop, combined with dynamic beats, and sharp and bona fide lyricism.

One of the artists from this duo, Eternal Mind is an artist and producer from New York. He is known for creating deep and dark music that blends mysterious and raw energy. His unique style transports listeners to places that feel both magical and deeply emotional.

The primal intensity in his music leaves a lasting impact through his powerful soundscapes. On the other hand, this project has Balens Klerede, who is a veteran M.C./spoken word artist. This Los Angeles native combines sharp, meaningful lyrics with an intense and expressive delivery. His poetic style grabs attention, connecting with listeners on a deeper emotional and spiritual level.

His music also creates a memorable experience for his listeners through bold and thoughtful messages. The respective qualities of both artists and their music styles have created anticipation and buzz regarding the release of their full-length collaboration, and the project delivered exactly that!

Containing 9 songs, 'The Algorithm's Anomaly' takes a daring approach to explore human limits, diving into the challenges and intricacies of modern life. The songs on the album reflect on the struggles, choices, and emotions people face in a fast-paced world.

Through its themes and storytelling, the records invite listeners to question societal norms and their own personal boundaries. The profound lyricism combined with tribal rhythms, hardcore Hip-hop beats, and cosmic sounds, offers a deep and thought-provoking experience for the audience.

Each song on the album offers something unique that blends raw emotion with complex ideas. Altogether, both artists and their joint efforts have created a journey that resonates on both an intellectual and emotional level.

"The Algorithms Anomaly is more than an album; it's a rebellion against the music industry's formulaic thought control," says Balens Klerede. "We're here to break the cycle—to promote free-thinking, spiritual evolution, and non-conformity. Our sound fuses abstract and analytical thinking meant to ground and uplift listeners at the same time."

Some of the most exciting songs in the album are 'SI (INTRO) Feat. Nspire', 'MOTHERBOARD REBOOT Feat. Nspire', 'MAAT 42 Feat. Tilita Lutterloh', 'MISSING TRAFFIC Feat. Mama Ne'Ne', etc.

'The Algorithms Anomaly (expanded version)' along with instrumentals and bonus track are only available on Eternal Mind and Balens Klerede bandcamp artist page.

Experience the enlightening journey of music by streaming the labrum on SoundCloud, and YouTube. Follow the band on Facebook & Instagram for more updates!

Another Big Year At The Grammy's For The Female Stars

This year is witnessing again the rise of female artists at the Grammy Awards with nominations like Beyoncé, Billie Eilish, Taylor Swift, Chappell Roan, and so on. The nomination list of the 67th Grammy Awards is out with the Queen Beyoncé leading the race with 11 nominations.

The queen of music has gained more than 99 nominations throughout her music career and has become the most nominated artist of the year, other iconic artists like The Beatles, Billie Eilish, Chappell Roan, Charli XCX, Kendrick Lamar, Sabrina Carpenter, and Taylor Swift are competing against her for Record of the Year.

The official Grammys YouTube hosted a livestream on November 8 for the announcement, with the winners set to be announced at the 68th Grammy Awards ceremony on February 2, 2025.

Women are in pop-dominated charts, several new artists had huge breakout albums and songs, and there was the first major rap beef in quite some time. All of that and more is reflected in the nominations for the 2025 Grammy Awards that were announced Friday. Of course, there were some snubs and surprises as well this is the Grammys, after all.

Beyoncé's album Cowboy Carter was nominated in all three top categories (Album, Record, and Song of the Year) and picked up other nods in pop, rap, country, and Americana categories.

'Cowboy Carter' is everything the Grammys tend to prize—a meticulously curated reflection of music history, with nods to country, Americana, and roots music.

It features real instruments and tributes to legendary artists like Willie Nelson, The Beatles, and Dolly Parton. 'Cowboy Carter' had grander ambitions than simply appealing to Grammy voters.

Best New Artist is a competition between Chappell Roan and Sabrina Carpenter. As always, the qualifications for this category are deeply silly; Carpenter put out her debut album in 2015. (For the record, so did Khruangbin). However, the spirit of the award is to recognize an artist who had a breakthrough in the past year, and both Roan and Carpenter blew up this year.

This should be one of the most hotly contested categories, and it could certainly come down to which artist campaigns harder in the coming months.

Academy certainly paid attention to Charli XCX's Brat, her dance-pop and electronic album with an underground spirit that captured (some of) the mainstream with its lime green branding and memeability.

Two of Charli's seven total nominations are in the major categories of Album and Record of the Year, where she submitted '360.'

She's probably a longshot to win those awards, but she's almost a lock to win in the Dance/Electronic Album category, which she notably entered instead of Best Pop Vocal Album.

Field Day 2025: The Lineup Has Been Revealed For The Greatest Music Festival

London's one of the most thrilling music festivals, Field Day is back with its 2025 edition and the organizers have already announced the first wave of acts.

Field Day Music Festival is quite popular among music lovers for its amazing lineup of artists. The London festival takes place every year and the lineup for the coming year has been announced already.

The one-day music event will be taking place at Brockwell Park near Brixton in South London and the date is scheduled for May 24th.

The organizers for the event have already shared the first wave of acts and there will be Peggy Gou among the headliners. Other artists include Skream & Benga, Dixon, Folamour, Mall Grab, Midland, and Jungle for a DJ Set.

The event-goers can also witness Fatima Yamaha, Bubble Love, a unique female-only DJ collective Girls Don't Sync, Palms Trax, and Jayda G along with additional DJ sets an iconic duo from Germany namely AK Sports and Modeselektor. There will be more artists on the stage, delighting the hearts of the fans and some names are yet to be announced.

The pre-sale for tickets for Field Day 2025 will be starting soon on November 12 from 10 am onwards, Tuesday. The general sales for tickets will be starting on Thursday, November 14.

The highly anticipated electronic music festival is planning to move its location for the next edition which was previously arranged at Victoria Park in East London.

After four years, in October the organizers announced that the event would take place at Brockwell Park. South London is becoming the epitome of music festivals with many other events like City Splash, Cross The Tracks, Wide Awake, Mighty Hoopla, and many others.

The date is scheduled on May 24 as it is also the Brockwell Live Bank Holiday Weekender. The Field Day Festival Director, Mark Newton said that he is “incredibly excited” about the new location and the date as explained that it “solidifies place at the beginning of London's summer.”

Field Day 2024 offered Pink Pantheress and Justice as headliners along with many other artists like Mura Masa, Sega Bodega, I. Jordan, Yves Tumor, Romy, 2ManyDJs, etc to name some.

The festival is best known for its curation of music artists who can stand out. The organizers do a great job of finding talents who can resonate with the masses. Stay tuned and keep your fingers ready for the online pre-sale.

Post Malone Is Set To Headline Coachella Festival 2025

The American singer-rapper Post Malone is set to headline the Coachella Music and Art Festival next year. His 'Big Ass Stadium' tour also indicates a stop at a stadium! According to reports, Post Malone will headline the Coachella Valley Music and Arts Festival 2025.

On November 19th, yesterday, the American rapper and singer announced his 'Big Ass Stadium' US tour "for the next year. What is interesting about the tour dates is that they include two dates in Indio, California which fall on the same days that Coachella is set to take place in 2025.

This clearly indicates that Posty might be the one performing at the music and arts festival. However, no confirmation regarding his headlining for the event has been given yet.

Rolling Stone was among the magazines that first broke the news of Malone indeed headlining the event. The magazine confirmed the news based on an anonymous source which also teased the news that the rapper would perform a "mind-blowing set".

According to the news, this set would consist of some of his biggest hits and songs from the last year and his last released album 'F-1 Trillion'. The news also claimed that the performance would be the "perfect precursor to his stadium tour."

However, neither the artist himself nor Coachella have confirmed the news of him headlining next year's festival. The lineup for the Coachella Valley Music and Arts Festival 2025 is set to arrive in January, continuing its tradition with the Californian festival.

According to reports, both Rihanna and Kendrick Lamar have turned down the opportunity to headline the festival the next year. In 2024, the festival was headlined by Lana Del Rey, Doja Cat, and Tyler, The Creator. The crowd at the festival also saw the return of No Doubt and more. The announcement of Posty supposedly headlining the music festival next year brought frenzy among fans on social media platforms.

One user on X (formerly Twitter) wrote, "He will never not be popular" while another one said, "This is HUGE!". On another post, users added comments like, "Posty at Coachella? That's going to be a vibe!", "Fuck yea he's the best artist alive right now", "Epic! ?", "That's a win", "Post Malone ??", "This is gonna be ?.", "OMGGGGGG COUNTRYYYYYY", "He has such a strong discography and is known for his captivating live performances." etc.

The rest of his 'Big Ass Stadium' tour will include the artist making stops in cities like Miami, Washington DC, Glendale, Detroit, New York and Minneapolis. The tour will also have artists like Jelly Roll and Sierra Ferrell. The tickets to Malone's upcoming tour will go on sale on November 26 from 12pm local time. His latest album 'F-1 Trillion' was released in August this year and followed his fifth studio album 'Austin', released last year. 'F-1 Trillion' had some of the biggest features including Dolly Parton, Tim McGraw, and Luke Combs.

The summer for the musician was nothing short of magical. The singer revealed his baby daughter saved his life after he was "on a rough path". Post Malone appeared on CBS Sunday Morning and when asked about the true meaning behind 'Yours', a track from 'F-1 Trillion', he says the song imagines his daughter's wedding day. Malone said he had "written a whole lot of songs" about his child. "It changes your life in the best way ever," Posty shared. "I'll never forget her. If you've heard her cry, you'll never forget her, either."

Sabrina Carpenter Brings Christina Aguilera At The Los Angeles Show

The current pop star of the industry Sabrina Carpenter has just offered a mind-blowing performance at the Los Angeles show which was joined by Christina Aguilera. Sabrina Carpenter is currently reigning in the music industry after fans went crazy with her shot of 'Espresso'.

She just made her first three Los Angeles shows last night and she greeted everyone with a wide smile as she arrived. She also created an iconic moment with an evening roulette where she spun a bottle to choose a track that she would be covering.

Carpenter asked the crowd, "Do you guys like to play games here?" it included Madonna's "Material Girl" and also Sixpence None the Richer's "Kiss Me". Oh well, don't forget Christina Aguilera! With a cue, Sabrina rose from behind the stage and was joined by Christina Aguilera on stage. Carpenter made sure to cover Aguilera's hit songs like "What a Girl Wants," "Ain't No Other Man", etc to name some.

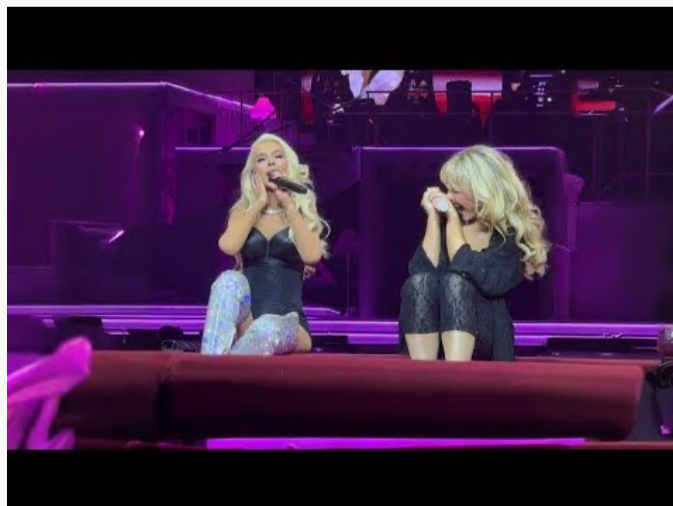

Sabrina Carpenter has already collaborated with Aguilera for the 25th anniversary of Aguilera's self-titled debut and it is already gathering much attention on Spotify. Powerful vocals and a tantalizing musical arrangement made sure the arena was shaking with excitement.

Sabrina is currently one of the most seasoned pop music artists in the industry who has the ability to resonate with the masses.

Christina Aguilera is also one of the most inspiring artists for Carpenter as she follows the same energy and feminine subject matters in music. Their high-femme ideals often include romance, being sly, and what not.

Crispy, smooth, and also highly enticing; Carpenter offered the best show in Los Angeles.

Somewhere around love, heartbreak, and moving on; Carpenter's songs are truly related for all, and listeners of all kinds of music tastes can groove with it.

Carpenter's 90-minute set truly mesmerized the crowd at Crypto.com Arena which was staged like a 1970s variety show and the screen read, "Taped in front of a live studio audience."

The set list for the show included many songs from her 2022 breakthrough album "E-Mails I Can't Send" as well as the recently released sixth studio album "Short n' Sweet."

This music project helped her gain a Grammy nomination even though her musical career started a decade ago.

Carpenter does not set the stage on fire like Chappell Roan and Charli XCX. Instead, she has a more demure aura which feels quite great along with organic choreography.

With fluidity and creativity in her performance, Carpenter made the Los Angeles shows memorable.

Charlixcx Creates A Major Buzz With Her 'Surprise' Performance At Times Square

Pop artist Charli XCX captivated her fans with a “surprise” mini-show at Times Square, New York. She has performed a total of 5 tracks from her hit album ‘Brat’ at this event by H&M.

On November 18, the singer created anticipation by declaring on social media about her surprise performance at Times Square at 6:30 pm ET and the crowd amassed shortly to find some glimpse of the artist. It was a short set and Charli decided to do 5 tracks namely, ‘360’, ‘365’, ‘Guess’, ‘Apple’, and ‘Von Dutch’.

She made sure to perform the tracks ‘365’ and ‘Guess’ in the remixed version which is taken from ‘Brat And It’s Completely Different But Also Still Brat’.

Fan-shot footages show that there were thousands of people at Times Square, grooving with the singer as she performs on the higher stage. It is a free concert and nobody has to pay anything to enjoy this spectacular evening. Many fans shared footage and mentioned that it was an unreal experience.

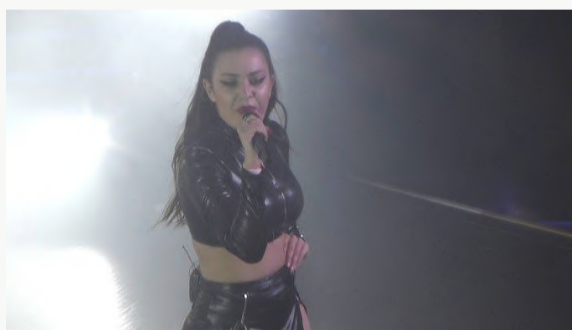

This performance by Charli came right after two days of her double duty at the Saturday Night’s Live where she hosted the show and performed as well.

She also made an accurate impression of Adele and fans claimed it is perfect.

The SNL skit also follows the release of her remix album ‘Brat And It’s Completely Different But Also Still Brat’ which received good reviews from most critics.

The singer is also embarking on her tour dates and it is starting soon this month.

Check out the tour dates and venues:

Charli XCX’s 2024 UK Arena Tour

November Dates

27 – Manchester, Co-op Live Arena
28 – London – The O2 Arena

29 – Birmingham – bp pulse Live

December Dates

2 – Glasgow, OVO Hydro

Charlie XCX is gaining at full throttle and there is no stopping now.

Other than the tour, she will be also headlining at the Primavera Sound next year where she will be joined by Sabrina Carpenter and Chappell Roan.

She has six screen projects in the coming days which include a graphic novel adaptation of 100 Nights Of Hero and Gregg Araki’s I Want Your Sex.

Charlie is about to make more brisk moves in the coming days.

AR Rahman Shares An Emotive Message After Separating With Saira

Oscar-winning music composer AR Rahman is best known around the world for his diversified contributions to music.

However, this time, the artist came up with some emotional words that he wanted to express after separating from his wife, Saira Banu.

It had been nearly thirty years, yet they could not complete the 30th anniversary. Rahman shared a post on X on Wednesday in which he said that "they had hoped to reach the grand thirty." He also called it a fragile chapter of life and mentioned that "in this shattering, we seek meaning."

AR Rahman wrote, "We had hoped to reach the grand thirty, but all things, it seems, carry an unseen end. Even the throne of God might tremble at the weight of broken hearts.

Yet, in this shattering, we seek meaning, though the pieces may not find their place again." He also shared his gratitude and wrote "To our friends, thank you for your kindness and for respecting our privacy as we walk through this fragile chapter."

The usage of the hashtag ARR Sairaa Breakup shows the true potential of social media.

Similarly, their daughter Khatija Rahman also shared her thoughts on Instagram and said, "I would greatly appreciate it if this matter could be treated with the utmost privacy and respect. Thank you for your consideration."

Their son Ameen asked for privacy and said, "We kindly request everyone to respect our privacy during this time. Thank you for your understanding".

It truly shows how the whole family has fallen apart. AR Rahman and Saira Banu got married in 1995 and they hoped they would spend 30 years together however; they could only make it to 29.

This can be considered as a mature decision between adults which should be respected by all fans around the world.

Their lawyer Vandana Shah shared that this decision came after "significant emotional strain in their relationship".

Shah also added, "Despite their deep love for each other, the couple has found that the tensions and difficulties have created an insurmountable gap between them, one that neither party feels able to bridge at this time."

The joint statement also reads "After many years of marriage, Saira and her husband, A R. Rahman, have made the difficult decision to separate from each other."

It seems like Rahman has given it a good thought before reaching this climax.

A Surprise Album 'GNX' Dropped By Kendrick Lamar Sent Fans Into Frenzy

Without any prior announcement or promotion, the globally renowned rapper Kendrick Lamar has just dropped his new album 'GNX' which took his fans by surprise.

Kendrick Lamar gave music listeners an early holiday present Friday with the surprise drop of a new album.

The Grammy winner's 12-track 'GNX' is the rapper's first release since 2022's 'Mr. Morale & The Big Steppers' and his sixth studio album overall. It also comes just months after his rap battle with Drake. Just minutes before the full release Lamar posted a teaser video for the album's title track.

'GNX' came with little publicity is not much of a surprise. The description for the album on Apple Music reads simply, 'He asked us to 'watch the party die,' but only so he could resurrect it'.

The 12-track 'GNX' has a roster of contributors including SZA, who appears on 'Luther' and 'Gloria.' Additional credited artists include Sam Dew, Roddy Ricch, Bobby Hawk, Ink, and many more.

The album also features 'Heart Pt. 6,' the latest in his ongoing series that Drake used as the title for one of his diss tracks in the back-and-forth between the rappers earlier this year. Rumors had been circulating for months that Lamar was hard at work on a new project.

In his first full-length album since 2022, the 'Not Like Us' hitmaker addressed Lil Wayne's disappointment for not being selected to play the Super Bowl Half-Time Show next year.

The Like That rapper released his latest album without any prior announcement or promotion, leaving his fans surprised.

In the intro song titled 'Wacced out Murals', Lamar called out Wayne (born Dwayne Michael Carter Jr) for being sad after losing the Super Bowl performance to him. 'Used to bump 'Tha Carter III,' I held my Rollie chain proud/ Irony, I think my hard work let Lil Wayne down,' Lamar rapped in the song.

In the video message shared on Instagram in September, Wayne addressed his Super Bowl snub, saying, 'I had to get strength enough to do this without breaking. I'mma say thank you to every voice, every opinion, all the care, all the love, and the support out there. Your words turned into arms and held me up when I tried to fall back.'

'GNX' comes before the close of a massive year for Lamar. He made headlines in the spring for his feud with Drake, releasing a string of singles including 'Euphoria,' 'Meet the Grahams' and 'Not Like Us,' the latter of which became the only song to make a significant impact on the charts.

Earlier this month, it was announced that the song was nominated for Song of the Year and Record of the Year.

Juice WRLD Is Coming Back With Nicki Minaj And Hasley With A New Posthumous Project

The late Chicago rapper Juice WRLD has been a favorite of many and his emo rap tracks have emotionally stirred many listeners.

Even though it has been 6 years since the rapper has passed, his fans still miss him. Good news for all, as Nicki Minaj has just announced a brand new project where listeners can find him again. “All Girls are the Same” is the debut project by Juice WRLD that helped him reach the top of the rap game.

The latest posthumously released project will include him, Nicki Minaj and Hasley for the “All Girls are the Same 2 (Insecure),” which is hitting all the music streaming platforms on November 15.

Minaj shared a post with a cover art for the song and wrote, “This is a brand new song.” On this new project, Hasley is offering her backing vocals and Minaj will be offering a guest verse. Fans are quite excited to get the trio collaboration, especially getting Juice WRLD’s magic after so many years.

A fan Instagram wrote, “I already know this gonna be one of those songs that I won’t be able to put down,” on Nicki’s post. The original track was released back in April 2018 and quickly gathered more than 1 billion streams on Spotify.

The upcoming project “All Girls are the Same 2 (Insecure)” will be appearing in the posthumous album by Juice WRLD, called ‘The Party Never Ends.’ This album project is highly anticipated and offers a reminiscence of the late Chicago rapper for the fans.

Juice teamed up with Hasley before for the song “Without Me” which took the top position on the Billboard Hot 100 chart in 2019. It was Hasley’s song and she made sure to return the favor with the hit project “Life’s a Mess.”

On the other hand, Nicki Minaj collaborated on the track “Life’s a Mess” which appeared in the album ‘WRLD On Drugs’ which was a joint effort by the Chicago rapper and Future.

Previously, when Minaj embarked on her Nicki Wrld Tour in 2019, Juice opened the tour for her and it shows how the rappers are well connected through their musical careers.

Nicki also showed her interest in teaming up when ‘Pink Friday 2’ deluxe came and she said, “It would be incredible for me I think to have Juice WRLD on this album.”

“All Girls are the Same 2 (Insecure),” is surely going to be a nostalgic experience for all.

Rumors have been already buzzing among the fans that Miley Cyrus is dating again and it is perhaps true as the singer could be noticed with drummer Maxx Morando. The rumor took its peak in 2021 when the music artists could be seen together in Miami. Miley was in the town for the special program of Miley's New Year's Eve Party for NBC and it seemed like her New Year went pretty well. The couple was caught having a moment in their Miami hotel which sparked the rumor. However, they also seemed very happy enjoying themselves and dancing to their hearts' content in some of the glimpses. After a few months, in March 2022, it was revealed that Miley and Maxx are maintaining a 'low-key'; relationship. By 2023 the bonding of the couple developed pretty strong and that reflects.

Who is Maxx?

Maxx Morando deserves a special introduction as the artist is not particularly involved with the pop industry. He is a talented drummer from a four-person rock band from Los Angeles known as Lilly. Previously, Morando worked with punk rock band The Regrettes for three years from 2015 to 2018 and it is evident that his work belongs to the rock region more.

What do friends think of them?

Gladly, Miley and Maxx both have a lot of mutual friends and the connections in the music industry helped to get them closer. Although Miley Cyrus has not revealed anything officially yet, the 30-year-old singer proudly appeared at the Gucci Love Parade

'Flowers' singer Miley Cyrus has been secretly dating Lilly drummer Maxx Morando and it has been a few years now. Let's find out more about this 'low-key' couple fashion show in Los Angeles along with 24-year-old Maxx. When their friends were asked about their relationship, one of them said, "They are both artistic and creative, so they bond over being musicians," and the source also said, "They've been together for a little while and are just enjoying their relationship. Miley likes the fact that they are low-key as a couple and is just focused on doing her thing and being around people that make her happy, and Maxx does that."

What about the Age Gap?

When Miley was asked about how it feels to date a guy who is 6 years younger than him, she quite amusingly said that there is a generation gap. She said, "He looks at life really differently than I do," and further added, "He's very similar to me. We just don't take life too seriously," she added. Are they going to make music together?

The singer and the drummer enjoy collaborating with each other but they have not revealed of official music project. Miley said, "I worked with my dad forever," and emphasized, "That's how me and my ex-husband met each other. I've always worked with the people that I love. And Maxx just inspires me so much."

Shekhar Ravjiani Talked About His Vocal Cord Paralysis

Renowned Bollywood singer, Shekhar Ravjiani shared his traumatic experience that he faced two years ago.

Through an Instagram post, the artist has said how his life has changed after the left vocal cord paralysis. He was later diagnosed by Dr. Nupur Nerurkar.

While making the statement, he said 'I was destroyed. Honestly, I was pessimistic... I thought I would never be able to sing again'. It was quite a traumatic experience for the artist and his family.

He reached out to many professionals to cure this dangerous condition. Shekhar said that he consulted with Dr. Erin Walsh over a Zoom call due to Covid-19 restrictions.

The music artist stated 'I remember tears rolling uncontrollably down my face as I could tell her that I wanted to sing again'.

Going through time wasn't easy for the artist. He even said that he was really pessimistic at that time. However, consulting with Dr. Walsh made him a little optimistic.

He gave him the hope that he would get better and not give up this easily. It is Dr. Walsh's effort over weeks that assisted him in normalizing his paralyzed vocal cord.

The 45-year-old singer and composer has been in the music industry for more than two decades. His life retrospect around music and living without it is not possible for him.

And this had scared him even more during this time. For that reason, Dr. Walsh constantly tried to motivate him to work hard to improve his vocal cords.

In the beginning, he didn't like his voice anymore. But after the constant treatment, his voice was back. It was a huge confidence boost for the artist.

Now the artist is completely fine and getting back to his work stronger than ever. Now he is all ready to take over his audiences' hearts all over again with his mesmerizing songs.

He has shown his immense talent throughout the years and will continue to do so as he is back. While concluding his statement, he said 'There is a way. There is a solution. Just be positive and believe. Always keep hope in your hearts'.

The music artist has also shown his gratitude to the doctors who have helped him to get better.

KUMAR SANU'S DAUGHTER SHANNON K BRINGS DIWALI TO TIMES SQUARE IN NEW YORK CITY

The New York City got a glimpse of how much the festival of Diwali is loved and celebrated in India, through the magical performance of the American/Indian singer Shannon K at Times Square. Shannon K, for those who don't know, is the daughter of one of the legends of Bollywood music, Kumar Sanu. Just like her father, Shannon is the owner of a power-packed voice and a passion for Indian culture.

Her performance showed the citizens of NYC the extreme level of celebration Indians can reach, especially on Diwali. Known for her powerful voice and passionate advocacy for Indian culture on the global stage, Shannon illuminated one of the world's most iconic locations, marking a historic Diwali celebration that resonates with audiences worldwide.

The event, held in the heart of New York City, showcased India's rich heritage and the universal appeal of Diwali, the Festival of Lights, which celebrates the triumph of light over darkness and good over evil.

Shannon K's performance at Times Square honored these themes and highlighted the growing recognition and appreciation of Indian traditions across the world.

'I feel honored to represent India on such a global stage,' Shannon K said. Reflecting on her experience, Shannon said, 'This was a dream come true. I had such a blast celebrating Diwali at Times Square! I'm incredibly proud to share our culture with such a diverse audience, and it's moments like these that show how music and culture can connect us all.'

Shannon fondly remembers watching Christmas and New Year's festivities at Times Square as a child, fascinated by the thought of performing on that stage one day.

'The first performer I saw there was Mariah Carey,' she recalls. 'I used to sing along to her songs, and seeing her live was an unforgettable experience.'

Her father, renowned singer Kumar Sanu, offered his support and pride in her accomplishment. 'My parents always taught me to work hard to achieve my dreams,' Shannon says. 'When I told them about this performance, they felt incredibly proud. My dad especially loved how I merged Hindi and English songs together.'

Shannon's Times Square debut was a truly special moment for her. 'It was overwhelming yet exhilarating,' she shared.

'I was nervous but enjoyed every bit of it. The crowd was amazing, and honestly, I didn't want to leave. I wanted to keep singing and celebrate Diwali with everyone there!'

Her performance marked a chapter in Times Square's history and a tribute to Diwali, bridging cultures and celebrating Indian heritage on a global platform.

Anoushka Shankar Shows Gratitude over Latest Grammy Nominations

Spanning over two decades, Anoushka Shankar's journey with Grammy awards has just taken a new turn. The famous Indian classical musician has gained two nominations at the 67th Grammy Awards.

She got her first international recognition in 2002 at the Grammy Awards after becoming the youngest nominee and the first Indian woman to be nominated for the category of World Music.

That year she was nominated for her album 'Live At Carnegie Hall.' Only after a few years, in 2005, the artist was again recognized by the international Grammy Awards. She became the first Indian artist to perform Grammys, solidifying her presence on the stage of global music.

In 2016, her global reign continued as she showed up on stage as a presenter and performed for a second time in 2021 during a remotely-filmed lockdown Grammy broadcast.

The extremely talented Indian musician continued to break barriers when she performed for a third time at the Grammy Awards in 2023. This performance was significantly more important and highlighted because this was a collaboration between Indian and Pakistani artists. She performed on the stage with her co-performer AroojAftab for their track 'Udhero Na.' Both the artists were nominated in the category of Best Global Performance.

Now in 2024, her album 'Ch II: How Dark It Is Before Dawn' has secured two nominations at the 67th Grammy Awards and the artist is beyond grateful.

Her newest album was nominated for Best New Age, and Best Ambient or Chant Album. Additionally, the artist has also been recognized for her contribution to Jacob Collier's song 'A Rock Somewhere,' which secured this year's nomination for Best Global Performance.

With this year's nominations, Anoushka has gained a total of 11 impressive Grammy nominations in total. The nominations this year certainly add to her previous nominations in the category of Best Global Music Album for her solo works. This includes 'Rise,' 'Traveller,' 'Traces Of You,' 'Home,' 'Land Of Gold,' 'Love Letters PS,' and 'Between Us...'

Reflecting on this big success of securing nominations at the Grammys, Anoushka shared her gratitude. She said, "It's a wonderful feeling to be Grammy-nominated again this year, and twice! I'm especially grateful that my latest album 'Ch II: How Dark it is Before Dawn' has been nominated, not least as it means the music I sent out into the world in hopes for peace and healing reaches even more people. I can't help but hold my breath a little though, as I've been through this process before, and although I'm very fortunate to have been nominated so many times I've never won."

She further added I'm wary of how the nomination that initially feels so elating can later feel less than when it doesn't manifest a win. I've learned to try to stay focused on gratitude for the initial nomination and just enjoy the ride. But I'd be lying if I didn't say I was hoping for a different outcome! I hope people are with me and I'm grateful to once again be representing India on the global stage."

The 67th Grammy Awards will take place in Los Angeles, on February 2, 2025.

Rapper Badshah Faces Legal Trouble After Not Paying His Dues For 'Baawla' Song

Popular Indian rapper Badshah is renowned for many reasons. From copying Bengali folk songs without copyright to participating in international collaborations, he has made some major contributions.

This time, the rapper is creating a buzz by not paying dues for the hit track 'Baawla' along with Samreen Kaur and Uchana Amit.

Soon enough, the rapper stepped into a legal suit for a hefty alleged nonpayment of due for the song.

Delaying payment was all well until the case was filed at the Karnal District Court. According to IANS, case number ARB 47/2024 is currently under the CNR Number HRKR010130502024, which includes numerous payment reminders before taking any legal action.

But it seems like Badshah is not afraid of it or may be used to it. There are several allegations that the rapper has only provided false assurances of payment and kept on postponing the deadlines. Even after sending adequate payment reminders, he paid nothing which made the authority take legal help.

The song 'Baawla' by Badshah, Uchana Amit, and Samreen Kaur is currently trending in the Indian market and it helped the rapper garner much attention from the fans along with good traction and streams on the music platform. Despite earning from it, the rapper decided to pay nothing.

Though he wrote it, there were also female vocal contributions from Nirmala and Shakuntala. Aditya Dev helped in the composition and their united effort made it hit.

This is not the first time Badshah is facing legal action as previously, in 2023, he was caught up in controversies of online betting.

The Maharashtra Police's Cyber Cell Department called for Badshah under Section 160 of CrPC. However, He was not betting himself and was not accused. But he was definitely a witness who had nothing to do but cooperate with police in the investigation process.

It has been two years since the 'Baawla' song came out the rapper delayed payments for all these months.

However, it is hard to figure out why the rapper is doing so since he has no lack of money. Despite his whacky tracks, Badshah is one of the most successful rappers in India.

His net worth is quite high and he owns a lot of properties. Now, it is time to see whether the rapper pays his dues or decides to hire a lawyer with the due payment to defend himself.

Red Velvet's Irene Embarks On Her Solo Endeavour With 'Like A Flower'

South Korean pop singer and performer Irene from the girl group Red Velvet has come up with her debut solo album project called 'Like A Flower', releasing this month.

Red Velvet, the popular girl group from South Korea is a revered name in the K-pop music scene. One of the talented members of the group, Irene has become another person from the collective to initiate her solo career.

Irene is all set to drop her mini album project called 'Like A Flower' which is all set to release this month.

The long-awaited solo debut project by the singer has been announced by SM Entertainment and the release date is scheduled for November 26.

An official post on Red Velvet's official social media handle shows that the time for release would be 6 pm KST.

The record label has also teased the music project with a teaser image where Irene could be found in a painted illustration.

She is surrounded by flowers and butterflies; offering the essence of a forest fairy or nature girl. The artwork goes perfectly with the theme and title of the project. While no more details have been offered yet; the track list will be revealed soon.

According to SM Entertainment, there will be a total of eight different tracks which imitate different moods. They also said that the project is pop-based.

However, listeners can also find the elements of other music genres as there is a fair share of musical experimentation.

With Irene's move, she became the fourth member of the Red Velvet group to start a solo career after Wendy, Joy, and Seulgi.

Wendy was the first member of the group who started her solo career back in 2021 with the debut mini-album which was called 'Like Water' in 2021. Then Joy started her solo career with the remake of the album 'Hello'.

The last member was Seulgi who went solo back in October 2022. Previously, Irene and Seulgi started a subunit in 2020 and the duo dropped a mini album named 'Monster'.

The album offered a hit single 'Naughty' which garnered a lot of attention from the fans.

Red Velvet as a group dropped their seventh studio album 'Cosmic' which was the last project dropped by the girl group. The album was released earlier in June this year for the celebration of the band's 10th anniversary as a five-piece girl group.

They also did a music tour called 'Happiness' which took place in over 5 big cities in Asia including Bangkok, Jakarta, Manila, Macau as well as Seoul.

'RM: Right People, Wrong Pace': BTS' RM Shows His Personal Self In His Docu-Film

BTS' RM is all ready to release his docu-film, 'RM: Right People, Wrong Pace'. Right after the trailer launch, the film has created a huge sensation.

LISA Of BLACKPINK Announces Debut Solo Album 'Alter Ego': Here's Everything You Need To Know

BLACKPINK'S LISA has just announced her debut solo album 'Alter Ego'. This album follows her previous singles 'Rockstar', 'New Woman' and 'Moonlit Floor (Kiss Me)'.

The fans already know LISA. Now, get ready to meet her 'Alter Ego'. This is going to be the title of LISA's debut solo album, the musician announced. After weeks of teasing, the BLACKPINK singer and rapper finally announced that she is coming with her debut solo album, that too in just a few months.

On November 19, Tuesday, the 27-year-old South Korean singer and rapper shared that her first LP is titled 'Alter Ego'. Fans have been patiently waiting for this reveal alongside a cryptic timer on the artist's website.

The website also revealed that this first independent LP apart from her world-famous girl group BLACKPINK will be coming on February 28th.

Along with the album's name and arrival date, the K-pop artist also revealed the album's cover art which features a picture of LISA in a hoodie looking directly at the camera and showing off her spiky black nails.

The Thai singer-rapper further hyped the fans on her LLOUD YouTube channel. On the channel, the singer dropped an album trailer of 3 minutes.

This album trailer expands onto the teaser the South Korean musician dropped a few days earlier. In the album trailer, fans could see the artist's eye color changing through the changing landscapes.

The clip also featured the artist traveling from a black rock structure to a cyberpunk outer-space catwalk, along with a green laser-beam motorcycle track, a magical garden, and a volcanic red runway.

The album name announcement also came along with an official press release. The press release mentioned that these five locations on the album trailer represent the five characters LISA emulates on the album, "each representing a unique personality." "They are represented by the five points on a star, which has become a key emblem in the campaign," the press release further adds.

This upcoming new album will follow a run of a couple of singles that the artist put out in 2024. She began the year with the single 'Rockstar', reaching No. 70 on the Billboard Hot 100. This first single was followed by 'New Woman' with Rosalía and 'Moonlit Floor (Kiss Me)'.

According to sources, the artist has been planning the release of her debut solo album, even before the planned reunion of BLACKPINK in 2025. In the cover story for Billboard, LISA opened up about her perfectionism when it comes to her debut solo album.

"I'm trying to figure it out, the tracklist and everything, what I can change in there," she said during the interview. "Everything's there. I think they're going to be shocked at how capable I am [at] doing so many things."

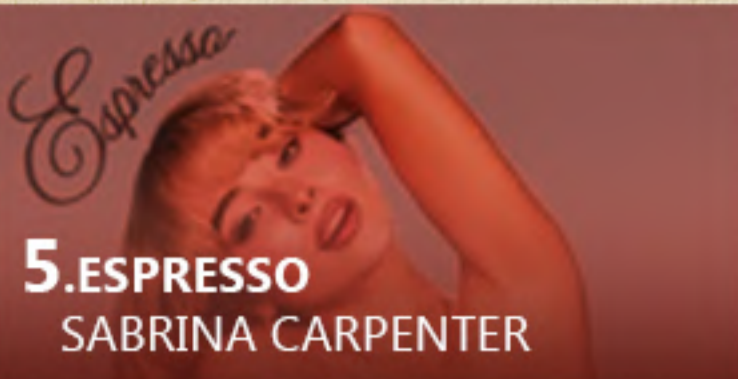

At the same time, the singer also gushed about her BLACKPINK bandmates ROSÉ, JENNIE, and JISOO in her Billboard cover story. ROSÉ is also forging her solo music career this year.

LISA mentioned, "We know each other so well and know how much energy we have to put into every single project."

"So we want to support and say, 'You did really well!' Like, JENNIE and Rosie just released their own songs, and we're on texts, we're on FaceTime. They're like family," she continued.

2. 'Die With A Smile' - Lady Gaga & Bruno Mars

This month's number 2 track is the most romantic track of the year, 'Die With A Smile.' This song expresses the longing for love against an uncertain backdrop.

1. 'A Bar Song (Topsy)' - Shaboozey

This month's number-one song is 'A Bar Song (Topsy)' by Shaboozey. The artist made history this month with his record for being tied for most weeks atop Billboard's Hot 100 Chart. The song has taken the number one spot for 19 weeks straight and this month this is back at the peak position again! The biggest song in the world right now, 'A Bar Song (Topsy)' has everything, the intoxicating vocals, and relatable lyrics, paired up with dynamic productions, the song is truly one of the best songs of the year. Produced by Nevin Sastry and Sean Cook, this country record is Shaboozey's fourth single from the newest album 'Where I've Been, Isn't Where I'm Going'.

CHAPPELL ROAN'S NEW TRACK 'THE GIVER' SHOCKED EVERYONE ON SNL

SNL, hosted by John Mulaney witnessed a new country song from the immensely talented Chappell Roan called 'The Giver' along with fun sets and costume changes.

Last Saturday, Chappell Roan was the musical guest of the famous show Saturday Night Live which is hosted by none other than John Mulaney. In the show, Chappell was seen to be performing her hit track 'Pink Pony Club' along with a brand-new country song called 'The Giver'.

Last Saturday's episode was the final one before Election Day which is on November 5th and it featured an appearance from Kamala Harris. The vice president acted alongside Maya Rudolph, who was in character as the Democratic candidate for president.

Chappell Roan boasted all the glitz and glamour of a true Midwest Princess in an unforgettable performance on Saturday Night Live. The synth-pop star, 26, appeared as the musical guest in the sketch comedy show's Nov. 2 episode, with comedian John Mulaney as the host.

In a performance marked by elaborate, colorful, and fun sets and costumes, Roan was introduced by Mulaney, 42, for her first song of the night, her hit track, 'Pink Pony Club.' Dressed in a glittering white, floor-length gown, the singer wore a voluminous red wig with silver streaks and bold eye makeup as she began the song sitting on a throne-like chair.

For her second set, she surprised people by singing a country song that no one had heard before. Set to a farm-like backdrop, she sang, 'When you need the job done, call me, baby. Cause you ain't gotta tell me. It's just in my nature. Take it like a taker, cause baby I'm a giver.'

As of now, the song called 'The Giver' is not available online yet. Roan sang in the refrain of the new song, which shares a theme with 'Femininomenon' in making the argument that pleasing a woman is sometimes (or always?) a job best left to a fellow woman.

'All you country boys saying you know how to treat a woman right,' Roan said during a spoken word aside in the song — 'Well, only a woman knows how to treat a woman right.'

She gets the job done.' Although the song title was not known prior to its debut on 'SNL,' and fans were guessing from its chorus that it was called 'She Gets the Job Done,' NBC posted a portion of the performance on social media afterward with a caption revealing that it is called 'The Giver.'

This past week, Roan posted a photo of herself with the LP jacket of her debut album and suggested in the caption that it was about to be supplanted by a new one, though no hint of a timetable for its recording or release was offered.

('Album kinda popped off imo but it is time to welcome a hot new bombshell into the villa,' she wrote, riffing on a catchphrase from the TV reality series 'Love Island.')

But her producer/co-writer, Dan Nigro, offered clues to how the sophomore album is going in a recent New York Times interview, saying they'd done five tracks so far — and noting that one of them was a 'fun, up-tempo country song' that includes 'a fiddle... a new version of Chappell.'

DILKUCHHOR NI MANGDA': THE PHENOMENAL SONG BY TULSI KUMAR AND IKKA MAKES A BUZZ

is feeling the same thing. It is a brilliant representation of music, which has reached out to many listeners.

With this song, listeners will get the opportunity to experience exclusive music and charming lyricism.

Rooh Sandhu and Ikka have infused all the mind-blowing elements to make the song more impactful.

The hooky music flow is another addition that has added a whole new charm to the track.

Along with singing, Tulsi Kumar has also made the track more pleasing with these brilliant dance moves.

The outstanding representation has made it fascinating in every possible manner.

This new 2024 song is creating a huge sensation among all potential listeners. In a short time, the music video has generated a sensation.

Released on 6th November, this soundtrack has already gotten more than 6.2 million views on YouTube. From this, it can be understood how it has impacted the audiences.

Along with all these, Ikka has enhanced the song even more with his brief freestyle rapping. His unique rapping style and moves have made the song even more refreshing.

Thus, from this, it can be understood that with each passing day, it will garner more listeners.

MIXED REACTION FROM AUDIENCE ON 'JATT MEHKMA' BY YO YO HONEY SINGH

The second longest song from the album 'Glory', of Honey Singh, 'JATT MEHKMA' is getting a mixed reaction from his fans and there are quite a handful of reasons.

The new track 'JATT MEHKMA' from Honey Singh's highly appreciated album 'Glory' is getting a lot of attention from the audience but not all are from a positive point of view.

The die-hard fans of Honey Singh are very much involved in the life of the singer through his social media presence which means the fans always keep themselves updated with the happening of their favorite rapper's life.

This is why the new track has been profoundly appreciated by the hardcore fans of the singer. The music video of 'JATT MEHKMA' showcases the friends and the loved ones Honey Singh is seen with in real life.

The video opens with a picture of a mansion where elite guests who are the close friends of the singer arriving in luxurious cars.

The video continues in this manner capturing the wealthy personalities partying and spending time with themselves by indulging themselves in lavish dinner service, private opera concerts, expensive liquor, and a lot more.

The whole setting of the video exuberates nothing but old Hollywood glam. From a maker's point of view, the video has intense emotional value.

Honey Singh has never made a music video that is so emotional as 'JATT MEHKMA' before in his entire musical career.

The audience, especially the ones belonging to Generation Z has criticized the video due to its lack of storytelling and points of confusion.

To them, the video simply showed a few friends having fun and then ending up in the middle of a gunfight. This reaction is caused due to their lack of awareness about the personal life of Honey Singh.

Through this new video, the singer has tried to give tribute to each of his friends and the good times spent with them.

As there seemed to be no build-up in the beginning of the video, the fight scene might come as something out of the blue which was another point that was criticized by the audience.

From their previous experience by watching the music videos of 'Kaalastar', or 'Desi kalakar' the audience casually expected to see a storyline in the new track too but there was a lack in that spectrum which created some negative perspectives about the video.

The styling of Honey Singh also seemed to be quite similar to the styling in his previous tracks of glory which also gave birth to some point of criticism for the new track.

FKA TWIGS DROPPED HER LATEST SOUNDTRACK 'DRUMS OF DEATH'

FKA Twigs has shared her new soundtrack, named 'Drums of Death' featuring Koreless.

The 'Eusexua' song has gained many global audiences in a short time. British singer and actress FKA Twigs released the second soundtrack 'Drums of Death' from her album 'Eusexua'.

Previously, the artist gave the first song of the album 'Perfect Stranger' in September.

This phenomenal song accumulated a lot of listeners in a brief time.

With this new track, she created a huge anticipation. After the release of the new song, the artist has captivated listeners in no time.

For 'Drums of Death', Twigs collaborated with Koreless. The exceptional presentation generated a sensation among the audience.

The glitch distortion of the music video has made it quite unique in many ways.

However, 'Perfect Stranger' was more of a dance song. Both soundtracks have an innovative charm.

This diversity is helping Twigs to garner more listeners in a brief time.

Within a few hours of the release, the music video has gotten more than 130k views on YouTube.

Twigs sings 'Hello, what you like? Do you wanna meet later? / Relax and ease your mind 'cause you work so much / I know what you like, and you're my main character / I'm here anytime, you can call me up.'

These soulful lyrics have assisted her to captivate the audience instantly. 'Eusexua' is the third album of this artist and it is quite special for her.

While talking about the album, she said 'It is my opus and truly feels like a pin at the center of the core of my artist'.

She even added 'Eusexua was birthed in chicken scratch, written on the back of my hand in a toilet at a rave in Prague: 'This room of fools, we make something together' and we do. We rave we sweat, we kiss, we make love to the booming thud of culture'.

While working on the album, she realized that it was quite different from her other albums. This album is meant for a movement. It is not created for casual listening.

With this album, Twigs wanted to share important messages with the audiences. And that is why it is a special album for the artist.

The complete album will be released on 24th January 2025. Audiences are immensely excited about the album's release.

Rihanna is willing to Expand Her Fenty with Apparel for Kids

Rihanna is willing to expand her business and hold her music career for a little time. As per the Life & Style report, it is becoming known that the artist and business mogul is trying her hand at kids' apparel. In 2015, Rihanna first launched her brand Fenty collaborating with Puma. However, it lasted till 2017 and she started her individual venture, which became a massive success. Her business is currently one of the most successful ventures. According to the reports, Fenty Beauty, the cosmetic line is worth $2.8 billion.

In June 2024, the successful entrepreneur came up with another addition, Fenty Hair. Rihanna very well knows what she needs to deliver to potential clients, which is what made her business such a successful venture. As she has announced the clothing line for kids, sources say, 'She knows she can deliver stuff other parents will want'.

The artist 'has set her sights on designing for kid' This initiative of Savage x Fenty is creating a lot of buzz. It is also coming to know that she will also offer cloth nappies for babies which is definitely an eco-friendly option for all.

Along with the apparel for kids, the artist is also presenting her lingerie brand. While making the announcement, the artist shared a photo of her on Instagram that says 'I'm living my dream'. Currently, RiRi is focused on expanding her venture. It seems that she has a lot of things lined up for her brand. People are expecting that she will introduce more clothing items and make it even bigger in the coming days. Her brand achieved such success in a brief time because she has succeeded in offering high-quality products to her clients. Therefore, no doubt is there that she will fail to satisfy her customers.

Rihanna took the initiative of starting a clothing line for kids as she became a mother recently. The artist has two sons with her rapper partner A$AP Rocky. His sons are RZA, 2 years old, and Riot, who is only 15 months old right now. From sources it is coming to know that she is all ready to welcome her third child. Maybe, after experiencing motherhood, the artist thought about the clothing line for kids even more.

On Instagram, the artist said 'yea I know! we are officially one of those families that match for the holidays Forever Savage Onesies for the whole family are on the site now'. Later among the crowd she also added 'I would say music was the thing that got the attention. But God had other plans for me and I was able to create in ways that were very sincere and genuine or organic and authentic to the things that I love'.

SYMPHONIC METAL DAY: A DAY TO CELEBRATE METALLIC FUSION

Metal is a major genre in global music that is capable of captivating a large number of music enthusiasts around the world. However, it is not just about the high-octane compositions that make metal famous but also its adaptability to fuse with other genres. Celebrating its diversity and uniqueness, Symphonic Metal Day takes place on November 13 every year to appreciate the blended essence of the symphony in metal.

Origin: 13th November is the day which is celebrated as Symphonic Metal Day every year to appreciate the combination of heavy metal music with classical orchestral arrangements which has received much attention in the last few decades. It is also known as Opera metal which mainly originated from the region of Scandinavia and the Netherlands.

It is one of the subsets of metal music that has pushed the creative barriers of music and influenced music artists to embark on an experimental journey. It is said that the sound of this genre was sown back in the 80s and received much popularity in the '90s with the help of trailblazer bands and artists who wanted to offer something new. The music genre is mainly inspired by the Finnish and Scandinavian culture and the earliest example can be found in the music by Celtic Frost, back in 1987.

Characteristics: As mentioned before, Symphonic Metal is a subset of metal music and it has a handful of characteristics that make it unique and highly enveloping for music lovers. The cross-generic style makes it sound richer and more balanced where the high-octane elements and organic inputs complement each other. When metal music blends with orchestral elements, you can find the hefty drum rolls and blistering guitar along with violin, trumpet, clarinet, tambourine, etc many other classical instruments which make the musical arrangement more enjoyable and engaging. Listeners can also find similarities between gothic metal and death metal elements.

Memorable Artists / Bands: There are mainly bands that pioneered and paved the way for Symphonic Metal music. Some of the most impactful symphonic metal bands in the industry are,

1. Therion (Sweden)
2. Nightwish (Finland)
3. Xandria (Germany)
4. Rhapsody of Fire (Italy)
5. Lorna Shore (America)
6. Within Temptation (Netherlands)
7. Epica (Netherlands)

Some of the other powerful acts are Vision of Atlantis, Eluveitie, Apocalyptica, Lacuna Coil, Kamelot, Sirenia, Edenbridge, Lunatica, Trans-Siberian Orchestra, Delain and many others ReVamp, After Forever. Other than just music, the vocals played a vital role in Symphonic Metal which sometimes can even feel quite poetic and juxtaposed to the musical arrangement. Arjen Anthony Lucassen (Ayeron) and Tobias Sammet (Avantasia) are two of the most powerful vocalists from this genre who offer a powerful punch of music, singing, and lyricism. If you are looking forward to listening to such amazing symphonic metal tracks, here are the top 10 tracks that you can start with.

Top 10 Symphonic Metal Tracks:

1. Unleashed – Epica
2. Ghost Love Score – Nightwish
3. Rose of Epona – Eluveitie
4. Panic Attack – Dream Theater
5. The Poet and the Pendulum – Nightwish
6. The Promise – Within Temptation
7. Universal Death Squad – Epica
8. Dark Chest of Wonders – Nightwish
9. Ghost Opera - Kamelot
10. Monolith of Doubt – After Forever

The influence of symphonic metal can be found in every corner of the industry as many artists have tried to imitate the blended essence of classic and modern which feels nostalgic and fresh at the same time. Celebrate Symphonic Metal Day on November 13 every year with the music that has inspired many artists and listeners to go beyond what they were told to.

These artists do not fear uncertainty and are capable of following their hearts when it comes to musical creations and creativity.
