'That's So True': Gracie Abram's Breakthrough Hit

28

GRACIE ABRAM

Singer-songwriter Gracie Abrams has had an incredible year, rising from a cult favorite to a recognized pop sensation. Her album 'The Secret of Us' debuted at No. 2 on the Billboard 200, with songs like 'Close to You', 'Risk', and 'Us' (featuring Taylor Swift) making it to the Billboard Hot 100. The song 'I Love You, I'm Sorry' later went viral on TikTok, climbing to the top 20. Most recently, 'That's So True', a bonus track from the deluxe album became her first Hot 100 top 10 hits reaching No. 6. So, what is responsible for Gracie's recent surge of momentum? Let's find out. The biggest question that revolves around this single is why this particular song got huge streaming success while her singles from the album did not. Well, Gracie Abrams' 'That's So True' is a masterclass in delivering emotional resonance with a punch. Packed with nostalgic '90s charm and introspective lyrics, it is the kind of song that feels both deeply personal and universally relatable. The track's under-three-minute runtime demands repeat listens and its evocative bridge - a clear nod to Taylor Swift's influence - leaves a lasting impression.

Kesha's 'Tik Tok' Had Its 'Best Streaming Day' On Spotify

Kesha may not have followed the best dental practices on Wednesday morning of 7th August. But that is not a thing to be concerned about especially when she dropped a very posh yet wild video of hers on TikTok brushing her teeth with Jack Daniels.

The pop star celebrated her 2009 smash 'TikTok' surpassing a billion streams on Spotify by recreating one of its most iconic lyrics for fans. In the clip fittingly posted to TikTok, Kesha walks into her bathroom and unboxes her honorary Spotify plaque, complete with a silver dish in the center made to look like the streaming service's logo.

She then pulls out a bottle of whiskey, pours a helping into the dish, and swirls her toothbrush around in it before proceeding to brush her teeth with the alcohol. She even jokes by saying 'Swallow, don't spit.' The video comes exactly 15 years after the California native dropped 'Tik Tok,' earning her first No. 1 hit on the Billboard Hot 100.

The song went on to reign atop the chart for nine weeks. 'TiK ToK was the first single that I put into this world that had my voice AND my name credited!!!!' Kesha wrote on X in honor of the track's anniversary. 'I remember making it fun and happy because that's how I felt and wanted others to feel. What I'm so proud of is that's how this song STILL makes me feel, through it all, and those are emotions I want all of us to connect to. 15 (!!!!!) years later, I see this song as a snapshot into the way I saw the world at the time.'

'That girl was naive and wild and playful,' she continued. 'This song eternalizes a side of myself that I love very much, and now see I have to protect fiercely ... my first baby stands for so much. It stands for fiercely protecting my fun and unadulterated joy, in myself and in others.' Kesha also revealed that she plans to re-record the track 'when I have legal rights to.'

The new version would reflect the lyric change she's been singing during live performances in light of the several abuse allegations and lawsuits against Diddy this year: 'Wake up in the morning like, 'F-k P. Diddy,' as opposed to the original '... feeling like P. Diddy.'

The pop star kicked off her 2025 with a very good omen. After performing 'Tik Tok' on New Year's Rockin' Eve to ring in the year, her song earned its most streams ever on Spotify. Regarding this, she said, 'It was 15 years ago that I got my first #1 song! YALL did that,' Kesha wrote on X, sharing the statistic that the song earned nearly 2,000,000 streams on the platform on Wednesday. 'And the fact that [Tik Tok] had its biggest streaming day EVER yesterday blows my mind.'

Find Out The Most Awaited Concert Tours Of 2025

2025 will be a musically enriched year as most renowned artists are hitting the road. It is coming to know that, artists from genres like rock, pop, country, and hip-hop will perform live for their tours. Music artists like Billie Eilish, SZA, Kendrick Lamar, Sabrina Carpenter, Ed Sheeran, Zayn Malik, Usher, Billy Joel, and Coldplay are going for their much-awaited tour. Therefore, it can be said that 2025 will be an exciting year for all music enthusiasts.

Amidst all these phenomenal artists' live performances, a few faces will be missed this year. Artists like Taylor Swift, Drake, and Bad Bunny are not going to do any tour this year. In 2024, they all have done numerous tours to entertain their listeners. For example, Taylor did a total of 152 shows for her Eras Tour. That is why, she is not going to perform this year. Let's explore the upcoming tours of this year:

1. Billie Eilish: The young and talented singer-songwriter, Billie Eilish is currently on a tour for her album 'Hit Me Hard and Soft'. It is her third studio album, which is creating a huge buzz among all. The artist has been on this tour since last September.

This year, the tour will be held till July. Billie is a profound artist who has showcased her talent through her music. On this tour too, she has won many hearts with her excellent performances. Therefore, her fans will get the opportunity to see her perform live in the upcoming shows.

2. Kendrick Lamar and SZA: Another exciting tour will be conducted by Kendrick Lamar and SZA. Lamar dropped the album 'GNX' on 22nd November 2024. In the two soundtracks of the album, the featured artist is SZA. That is why, they will be doing a tour where they will perform in a total of 19 stadiums. SZA has been a part of tracks, named 'Luther' and 'Gloria'. Both the artists are brilliant and have won many hearts with their musical performances. Lamar is going on the tour, which is known as the 'Grand National Tour'. It will start in April and continue till June in 2025. Their fans are immensely excited to perform them live. Everyone is assuming that the tour will be a banger.

3. Coldplay: The globally renowned music group, Coldplay is going to perform live in 2025. They have been on their 'Music of the Spheres World Tour' since March 2022. And now it is going to come to an end in September 2025. They are doing this tour to support their ninth studio album, which has created a huge sensation among their fans. As of now, it is coming to know that in 2025, they will perform in locations like Asia, North America, New Zealand, and Europe. This year, they have a huge lineup where all their fans will be able to watch them perform live. It is going to be a brilliant experience for their fans.

4. Ed Sheeran: The profound music artist, Ed Sheeran is about to hit the road with his '+--÷× Tour'. He is all ready to conquer the world with his fourth concert tour. For this particular tour, he is drawing his four albums, which are known as 'Plus' (2011), 'Multiply' (2014), 'Divide' (2017), 'Equals' (2021) and 'Subtract' (2023). He started his tour in 2022 and later added his last album 'Subtract' to the tour. The artist is going to perform songs from each of his albums, which is quite an exciting matter for all his fans. It is coming to know that Ed Sheeran will wrap up this tour in September this year. Thus, 2025 is going to be extremely special for him.

5. Katy Perry: Katy Perry made her comeback in the music scene in 2024 with her album '143'. The artist released her album in September after four years of not giving any album. Hence, it can be said that it is quite massive for all of her fans. To make this an even bigger success, Katy is going on a tour, which is known as 'The Lifetimes Tour' in June 2025. She is going to start the tour from Australia and move on to different parts of the world in the coming days. As of now, Katy Perry hasn't announced the date of ending her tour. She will come up with more updates in the coming days.

6. Sabrina Carpenter: Sabrina is currently on her 'Short n' Sweet Tour', which she started in September 2024. It is the sixth album of the artist and she is doing this tour to support her album. Sabrina came up with the album 'Short n' Sweet' in 2024 and got a huge response from all. It is coming to know that Sabrina will continue the tour till March 2025. For the remaining shows, she will go to North America and Europe. All of her fans from these places are quite excited to perform her live. She likes to give many surprises to her fans during the show. Everyone is waiting to see what she has for her upcoming concerts.

7. Zayn Malik: The former One Direction artist, Zayn Malik is all ready to kickstart 2025 with his 'Stairway to the Sky Tour'. He announced his tour when he came on The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon. He is doing the tour for his fourth studio album 'Room Under the Stairs'. The artist released the album in 2024 and he was about to start the tour in October 2024. However, he couldn't start the tour in October due to the sudden demise of his bandmate, Liam Payne. For that reason, he postponed his performance in the United States. In November and December, he performed in Europe. Now he will start his performance in the North American leg in January, which is quite exciting for his fans.

8. Olivia Rodrigo: Olivia Rodrigo will go on her 'Guts World Tour' in March 2025 and continue till July this year. The artist came with her second studio album, 'Guts', and got a huge response from all. With the songs from this album, she has successfully created a sensation and captured the hearts of her listeners. For that reason, the artist is about to start her tour. As of now, it is coming to know that she will go to Europe and Latin America for this tour.

9. Usher: Usher is a proficient artist who has been entertaining his listeners for more than three decades. In 2025, he is also going on the 'Pat Present Future Tour', which is generating a massive sensation. Currently, it came to be known that he will start his tour in March and continue till May 2025.

He started his tour in 2024 and did a few shows. However, the artist couldn't continue to do the rest of them due to a neck injury. Now, Usher is all ready to start his 2025 shows. This time, he is going to perform in Paris, London, Amsterdam, and Berlin. His fans will get the opportunity to watch him perform live after a long time.

10. Post Malone: The proficient singer and rapper, Post Malone is all ready to go on his 'Big Ass Stadium Tour' in 2025. He is going to perform in several locations in North America. Now, it is coming to know that along with Malone, there will be Sierra Ferrell and Jelly Roll too. He is going to start his tour in April and continue to do it till July. Previously, in 2024, he came up with the sixth album 'F-1 Trillion'. This tour is in support of this album as well. As of now, he is going to perform only in North America. The artist hasn't made any announcement regarding more shows now.

11. Shakira: Shakira is going to make everyone dance on her 'Las Mujeres Ya No Lloran World Tour'. The singer and performer is all ready to start the tour in February and continue to perform till June this year. Previously, she performed in several locations in Latin America. After giving excellent performances in Latin America, now she is set to come to North America. Her stadium tour is creating a huge buzz among everyone.

12. Metallica: Metallica is extending its 'M72 World Tour' stepping into the third year. Band members like James Hetfield, Kirk Hammett, Lars Ulrich, and Robert Trujillo going to perform in 21 more shows in North America. This band has been performing for the last two years and continues to generate a buzz among everyone. This year, they are going to start the tour in April and it will end in November this year. First, they are stopping in North America and then they will go to Australia and New Zealand.

In 2025, everyone will get to see the performances of these artists. Many other music artists like Lionel Richie, Bruce Springsteen, Pitbull, Shania Twain, and many more are going to perform this year.

Hence, it can be said that 2025 is going to be an exciting year for everyone.

The Winners of Golden Globes 2025: Complete List for Every Category

Golden Globes 2025 was a complete blast after the very deserving TV shows, films, actors and productions received their recognition. The nomination list had been revealed earlier and the audiences did not have any doubt regarding the curation as most would agree with it.

Check out Golden Globe 2025 Winners:

Best Motion Picture, Drama

“The Brutalist” won this category which competed against “A Complete Unknown”; “Conclave”; “Dune: Part Two”; and “Nickel Boys”.

Best Motion Picture, Musical or Comedy

“Emilia Pérez” became the winner and received much attention from the audiences as there were also “Anora”; “Challengers”; “A Real Pain”; “The Substance”; and “Wicked” in the list which are remarkably great as well.

Best Motion Picture, Animated

“Flow” well it had to flow, isn’t it? An animal-oriented animation film that can speak more without words is the best thing you can have. The film won against “Memoir of a Snail”; “Inside Out 2”; “Moana 2”; “The Wild Robot”; and “Wallace and Gromit: Vengeance Most Fowl”. It was a tough competition indeed.

Cinematic and Box Office Achievement

“Wicked” seems to be a big hit at the box office as the film has received much commercial success among audiences of all ages. It won against the movies in the nomination namely, “Deadpool & Wolverine”, “The Wild Robot”, “Alien: Romulus”; “Beetlejuice Beetlejuice”; “Inside Out 2”; and “Twisters”.

Best Motion Picture, Non-English Language

“Emilia Pérez” won this category where the other nominations were “All We Imagine as Light”, “The Girl With the Needle”; “The Seed of the Sacred Fig”; “I’m Still Here”; and “Vermiglio”. All of these regional movies are truly intriguing.

Best Performance by an Actress in a Motion Picture, Drama

Fernanda Torres won this award for “I’m Still Here”. It was definitely a tough competition as there were other star actresses like Angelina Jolie, Pamela Anderson, Nicole Kidman, Kate Winslet, as well as Tilda Swinton.

Best Performance by an Actor in a Motion Picture, Drama

Adrien Brody, received this award for “The Brutalist” the movie that stood out in the finals. Brody won against Timothée Chalamet, Daniel Craig, Colman Domingo, Ralph Fiennes, and Sebastian Stan.

After so many years in the entertainment industry, Demi Moore finally received her first Golden Globe for her performance in “The Substance”. She won against Karla Sofía Gascón, Amy Adams, Cynthia Erivo, Zendaya, and Mikey Madison.

Best Performance by an Actor in a Motion Picture, Musical or Comedy

Well, he is not just Bucky, but he can be “A Different Man”. Sebastian Stan won the award for this category along with other actors in the nomination namely Gabriel LaBelle, Glen Powell, Jesse Plemons, Hugh Grant, and Jesse Eisenberg.

Best Performance by an Actress in a Supporting Role in any Motion Picture

Zoe Saldña received this award for her performance in “Emilia Pérez” but Selena Gomez did not get any. The other actresses for the supporting roles include Felicity Jones, Margaret Qualley, Isabella Rossellini, and also Ariana Grande.

Best Performance by an Actor in a Supporting Role in any Motion Picture

Kieran Culkin won this award for “A Real Pain” and he truly deserved it. The other actors in the nomination were Yura Borisov, Edward Norton, Guy Pearce, Jeremy Strong, and last but not least, Denzel Washington.

Best Director, Motion Picture

Brady Corbet got the nod for “The Brutalist” which is truly a masterpiece film of 2024. The other directors also did a great job creating some of the best films of the year. The nominations for this category include Coralie Fargeat, Jacques Audiard, Sean Baker, Edward Berger, and of course Payal Kapadia.

Best Screenplay, Motion Picture Peter Straughan for “Conclave”

Best Original Score, Motion Picture A dup win for Trent Reznor and Atticus Ross for the “Challengers”.

Best Original Song, Motion Picture

“El Mal,” by “Emilia Pérez” became the best of the best among other songs from the movies like “Beautiful That Way,” “Kiss The Sky,” “Compress / Repress,” “Forbidden Road,” as well as another song from “Emilia Pérez” named “Mi Camino.”

Best Television Series, Drama

“Shogun” won the award competing against “The Day of the Jackal”; “The Diplomat”; “Slow Horses”; “Squid Game,” and “Mr. & Mrs. Smith”.

Best Television Series, Musical or Comedy

“Hacks” became the winner among others namely “Nobody Wants This”; “Only Murders in the Building”, “Abbott Elementary”; “The Bear”; and “The Gentlemen”.

Best Limited Series, Anthology Series, or a Motion Picture made for Television

Creepy, strange, and greatly engaging; “Baby Reindeer” has to be the best series of the year. The others from the category are, “True Detective: Night Country”, “The Penguin”; “Ripley”; and “Disclaimer”; “Monsters: The Lyle and Erik Menendez Story”.

Best Performance by an Actress in a Television Series, Drama

Anna Sawai won this award for “Shogun” and she competed against Kathy Bates, Emma D’Arcy, Maya Erskine, Keri Russell, and Keira Knightley.

Best Performance by an Actor in a Television Series, Drama

Again, it had to be the “Shogun”. Hiroyuki Sanada received this award competing against Jake Gyllenhaal, Eddie Redmayne, Billy Bob Thornton, Gary Oldman, and Donald Glover aka The Childish Gambino.

Best Performance by an Actress in a Television Series, Musical or Comedy

Jean Smart got this award for the “Hacks” who competed against Kristen Bell, Ayo Edebiri, Selena Gomez, Kathryn Hahn, and Quinta Brunson.

AR Rahman Introduces Bharat Maestro Awards To Honor Indian Classical Music Legends

On AR Rahman's 58th birthday, the profound singer-composer announced a new collaboration with KM Music Conservatory. He has collaborated with this music institute to launch awards named, Bharat Maestro Awards.

The awards are for honoring legendary Indian classical music artists. It is the legendary artists who have inspired many individuals to lead them on the path to becoming successful music artists.

Therefore, it is his way of showing respect and honor to the music maestros. With the Bharat Maestro Awards, Rahman is trying to recognize the enduring influence of Indian classic music artists in the industry. This is going to be the way of nurturing the art and the artists. Bharat Maestro Awards are all about ensuring the influence of classical music on the future generation by giving recognition to unforgettable artists. The Oscar and Grammy-winning artist has said 'The greatest joy of a guru is to witness the success and growth of their students, and it is this bond that the Bharat Maestro Awards seeks to celebrate. The idea behind instituting this is for it to be more than just an award; it's about connecting the past, present, and future of music, and uniting us all through the language of sound'.

He has also added by saying 'The Conservatory has always sought to bridge the gap between tradition and modernity, creating opportunities for young artists to develop their craft while staying grounded in the cultural fabric of India. With this annual award being instituted, I want to support in building an ecosystem that will also fuel immersive experiences in the arena of music.

With the BMA, AR Rahman is willing to pay tribute to all the music legends who have passed away while contributing their charm to the world of music.

In the Indian class music, many phenomenal contributions are unforgettable. For that reason, he is giving tribute to all of them.

Along with all these, he is also glorifying the teacher-student relationship that has been often seen in the Indian classic music scenario.

As of now, Rahman talked about the BMA mentor panel. In this panel, there will be music artists like Asha Bhosle, Bombay Jayashri, AjoyChakrabarty, and Amjad Ali Khan.

Along with these, in the advisory board, there will be SaiShravanam, IlaPaliwal, FathimaRafiq, Bharat Bala, Khatija Rahman, Clint Valladares, and Adam Greig.

Chappell Roan Will Be Performing At Elton John's Oscar Watch Party

Elton John announced his annual Academy Awards viewing party on social media. This viewing party supports the Aids Foundation. However, John announced that this year, Chappell Roan will be the sole performer of the event.

According to the reports, it is becoming known that along with Elton John and his husband, David Furnish, there will be more co-hosts at the event.

Sheryl Lee Ralph, Jean Smart, David Burtka, and Neil Patrick Harris are going to co-host the event, which is making it even more exciting for all their fans. They are arranging for this event to raise funds for AIDS research. In addition to that, it is also an initiative to eliminate the stigma of the LGBTQ community and AIDS.

Many are coming together in this event to show their support for such a great motive. While talking about the performance of the night,

John said 'David and I are thrilled to gather with friends and supporters once again, and we're honored to welcome the bold and authentic Chappell Roan as this year's performer, whose artistry embodies the power of music to inspire change'.

It is true how Chappell Roan has showcased her talent and passion through her music. Her songs have the power to motivate and inspire people from within. And that is one of the reasons that she has been chosen for the performance.

John even advised Chappell a few things that say 'Chappell was a little overwhelmed with her sudden success — although she'd been writing for a long time, it really kind of ballooned very quickly. I just try and calm her down and say, 'Listen, it's fine. It's fine. Do what you want. Don't listen to anybody. Walk at your own speed. Do not listen to the record company saying, 'We want another album, we want another album.' Do it when you're ready to do it''.

Chappell and John became quite close in the past year. It came to be seen that both of them connected quite deeply in last year. There is no doubt that John is obsessed with Chappell's creations.

He has always been there to support her music and that deepens their relationship even more. This year, at the Academy Awards viewing party many celebrities will join.

There will be Seam Penn, Megan Thee Stallion, Sharon Stone, Hozier, and Mick Jagger. The rest of the guest list hasn't been announced yet, which will be very soon.

SESAME STREET'S NEW SEASON IS ABOUT TO LAUNCH WITH BIGGEST NAMES

Sesame Workshop, the global impact nonprofit behind decades of award-winning educational media content, announced Sesame Street's 55th season will debut on Thursday, January 16 on Max, with episodes releasing every Thursday.

The season be available on local PBS stations across the country and on the free PBS KIDS Video app Fall 2025. Season 55's curriculum will focus on emotional well-being, helping children learn accessible strategies to comprehend and cope with big feelings through fun, light-hearted, relatable, and engaging stories. 'New episodes of Sesame Street will help young viewers understand and express their feelings, learn new mindfulness practices, and as always, have a blast with their favorite furry and funny friends,' said Sal Perez, Executive Producer, Sesame Street.

'Whether it's taking a volcano breath when angry, learning to give yourself a hug when frustrated, or wiggling it out when disappointed, we are empowering children with the strategies to help build resiliency and the foundational skills for emotional well-being.'

'This season's emotional well-being curriculum was developed in response to the growing mental health crisis affecting children globally,' said Dr. Rosemarie Truglio, Sesame Workshop's Senior Vice President of Curriculum & Content.

'Focusing on emotion awareness and social connection skills, children will learn that all feelings are important and that we all experience big feelings, as well as how to navigate social scenarios with friends, families, and the wider community.'

Sesame Street will feature celebrity and special guests throughout the season, including Reneé Rapp (Thursday, January 16), Michael B. Jordan (Thursday, January 23), Samara Joy (Thursday, February 6), Noah Kahan (Thursday, March 6), SZA (Thursday, April 10), Chris Stapleton (Thursday, July 24), Jonathan Van Ness (Thursday, August 21), and Billie Jean King (Thursday, August 28) who join for Street Stories, songs, and other segments.

Feature episodes include: Beachball Bop (Thursday, January 16), where Elmo learns how to do volcano breaths after he feels angry; Abby Taps Into Kindness (Thursday, April 10), where Abby learns what it means to be kind to yourself to overcome frustration, all with the help of her friends; Happy Bert Day (Thursday, July 24), where Ernie is excited to throw Bert a big, loud party for Bert's birthday, but Bert gets frustrated as he wants to celebrate his birthday with a quiet puzzle – can lion breaths help them both feel better?; and New School Scaries (Thursday, September 4), where Cookie Monster, feeling nervous about going to a new cooking school, enlists his friends to help him prepare.

Also this season, Mecha Elmo, Mecha Cookie, and Mecha Abby make their Sesame Street debut as Mecha Builders shorts air within select episodes. Mecha Builders is Sesame Street's first-ever 3D CGI animated series, which combines the lovable characters with a STEM curriculum.

Plus, Sesame Street's BFF (best furry friends) duo, Elmo and Tango, along with their adventurous friend Gabrielle and certified fact checker, Grandma Nell, explore the unknown world both on and off the Street in the animated Sesame Street Nature Explorers shorts. And don't miss Cookie Monster and his popular Foodie Truck!

Sesame Street continues to be available on PBS stations and streams on PBS KIDS, and games are available on pbskids.org and the PBS KIDS Games app.

Mud Audio Voodoo Describing Love as a Dream in 'Snow dreams'

Born out of necessity like every great invention, the Mud Audio Voodoo has definitely carved its name on the walls of the music industry.

With a mind full of curiosity and a heart full of musical tunes and rhythms, the amazing and immensely talented creator of the project started making music that could be done without expensive software and types of machinery.

The creator behind this music project started his journey in 2015 with his first release and from there; he has come a very long way. On the way he has managed to keep his fans and the whole world hooked to his mixes again and again. Recently this epitome of musical tapestry has released his brand new track 'Snow dreams'.

From an early age the music producer was inspired by legendary musical personalities like David Bowie and his song 'I'm a DJ' which has the simple motto of showing what the person is reality about. While following this motto Mud Audio Voodoo entered its musical journey with the debut mixes which was distributed by The Orchard Enterprises NY. Inc. in the digital world which helped the creator of this music project make a name for him and his art in the music world. His new track 'Snow dreams' is a testament to his sheer will and love for this art form.

The groovy and eclectic beats and hooking rhythm are what make this track unique from the rest of his creation.

It is available on one of the major music streaming platforms, SoundCloud for the whole world to witness his musical tapestry.

This creator has successfully shown other musicians how music can also be made without heavy and expensive pieces of machinery.

From the very beginning, intending to create music amidst the economic crisis, this creator blended his first mix.

Adapting well with this advancement the amazing music producer has gifted his fans hits after hits. The clear vision of the DJ is very much reflective and engaging according to his fans on the music streaming platforms, so much so that his latest track has become one of their favorite ones.

His innovation and intricate musical tapestry were witnessed in his single 'Away from This' which claimed the 12th position on the European Indie Chart and continued to reign the charts for 80 weeks straight.

As a part of his musical journey in 2023, he released his album 'Psychedelic Love' which made people notice his work once more.

But his single 'Old Man' is still considered as one of the most popular mixes created by this music producer by his fans from all over the world.

Apart from these, the music producer has also created tracks like 'Stronger', 'Don't Let Me', and so on for his fans. Recently the artist was seen performing at a DJ set in Riviera Romagnola.

To get more updates about the music mogul and his upcoming projects his fans can visit his social media profiles on YouTube, Facebook, Instagram, X, and Apple Music.

Glorilla Offered A 'Glorious' Performance At The SNL Hosted By Dave Chappelle

Musical diva Glorilla was the guest on the last night's 'Saturday Night Live' and it can be said that the episode was 'lit'. The episode was hosted by Dave Chappelle and is perhaps one of the most happening NBC shows.

She performed the Grammy-nominated single "Yeah Glo!" and also offered a Glorious medley along with a live band. Performing the tracks like "Whatchu Kno About Me" and "Let Her Cook", SNL turned into a mini-concert that no one expected. There were even three outfit changes on a unique stage that set the whole mood. The ambiance with her powerful bars and the backup dancers was truly immaculate. She also performed a little sketch at the show about online dating shows the show seems to set the mood for a perfect Saturday.

Glorilla is one of the finest music artists in the new age music industry who made huge progress within a short span of time.

She gained a lot of attention with her debut full-length album 'Glorious' which was finally released last year after a long wait by the fans.

The album boasts some of the day's best singles like "TGIF" and "Hollon" which are currently topping the charts. This studio LP also offers some satisfying collaborations with artists like Sexy Red, T-Pain, Megan Thee Stallion, Latto, and many others.

The artist's breakout song in the industry is "Yeah Glo!" which was also released in 2024 and became one of the favorite tracks of the year for music lovers. It appeared in the Ehhthang Ehhthang mixtape and was nominated for Best Rap Song and Best Rap Performance at the Grammy Awards for 2025. It is also one of the standout tracks by the artist.

SNL is currently continuing with its 50th season and this season offered a lot of musical performances with the artists Stevie Nicks, Billie Eilish, Coldplay, M.K.Gee, Charli XCX, Chapelle Roan, Hozier, Shaboozey, Gracie Abrams, and the so on. Next week at the SNL, the guest will be Timothée Chalamet who will perform both as musical guest and the host for the show. This is not the first time but Chalamet will be coming to the SNL set for the third time. He has also participated in some kind of goofy hip-hop performance.

However, this time he will be promoting his upcoming film 'A Complete Unknown' which is based on the life of Bob Dylan. Check out the trailer for the show.

GOVERNORS BALL 2025 HEADLINE IS STAR-STUDED ONCE AGAIN

Tyler, the Creator, Olivia Rodrigo, and Hozier will headline the 2025 edition of the Governors Ball.

Gov Ball will return to Flushing Meadows Corona Park in June. The Governors Ball is on for 2025 with the New York City event bringing in Tyler The Creator to headline night one, Olivia Rodrigo on night two, and Hozier for the third and final night.

Other acts include Benson Boone, Feid, Glass Animals, Conan Gray, Mt. Joy, Mk. Gee, Clairo, The Backseat Lovers, Young Miko, and Australia's Royal Otis. Celebrating 15 years and 3rd in Flushing Meadows Corona Park.

'I'm thrilled to welcome everyone back to Flushing Meadows Corona Park for this year's Governor's Ball, featuring headliners SZA, Post Malone, and The Killers; said Queens Borough President Donovan Richards Jr. 'We're deeply grateful for the economic activity the festival will generate for Queens, and we're even more grateful that the festival is partnering with some of our local nonprofits, including Chhaya, Elmhurst/Corona Recovery Collective and the Alliance for Flushing Meadows Corona Park, to work with our local food vendors and other community groups doing important empowerment work.

The inaugural Governors Ball took place on Governors Island in 2011. Organized by Founders Entertainment, the festival's initial lineup featured an eclectic mix of electronic, rock, hip-hop, and indie music acts. Despite being a one-day event, the festival set the stage for its future success with performances from artists such as Girl Talk, Pretty Lights, and Empire of the Sun. In 2012, Governors Ball expanded to a two-day event to accommodate its growing popularity.

The festival also moved to Randall's Island Park, a larger venue that allowed for greater capacity and more elaborate stage setups. The 2012 lineup included headliners such as Beck, Passion Pit, and Modest Mouse, further solidifying the festival's reputation.

By 2013, Governors Ball had become a three-day event, attracting even more high-profile artists. That year, the festival featured performances by Kanye West, Guns N' Roses, and Kings of Leon. Despite severe weather conditions that impacted the festival, the strong lineup and dedicated fanbase ensured its continued success. Over the years, Governors Ball has continued to evolve, both in terms of its musical offerings and its cultural impact. The festival has consistently booked a wide range of artists, from emerging talents to established superstars, across various genres. Notable headliners have included The Strokes, OutKast, Florence + The Machine, and Eminem.

Governors Ball has also become known for its commitment to providing a unique and enjoyable experience for attendees. The festival features a variety of food vendors, art installations, and interactive activities, making it more than just a series of concerts. The Governors Ball Music Festival has firmly established itself as a cornerstone of New York City's cultural landscape. With its diverse lineups, commitment to the attendee experience, and positive impact on the local community, the festival continues to thrive and evolve. As it looks to the future, the Governors Ball remains dedicated to celebrating music and bringing people together in the heart of one of the world's greatest cities.

Taylor Swift, Morgan Wallen Lead iHeartRadio Music Awards Nominees

Kendrick Lamar, Sabrina Carpenter, and Post Malone also scored multiple nominations at the March 17 event that will pay tribute to the rebuilding of Los Angeles. Taylor Swift and Morgan Wallen lead the 2025 iHeartRadio Music Award nominations with 10, followed closely by Kendrick Lamar, Sabrina Carpenter, and Post Malone with nine. The iHeartRadio Music Awards honor the most played artists of the year on its stations and app. This year, the show will also pay tribute to Los Angeles following the wildfires and drive donations to FireAidLA.org.

FireAid is a star-studded benefit concert organized for wildfire relief featuring Billie Eilish, Stevie Wonder, Green Day, Joni Mitchell, and more. Contributions to FireAidLA.org and from ticket sales 'will be distributed under the advisement of the Annenberg Foundation, for short-term relief efforts and long-term initiatives to prevent future fire disasters,' according to a press release. 'Our iHeartRadio Music Awards show is not a competition,' said John Sykes, president of entertainment enterprises, and Tom Poleman, chief programming officer in a joint statement.

'It's a night where we honor the incredible artists and songs that fans loved all year long – and this year's show will shine a light on the devastating tragedy that impacted Los Angeles and enable us to deliver on our commitment to the communities we serve.' At the 2025 iHeartRadio Music Awards, Lady Gaga will receive the Innovator Award, which is given to an artist who's impacted both music and global culture. Mariah Carey will be celebrated with the Icon Award, spotlighting her record-shattering career.

In addition to her nominations, Swift's groundbreaking Eras Tour will be honored as 'Tour of the Century,' a new award along with Carey, who will receive the Icon Award at the event, where Gaga will earn the Innovator Award.

Fans can vote in several categories including best lyrics, best music video, favorite tourstyle, favorite soundtrack, favorite Broadway debut, favorite K-pop dance challenge, favorite surprise guest, favorite tour tradition, favorite tour photographer, and favorite on screen.

Social voting begins today at iHeartRadio.com/awards and will close March 10 at 11:59 p.m. PDT for all categories. For song of the year, Shaboozey's 'A Bar Song (Tipsy)' faces off against Lamar's 'Not Like Us,' Carpenter's 'Espresso,' Malone and Wallen's 'I Had Some Help,' Doja Cat's 'Agora Hills,' Benson Boone's 'Beautiful Things,' Tate McRae's 'Greedy,' Teddy Swims' 'Lose Control,' Jack Harlow's 'Lovin On Me' and Hozier's 'Too Sweet.'

The 2025 iHeartRadio Music Awards will air live from the Dolby Theatre in Los Angeles on March 17 at 8 p.m. EDT on FOX.

It will also air on iHeartRadio stations across the U.S. and on the app.

Bonnaroo 2025 Lineup Revealed: Luke Combs, Tyler, Olivia Rodrigo & Hozier

Taking place June 12-15 on the Bonnaroo Farm, Olivia Rodrigo, Tyler the Creator, Luke Combs and Hozier are the headliners for the 2025 Bonnaroo Music Festival.

Located just 60 miles southeast of Nashville in Manchester, Tennessee, the Bonnaroo Music & Aer Festival has revealed its lineup for 2025. Olivia Rodrigo, Tyler the Creator, Luke Combs, and Hozier are set to set to ignite the stage this year.

Kicking off on Thursday, June 12, country star Luke Combs will lead the performances, joined by artists like Dom Dolla, Sammy Virji, and Marcus King. Friday's lineup spotlights Tyler the Creator, with support from John Summit, Glass Animals, and Rainbow Kitten Surprise.

Saturday brings pop sensation Olivia Rodrigo to the main stage, alongside Avril Lavigne, Nelly, and Justice.

The festival concludes on Sunday with Hozier headlining, accompanied by Vampire Weekend, Queens of the Stone Age, and Remi Wolf, who will also host the 'Insanely Fire 1970s Pool Party' SuperJam.

Metal gods like Megadeth are also heading towards Tennessee, to bring back the riffs for days to The Farm. If anyone is wondering what chaos looks like with a side of southern summer heat, then this is it.

This year, Bonnaroo introduces the Roo Residency, featuring King Gizzard & the Lizard Wizard performing three sets over three days, offering fans a unique experience.

Not only this, additionally, the festival debuts 'The Infinity Stage,' which is an immersive platform boasting the world's largest 360° spatial audio experience, along with synchronized lights, and a distinctive three-dome, open-air design.

The festival will feature performances around the clock across more than 10 stages over the four-day festival, 'with live music and much more through the night and into early morning with special sunrise sets.'

Bonnaroo tickets go on sale, Thursday, January 9 beginning at 9 a.m. ET exclusively via bonnaroo.com.

Guaranteed lowest-priced tickets are available during the first hour of sales, from 10 am to 11 am (CT). 2025 ticket options include 4-Day General Admission, 4-Day GA+, 4-Day VIP, and 4-Day Platinum, along with a variety of camping and parking options starting at just $25 down with a payment plan.

Bonnaroo 2025 has a mix of genres, including rock, pop, hip-hop, electronic, country, and indie music.

The first Bonnaroo festival was organized by veteran music promoter Ashley Capps and held in 2002, which attracted about 70,000 visitors.

The festival took its name from the 1974 album 'Desitively Bonnaroo' created by the New Orleans pianist and vocalist Dr. John.

In the Creole slang of New Orleans, bonnaroo means, roughly, 'best on the street.' Radiate Positivity is the 'theme' of Bonnaroo.

Music Of The Spheres World Tour: Coldplay Rocks Mumbai

As part of the British band's Music of the Spheres World Tour, the British band Coldplay had its stop in India, on Jan 18 at Navi Mumbai's DY Patil Sports Stadium. Coldplay, the famous British band just held a concert on January 18th at Navi Mumbai's DY Patil Sports Stadium.

This was part of the band's Music of the Spheres World Tour which had its recent stop in India. The 18th January show was not just a concert for the attendees, but it was a magical musical experience that every music lover should experience at least once in their lives. As people say, "There is never a bad Coldplay concert" and the show exactly felt like that.

The concert started on time and soon became the center stage of music, and magic as people from all over the country gathered in the stadium to celebrate and listen to the iconic British band perform. This is not the first time the band has performed in the country, earlier Coldplay came and performed in India as part of the Global Citizen Festival.

A wide number of 80,000 fans witnessed the magic firsthand as they all saw the energetic Chris Martin with his dynamic band members, Guy Berryman, Will Champion, and Jonny Buckland creating an unforgettable experience.

As we have stated before, the 18th January show was not just a music concert, but it was actually an experience that music lovers need to experience at least.

The entire show and the band members created a sense of belonging in the audience with their music, a feeling of hope and happiness that stays long, even after the last note of the evening fades away.

From the moment that Chris Martin came on stage and greeted the audience in Marathi, it was a worldwide ride of emotions, music, and magic. He wished everyone a pleasant evening, called the attendees beautiful, and promised that this was not going to be just another music concert and so it did.

The night became one of the most precious celebrations of music through and through. The entire concert was full of moments that included Martin speaking to the audience in Marathi, apologizing to the Indians for British colonization with humor, and giving Shah Rukh Khan a shoutout.

At one point, Martin said, "It's amazing to us that you welcome us even though we are from Great Britain. Thank you for forgiving us for all the bad things that Britain has done," acknowledging the dark history of colonization.

In another moment when the band is playing, Martin speaks up mid-performance saying, "Shah Rukh Khan forever. Go." The band then continues playing the music again. Speaking to the crowd at DY Patil Stadium, the musician expressed his gratitude, saying, "We could not have asked for a better audience. Thank you for coming today, everybody!"

Moments like these made the concert so very special. It was not just the music, but the way Chris Martin brought the entire setlist to life. He paused several times to tell the audience jokes and ask them to dance like no one was watching.

At some point, the musician also convinced the attendees to ditch their phones and immerse themselves. "Your phone in your pocket, your hands in the sky – that's how we're going to make Mumbai fly," he said.

However, the real magic is the way he made the public feel that night.

Watching the musician interact with his fans was nothing short of dynamic. The country cannot wait to see the band again.

'SNL' 50TH ANNIVERSARY CONCERT TO FEATURE A STAR-STUDED LINEUP

'Saturday Night Live' is bringing Studio 8H to Radio City Music Hall with a three-hour, live-streamed concert on Feb. 14, celebrating the sketch comedy series' 50th anniversary. SNL has been a huge part of anybody that likes entertainment.

The performance line-up for Saturday Night Live's 'SNL 50' concert has been finally revealed and it is something everyone is looking forward to.

On January 30th, SNL and the Peacock network took to social media to announce the current line-up for the SNL 50: The Homecoming Concert show, which is due to take place on Friday, February 14. 'Tonight Show' celebrity host, Jimmy Fallon will host

The concert special will also play at fan screening events at select Imax theaters at Regal Cinemas.

Free tickets to those screenings — taking place in California (Regal Edwards Ontario Palace), Pennsylvania (Regal UA King of Prussia), Texas (Regal Lone Star), New York (Regal Deer Park), and Florida (Regal South Beach) — will be available at a later date.

The Radio City concert comes two days before the official 'SNL50: The Anniversary Special,' a three-hour live broadcast show taking place Sunday, Feb. 16 at 8 p.m. ET. It's the latest in a string of 'SNL50' celebrations.

NBC put out a four-part docuseries from Morgan Neville titled 'SNL50: Beyond Saturday Night,' which preceded a documentary special from Ahmir 'Questlove' Thompson and Oz Rodriguez called 'Ladies & Gentlemen ... 50 Years of SNL Music.' 'SNL50: The Homecoming Concert' is produced by Broadway Video. Erin David and Caroline Maroney are also producers, Ken Aymong and Rob Paine serve as supervising producers and Beth McCarthy-Miller is the director. The current 'SNL 50' concert line-up is: Arcade Fire, Backstreet Boys, Bad Bunny, Bonnie Raitt, Brandi Carlile, Brittany Howard, Chris Martin, David Byrne, DEVO, Eddie Vedder, Jack White, Jelly Roll, Lady Gaga, Miley Cyrus, Mumford & Sons, Post Malone, Preservation Hall Jazz Band, Robyn, The B-52s, The Roots. SNL has been celebrating its 50th anniversary, launching its 50th season in late September.

Among the content planned and already rolled out for its 50th anniversary is the feature film Saturday Night, a Questlove-helmed documentary focusing on the programming's music and more.

Sam Asghari Celebrates The New Year With New Love

Sam Asghari has settled his divorce with Britney Spears earlier in May last year. Now, he is embarking on the New Year with his new love glimpses spreading over social media.

The actor and the model have finally shared pictures with his new girlfriend on Jan 1.

After eight months of finalizing his divorce with Spears, Asghari is gaining at full throttle on his romantic journey.

He shared his pictures with his girlfriend and with the caption "Happy New Year to All ?" on Instagram. There are pictures of their vacation which seems like a good beach time for the couple.

Whether the outfit or the presence, they look perfect. Sam Asghari is 30 years old right now and he seems to embrace his girlfriend very much as he has also shared a story on Instagram with the caption Happy New Year to Everyone including a picture of them together.

The previous relationship with Pop Queen Britney Spears did not come around well and their separation was finalized in May after one year of marriage in 2023. They started dating each other back in 2016 through a 'Slumber Party' and then got declared legally single when it was Britney Spear's 43rd Birthday.

In the month of November, the actor and the model finally decided to open up about a new person in his life. When the man was asked how he is handling the situation following his marriage, separation, and new life, he said, "It's the bed that you make yourself, and you got to learn how to lay in it, so it's part of the lifestyle." Asghari further added, "You just got to keep it positive," and "You got to stay grounded and understand what the truth is and really just live with that rather than other people's opinions or anything like that."

Keeping himself busy, the actor also said, "There's a lot of work stuff that I'm doing that I want to let the work do the talk, and with acting, it's what comes next and all the work that you're putting in," and added, "So I did a few projects and very excited to announce it."

He will be appearing in the cast for 'The Traitors season 3'. Showing his humble side, Sam said, "It was a blessing to be able to share life with someone for a long time. And people grow apart, and people move on."

Pop Queen Taylor Swift Will Perform At Gautam Adani's Son's Big Fat Wedding

Talk about big fat weddings! Gautam Adani's Son is about to get married and guess what? Taylor Swift is going to perform there.

Right after Amabani, businessman Gautam Adani is throwing an extravagant wedding party. His son Jeet Adani will have the best wedding as the Blank Space singer will be there for pre-wedding festivities.

Jeet and Diva Shah's wedding team said, "Taylor Swift's team is in talks with the Adanis to perform at one of the pre-wedding festivities of Jeet Adani and Diva Shah.

Even though Taylor has not confirmed her presence as of now, talks are underway, and it looks like the grand wedding will mark her first performance in India. "This is the maiden performance in India of the 35-year-old singer. Previously in 2014, the singer expressed her true feelings about visiting the country but it was due to the huge number of fans in the country. However, the wish is coming true through the wedding party. The singer showed her interest in working in a Hindi film.

The singer previously said, "Indian cinema has a lot of music and dance, which excites me. I think Indians share a big passion for song and dance in the movies, which I love. It is a great way of connecting with the audience."

Big fat extravagant weddings are currently the symbol of status and the richest people want to show the world how they like to throw parties.

Billionaire Gautam Adani is the second richest man in India and is also one of the leading persons in the world's top businessmen. Jeet Adani on the other hand is the director at Adani Airports more like a freshman in the industry with his graduation degree from the University of Pennsylvania's School of Engineering and Applied Sciences, USA.

He also completed an Owner/President Management program at Harvard Business School which helped him become the most significant person in the Adani Group's aviation ventures.

Jeet Adani is also an aspiring pilot who likes to play guitar and has a knack for luxurious sports cars. It is still a doubt whether this is good news for the Indian Swifties or not since Taylor Swift will be performing at a personal wedding to which her fans are not invited. However, her presence might delight the Indians.

Music Groups, Companies, and Musicians Who Donated to L.A. Fire Relief Efforts

Fires across the Los Angeles area have destroyed thousands of structures and caused massive emotional distress in the industry-leading epicenter, prompting mass evacuations of nearly 200,000 residents.

There are plenty of ways to support displaced citizens, and a handful of resources for entertainment industry workers, but some of the larger music companies and brands have taken matters into their own hands by making generous donations.

Angelenos are joining forces to contribute to established charities like the California Fire Foundation, the L.A. Fire Department Foundation, the L.A. Food Bank, and the Pasadena Humane Society, among other specialized support centers (that are in constant need of volunteers) in areas including Santa Anita Park and the Pasadena Community Job Center, among others.

Live Nation's Crew Nation Global Relief Fund is committing $1 million to assist performing musicians, live music crew, and live music industry workers affected by the recent wildfires in L.A. Crew Nation has opened applications for grants up to $5,000 for individuals currently employed within the industry facing displacement expenses due to mandatory evacuation orders, damage, or loss. Those seeking support can apply for Crew Nation Fund grants.

Separate from Crew Nation, Live Nation is also supporting impacted employees from its Los Angeles headquarters with direct relief through its Taking Care of Our Own program. The company is partnering to help produce and promote FireAid, a benefit concert on Jan. 30, to help rebuild communities and support fire prevention efforts across Southern California.

Amazon has pledged $10 million, with the money coming from Amazon Music, Prime Video, and Amazon MGM Studios, along with Ring and Whole Foods Market.

The donation has been granted to the American Red Cross of Southern California, FireAid, MusiCares Fire Relief Effort, World Central Kitchen, Los Angeles Fire Department Foundation, Habitat for Los Angeles Wildfire Fund, and Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Small Business Relief/Recovery Fund, among others, per the company's blog.

Sony has announced a $5 million donation in support of wildfire relief with the money going towards organizations supporting first responders, community relief and rebuilding efforts, and employee assistance programs.

Beyoncé has committed a total of $2.5 million in fire relief, with the donation going to families in Altadena and Pasadena.

In addition to helping those who lost their homes and possessions, BeyGOOD will also assist churches and community centers in other impacted areas to address the immediate needs of people affected by the fires.

Doja Cat, who was born and raised in the L.A. area — shared on Instagram that she has partnered with the American Red Cross to specially design a line of merchandise benefitting the charity organization's relief efforts in California.

'Please help me and @americanredcross support my beautiful state of California,' Doja wrote, captioning photos of some of the pieces. '100% of proceeds go to American Red Cross to support the people of California affected by the wildfires.'

Ice Nine, the Boston-bred group announced over the weekend the launch of a fundraiser they've dubbed 'Heed the Call For California,' with 100% of the proceeds going to the California Fire Foundation Wildlife & Disaster Relief Fund, which will directly support victims across the state.

The black T-shirt features an image of the masked character Ghostface from the Scream movie series dressed as a California firefighter holding an axe, with the band's name in white behind him amid a palm tree sunset and the effort's moniker in red horror script below.

The Jonas Brothers are Returning for Their Christmas Movie on Disney+

Jonas Brothers are coming back with their new Christmas film that will premiere on Disney+. The film will be premiered in the holiday season.

With this new movie, the Jonas Brothers are coming back to their roots, and it is creating a sensation among all. As of now, it is coming to know that they are working with the 20th Television for the Christmas movie.

The movie is temporarily named the 'Jonas Brothers Christmas Movie' and is produced by the Jonas Brothers, Scott Morgan, Spencer Berman, and Adam Fishbach. It will be directed by Jessica Yu, an Oscar-winning director. Justin Tranter will compose the original music.

The Jonas Brothers announced the movie through their social media and this has made all their fans immensely excited. In addition to that, the Jonas Brothers and Disney+ announced the movie on Good Morning America as well. it says 'EXCLUSIVE: The @JonasBrothers are releasing a Christmas movie this holiday season on @DisneyPlus, bringing the trio back to their Disney roots. @laraspencer has more on their new project!

When it came to the teaser of the movie, Kevin, Joe, and Nick recreated the cue card scene from 'Love Actually'.

The interesting way of approach has grabbed the attention of the audience even more. The Jonas Brothers teamed up with 20th Television and due to this movie, they faced a little difficulty in spending time at Christmas with their family.

They had to travel from London to New York to reach their family in between the project. It can be said that the whole process has been quite difficult for all.

Three of them started working with Disney music label a long time ago in 2007. They made their debut in Disney with a guest appearance on Hannah Montana.

From this, they started gaining stardom on Disney. Later that, they worked together with Disney for 'Jonas Brothers: Living the Dream', 'Camp Rock', and 'Camp Rock 2: The Final Jam'. It was released in the year 2010.

The Jonas Brothers stopped working as a band in 2013 and later reunited in 2019 for the soundtrack 'Sucker'.

And now they are all together once again for the Christmas movie.

Their fans are expecting something very special as the three of them come together once again.

As of now, they haven't disclosed the release date, which they might do soon.

Kelly Clarkson Performed Billie's 'Birds Of A Feather' At The Latest Kellyoke

Kelly Clarkson mesmerized everyone by performing Billie Eilish's song 'Birds of a Feather' from the album 'Hit Me Hard and Soft'.

Her innovative take on the soundtrack has amazed all. She performed the track on her new installment of Kellyoke.

Dressed in a berry-colored jumpsuit, when Kelly sang the soundscape, it won the hearts of all the listeners. Kelly started singing the chorus of the track slowly and flawlessly delivering even the chorus of the song.

She continued by singing 'Birds of a feather, we should stick together, I know I said I'd never think I wasn't better alone/ Can't change the weather, might not be forever/ But if it's forever, it's even better'.

From this approach, it is obvious that she loves Billie Eilish and her music creations. Billie is a profound artist who has given various outstanding pieces of music. One of the best parts of Billie is that she constantly works to make different kinds of music.

There is a diversity in her music works. And that is what made her unique in every possible manner.

In addition to that, it is her flawless and relevant approach that assisted her in gaining more recognition.

With the soundtrack 'Birds of a Feather', Billie Eilish achieved much appreciation from her fans.

As Kelly Clarkson also performed this track on her Kellyoke, it can be said that the soundtrack is truly amusing.

Right after the release the track achieved No. 2 position on the Billboard Hot 100 chart.

Along with the song, the music video also captivated all the listeners. in a brief time span, it garner many audiences.

For this sound design, Billie came up with a paranormal music video that created a buzz among all the music enthusiasts.

The music video was released in September and within a brief time span, it achieved huge recognition. It has been directed by Aidan Zamiri.

The unique portrayal of the video has made it even more interesting for the listeners.

After the release of the music video, in October Billie performed the track on 'Saturday Night Live'.

In addition to that, it has also been nominated for many Grammy Awards, which is an exciting matter for her fans.

Singer-songwriter Gracie Abrams has had an incredible year, rising from a cult favorite to a recognized pop sensation. Her album 'The Secret of Us' debuted at No. 2 on the Billboard 200, with songs like 'Close to You', 'Risk', and 'Us' (featuring Taylor Swift) making it to the Billboard Hot 100. The song 'I Love You, I'm Sorry' later went viral on TikTok, climbing to the top 20. Most recently, 'That's So True', a bonus track from the deluxe album became her first Hot 100 top 10 hits reaching No. 6.

So, what is responsible for Gracie's recent surge of momentum? Let's find out.

The biggest question that revolves around this single is why this particular song got huge streaming success while her singles from the album did not. Well, Gracie Abrams' 'That's So True' is a masterclass in delivering emotional resonance with a punch. Packed with nostalgic '90s charm and introspective lyrics, it is the kind of song that feels both deeply personal and universally relatable. The track's under-three-minute runtime demands repeat listens and its evocative bridge - a clear nod to Taylor Swift's influence - leaves a lasting impression. Riding the momentum of her earlier singles and boosted by her spot-on Taylor Swift's Eras Tour, 'That's So True' cements Abrams' place in pop's rising elite with a well-deserved top 10 Hot 100 debut.

The song highlights Gracie's unique songwriting style and came at the perfect moment to achieve a top 10 hit. Her artistry has grown significantly since last year's 'Good Riddance', and her latest album shows more polished hooks and a stronger, distinct perspective. Abrams' delivery feels uniquely hers, making the song unforgettable.

'That's So True' Gracie Abrams' Breakthrough Hit

Gracie Abram has an awesome 2024 and it is not just because she is a nepo baby and success comes easy to her. Behind her surge in popularity was a special song.

With her live audience expanding and streaming numbers climbing, 'That's So True' had all the ingredients for a breakout hit at this point in her career.

Another interesting question that revolves around the artist is what could be the biggest reason behind the surge in her popularity. To answer this question, let's take a deeper look at the facts that have helped the artist throughout 2024. Abrams' role as an opener on Taylor Swift's Eras Tour gave her a huge opportunity to reach new fans. However, she didn't just rely on the exposure, she followed it up with her best work yet, 'The Secret of Us'. Like Sabrina Carpenter before her, Abrams proved that while the tour opens doors, it is the quality of the music that truly solidifies success. Her standout songs ensured she could make the most of the massive platform and newfound attention. At the same time, her 2024 breakout was no accident - it was the result of strategic moves in 2023. Touring stadiums as part of Taylor Swift's Eras Tour introduced her to massive new audiences and her heartfelt, relatable music struck a chord with fans of Swift's style. A late-year collaboration with rising star Noah Kahan on 'Everywhere, Everything' marked her first Hot 100 hit, building momentum from her debut album. With her growing fanbase and undeniable talent, Abrams only needed one standout single to catapult her into the next level of pop stardom.

Conclusively, it is quite clear that the music industry is ready for more from this rising talent!

A 'Fantastic Start To 2025' As Diljit Dosanjh Meets PM Modi For The First Time

Diljit, who recently concluded his months-long pan-India Dil-Luminati tour, took a glimpse of his meeting with the Prime Minister to his Instagram page and posted it. Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday met acclaimed Punjabi singer and actor Diljit Dosanjh, calling him 'truly multifaceted'.

The singer reciprocated by saying it was 'a very memorable interaction' and a 'fantastic start to 2025.' Sharing memorable moments from the meeting, Prime Minister Modi wrote, 'A great interaction with Diljit Dosanjh! He's truly multifaceted, blending talent and tradition. We connected over music, culture, and more...'

As Prime Minister Modi heaped praises on Diljit, the Punjabi singer, sharing his own experience, wrote, 'A fantastic start to 2025. A very memorable meeting with PM @narendramodiji. We talked about a lot of things including music of course!' This was Diljit Dosanjh's first meeting with PM Modi.

Diljit, who recently concluded his months-long blockbuster Dil-Luminati tour, also took to his X and posted some pictures of his meeting with the Prime Minister.

During the interaction, both Diljit and Prime Minister Modi talked about the power of yoga and shared their experiences of their travels across India.

Pointing to Diljit's humble beginnings, Prime Minister Modi said, 'When a boy from an Indian village goes out in the world and shines, then, I feel really proud.' As Diljit was talking about his experience across India, Prime Minister Modi said, 'India is a big country, and it derives its strength from there. That is why it is a vibrant society.'

At the end, Diljit also presented the Prime Minister with a poster of his Dil-Luminati tour of India. Diljit Dosanjh concluded his Dil-Luminati tour in India with a grand performance in Ludhiana.

He shared a video on Instagram and bowed in front of the crowd in respect as he wrapped the tour. However, his last concert was embroiled in legal controversy due to a complaint by a professor who objected to the singer's songs promoting alcohol.

Dosanjh faced similar challenges in other cities during his tour. In November, he was served a legal notice in Hyderabad for allegedly performing songs that glorify alcohol and violence.

Meanwhile, in Indore, he responded to allegations of ticket sales being conducted on the black market. The singer performed in multiple cities, including Jaipur, Hyderabad, Ahmedabad, Pune, Chandigarh, Mumbai, Kolkata, Lucknow, Bengaluru, Indore, and Guwahati.

Recently, Diljit shared a video of himself dedicating his concert to the former PM Manmohan Singh, who died at 92 on December 26, 2025.

In the video, he said, 'Today's concert is dedicated to former late Prime Minister Manmohan Singh. He led a very simple life. He never used to answer back or talk ill, which is quite impossible in a profession like politics.'

Singer Armaan Malik Just Got Married To Fashion Influencer Aashna Shroff

Armaan Malik is best known for his magical voice, which has fulfilled the role of many Bollywood songs. The heartthrob singer got married to his long-time girlfriend Aashna Shroff who is also popular as a social media influencer.

Their beautiful wedding ceremony took place recently and the 29-year-old singer has shared some photos of their private ceremony.

Starting from 'MS Dhoni: The Untold Story', 'Taare Zameen Par', to 'Ki & Ka, Baaghi', 'Do Aur Do Pyaar', and many others; Armaan Malik has sung for numerous Bollywood movies and the singer has a significant number of fans in India.

The fans are very happy with their idol getting married. The bride and the groom opted for peach-colored outfits for the wedding which looked quite pretty and aesthetic in the pictures shared by the singer.

Armaan wrote in the caption, "Tu hi mera Ghar" which translates to "You are my home," and that is also the title of the new single by the artist.

Everyone from the industry is showering the couple with their love and hearty congratulations such as Actress Sophie Choudry wrote, "Oh my goodness! Congratulations you guys! God bless." On the other hand, some of the fans commented, "My heart is so full, I'm crying", "Happy Tears," and so on.

Earlier in an interview, Armaan Malik confirmed the fact that he will be getting married by the end of 2024.

Aashna and Armaan have been dating for a long time since 2017. The couple decided to make their relationship official in August 2023 and they got engaged in October of the same year.

The singer also explained how 2024 was an amazing year for him and getting married to his fiancée was the cherry on the top. Armaan Malik's vocal prowess has led him to many achievements and performing with Ed Sheeran during the Mumbai concert 2024 was one of them. He is now globally renowned as a music artist who can adapt to any kind of composition Aashna on the other hand is a fashion influencer who started blogging in 2013. With her YouTube Channel, she has successfully created an impact on her followers. The channel is known as The Snob Journal which focuses on fashion, travel, and beauty products. Currently, the channel has 1.5 lakh subscribers.

Abhijeet Bhattacharya Received Legal Notice For Calling Mahatma Gandhi 'Father Of Pakistan'

Renowned singer, Abhijeet Bhattacharya has recently created a controversy with his statement. He has been surrounded by many controversies, but his latest statement has taken the internet by storm.

Recently, the artist called Mahatma Gandhi the 'Father of Pakistan'. And this has generated controversy among all. After making such a statement, the artist understood the seriousness of the situation and tried to make a shift.

He said Mahatma Gandhi was responsible for the existence of Pakistan and that is why he is willing to give that title. However, this made no impact on the people.

From a press journal, it came to know that 'Music composer RD Burman was bigger than Mahatma Gandhi. Like Mahatma Gandhi was the father of the nation, RD Burman was the father of the nation in the world of music'.

The artist even said 'Mahatma

Gandhi was the father of the nation for Pakistan and not India. India already existed, Pakistan was carved out of India later.

Gandhi has been mistakenly called the father of the nation for India. He was the one responsible for the existence of Pakistan'.

By saying such things publicly, a Pune-based lawyer, Asim Sarode sent a legal notice to the artist. In the legal notice, Bhattacharya is asked to apologize for such a comment.

The lawyer also said, he needs to give a written apology otherwise there would be a criminal prosecution against him.

The legal notice said 'To accept partition, it will be over my dead body. So long as I am alive, I will never agree to the partition of India'.

It also says how Mahatma Gandhi has worked tirelessly for the country. He even worked hard to maintain the unity of Hindus and Muslims.

Mahatma Gandhi promoted brotherhood through his work. So, saying such things against him is not acceptable.

That is why, the lawyer has sent the legal notice to the artist and asked him to apologize right away.

Apart from this controversial comment, Abhijeet has been in the headlines for some time due to his opinion on Dua Lipa's Mumbai concert. Dua came to Mumbai in November for her performance.

During this time, she performed on the famous remix of Levitating x WohLadki Jo. 'WohLadki Jo' was originally sung by him and Dua didn't give any credit during her performance. And that has offended the artist.

Shreya Ghosal Attended Coldplay's Mumbai Concert With Her 70-Year-Old Father And Husband

Even before it all started, the Mumbai concert of Coldplay was a huge buzz. This British rock band created a sensation among their fans.

On the weekend, the band performed in Mumbai, and it was a night to be remembered by audiences. The band filled the city with its melancholic music and won everyone's hearts.

It was discovered that fans from different parts of the world came to Mumbai to witness the band's most magical show. Recently, right after the weekend concert, the Bollywood sensation, Shreya Ghosal shared a post where she was also seen attending the concert.

The Bollywood singer went to the concert with her 70-year-old father and her husband, Shiladitya

Mukhopadhyaya.

From her recent posts, it came to understand that she is a massive Coldplay fan. The Bollywood singer was found vibing to songs like 'Fix You', 'Paradise', and 'A Sky Full of Stars'. The singer was seen singing and dancing on the soundtrack. In another video, she was seen saying 'It's a lot of work to come to a concert. It's better to just be on the stage'.

While sharing the post, the artist wrote 'Just pure love for @coldplay. Swipe till the last video to know everything. My second concert of the amazing Chris Martin and his band! And you turned your magic on for Mumbai and how!! It was a spectacular experience. Couldn't stop my tears for Fix You'.

She even added 'My 70+ year old dad @bishwajitghoshal loved the concert so much!!! Thank you for letting me and @shiladitya relive all our memories once again which have ruled our lives growing up. #coldplay #coldplayconcert #coldplayindia'.

After watching her video, one of her fans said 'People enjoy like that in her concert now she is enjoying in Coldplay concert, nice to see that'.

Another one said 'I hope Coldplay knows the great Shreya Ghosal attended their concert'. One also added a comment that says 'Awww! Heart is happy seeing this part of you'.

In a video, she was seen a little overwhelmed when the band played 'Fix You'. Watching her like this melted everyone's hearts.

Being such a famous artist, she is also a huge fan of other music creators and that has amazed all.

BLACKPINK's Jennie Reveals Teaser For Her Upcoming Solo Album

On January 16, BLACKPINK's Jennie celebrated her 29th birthday with an exciting Instagram post captioning 'COMING SOON FOR YOU ALL' sparking fan speculation.

BLACKPINK's Jennie celebrated her 29th birthday with an exciting treat for fans. On January 16, she made her first Instagram post of the year, featuring glimpses of her life and hinting at an upcoming music project.

Jennie's caption, 'COMING SOON FOR YOU ALL,' sent BLINKs (BLACKPINK's fandom) into a frenzy, speculating about her much-awaited solo album.

The Instagram post offers several behind-the-scenes snapshots of Jennie working on her music. One photo shows her in a recording studio, reviewing lyrics on her phone while recording a song.

Another image captures her actively participating in the creation process, sitting on a couch and playing the guitar in front of a studio microphone.

In the pictures, Jennie keeps it cool and casual, wearing a shirt, T-shirt, and jeans paired with stylish black shades.

The post features intriguing props and settings that might hint at the concept of her upcoming album.

Notable elements include an ice cream statue near a carousel, evoking playful and whimsical vibes, a sunny South Korean morning, adding a serene and fresh touch, and unique props like an excavation, spider web, blue rose bouquet, and a heart outline with 'Jennie' inscribed.

These visuals have sparked curiosity among fans, with many wondering if they are tied to a music video or the album's theme.

In the song recording pictures, the Mantra singer is seen wearing a casual shirt, t-shirt, and jeans. The pairing of black shades with the comfortable outfits makes the overall look cooler.

The post also features a big ice cream statue in front of an amusement park carousel, sparking inquiries about the concept of her upcoming album. Another outdoor shot includes a sunny morning in South Korea.

Some props include an excavation, a spider web, a blue rose bouquet, and a white heart outline with the word 'Jennie' written inside, also seen in her post.

In the human shots, Jennie is seen wearing a black leather jacket with several badges, including those of PUBG and the South Korean national flag.

In another one, she turns to the back, showing 'Thank God's written on the lower part of her mini dress. All these can be snippets from an MV of her new music. BLINKs flooded the comments section with excitement. 'Can't wait for your new album!' wrote a fan. 'When is the new song coming?' asked another.

With Jennie previously revealing in an interview that her album is 'almost there,' fans are expecting the release in the coming months.

J-Hope Announces New Music at Louis Vuitton Show

J-Hope is back and he is claiming the music throne! The K-pop superstar has announced the arrival of new music at his appearance at the Louis Vuitton show.

BTS' J-Hope made a stunning return to the entertainment industry on January 21. He marked his return to the music scene with the debut of his new track following the military conscription last year.

The newest song by J-Hope is called 'LV Bag' and it is a collaboration with rapper Don Toliver. The track was revealed during the Louis Vuitton Fall/Winter 2025 runway show in Paris.

Paris is also where the song became the grand finale of the event that evening. Pharrell Williams served as the men's creative director for the iconic fashion brand who also led the first big event of the night.

The tracks that were played at the event were selections by The Weeknd, Seventeen, and Playboi Carti. The tracks were all produced by Pharrell himself, fostering the connection between fashion and music at the event.

As the runway show came to an end, the singer-songwriter and music producer greeted J-Hope with his longtime collaborator Nigo. The K-pop artist was seated among a long list of celebrities and stars, including big names in the industry like Bradley Cooper and Travis Scott.

The BTS member donned a casual yet stylish outfit that featured a button-down shirt, jeans, and a brown bucket hat.

The global brand ambassador for Louis Vuitton completed the look with a Speedy bag with dangling pearls around. J-Hope's outfit from the event showed the perfect blend of streetwear and high fashion.

His new song, 'LV Bag' marks the K-pop artist's return to the music industry and poses a pivotal moment in his musical journey. This is his first single release after his discharge from the military last October. Produced by Pharrell, this single will be the first music since his six-track EP Hope On the Street Vol. 1 in March 2024.

The previous EP featured several high-profile collaborators such as Benny Blanco, Nile Rodgers, Le Sserafim's Huh Yunjin, and someone who has been there throughout his music career, BTS' Jungkook.

To give fans an early surprise, the artist teased new music in a video titled Beginning of a New Dream. It was released on YouTube in December 2024.

The video also hinted that the BTS member had various interesting projects lined up for this year, 2025. This featured a cryptic message - "2025.03."

This suggested that fans can expect even more material in 2025's March. This will also mark his first full solo release since his release from the South Korean military.

The newest single represents a fusion of J-Hope's signature swag style with Toliver's distinct sound.

This collaboration under Pharrell's direction does not only excite BTS' fans, but the entire music industry.

Morgan Wallen teased His Upcoming New Album 'I'm The Problem'

It seems like country music star Morgan Wallen has a lot to offer in 2025 for his fans.

Starting from a new album to a US music tour, find out everything on his schedule!

Country music is gaining back its forgotten shine in the world of pop and hip-hop with the help of some of the most talented artists in the industry. When it comes to prominent country music artists in the new age, Morgan Wallen stands out with his creative songs and unwavering aura.

This talented singer has just teased his upcoming new album 'I'm The Problem' which is scheduled to be released this year. This information is now creating buzz among the fans.

Wallen won the Billboard Music Award 18 times and he is also CMA Entertainer of the Year. His well-defined success in the industry has offered more room for his creative influences.

After three years of constantly winning awards and topping the charts, the artist has decided to come up with a brand new album which creates much anticipation among the fans.

And guess what? He will also embark on a Music Tour in 2025 and the dates are yet to be announced.

It is certain that Wallen's US tour is going to be a big hit after becoming the 2024 Country Music Association Entertainer of the Year.

Previously, Wallen shared that he is working on new music after the return from the One Night at A Time world tour and fans have been predicting an album.

Soon, he will be participating in a 19-date summer 2025 tour which is taking place from June to September.

There will be a rotating lineup for the show including Miranda Lambert, Thomas Rhett, Brooks & Dunn, and Koe Wetzel along with support from Corey Kent, Ella Langley, Gavin Adcock, Anne Wilson, and others.

The Artist Presale will be available at signup.ticketmaster.com/morganwallen and fans can sign up there until Jan. 28 at 1 a.m. EST.

The pre-sale for the tickets will start on January 30th and the general ticket sale will start from Jan. 31 at 10 a.m. local time at MorganWallen.com.

The tour will start from Houston's NRG Stadium on June 20 and it will continue to other cities namely Seattle, Massachusetts, Foxborough, and Toronto.

A portion of the ticket sales will be sent to the Morgan Wallen Foundation which is a non-profit organization that focuses on Youth programs based on music and sports.

Morgan Wallen will be also appearing at the Sand In My Boots Festival which takes place in the Gulf Shores, Alabama, in the month of May. Stay tuned to be part of the Wallen Journey.

LG7 or Mayhem? Find Out Everything about Gaga's Latest Album

Lady Gaga has finally announced the release date for her upcoming album which is the seventh studio LP after 2020. The title of the album has been decided to be 'Mayhem'.

The anticipation for Lady Gaga's seventh studio album has been quite high among fans. Till now, they have been addressing the upcoming album as LG7 and now the singer has finally revealed the release date for the upcoming album. But the name is different.

The official title of the seventh studio album is 'Mayhem' which is all set to release on March 7.

There will be a countdown going on Gaga's official website before the release of the project. It is for the fans as they have closely waiting and checking every second to listen to it first.

Gaga did a good marketing approach with a choppy black haircut and shattered glass with the name of the album in bold red. It was advertised in Times Square and shared by the artist on social media.

But this was back in January. By the time of February, Gaga aired the music of the third single of the album during a Grammy Awards commercial break.

Talking about the seventh studio album, Gaga said, "The album started as me facing my fear of returning to the pop music my earliest fans loved."

When asked about the creative process, she said, it is "reassembling a shattered mirror: even if you can't put the pieces back together perfectly, you can create something beautiful and whole in its own new way."

The seventh studio album is released after a long time as her last full-length LP Chromatica was released in 2020.

The lead single "Disease" from the upcoming album was released back in October 2024 and offered a perfect starter for the album that deals with Gaga's vulnerabilities.

She described, "It felt like a way into the chaos of the album, which is kind of exercises in chaos - different sides of who I am as a person. To me, there's some kind of chaos in all of the ways we try to analyze ourselves. 'Disease' is the beginning of that."

The music album is also going to be musically experimental as Gaga said, "The album is chaotic from a genre perspective - it is genre-bending, and I think in that way is a deeply personal look into my mind as a producer and the way I think about music." She further added, "I returned to a darker pop style of pop, all my early experiences with music came out."

'UYIAMMA' FROM AZAAD IS OUT: FANS DIVIDED OVER RASHA THADANI'S NEW DANCE TRACK

The much-anticipated dance number 'UyiAmma' from Abhishek Kapoor's upcoming film Azaad has just been out and the song is already making waves on the internet. Perfect for the party season, the dance track features the gorgeous newcomers RashaThadani and AmanDevgan. Filled with high energy, this track is on its way to becoming the desi party anthem this year!

The dance number is dynamic, to say the least, with its thrilling choreography and infectious beats, 'UyiAmma' gets your attention from the start. The vibe is maintained throughout the entire song which can easily fill a room with the vibrant energy it carries. RaveenaTandon's daughter RashaThadani shines on the song with her brilliant dance moves, blending sexiness with elegance. Her sizzling chemistry with the film's lead AmanDevgan adds another exciting edge to the song.

Director Abhishek Kapoor expressed his excitement about the track. He said, "Amit and Amitabh have an incredible knack for capturing the soul of a song, and with UyiAmma, they've outdone themselves by weaving in authenticity and a true sense of Indianness. Rasha's electrifying dance has added the perfect spark, making this track a memorable dance anthem.

I'm sure UyiAmma will sweep the nation and take over the hearts of millions."

The song is composed by the musical genius Amit Trivedi and the soulful vocals were given by MadhubantiBagchi. Amitabh Bhattacharya has penned the evocative lyrics and the song was choreographed by Bosco Leslie Martis. 'UyiAmma' is a skillful blend of both traditional and contemporary elements, offering not just a stunning visual experience but also a memorable listening experience.

The makers of the film took to Instagram to reveal the song UyiAmma and wrote, "Dhunaisijo qatalkareaurinke moves meinhaitaavbhare...❤️? #UyiAmma song out now. Witness the adventure of #Azaad on big screens on 17th January 2025." Netizens were quick to react to the song, and some of them praised the song, especially Rasha's killer moves while others criticized it.

A user commented, "She looks like Katrina from ChikniChameli", while another mentioned, "RashaThadani like new version Katrina". "Rashahas the expressions and dancing skills of her mother," another user commented, while another wrote, "She seems like the next Katrina Kaif". One person wrote, "for her debut, this song is Excellent, her xpression is another level." Another person commented, "She is the daughter of Ravishing queen of the 90s what can be expected more."

While the young actress' expressions and dance moves were praised by some, a few felt she might be too young for this energetic dance number, which seems to be another item number for the "male gaze". One Reddit user said, "I feel like Bollywood is going backwards. Letting girls debut at 18/19 years old, the influx of these pathetic cheap item songs etc."

While the song sets the mood for festive, Azaad gears up with an intense storyline set in pre-independence India. Directed by Abhishek Kapoor, the film stars Ajay Devgn, RashaThadani, AmanDevgan, and Diana Penty, and the story follows the journey of a skilled horse rider who escapes the oppressive English army, played by Ajay. The story takes a dramatic turn when the horse goes missing which prompts him to take help from a young boy, portrayed by AmanDevgan.

The movie has released to your nearest theaters on January 17, 2025.

BAD BUNNY SHOWCASES HIS LOVE AND ADMIRATION FOR PUERTO RICO IN NEW ALBUM 'DEBÍ TIRAR MÁS FOTOS'

Bad Bunny has released his sixth studio album, 'Debí Tirar Más Fotos', an open love letter to his motherland, Puerto Rico where he showcases its rich music history.

As the world celebrates 'Three Kings Day', Bad Bunny is here with another reason to celebrate bigger. The singer-rapper released his sixth studio album, an oeuvre on his beloved motherland, Puerto Rico. The latest album of Bad Bunny is called 'Debí Tirar Más Fotos', which translates to "I should have taken more photos".

The artist pulls the island's rich musical history on the album and combines it with modern takes to present the fans with one of his most memorable works. Benito Antonio Martínez Ocasio begins his journey with 'Debí Tirar Más Fotos' by releasing 'El Clúb' in early December. The artist brought house rhythms and electronic production, all thanks to MAG, La Paciencia, and Saox, and made the composition even more brightening.

The nylon-stringed plena guitars in the composition give the song a layer that takes the entire composition to a whole new level. It was indeed a very interesting tease for the upcoming album. The track was a bit different from the rest of his works because here, Benito combines "pop modernity with a classical, Puerto Rican folk style". In his previous records, the artist always highlighted Mexican corridos paired with narrative lyrics, spreading messages to the people, and in this song, it is different. The next single was 'Pitorro de Coco'. It is named after the Puerto Rican coconut-flavored spirit, a holiday song that is made with jíbara rhythm interpolating a song from "Música Jíbara Para Las Navidades," by Chuíto el de Bayamón. Both tracks serve as perfect introductions to a new chapter for the artist. "Debí Tirar Más Fotos" is deeply connected to música jíbara and various Puerto Rican folkloric genres but seeks to innovate within them. This is evident in the salsa tracks "Baile Inolvidable" and "La Mudanza," along with the opening piece "Nueva Yol," a heartfelt homage to New York that incorporates dembow into a sample of El Gran Combo de Puerto Rico's "Un Verano en Nueva York." It pays tribute to both Willie Colón and Toñita, the matriarch of one of the city's last remaining Puerto Rican social clubs.

The shared heritage of Puerto Rican traditions reimaged in Bad Bunny's contemporary style is also reflected in his collaborations. He works with artists from his home country, including the band Chuwi, Dei V, Omar Courtz, Pleneros de la Cresta, and rising star RaiNao, who is in charge of transforming urbano music.

Listeners eager to hear more politically motivated records like "El Apagón" will not be disappointed either. The album also contains "Turista" and the affecting "Lo Que Pasó a Hawaii," where the artist sings, "No quiero que pase contigo lo que pasó a Hawaii." It was definitely a rallying cry for Puerto Rico's cultural autonomy.

Are there any sports cars in ‘Sports Car’ by Tate McRae? Perhaps not. Find out more about the sizzling music video of McRae’s latest song, appearing in her upcoming album.

Tate McRae is best known for silky smooth pop creations that can easily melt the fans.

With the right amount of sultry, boldness, and creativity, the pop star has successfully retained the new-age pop along with amazing vocal prowess.

Her latest track ‘Sports Car’ is currently gaining a lot of attention from listeners, and fans including all kinds of pop lovers.

The song is masterfully crafted with a theme of desire which is wonderfully depicted through an aesthetic and sexy music video.

The artistic approach in the music video and Tate McRae’s unwavering presence offer that extra razor edge to the track.

The song has already become the winner in this week’s Top Music in All Genre.

‘Sports Car’ is co-written by McRae, Grant Boutin, Ryan Tedder, and Julia Michaels.

Records. McRae has previously released two more singles namely “2 Hands” and “It’s ok I’m ok” which also garnered much attention from the fans.

The song has topped the Billboard’s Hot Dance/Pop Songs chart.

McRae has a lot of plans for this year as she will be also launching her Miss Possessive Tour in March which is supposed to take place in different cities and countries of South America, Europe, North America, and the United Kingdom.

Although “Sports Car” has no sports car in it, there is definitely a horse in the music video.

This absolute banger is currently buzzing among the fans while keeping the anticipation high for the upcoming release.

The music video has proved that McRae is definitely a powerful performer who knows how to keep the audience hypnotized.

The creative lyrics and singing style show similarity with her previous music project, and offer an authentic essence with a refreshing musical arrangement.

The OMV has also shown that she is a fantastic dancer with flexibility. The previous single ‘2 Hands’ had many cars audiences can find a bright orange McLaren 750S along with an ‘80s Cadillac.

Whether it is a strategy or not, ‘Sports Car’ is definitely an out-of-the-box creation that is unique, engaging, and enjoyable.

2025 is going to be a big year for Tate McRae with a handful of music projects in the coming days.

THE MAGICAL TRACK 'TUHAINTOH MAIN HOON' FROM THE MOVIE 'SKY FORCE' IS MESMERIZING AUDIENCES

FIND OUT WHAT ROSÉ OF BLACKPINK SAID AT THE LIE DETECTOR TEST

BLACKPINK's ROSÉ has been making some huge buzz with her debut music project and she recently appeared at the VF interview and passed the lie detector test.

ROSÉ from BLACKPINK is currently the biggest sensation in the pop world and has gained not only attention from South Korean fans but also fans from all around the world. The singer has shared a lot of 'true facts' about herself and her relationships at the Lie Detector Test and the new interview with Vanity Fair speaks a lot about her. Starting from her relationship with Jaden Smith to her chemistry with Bruno Mars, she talked about everything. In an episode of the web series, the K-pop star has addressed whether the song "Toxic Till the End" is about the Karate Kid Jaden Smith or not.

The singer was previously found hanging out with Will Smith's kid but confirmed that fact he is no more than a friend. She clarified, "No, it's not about Jaden Smith," and further added, "He's a good friend, though." She passed the lie detector test with flying colors. The singer has explained the fact that the "jealous and possessive" person in her debut album 'rosie' is not someone whom everybody is assuming. She said, "Hi, Jaden," and waved at the camera to say, "Miss you lots." When the singer was asked about her relationship with Jaden Smith, she gave a straight-forward answer with 'no'. When the administrator at the detector confirmed the fact that she was telling the truth, ROSÉ nodded and laughed 'Bruh, I already know it!' if has an expression.

The debut album by ROSÉ is quite a hit music project where "Toxic Till the End" made its entry to the Billboard Hot 100 which is a third for the singer. The song reached no.90 on the list. Not to mention the magic of Bruno Mars as the collaboration project with him helped her gain a lot of global attention as a solo artist. "APT" reached no.5 on the chart this month, making it one of the most successful music projects in 2024. The creative process for the song was fun for both of the artists and the playfulness was visible with their social media posts. Mars said that he was playing APT with her and "Soon after, she tried to kiss me, and I was like 'woah Rosie! what part of the game is this?'" to which she replied, "what's wrong with uuuu." In the Vanity Fair Interview, she confirmed that she never tried to kiss him and "He's a liar." She said with a laugh, "Bruno Mars is a liar."

Celebrate Opera Day with a Tribute to the Sopranos

Opera is one of the mother genres in global music and its distinctive essence can be quickly recognized by anyone who hears it. Every year on 8th February Opera Day is celebrated as a tribute to the genre that offers a blend of creativity and complexities. Although every Opera would sound the same to a novice, there are different types based on the mood of the song. The further classification includes,

Opera Seria – It is more noble and serious sounding with a lot of ambiance

Opera Buffa – This is a light-hearted comedic opera with a sense of satire

Operetta – It defines light opera that consists of fewer complexities

Semi-opera – This opera is more like theater that includes masque-like sections and spoken dialogues

The History of Opera Day: Opera originated from classical music tradition in the West which first started in Italy and then spread all over the world. It was first popularized in European countries like France, and Germany, and then reached to Russia and England.

Its play-like texture was first initiated to portray the stories from Ancient Greek drama. The first season of popularity for opera started back in Venice in 1637 and then, it was quickly considered as a creative form of entertainment. Since its inception, opera has diverged and evolved much while inspiring other artistic movements in the contemporary time.

Influential Opera Composers: Whether it is Mozart's comic operas such as 'The Marriage of Figaro,' the patriotic operas of Verdi, or Wagner's "Endless Melody," the industry has witnessed some of the most talented composers in every of music, especially the classics. The composers started doing more experiments than the traditional structure by the time of the 19th century.

During the 17th century, women were not allowed to sing on stage so, most composers and singers of that time were males, or castrati who would sing various classical formats such as soprano, mezzo, alto parts, etc. Let's find out more about some of the best Opera singers and composers of all time.

Top 5 Opera Music Artists of All Time:

Luciano Pavarotti: Luciano Pavarotti will always remain a legend when it comes to opera singing. His voice would resonate with the whole theater and auditorium, stunning the audience with a captivating sonic experience. The recognizable beautiful tone with unparalleled vocal prowess offered listeners some of the best creations like 'Nessun Dorma'.

Renée Fleming: Fleming had a flaming presence in her opera singing and this American soprano was highly respected for her unrivaled voice and unwavering aura. She has a strong knack for jazz and Broadway and her versatility in music is reflected through her creations.

Jessye Norman: Norman is one of those persons who could create an opera genre of her own, known as 'Falcon soprano'. Her dramatic vocal range interpretations of Strauss songs helped her gather much attention from the world. She has performed in almost all the world's most famous opera houses and won the Kennedy Center Honor at the age of 52, the youngest ever person to do that.

Dmitri Hvorostovsky: Hvorostovsky's voice had a resonant tone which sounded amazing in the high notes. His amazing control over breathing and vocal range made it sound almost like a musical roar. He used to perform in the virtuosic bel canto and Verdi roles and became one of the best Russian baritone singers ever. Unfortunately, the talented man died in 2017 at the age of 55 years only.

Maria Callas: Greek soprano Maria Callas was born in America but the attributes of a Greek Goddess were present in her. Nicknamed 'La Divina', Callas became the diva of opera singing who was widely celebrated all over the world. Her magnetic stage presence could hypnotize the audience.

Opera Day is celebrated with a reminder of how much the music industry has evolved since then and it is the origin of a music revolution.
