'SOMETHING BEAUTIFUL'

Miley Cyrus shared the tracklist for her new album 'Something Beautiful' on Monday, May 19. She posted a video on her social media where the 13 song titles appear in white text. The video shows Miley in different outfits, performing in various spaces with spotlights and fog around her. The album includes songs fans have heard before, like 'Prelude,' 'Something Beautiful,' 'End of the World,' and 'More to Lose.' Along with those, there are new tracks called 'Interlude 1,' 'Easy Lover,' 'Interlude 2,' 'Golden Burning Sun,' 'Pretend You're God,' 'Reborn,' and 'Give Me Love.' The video's cinematic style gives a glimpse of the album's vibe and Miley's creative vision. Fans are excited to hear all the new music when the album drops. The mix of previously released singles and fresh songs promises a diverse and powerful collection.

Doja Cat, Ed Sheeran, BLACKPINK's Rose, and Many More Join the New F1 Movie Soundtrack

Formula 1 is speeding into the music world with a big splash! Atlantic Records just announced the star-studded lineup for 'F1: The Album' - the official soundtrack for the upcoming racing movie F1, starring Brad Pitt.

At the top of the list are global music stars Ed Sheeran and ROSÉ from BLACKPINK. They will be joined by a wide mix of artists from different styles and countries.

The lineup includes Tate McRae, RAYE, Burna Boy, Roddy Ricch, Dom Dolla, Chris Stapleton, Tiësto, Sexyy Red, Myke Towers, Madison Beer, and Peggy Gou. From pop and R&B to electronic, country, and rap, there is something for every music fan.

The first single from the album is already out. It is called 'Lose My Mind' by Don Toliver and Doja Cat. The track is produced by Ryan Tedder and features a sample from the F1 Movie Theme by legendary composer Hans Zimmer. The song brings energy, speed, and excitement.

All of these are perfect for a film about the world's fastest sport. With such a powerful lineup and the thrilling world of Formula 1 as its backdrop, 'F1: The Album' promises to be a one-of-a-kind musical ride. Get ready to feel the rush, on and off the track.

The film is directed by Top Gun: Maverick filmmaker Joseph Kosinski. It stars Brad Pitt as Sonny Hayes, who is a former racing legend returning to the track after a long break. The story sees Hayes taking a hiatus after a bad injury.

However, he pulled back into the sport to revive Apex Grand Prix, a struggling Formula 1 team with his former teammate Ruben Cervantes, played by Javier Bardem. Damson Idris, the rising Hollywood star, also stars in the film, playing the character of Joshua Pearce.

He is a fiercely competitive rookie determined to carve his own path in the high-speed world of racing.

He is a highly driven rookie set on making his own mark in the fast-paced world of racing. The F1 movie's official soundtrack is led by Kevin Weaver, a two-time Grammy winner.

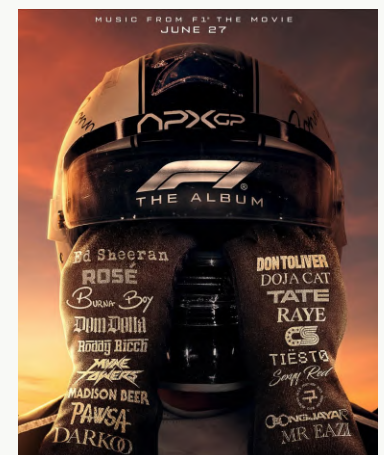

He is known for hit albums like

'Barbie', 'The Greatest Showman', 'Daisy Jones & The Six', 'Suicide Squad', and 'Birds of Prey'. He has been joined by Atlantic Records' Brandon Davis and Joseph Khoury, who helped create a powerful mix of music styles from around the world.

'F1: The Album' blends electronic beats, catchy pop, energetic hip-hop, and bold anthems to match the fast, emotional world of Formula 1 racing.

Just like the film, the soundtrack is also packed with excitement, tension, and intensity. It brings together some of today's biggest music stars to reflect the thrill and drama of life on the track.

Both the movie and the album will be released on June 27, giving fans an action-packed experience at the theater and in their headphones.

Shah Rukh Khan Said 'Main Hoon Fashion' at Met Gala Debut and Honestly? He Wasn't Wrong!

The wait is finally over. Shah Rukh Khan just made his Met Gala debut, and yes, it was every bit as iconic as we hoped. The King of Bollywood pulled up to fashion's biggest night in an all-black fit that screamed power and elegance. Styled by Sabyasachi Mukherjee, SRK rocked a dramatic floor-length trench layered over an unbuttoned shirt. The entire costume gave a major effortless drip.

But it is the accessories that really did the talking. We are talking about stacked bling and chunky choker chains, rings that sparkled louder than flashbulbs, and diamond-studded pendants with "K" and "SRK" front and center. Oh, and did we mention the tiger-topped walking stick? Because yes, he really went there. The Bollywood royalty did not just show up at the Met Gala 2025, he made the carpet his own runaway. Regal, bold, unforgettable - just classic Shah Rukh Khan. This debut was the fashion moment Bollywood was so desperately waiting for.

King Khan just showed the world that did not come to play - he came to slay!!! Shah Rukh Khan's Met Gala look was as stylish as it was a classy nod to Indian royalty while still fitting right in with the fashion-forward vibe of the night. But the real surprise? On the red carpet, some international media who clearly did not recognize the global superstar walked up and asked,

"Who are you?" SRK, calm and cool as ever, just smiled and replied, "I'm Shah Rukh." Simple. Powerful. Iconic.

That moment quickly blew up online, with fans calling out the lack of cultural awareness at global events like this. Even though SRK is a massive name across India and much of Asia, the mix-up was a reminder that Western media still has some catching up to do when it comes to truly recognizing global icons.

Later in a Vogue interview, Sabyasachi Mukherjee spoke highly of King Khan's global appeal. He described his vision stating, "Shah Rukh Khan is one of the greatest superstars in the world. A cinematic hero, his blockbuster performances and leading-man charisma have created a legendary international fan following. My interpretation of the Black Dandy is demonstrating his stardom on a global stage."

When SRK was asked what he was most excited about, he smiled and gave credit to his children. He mentioned, "I have little kids who are most excited about the Met. I don't know if I would have come here on my own, but when Sabya suggested that I should come, they went 'Wow!'"

Shah Rukh Khan's outfit featured a long, sleek coat made from fine Tasmanian wool. It was detailed with custom Japanese horn buttons engraved with his initials. The coat had a sharp design with a peak collar and wide lapels that gave it a bold and sculpted shape. Underneath, he wore a black silk shirt made from crepe de Chine that was casually unbuttoned at the chest. That went along with perfectly tailored wool trousers. A pleated satin kamarbandh (waist sash) tied the look together, adding both structure and a soft and elegant touch to the overall vibe.

SRK was definitely the first male actor from Bollywood ever to walk the blue carpet at the Met Gala. However, he was not the only one from India attending the event. Met Gala regular Priyanka Chopra Jonas made a statement on the blue carpet in a custom polka dot suit dress, expertly crafted by Olivier Rousteing for Balmain.

Bollywood star Kiara Advani made her glowing Met Gala debut in a black-gold-white gown, featuring a heart-shaped plate for her baby. It was truly a beautiful and fashion-forward tribute to motherhood.

Diljit Dosanjh also made a dazzling Met Gala debut in a regal Punjabi outfit, custom-designed by Prabal Gurung. His outfit proudly showcased his cultural roots with unmatched style!

Morgan Wallen is returning to London for a One-Night-Only Performance

Morgan Wallen is going to London for his performance at the Roundhouse on the 28th of May. Previously, he came to London in 2024 to perform at the BST Hyde Park.

As of now, it is going to be the very first show outside North America in 2025. All of his fans are extremely excited about his London show. The artist is coming after a long time, and that is what made this one-night-only concert even more exciting for everyone.

This three-time Billboard Hot 100 Chart-topper is generating a huge sensation among his fans. The tickets for this show can be booked by pre-ordering his latest album, named 'I'm the Problem'.

Any format of the album is going to offer this facility to all his admirers. The physical copies of the album will be available in the UK store on 13th of May at 10 a.m.

Previously, everyone was only excited about the album release, which will take place on the 16th of May. However, now it has boomed on a large scale as he is returning for his concert.

While talking about the album, Morgan Wallen said 'A lot of the concepts and things we said were a little more difficult with this album'.

In a statement, he also said 'We were trying to dig deep on things and trying to find new angles. And I feel like we did that. I feel like there's a lot of stuff that I haven't said in this record, which I'm really, really proud of'.

All of his fans are eagerly waiting for the album release. This artist came up with his last album in 2023. After almost two years, he is going to release another album.

That is why it is generating even bigger buzz among everyone. It is also coming to know that right after the album release, he will kickstart the 'I'm the Problem Tour' on the 20th of June.

He is going to start it from NRG Stadium, Houston. He will continue to do a total of 20 shows in different cities like Toronto, Seattle, and Madison.

In this tour, various artists are going to join him. Some of them are Miranda Lambert, Koe Wetzel, Gavin Adcock, Brooks & Dunn, Ella Langley, and more. he will announce the date of the concert soon for all of his fans.

Netflix's First K-pop Group Gets M Countdown Stage and Tops Music Chart with K-drama Song - Without Even Being Real

Heard of HI-BOYZ yet? They are a fictional K-pop boy group with three members, but they are already making real waves.

The group includes Um Jay, Soobin, and Top Key, and they just made it onto South Korea's Melon chart. Their song 'When the Day Comes' played in the popular K-drama Resident Playbook, and fans instantly took notice. It debuted at #79 on the Melon Top 100.

HI-BOYZ also made their first stage appearance on M Countdown, even though they technically do not exist outside of the show. So, who are the faces behind these characters? One is Kang You Seok, who plays a first-year resident in Resident Playbook.

The other two are TXT members, Soobin and Yeonjun. The two made a surprise cameo in episode 9 and performed the group's original track. With catchy music and familiar idols playing fictional stars, HI-BOYZ might be fake, but their success definitely is not!

HI-BOYZ from Resident Playbook set for M Countdown stage:

TXT members Yeonjun, Soobin, Beomgyu, Taehyun, and HueningKai released a new summer track titled 'When the Day Comes'. The song is part of the official soundtrack for Resident Playbook. This is a spin-off of the popular medical drama Hospital Playlist, starring Go Youn Jung and Jung Jun Won. While the full version of the song features vocals from all five TXT members, only Yeonjun and Soobin appeared in the drama. They played fictional idols from the group HI-BOYZ.

The track plays during a scene that introduces a budding romance between characters Um Jae Il and Kim Sa Bi. Fans quickly responded to the moment and the music.

The performance video entered the Melon chart at #50 on May 12. According to Nate Pann, it also hit #21 on Genie, #17 on Bugs, and #92 on Flo.

With the rising popularity of the track and the group, producers have now decided to bring HI-BOYZ to life. According to the Soompi outlet, the fictional group will soon debut as part of Mnet's music show lineup.

This means fans will get to see more of HI-BOYZ beyond the drama. This time it will be on the actual stage. The line between fiction and reality just got a little thinner!!!

A representative from M Countdown has confirmed that HI-BOYZ from Resident Playbook will appear on the show. "It's true that HI-BOYZ will be appearing," they said, adding that the group is set to perform on the May 22 broadcast.

Though fictional, the group has a detailed backstory. According to their mock profile, they debuted on February 4, 2011.

However, the group officially disbanded on December 28, 2013. Their fandom is called "Hi Girls" and fans even have a chant -“Hi ~ Hello Girls!” HI-BOYZ also has official group colors: Sky Blue and Vanilla Cream. Their style is described as upbeat K-pop from the early 2010s, blending retro energy with emotional warmth. The fictional agency behind them is Stone Entertainment.

Despite being created for a drama, the level of detail around the group has helped them connect with fans. With a real stage appearance coming up, HI-BOYZ are stepping beyond fiction.

When is Resident Playbook's finale?

The final two episodes of the Netflix K-drama Resident Playbook will air on May 17 and 18. The show is labeled as a limited series, so it will not return for a second season.

Set in Yulje Medical Center's Jongno branch, the story centers on four first-year residents: Oh Yi Young, Kim Sa Bi, Um Jae Il, and Pyo Nam Kyun. Each of them has a unique personality, and the drama follows their journey as they adjust to life in the OB-GYN department.

Throughout the series, the residents deal with everyday struggles. They question whether they should continue, build unexpected friendships, and even fall in love.

The show has been praised for its emotional depth and realistic portrayal of hospital life.

One of its strongest points is how it highlights the unseen side of working in OB-GYN. Viewers appreciated how it tackled the emotional and physical toll doctors face in their careers, especially during a time when South Korea is experiencing a drop in birth rates.

Resident Playbook has mixed heartfelt moments with real-life issues, helping the drama stand out.

Though it is ending soon, the show left a strong impression as it focused on both the personal and professional growth of young doctors.

Like the original Hospital Playlist drama, the spinoff also kept that musical spirit alive by introducing a fictional boy band.

This is not the first time a made-up group has gained so much attention.

Previously, Byeon Woo Seok's Lovely Runner also introduced a fictional band called Eclipse, and their soundtrack quickly became a hit overnight.

Jennifer Lopez Posted Pictures of Her Facial Injury and Revealed the Incident

Singer and actor Jennifer Lopez shared some pictures on Instagram that reveal her facial injury, along with a black eye and cuts. The pop icon was about to get ready for the 2025 American Music Awards, and now she has shared the fact that she underwent surgery. Lopez also revealed the whole incident to the fans.

Jennifer Lopez was rehearsing for her performance at the American Music Awards, which is taking place on May 26, and during the rehearsals, an accident happened. On May 13, the singer posted a picture on Instagram where she is holding an icepack against her eye, and the caption reads, "So this happened..." It happened "during @amas rehearsals," and the wounds are quite visible. Lopez also shared a picture with the doctor and thanked her by saying, "Thank you for stitching me up Dr. Diamond. A week later and a whole lotta ice, I'm good as new." While the injury is mostly healed right now, Lopez is still having some bruises. However, these injuries cannot hold back the powerful aura of this veteran pop star.

Jennifer Lopez is going to be the host for the 2025 American Music Awards and she is three-time AMA winner herself. This artist has gained some new heights of success in both the film industry as well as in the music industry. 2025 AMA will "showcase her unparalleled artistry and signature mix of music, dance, and visual spectacle".

This will mark one of the epic comebacks of Jennifer Lopez after she got divorced from Ben Affleck last year.

This is the 51st Annual American Music Awards, and Lopez will be hosting the show for the second time. Je-Lo fans are eager to witness it along with all the other music lovers.

This year's American Music Awards is all set to take place in Las Vegas, and fans cannot wait for the vote results. The nomination list for 2025 includes a diversified artist range, including Billie Eilish, Post Malone, Kendrick Lamar, Chappell Roan, and many others.

Shakira

Reunited with 'Zootopia 2' As Gazelle

The first trailer of Disney's 'Zootopia 2' has been released recently. Audiences have been startled after finding out Shakira's voice as Gazelle in the trailer. Last November, it came to know that Shakira might return in 'Zootopia 2', but there wasn't any confirmation. However, now Shakira is the voice of the independent antelope who first mesmerized the audiences with her belly-dancer-inspired skirt in the 2016 song, 'Try Everything'. 'Zootopia 2' is directed by the Oscar-winning duo, named Byron Howard and Jared Bush. This time, they have collaborated with the Colombian singer to enhance the movie even more. Along with Shakira, there are many actors who have come together for this upcoming movie. Ginnifer Goodwin, KeHuyQuan, and Jason Bateman are a part of this movie. Goodwin will be seen as Judy Hopps, and Bateman will be Nick Wilde.

This time, a new character has been introduced as Gary, who is a snake. This character will be portrayed by KeHuyQuan. Along with these, audiences will be able to see Nibbles, who is a beaver, and Dr.Fuzzby, who is a quokka therapist. The trailer of the movie has generated a huge sensation among global audiences. The movie is going to be released on 26 November this year. Already, the trailer of the movie has made a huge impact on the audience. Everyone is immensely excited for the release.

As Shakira has also become a part of this movie, all audiences became even eager to see it. Now, it is coming to know that it is Shakira who inspired the character of Gazelle. Shakira has worked with Disney, and that gave the character of Gazelle more curves in the original movie. However, this time, everyone is expecting more from the movie and particularly from this character.

This year, Shakira has plenty of things to offer her listeners.

Right now, the artist is on her Las MujeresYa No Lloran tour. She previously dropped an album of the same name and is now winning everyone's hearts with the exemplary tour. In addition to that, recently, she has also celebrated the 20 years' anniversary of her song 'Hips Don't Lie' on The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon. In the coming days, Shakira will perform in places like Montreal, Boston, Phoenix, Chicago, and San Diego. In addition to that, the artist is about to perform in San Francisco on the 30th of June.

MEGAN THEE STALLION QUILTS INTERNET WHILE TORY LANEZ GETS SUPPORT FROM DRAKE AND OTHERS

Tory Lanez has been recently stabbed in prison, and it is gaining more attention among the officials. The case is calling for continuation, with some people from the industry supporting Tory's prison release.

Tory has already been serving a 10-year prison sentence after he was found guilty of shooting Megan Thee Stallion. Earlier this month, Lanez was stabbed 14 times at the California Correctional Institution in Tehachapi, where he was held. After this attack took place, a renewed interest has clouded the rapper's situation. Some of the people are suggesting that there could be new evidence in the case. What is even more astonishing is that the guilty rapper is being supported by fellow rapper Drake, along with Florida congresswoman Anna Paulina Luna, who is pushing for his pardon. It is not clear whether there are personal interests in these heavy-weight people, but it is certain that the case is taking a big shape now. While the case reopens, there is no information about who stabbed him or whether it was a planned attempt to murder. Either way, Tory has some real 'Beef' with a lot of people.

Megan Thee Stallion's attorney Alex Spiro has rejected the idea that the trial was unfair as there were plenty evidences to his evil deeds. But it seems like Megan has lost her patience with dealing with the internet bullies. The rapper shared a post on social media where she clearly seems in distress.

She posted, "At what point are yall gonna stop making me have to re live being shot BY TORY !? At what point are Tory and yall FANS gonna stop lying ? Like how much is the check to keep harassing me? Why is this happening EVERY DAY?? One min him/ yall said I was never shot now yall letting him play in yall face AGAIN and say I was shot but it wasn't him oh okay... ?!"

She further emphasized, "FACTS ARE FACTS , he did it , it was PROVEN IN COURT f the hate campaign on the internet TORY YOU SHOT ME !! Ain't no new fing evidence yall been saying the same s for years TORY PLEASE LEAVE ME ALONE you a fing demon. I'm off this silly a internet s, BYE."

Drake's friend Tory Lanez is also a Canadian rapper who was found guilty in the 2022 trial for assault with an unregistered semiautomatic handgun. Now, it remains to find out what Megan does.

Aerakii's Journey to the Mainstage With His Debut Album

Aerakii is a South African DJ and producer bringing a fresh wave of energy to the electronic music scene. His sound blends euphoric progressive house with emotional melodies and high-impact drops that feel right at home on a festival stage.

Formerly known as Funky J SA, Aerakii has reintroduced himself with a bold creative identity. His debut album, 'Journey To The Main Stage (Festival Edition)', is a 19-track release that reflects passion, resilience, and reinvention.

Produced entirely on his own, the album captures everything from raw club energy to deeper emotional moments. Each track tells part of his journey - past, present, and future. More than just music, it is a statement of purpose.

No label, no manager, just pure drive and vision. With this project, the musician proves that you do not need permission to dream big. His sound is personal, powerful, and made to connect with listeners who are chasing something real.

The artist's journey into music started in childhood, driven by a deep passion for rhythm and sound. Growing up in Durban, he was drawn to DJing and spent years performing under the name Funky J SA. He played major stages like Dusk Til Dawn and Summerfest, headlined outdoor festivals, and held over a dozen club residencies.

After a break from the scene, the musician returned with a new identity and a stronger vision.

As Aerakii, he is more focused and more intentional, and creatively free. His career is built on consistency, emotion, and a relentless drive to bring his sound to global festival stages.

The artist's debut album, 'Journey To The Main Stage (Festival Edition)', is a 19-track explosion of energy, emotion, and ambition. The sound is rooted in progressive house, layered with euphoric builds, cinematic melodies, and festival-ready drops.

Each track carries its own atmosphere; some feel light and emotional, while others hit hard with thumping bass and driving rhythms. The compositions are dynamic and often blend uplifting synths with deep and pulsing beats that build into powerful climaxes.

While most of the album is instrumental, there are moments where vocal samples add texture and depth. They enhance the emotion without overpowering the mix.

From the first beat to the last, the album takes listeners on a journey through highs and lows, capturing the essence of a mainstage festival set. It is designed to move crowds, but it also tells a story.

Every song is personal and intentional, making the album more than just music. In a way, the debut album is a full creative statement from the god-gifted talent.

Some of the songs from the album that steal listeners' attention are 'Take Me Higher', 'Under The Cosmics', 'My Son Don't You Worry', 'Lets Go', etc. The album is now available on Spotify, and Apple Music.

Billie Eilish Dropped the ‘Hit Me Hard and Soft’ Tour Dates for Japan and the United States

Billie Eilish has recently announced the Japan and United States dates of the ‘Hit Me Hard and Soft’ tour. The announcement created a buzz among all. Justin Bieber and SZA Came Together for the Electrifying Performance on 'Snooze' at Los Angeles

Justin and SZA teamed up for an exceptional performance on 'Snooze' at the Los Angeles concert on 23rd May.

The brilliant performance left the stage on fire. Justin Bieber made an appearance at SZA's concert at SoFi Stadium on the 23rd of May. It was a complete surprise for the audience, which created a huge sensation. It was SZA's last stop in Los Angeles.

SZA and Kendrick Lamar are now on the 'Grand National Tour'. The Tour started in April and now they are going to different places and mesmerizing everyone with their performances.

SZA and Justin joined forces for the track 'Snooze'. In 2022, SZA released the acoustic version of the track in her sophomore album, named 'SOS'. Later, she dropped a new edition with Justin, which attracted a large number of audiences.

Their rendition has won the hearts of many listeners with their melodic voice. Both the artists have shown their caliber and generated a sensation.

At the concert at SoFi Stadium, Justin appeared in all-black clothes. He enhanced his look with a Balenciaga jacket. Both of them gave a steamy and sensation performance.

The melodious performance made the audience scream at the top of their lungs. Justin also kissed the hand of SZA multiple times and they offered a sultry performance throughout the song.

It is no wonder that Hailey Bieber, Justin's wife is his biggest cheerleader. She even showed up for the concert and shared a clip of their performances.

On an Instagram story, she even wrote 'My 2 favorite artists'. It was truly a captivating performance when both of them came together. Audiences didn't get the chance to watch Justin live for a long time. Now, he is working on making many soundtracks, which left everyone anticipating the release.

Everyone is eagerly waiting for Justin to release his new musical works. For the song 'Snooze', SZA got huge recognition from all.

It was even at the No.1 position on the Billboard R&B/Hip-Hop Airplay chart. As she dropped the unplugged version of the track collaborating with Justin in September 2023, it became an even massive success. Audiences couldn't get the song out of their mind for a long time.

Previously, Justin sang this song live at the NHL All-Star Draft in Toronto. Their solo live performances have also spread much charm, but they broke all the records by coming together for this particular performance.

The Complete Lineup for Olivia Rodrigo at BST Hyde Park 2025

The entire lineup for the BST Hyde Park music festival has been revealed! This year will be headlined by Olivia Rodrigo along with Zach Bryan, Noah Kahan, and more.

Olivia Rodrigo is set to headline a huge show at the London series on June 27, marking the biggest UK performance of her career so far.

The announcement of her addition to the BST Hyde Park 2025 lineup came back in November. She joins a star-studded list of headliners, including Zach Bryan, Noah Kahan, Sabrina Carpenter, Neil Young and The Chrome Hearts, Stevie Wonder, and Jeff Lynne's ELO.

This performance is expected to be a major highlight of the summer concert season, bringing together fans from all over for one unforgettable night in the heart of London. When Olivia Rodrigo was first announced for the show, two supporting acts were also revealed: BRIT Award winners The Last Dinner Party and Norwegian artist Girl In Red, both former NME cover stars.

Now, more artists have been added to the lineup. These include 19-year-old multi-talented performer Flowerovlove, the dreamy pop group Between Friends, made up of a brother and sister. Along with the group will come the rising Scottish singer-songwriter Katie Gregson-Macleod, who was nominated for an Ivor Novello award.

BST Hyde Park has made the official lineup announcement on social media. The music festival's official Instagram post reads, "Here's your lineup for @oliviarodrigo's headline show in London's Hyde Park ✨ @flowerovlove, @betweenfriends, @caitybaser, @katiegregsonmacleod, @ruti, @florence.road, @itsaziya and @deyyessx are joining @oliviarodrigo, @thelastdinnerparty and @girlinred at American Express presents BST Hyde Park on Friday 27 June 🌟"

Tickets for Olivia Rodrigo's BST Hyde Park show are sold out. If any last-minute tickets pop up, they will be shared on the official site. However, that is not her only big UK show this summer. Olivia will also headline Glastonbury 2025, alongside Neil Young and The 1975. She will perform on the Pyramid Stage, making it her second time at Glastonbury after her 2022 set on The Other Stage.

Olivia has a busy year ahead. She is also set to play major festivals across Europe, including Rock Werchter, Roskilde, Mad Cool, and NOS Alive in 2025. Fans everywhere will get a chance to see the 'Guts' singer live as she continues her global tour.

In other news, Olivia Rodrigo shared last year that she would donate about $2 million from ticket sales from her 'Guts' world tour to important groups supporting women's rights. She has spoken out many times about reproductive rights and is using her platform to help. Olivia started something called The Fund 4 Good to support this effort.

The money will be given to 10 different organisations that work on key issues like girls' education, protecting women's reproductive rights, and stopping gender-based violence. This shows her strong support for women and girls around the world.

By using the success of her tour to raise money and awareness, she is making a real difference beyond music. Fans have praised her for standing up for what she believes in and helping causes that matter. Olivia's actions show that she is not just a pop star, but also someone trying to create positive change!

Rihanna debuted her Pregnancy at the Met Gala 2025

Rihanna created a sensation as she walked down the red carpet of the Met Gala and debuted her third pregnancy. Her charming look created a buzz among all.

The Met Gala 2025 took place recently on May 5th at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. This year, the dress code was 'Tailored for You', where everyone came in outstanding attire.

It came to know that the 2025 Costume Institute Benefit celebrated 'Superfine: Tailoring Black Style'. It 'presents a cultural and historical examination of Black style over three hundred years through the concept of dandyism'. Following the 2024 Met Gala, this year, the event became even more astonishing as everyone dressed exquisitely.

This time, A$AP Rocky, Lewis Hamilton, Pharrell Williams, and Colman Domingo have joined Vogue's editor-in-chief. On the other hand, LeBron James has been seen as the honorary chair, and Anna Wintour as the co-chair for the Met Gala 2025. This year, the Costume Institute featured 'black dandy', where every showcased their style in a quite innovative manner.

Vogue also said 'examines the importance of clothing and style to the formation of black identities in the Atlantic diaspora'.

One of the most astonishing things about this year's event is that Rihanna debuted her pregnancy while wearing Marc Jacobs. She was one of the most stylish attendees of this year, too.

The unique style of Rihanna has attracted everyone as soon as she walked down the red carpet. Other than Rihanna, Chappell Roan was also seen in an innovative attire, styled by Genesis Webb. The artist took the inspiration from 'Pink Pony Club'. The metallic accents in her dress made her look even brilliant.

At the Met Gala 2025, Lana Del Rey has also come. It is the fourth time Lana has walked to this red carpet. She came to the Gala in an exceptionally elegant and bold Valentino gown. This time she came with her husband, Jeremy Dufrene. Both of them tied their knot last September. As they both came to the event together, all of her fans became more excited than ever.

The whole scenario of the Met Gala 2025 was a little different. The globally renowned Bollywood actor, Shah Rukh Khan has come this year.

The sensational actor created history by being the first Indian male actor to walk on the red carpet of the Met Gala. His all-black look was crafted by Sabyasachi Mukherjee.

The actor has created a legacy with his look at the event. Popular Indian singer Diljit Dosanjh has also come to the event. His royal look has also swept everyone off their feet.

Blake Lively and Justin Baldoni's Legal Team Now Seeks Taylor Swift for Subpoenaing

'It Ends with Us' legal matter is now taking a bigger shape as Justin Baldoni's Legal Team wants to subpoena Taylor Swift to fight against Blake Lively.

It started with 'It Ends with Us' and it is never ending now with Justin Baldoni's legal representatives subpoenaing Taylor Swift for being a part of their ongoing lawsuit. This made the Lively furious as Swift is one of her closest friends. The representation for Lively has offered a stern response to this demand and the chaos has amped up.

The legal updates about Lively and Baldoni's case have been subdued for months now after a rebuttal from a New York judge for both parties as they were offering too much to feast upon for the public before the March 2026 trial takesplace. But this case is taking a bigger shape now with Baldoni's camp taking the decision to subpoena pop idol Taylor Swift in order to make this case even more grandiose. In a statement, they addressed that Swift has been called upon to utilize her fame, which can help to build up this case. The representative for Lively has harshly accused Baldoni's team of making a cheap move and said that they are trying 'to turn a case of sexual harassment and retaliation into entertainment for the tabloids'. The statement further reads, "This is a very serious legal matter, not Barnum & Bailey's Circus."

It continues with "The defendants continue to publicly intimidate, bully, shame, and attack women's rights and reputations. Including in the past month, seeking to strike down for all, a powerful California victims' rights law, calling it 'unconstitutional'. The statement also reads, "The disturbing actions by a billionaire, men who made their careers as 'female allies' and their team continue to show their true colours."

There is no doubt that the entertainment industry has always faced some internalized misogyny from time to time, but this case is taking a bigger shape by bringing the film industry and the music industry together.

The representative for Taylor Swift said, "Taylor Swift never set foot on the set of this movie, she was not involved in any casting or creative decisions, she did not score the film, she never saw an edit or made any notes on the film." It is true that the pop star has been highly busy at that time with her Eras Tour shows. The statement further reads, "The connection Taylor had to this film was permitting the use of one song, 'My Tears Ricochet.'"

However, there are other songs too. The statement further explains, "Given that her involvement was licensing a song for the film, which 19 other artists also did, this document subpoena is designed to use Taylor Swift's name to draw public interest by creating tabloid clickbait instead of focusing on the facts of the case."

Rihanna Is Releasing a New Song, 'Friend of Mine,' for the New Smurfs Movie

Rihanna fans have been hopelessly waiting for new music! However, it seems like their desperate wait has come to an end as the 'Diamond' singer is soon releasing a brand new song. The song is titled 'Friend of Mine' and it is recorded for the Smurfs movie soundtrack.

On Wednesday (May 14), a new trailer for the movie came out. It revealed that Rihanna will release a new song called 'Friend of Mine' on Friday, May 16. The trailer gives a small preview of the track. In it, Rihanna sings over a soft, Afrobeats-style dance beat. You can hear her sing the line, "You're looking like a friend of mine." The song has a dreamy feel, mixing smooth vocals with a rhythmic groove. Fans are excited to hear the full version. This is one of Rihanna's few music releases in recent years, making it even more special. Rihanna is also starring in the film as a voice for Smurfette opposite John Goodman, James Corden, Nick Offerman, Sandra Oh, and more. The Smurfs movie is all set to release in theaters on July 18th.

Along with Rihanna's new song, the movie's soundtrack will also include music from Tyla and a track titled 'Higher Love' by DJ Khaled, Cardi B, and DESI TRILL. 'Higher Love' was released in February and will be part of the full soundtrack when the movie comes out.

The new teaser starts with Rihanna in a studio. She is wearing a blue jacket and blue beads in her hair, matching her character Smurfette. She dances while recording lines for the movie. Then, the trailer shows a bit of the story. The Smurfs from Smurf Village have to travel to the real world.

They go on a mission to save Papa Smurf. He has been kidnapped by the evil wizard Gargamel, who is played by J.P. Karliak. Papa Smurf is voiced by John Goodman. The teaser gives fans a fun look at what to expect from the movie's adventure. Apart from starring in the movie and making an original song for the soundtrack, RiRi is also an executive producer on this latest addition to the franchise of Smurfs. Back in 2023, Rihanna announced the project at CinemaCon with Paramount and Nickelodeon. At the time, she was pregnant with her second son, Riot Rose. She joked about working while expecting, saying, "I get to show up in my PJs in my third trimester." Rihanna also said she hopes this role will earn her some "cool points" with her kids in the future. The moment showed her excitement and humor as she joined the fun animated movie project.

'Friend of Mine' will be Rihanna's first new song since 2022's 'Lift Me Up' from the Black Panther: Wakanda Forever soundtrack. She has not released an album since 'Anti' in 2016, which stayed at No. 1 on the Billboard 200 chart for two weeks.

Jennifer Lopez Kisses the Dancers During Her 2025 AMA's Performance

Jennifer Lopez performed at the 2025 American Music Awards which has left all audiences speechless.

The 'On The Floor' singer has mesmerized everyone with her magnificent performance. Within six minutes, she performed a total of 23 songs, which was quite amusing. She even danced on her track 'Dance Again' which made the viewers fall in love with her once again.

The artist was seen wearing a nude jumpsuit while performing at the Las Vegas-based award show. While performing, she locked her lips with one of her male dancers and then a female dancer as well. The steamy performance has surprised everyone.

She danced on the tracks of many artists. She was seen dancing to songs like 'Guess' by Billie Eilish and Charlie xcx, 'Birds of a Feather' by Billie, 'Not Like Us' by Kendrick Lamar, 'Nasty' by Tinashe, and more.

It was a splendid six minutes where JLo gave an energized dance performance.

Right after her exemplary performance, Tiffany Haddish got on the stage and gave a huge shout-out to the artist. She also said 'How cool is it to have a total superstar like J.Lo hosting the AMAs?' She even jokingly said that it should be called 'JMAS' instead of AMA. Haddish added more by saying 'Our host has just danced to 23 hits in six minutes.'

Just from that opening number alone, Jenny from the Block has got all her steps in for the day, and she got all her kisses in. Save a dancer for me, J.Lo.

Damn! You ain't the only one out here single'.

former who always offers unexpected things. That is why all of her fans and the audience have been extremely surprised after witnessing her brilliant dance performance.

Previously, in May, when Haddish appeared on Late Night with Seth Meyers, she said that she was 'dating multiple people'. The comedian even added 'I'm still dating multiple people, but new multiple people'.

She also said 'But one or two from the old roster transferred over to the new roster. There are a couple holdovers. I'm running a team here'.

'Messy': Rosé's Latest Song from the Movie 'F1' has been Released

The phenomenal singer, Rosé, has dropped the latest soundtrack, 'Messy', from the movie 'F1'. The exemplary music video is generating a huge buzz among all.

BLACKPINK's Rosé has mesmerized everyone with his latest soundtrack 'Messy'. This new song is from the upcoming movie 'F1'. A music video of this soundtrack has been released, and that is generating a huge sensation among everyone. The visuals of the video are quite captivating, which is leading her to garner more audiences from all around the world.

The video is quite intriguing. Rosé has been seen walking through different nighttime cityscapes. At the very beginning of the video, Rosé was seen walking through a street where a huge crowd was standing on the side of the road and even leaning over from the terrace of high-rise buildings.

In this soundtrack, Rosé has sung 'Baby, let's get messy, let's get all the way undone/ Come over and chase me like I've never been touched'. She even sang 'Baby, I'm obsessed with you, and there's no replica/ If it's messy, then you know it's really love'.

Rosé is a music artist who is truly showing her calibre through his musical projects. With each passing day, this K-pop singer is winning the hearts of more listeners.

Other than K-pop music, she is also now a part of the Hollywood music industry. Therefore, she is now getting the chance to reach out to more audiences in a hassle-free way.

The movie, 'F1', is quite an anticipated project of the year. As of now, it is coming to known that the movie will release on the 27th of June.

Apart from Rosé, many other music artists are going to be a part of this movie's music project. Artists like Doja Cat, Ed Sheeran, RAYE, Burna Boy, Tate McRae, Roddy Rich, Chris Stapleton, Dom Dolla, Sexyy Red, Tiësto, Myke Towers, Peggy Gou, Madison Beer, and many others are a part of this movie.

As many music legends have come together for the music album of the movie, it can be said that the album is going to be a fascinating one. Rosé has come up with a soundtrack after a long time. Her last solo music work was 'Rosie', which was released in December. After that, 'APT' was dropped, where she collaborated with Bruno. It is a solo music project that was released after a long time and created a huge sensation.

MADONNA IS COLLABORATING WITH SHAWN LEVY FOR HER BIOPIC SERIES ON NETFLIX

Madonna has collaborated with the Deadpool & Wolverine director, Shawn Levy, for her upcoming biopic series on Netflix, which is creating more sensation.

The Queen of Pop, Madonna, is collaborating with the Deadpool & Wolverine director, Shawn Levy, for the biopic series on Netflix. Deadline has recently made the announcement, which has generated a huge sensation among everyone. According to the report, it is coming to know that it is going to be a limited series on the OTT platform. The executive producer of this Netflix series is Shawn Levy. The collaboration with Madonna hasn't been confirmed yet, but it will be done very soon. As of now, it is becoming clear that the series will be the biopic of the pop artist. This is a completely different project from Madonna's prolonged biopic film with Universal. The film was first announced in 2020, and at that time, it was also revealed that the film is being written and will be directed by the singer herself. Along with her, the screenwriter of Juno, Diablo Cody, will also be a part of the writing. Amy Pascal will be the producer of the Universal movie.

For the character of young Madonna, they have cast Julia Garner. She was cast for the film, and now it is coming to know that she will be a part of the limited series on Netflix as well.

The planning of the movie has been going on for a long time. In July 2024, they started working on the film once again. However, there isn't any update on when the movie is going to be released. The making of the film was paused because the producers were trying to 'downsize' the film and convert it into a series.

As of now, it is being confirmed that the making of the movie has started again. All of Madonna's fans are waiting for the movie and series release. Though no one knows when the film or the series will be released. Everyone is wishing that the artist will make the announcement soon. Madonna might also come up with new musical pieces soon. On Saturday Night Live, Elton John and Madonna appeared together, which indicates the probability of their new collaboration. This year, Madonna is ready to offer some of the most exciting projects. Therefore, all of her fans are eagerly waiting for the upcoming releases.

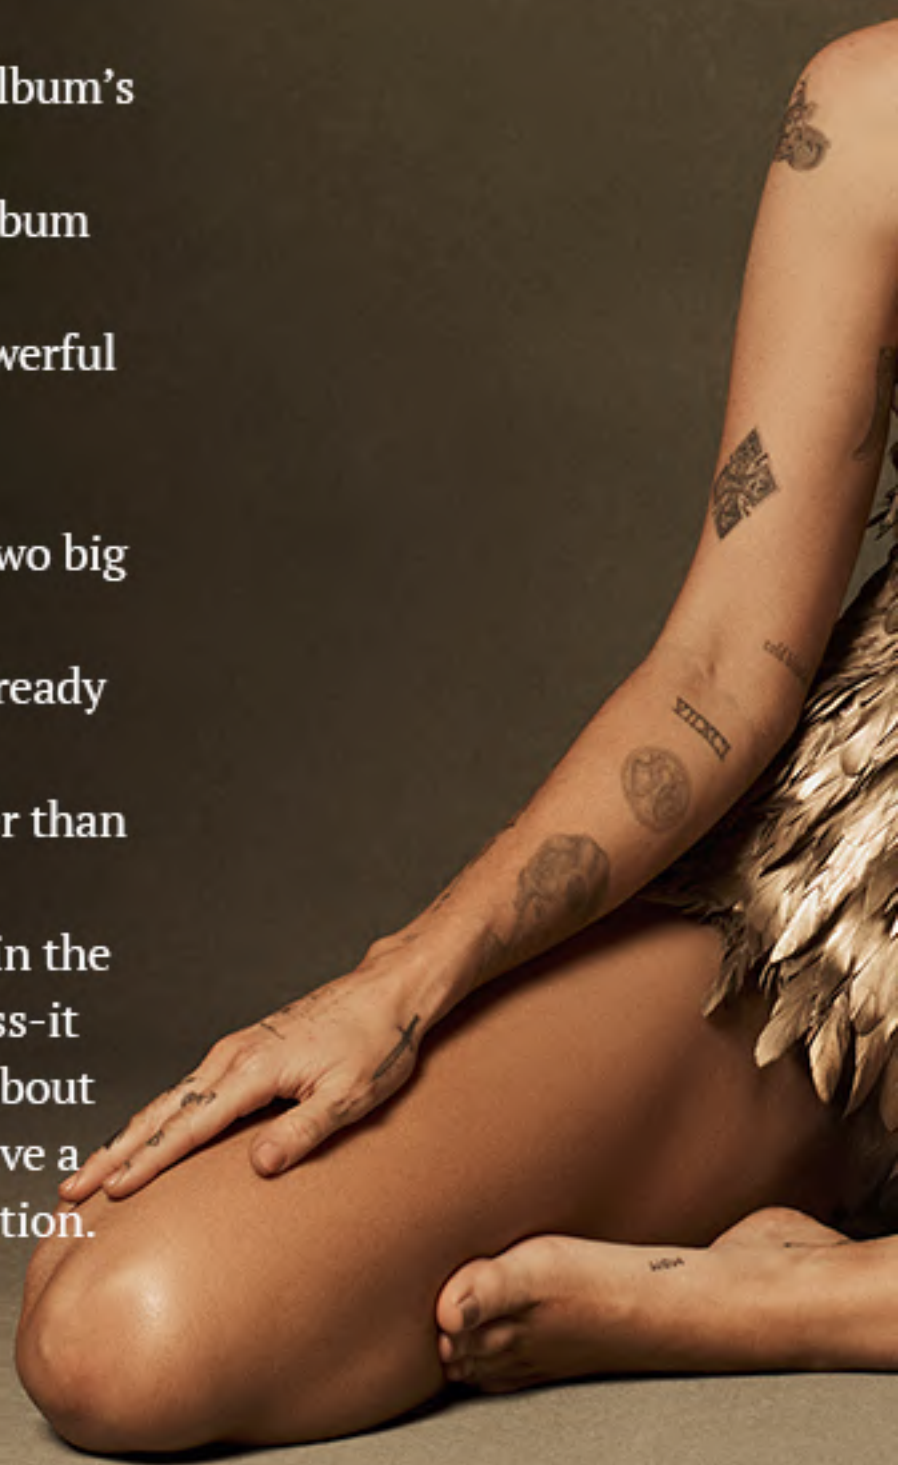

Miley Cyrus shared the tracklist for her new album 'Something Beautiful' on Monday, May 19. She posted a video on her social media where the 13 song titles appear in white text. The video shows Miley in different outfits, performing in various spaces with spotlights and fog around her. So, what is responsible for Gracie's recent surge of momentum? Let's find out.

The album includes songs fans have heard before, like 'Prelude,' 'Something Beautiful,' 'End of the World,' and 'More to Lose.' Along with those, there are new tracks called 'Interlude 1,' 'Easy Lover,' 'Interlude 2,' 'Golden Burning Sun,' 'Pretend You're God,' 'Reborn,' and 'Give Me Love.' The video's cinematic style gives a glimpse of the album's vibe and Miley's creative vision. Fans are excited to hear all the new music when the album drops. The mix of previously released singles and fresh songs promises a diverse and powerful collection.

On top of that, 'Something Beautiful' comes with two big collabs. Miley teams up with Brittany Howard on a track called 'Walk of Fame,' which already sounds like a moment. Then there's 'Every Girl You've Ever Loved,' featuring none other than Naomi Campbell. Yes, the Naomi. She even pops up beside Miley for a quick second in the tracklist reveal video. It is a blink-and-you'll-miss-it moment, but it says a lot. This album is not just about music; it is a full-on experience. "All 13 songs have a special place in my heart," Cyrus wrote in her caption. "Something Beautiful. May 30th."

Miley Cyrus

unveils the tracklist for her new album 'Something Beautiful', featuring 13 songs and collaborations with Brittany Howard and Naomi Campbell.

Miley is not stopping at the music. 'Something Beautiful' is also a full visual album, and she has compared it to Pink Floyd's 'The Wall' - so you know it is going to be wild. She is taking things to the next level with a movie to match the music. On Thursday, May 15, Miley shared that the 'Something Beautiful' film will premiere at the Tribeca Film Festival on June 6. But that is not all. After the festival, the film will hit theaters for one night only.

On her website, the 'Wrecking Ball' singer mentioned, "Something Beautiful is a one of a kind pop opera fueled by fantasy, featuring thirteen original new songs from the visual album Something Beautiful by Miley Cyrus. Exclusively mixed by Alan Meyerson (Dune Part One, The Dark Knight) for theatrical release. Directed and written by Miley Cyrus, Jacob Bixenman, Brendan Walter. Produced by Miley Cyrus, Panos Cosmatos (Mandy, Beyond The Black Rainbow) and XYZ Films' Nate Bolotin, Aram Tertzakian and Nick Spicer."

Miley's new album comes after her 2023 release 'Endless Summer Vacation', which was a major success. That album climbed to No. 3 on the Billboard 200 and gave us the huge hit 'Flowers'. You could not go anywhere without hearing that song! It ruled the Billboard Hot 100 for eight straight weeks and even took home Record of the Year at the 2024 Grammys. It marked a major moment in Miley's career and set the stage for whatever she planned next. Now with 'Something Beautiful' on the way, fans are excited to see where she goes from here.

Diljit Dosanjh Flexes His Invitation Card to Met Gala 2025 as It's His Debut

This is the first time for Diljit Dosanjh to get invited at Met Gala fashion event and where many celebrities can be found appearing in dynamic outfits like fashion mogul.

While a lot of people and artists from the entertainment industry are invited here, this is first time for Dosanjh to receive it.

The singer of 'Ik Kudi' left no chance to show off this invite and he made sure to add some humor which can make his fans happy. The singer cum actor is currently in New York and preparing for this upcoming Gala event while expressing his feelings to the fans.

This humble artist knows exactly how to resonate with the hyper Indian audiences and he made sure to connect with everyone with a relatable sense of humor rather than acting edgy.

While most other celebrities like to keep things a secret and appear at the event with a grand surprise, Diljit is more likely to share his thoughts and outfit with his fans. It seems like he is enjoying this trip very much and he is currently sharing frequent posts about his first experience.

The real dose of entertainment started when the singer shared a video on Instagram on Monday where he showcased the invitation card for Met Gala 2025 and also shared the details of the invite in a humorous manner.

The caption of the video reads, "MET GALA Tomorrow. Daso Fer Ki Paiye Kal Nu; Halaa Laa Laa Karauni An" which translates to "Tell me what to wear tomorrow, need to dazzle everyone."

The theme for Met Gala 2025 is decided to be 'Black Dandyism' and Diljit seems to be excited about it. He also shared that many other celebrities will be present there including rapper ASAP Rocky, NBA star LeBron James and many others.

Diljit also casually mentioned Anna Wintour who is the editor for Vogue and also the host at the Met Gala 2025.

Since photography is prohibited at the event, Diljit made a funny remark saying, "Can't make reels." Each invitation card is sent to a single person and no other people will be allowed with them to attend the event. Talking about the restriction of the event, he said, "Per person, per plate da hisaab hai" which means "It's a per person, per plate scenario." Perhaps, Met Gala events are not very different than Indian weddings.

Himesh Reshammiya Talks about Artist Empowerment at WAVES Summit 2025

The Waves Summit is organized every year to take the Indian Music industry into new heights and the 2025 has offered some crucial discussions featuring Bollywood composer Himesh Reshammiya. He has praised this safe space for music artists where they can find more fruitful opportunities for content creation and collaborative projects.

He further emphasized on the aspects of refining portfolios and creating good quality music which is the key to success in the industry.

According to him, there are a variety of opportunities to grow in this digital era with the help of social media and other independent platforms. As a result, the industry is more accessible for the fresh talents.

The discussion of modern state of Indian music industry also included key executives from Universal Music, Saregama, IFPI, as well as Sony Music Publishing.

They have helped to tackle many legal issues in music such as digital marketing, monetization, copyright, policy improvements, piracy and many others.

Dr. Richard Gooch from IFPI offered a greater emphasis on copyright protection in music while maintaining global standards for it. It can help to safeguard Indian music while being a part of the global industry.

There was also Dinraj Shetty from Sony Music Publishing who talked about the rights management of artists of all kinds.

He stressed helping music composers and songwriters in this era of streaming revenue where they can be part of revenue generation.

The Managing Director of Saregama, Vikram Mehra said that there is an immense need for a sustainable subscription-based market. He said that it can help to improve the financial foundation of the music industry.

This man is known for taking strict measures against piracy and instilling more Government-affiliated policies to help the artist grow.

There was Jay Mehta from Warner Music India who focused on the fact that India's rapid economic growth could be a reason why the music industry is struggling to keep up with pace. He has emphasized the fact that consumers are more likely to pay for higher-quality content. Mehta added that strong industry initiatives should be enforced to bridge the gap and foster a more robust and diversified industry that has room for all. It can help to cultivate more global collaborations which can help to propel Indian Music into the global platforms.

The moderator for the whole session, Scott De Mercado said, "Artists are the heroes of the industry. It's time we build an ecosystem that truly supports them."

Shreya Ghoshal Postponed Her Mumbai Concert for 'All Hearts Tour'

Shreya Ghoshal has postponed the 'All Hearts Tour' that was about to take place on 10th May in Mumbai. The artist was extremely eager to bring the tour to her city, but it is not possible right now. Right now, the tension is rising at the India-Pakistan border.

Both countries are going through a tough time, and the situation is quite uncertain. At this time, continuing a music concert will not be a sensible decision. That is why Shreya has postponed her show in Mumbai.

She has clarified that the show hasn't been canceled but postponed as of now. Through an Instagram post, she has announced 'This concert means the world to me, and I was looking forward to sharing a powerful evening with all of you. But as an artist and a citizen, I feel a deep responsibility to stand in solidarity with the nation during this time. I promise that this is not a cancellation, just a postponement'.

The singer even added 'We will reunite soon, stronger and more united than ever. A new date will be announced very soon, and all tickets purchased will remain valid for the rescheduled concert. Our exclusive ticketing partner, BookMyShow, will be reaching out to all ticket holders with further instructions and updates. Thank you to each and everyone for your understanding and support in advance. Until then, please stay safe and take care of one another'.

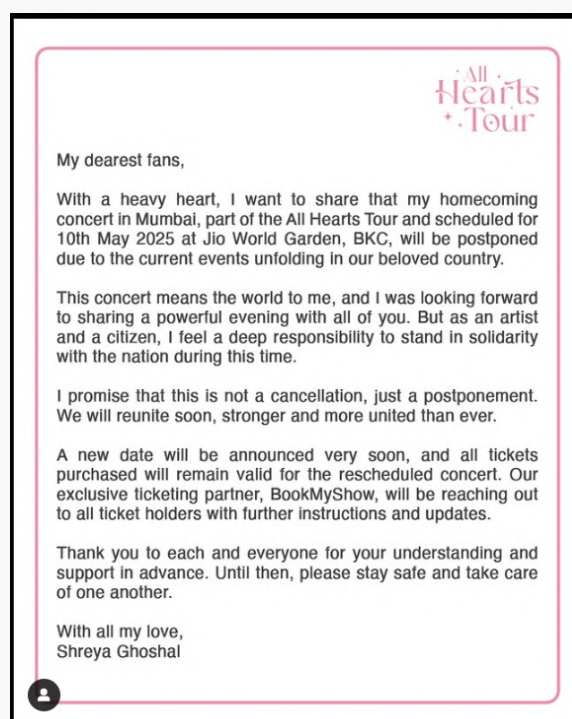

The Pahalgam terror attack has shaken the country to its core. Due to this attack, more than 20 innocent Indians have lost their lives. And that has sparked the situation even more.

Shreya planned to perform in Surat, Gujarat also. However, the artist has cancelled the venue as of now.

Thus, from this, it can be understood that she has cancelled her Surat show. Shreya feels 'deep responsibility to stand in solidarity with' India, and that is why she is taking the measurements.

When a music concert is about to take place, there are a lot of things that need to be kept in mind. It is not only about supporting the country in this hard time, but it is also about giving security to the fans.

If anything occurs at the venue, then things can get even worse. That is why, to provide safety and security to the fans, Shreya has postponed the Mumbai show.

Javed Akhtar Said the Newly Launched Music App a Milestone of the Music Industry

Javed Akhtar, the exemplary screenwriter and lyricist appeared for a music app launch and said it is a 'major milestone' in the Indian music industry. The new music app has been launched recently by renowned persons from the Indian music industry.

As of now, it is coming to know that the app is aiming to offer creative freedom to all music makers from different genres. This initiative will be extremely helpful for lyricists, singers, and composers. It is not only made for commercial uses, but music makers can use this app according to their necessity.

At the app launch, Javed Akhtar said a few things that are faced by all the musicians in India. First, he clarified the two different types of music artists in the country. There are certain filmmakers who work in the film industry and there are others who are not involved in films or do classical music.

The lyricist stated 'Film music is a commissioned job. The director or producer gives a situation, and we have to compose or write accordingly. They are the final judge—and rightly so. It's their film, their vision'.

He even said that on the other hand, there are many classical or non-classical music artists are there who cannot reach out to larger audiences due to the various marketing issues.

It is the place where music artists require freedom the most. Commission works are definitely needed, but artists also need a platform where they can create music in whatever way they want.

That is why, he said 'For the first time, we've created a stage where composers, writers, and singers can do what they truly feel. They don't have to be answerable to anyone'.

He even added 'There is no approval committee. Every artist is free to contribute what they like, the way they want'. When it comes to mainstream formats, artists often do not get the chance to express things in the way they want.

It is the same for poets and writers also, which is becoming a huge concern.

Then he stated 'For the first time, even that art which has never reached the common man will now find its audience, because of marketing filters, many forms of great music never make it to the public. This app changes that'.

Ed Sheeran Announced the Release Date for His Upcoming Album 'Play'

Folks who love Ed Sheeran would already know that he is working on a new album, and the singer has just announced the release date through his memorable song, 'Old Phone.' The buzz of 'Old Phone' was already too high among the fans and the release of the single is successfully teasing the upcoming album by Ed Sheeran. The pop singer-songwriter has already announced the official release date for 'Play' and everybody is waiting for it now!

The making of the music project has already been confirmed earlier in March by Sheeran when he appeared on The Tonight Show starring Jimmy Fallon. He shared the title for the project that night and weeks after, her came up with new materials to tease this upcoming project.

His series of albums for 'Mathematics' are finally to an end which were highly inspired by the mathematical symbols. The titles of the albums are 'Plus', 'Divide', 'Subtract', 'Multiply', and 'Equals' which created a new era of pop music.

The idea for the upcoming chapter of his musical journey appeared in his mind when he was only 18 years old. Ed Sheeran decided to create a musical chapter that will follow the series 'Play', 'Pause', 'Fast Forward', 'Rewind' and 'Stop'. 'Play' is going to be the first album from the series which is scheduled to arrive on September 12.

Currently, Ed Sheeran is gaining a lot of attention with his emotionally enriched single 'Old Phone' which embraces a hefty dose of nostalgia. This track is inspired by an old phone that has been unused since 2015 and now, the artist is recalling his decade-old memories. Previously, he has shared about recovering the messages sent by his late friend Jamal Edwards.

Talking about the upcoming album ‘Play’, Sheeran said, “‘Play’ was an album that was made as a direct response to the darkest period of my life. Coming out of all of that I just wanted to create joy and technicolour, and explore cultures in the countries I was touring,” he also shared, “I made this record all over the world, finished it in Goa, India, and had some of the most fun, explorative creative days of my life.”

The ‘Bad Habits’ singer further added, “It’s a real rollercoaster of emotions from start to finish, it encapsulates everything that I love about music, and the fun in it, but also where I am in life as a human, a partner, a father. Going into this album campaign I said to myself ‘I just want everything I do to be fun and playful’ – so that’s why we are building pubs for folk jams, doing gigs on open top busses and singing in pink cowboy hats on bars.”

Sharing his vision for his further musical journey, Ed Sheeran said, “The older I get the more I just want to enjoy things, and savour the moments that are mad and chaotic.”

Jin from BTS Dropped a Video Poster with Shin Se-kyung, Teasing a New Album

BTS member Jin embarked on his solo musical endeavors last year and he has already come up with another new album called 'Echo'. Find out more about its video poster and tracks. Jin from BTS is a heartthrob to many, and his latest video poster is creating much anticipation among the fans.

He has teased his upcoming new mini album 'Echo' by dropping the poster for its lead track "Don't Say You Love Me". On the 13th at Korean midnight, Jin dropped the material, and it quickly spread out among the ARMY.

This song is going to be an emotionally wrenching sonic experience for the fans as it explores the theme of not moving on with the irony of love.

With the phrases like "our poignant story" and "intersecting gazes and tangled hearts", it seems like there will be a hefty dose of melancholy this time which can extend the sob hours for the listeners.

The distance between the lovers is well described in the video poster along with the right amount of aesthetics and mood board of offer fans a glance of the theme.

There are brilliant usages of contrast, color and movements to the show case the remaining memories of love that lingers around.

According to Big Hit Music, "Don't Say You Love Me" was specially produced in a drama format, where it will also feature actress Shin Se-kyung as the female lead against Jin.

This is the kind of collaboration the K-pop lovers go crazy for. As a result, the track is already gaining much attention around the world as they prepare for 'Echo'.

Last year, Jin dropped his debut solo project 'Happy', which was also quite emotive in nature, and it showcased a softer side of Jin. And this time, Echo will be exploring his vulnerabilities of love and poignancy.

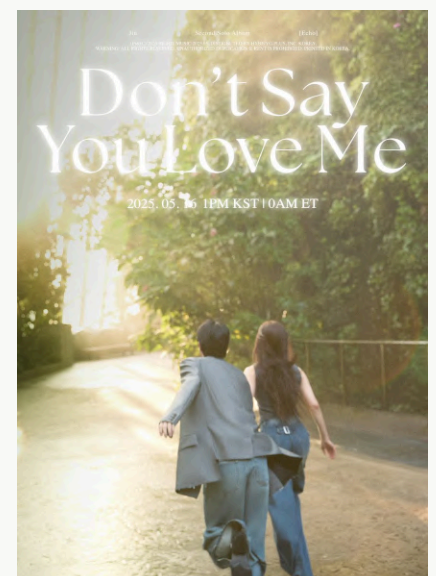

However, it is going to have a broader sonic palette with its seven amazing tracks.

'Echo' Tracklist

Don't Say You Love Me
Nothing Without Your Love

Jin is also preparing for his first ever solo tour and fans are eagerly waiting for it. His performance will take place at Run Seokjin Ep Tour where he will be headlining on June 28 and June 29 at Goyang Auxiliary Stadium. There will be other performances leading to London, Japan, and Amsterdam.

There is news of a BTS reunion happening this year, and the ARMY is prepared!

Reneé Rapp Turns into a 'Real Bad Girl' in Her Latest Music Teaser

Singer-songwriter Reneé Rapp is back in the musical spotlight with a brand new project called “Bite Me,” which is being teased with a brand new clip on Social media.

The return of Rapp is currently buzzing in the music industry as the artist is sinking into her next era.

After 2023’s last music project, ‘Snow Angel’, she has come up with a brand new song, and the fans were eagerly waiting for it. The singer-songwriter has announced the release of a brand new track, “Bite Me,” which will be released later this month.

In a latest sizzling video posted on her social media accounts, the baddie aura was revealed through her biceps, blond hair, and a bold personality.

The Mean Girls actress was wearing a baseball cap that reads the title of the track “Bite Me.” The video clip is also accompanied by a snippet of the new song where the artist sings “I’m a real bad girl, but a real good kisser” along with some hooky beats. This teaser of the new music has dropped after two years since her debut studio album, and ‘Snow Angel’ was the breakthrough for her. The album peaked at No. 44 on the top charts for Billboard 200 charts. The original LP was released with a deluxe edition in November 2023.

Later on, Rapp collaborated with Megan Thee Stallion for the song “Not My Fault,” which was featured as the soundtrack for the Mean Girls musical live action.

Unlike other music artists, Reneé likes to take her time with her creative process, and the next album after her debut will be released after two years. However, she kept on performing and touring at the music festivals.

Last year in July, she revealed her upcoming full-length second album while she arrived for the interview for the Close Friends

Only podcast. In that podcast, Rapp revealed, “23 to 24 has been such a massive difference for me.”

She added, “It’s about this ... and to this point, a reflection on my 23rd year specifically ... It was so bad, and I thought 22 was insane for me,” and further continued, “I think the rawness of those emotions adds a layer of authenticity to my music. It’s like, in that moment of vulnerability, I can tap into something deeper and more genuine.”

The music project “Bite Me” is all set to release on “MAY 21,” as she captioned the video teaser. The video might appear a little risqué to the viewers, but that is what Rapp is all about.

Reneé Rapp, the Creative Rebel Dropped a Powerful Single 'Leave Me Alone' from 'Bite Me'

Encouraging her listeners to embrace their authentic selves, singer-songwriter and also actress Reneé Rapp has dropped the official music video for 'Leave Me Alone'.

Mean Girls star Reneé Rapp is best known for her rebellious acts, which are reflected in her singing, songwriting, and acting abilities.

The artist recently dropped a brand new single, 'Leave Me Alone,' which has put her at the center of attention right now.

This powerful single is also successfully teasing her upcoming album project, 'Bite Me,' which has already built much anticipation among fans.

'Bite Me' is going to be Rapp's second studio album after the release of her debut project 'Snow Angel' in 2023.

This latest album is scheduled to be released on 1st August under the labels of Interscope Records in the US and for the UK, its Polydor. Fans can already pre-order the music project.

The artist has been teasing the upcoming album for the past few weeks now and she also made a creative approach by urging fans to "sign NDAs" which can lead to some hints that provide more information about the album project.

It seems like a lot of other celebrities are also a part of it including Charlize Theron, Paris Hilton, and Monica Lewinsky.

The latest pop banger 'Leave Me Alone' oozes a lot of rebellious energy and the track opens with the line "I'm a real bad girl but a real good kisser/Leave me alone, bi, I wanna have fun" which is enough for the starters.

The official music video is quite raunchy and creatively aggressive which makes it more energetic with wild rebellious energy.

In the OMV, audiences can find many doppelgangers of Rapp who head out to a night out and ultimately end up in a bloody pillow fight.

The energetic musical composition offers the perfect touch to Rapp's powerful vocals which makes it even more engaging.

Chaotic and confident, Rapp is inspiring her fans to be themselves with a powerful idea of self-expression that resonates strongly.

Rapp's sheer individuality and creative psyche can be felt through the upcoming album 'Bite Me' and fans are eagerly waiting for it!

As of now, it is coming to know that this soundtrack is a part of Maroon 5's upcoming studio album. The band hasn't said much about this eighth studio album, but everyone is expecting that they will drop more pieces of information soon. While talking about the song, Levine said 'It's just a guitar-based song, which we haven't really done in so long'.

He even added 'It happened first for us while we were recording the album. I think it's just the purest and we are so happy to have Lisa on it. The guitar intro is literally me playing into an audio message on my iPhone with an unplugged guitar. I actually got a little emotional recording 'cause it was sort of reconnecting to our roots, which a lot of our fans have been saying 'Hey we want to hear that sound again.' It's been like over 20 years so I think it's time for that return'.

Right after that, the guitarist, James Valentine also said 'I got super emotional when Adam sent me the original demo of 'Priceless' because for me the sound represents Maroon 5's earlier days. I joined the band in 2001 so when I was seeing them play in 2000, 'Priceless' gave me the same sort of excitement from the chords to overall vibe. I was super stoked on it and it established the writing and sound for our upcoming album'.

It is time for the army to get enveloped in an emotional music experience with Jin's latest single "Don't Say You Love Me", appearing on his upcoming solo mini album.

The buzz of the BTS reunion is already high among the ARMY. Meanwhile, the oldest member of the group, Jin, has come up with his second mini-album project, which is attracting much attention from the audience.

The lead single from the album, "Don't Say You Love Me," is a fine example of Jin's solo endeavors that perfectly depict the soft and soothing energy of the artist. The song has been released with an official music video that portrays the melancholic mood of the track with an ample dose of aesthetics and engaging visuals.

Director Yongseok Choi did a great job by featuring the beautiful locations of Singapore while establishing the story. Check out the OMV on YouTube now!

If seen from a technical angle, "Don't Say You Love Me" does not have anything new to provide. The producers have played it extremely safe and did not go for any wild experimentation, rather opting for a radio-friendly pop tune that comes with an ample amount of hooks. The pleasant pop flavors offer a catchy groove that does not overwhelm the overall poignant mood of the track but makes it more enjoyable and engaging as well. The soft appeal in the track has also helped Jin to establish his artistic colors, which can be quite diversified and captivating at times.

"Don't Say You Love Me" offers straightforward pop flavors that listeners are already familiar with. Whether it is the predictability in chord progression or the soft grooves of pop, there are no uncertain movements or twists in the project. It is a musical creation that provides the essence of 'nice', which is not the current high-octane pop trend. Jin stands out with his simplicity and emotive vocal approach, and it sounds very relatable with simple yet creative lyricism. This song is a complete pop package that can feel familiar and strangely refreshing at the same time.

The only thing that this music project is lacking is friction. The storytelling and the progression of the soundscape seems to just there but not growing. It is not a daring Jin material rather showcases the vulnerability of love and relationships. The music project can easily steal a solid 8 out of 10 and fans will decide the rest. "Don't Say You Love Me" is definitely going to pave Jin's solo musical career even further.

Lisa and Tyla's 'When I'm With You' is a bold summer anthem about giving in to desire. It is paired with a fiery music video and standout fashion moments.

Lisa and Tyla's music video for 'When I'm With You' is out, and it brings the real heat to the screens. The video kicks off with a playful weather report, warning viewers that it is going to be the "hottest summer ever". From there, the video fully leans into the heatwave theme.

The two stars show off a bold summer wardrobe filled with cut-out dresses, crop tops, and lace-up heels that match perfectly with the sultry energy the track brings to you.

The song comes as a single from Lisa's 'Alter Ego', released in February. However, fans had to wait several months for the official visuals to drop. This wait ended with Lisa teasing the video's release previously, as she gave a sweet shout-out to Tyla. "Had the best time making this music video with @tyla?," she posted earlier.

This added fuel to the excitement, and the video did not disappoint. The chemistry between Lisa and Tyla on-screen is clear and infectious.

Both artists delivered effortless confidence and style, not overpowering each other with their majestic moves. The music video also brings the track's playful vibe to life, which makes 'When I'm With You' a perfect summer anthem.

'When I'm With You' explores the rush of a casual fling turning into something deeper. Lisa and Tyla dive into the emotional pull of a new attraction, singing about giving in to desire even when friends say to be careful.

In the opening verse, they push back against warnings, revealing how hard it is to resist the spark: "My girls told me take it slow / But they don't know what I know / Say I need to stay composed / But they don't know what I know / Told me I should leave you alone / Told me, 'Stay your ass at home' / But I don't mind..."

From there, the lyrics shift into full-on surrender. The verses show how the relationship takes over completely. Lines like "I'ma turn one night to a whole week" and "Give it to me good like you own me" reflect a loss of control that feels thrilling and intense.

The rest of the song continues this theme, with Lisa and Tyla chasing the high of connection without hesitation.

Paired with the music video's heatwave setting and bold fashion choices, the track becomes more than just a love story. It is a celebration of confidence, freedom, and living in the moment. Dare we say that this is perfect for a true hot-girl summer!

As per the visuals, many fans are quite upset with how the video turned out. Many fans expected a crazy dance sequel between the two spectacular performers.

However, the video did not deliver the choreography the fans were hoping for, resulting in them being disappointed. Some of them also called this video a missed opportunity on Reddit. On the other hand, the choreography for the video seemed perfect, matching ideally with the vibe of the song. It is a soft, R&B-infused song that demands the artists not to overpower the vibe with energetic dance moves. Lisa and Tyla both maintained the vibe and brought a sultry energy that accentuates the entire music video. Watch it on YouTube!

ARIANA GRANDE'S 'SUPERNATURAL' CREATES AN EXTRATERRESTRIAL ROMANCE

Good News for the fans of Ariana Grande as the singer has recently dropped official music video for 'Supernatural'.

The singer is appearing in her upcoming album 'Eternal Sunshine'. Pop queen Ariana Grande is best known for her magical vocal skills that can easily meander through any kind of soundscape and is capable of enveloping the listeners.

The soft melodic approach in her vocal skills can be also found in her latest track 'Supernatural' which has recently dropped with an official music video.

It is a well-crafted music video by Christian Breslauer and Ariana Grande where the singer could be seen wandering around in a white dress in an apocalyptic situation where she finally gets abducted by an Extraterrestrial Spaceship and it seems like a deliberate choice.

The OMV dropped under the label of Republic Records, a division of UMG Recordings, and currently gaining a lot of attention around the world, especially among pop lovers and Grande fans.

'Supernatural' is appearing in Ariana Grande's latest album project Eternal Sunshine where listeners can find a fine blend of modern R&B and the elements of early 2000s pop. Carrying an essence nce of strange familiarity and freshness; the song feels quite captivating for all kinds of music lovers.

The bass-driven digital beats make sure to offer a subtle groove that sounds pretty good with a supernatural theme and a dreamy atmosphere. Grande's ethereal vocals make her a celestial being with unworldly skills and this song perfectly portrays her dynamic aura. Her signature themes of love and poignancy are also present in this track but it has taken a cosmic shape.

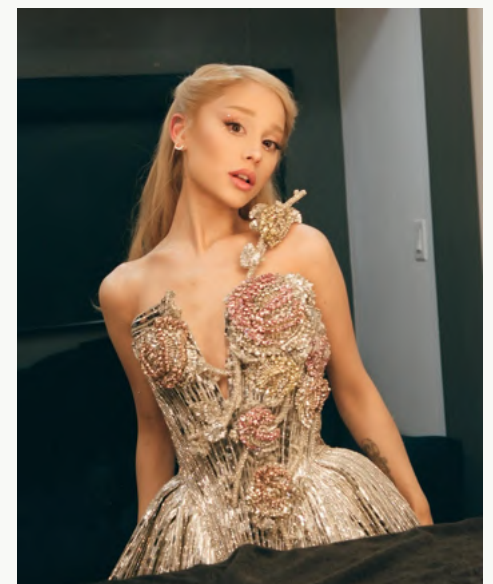

Blurring the line between reality and fiction, the song creates a dreamy essence that lingers with an impact even after the song ends. With sensual undertones, rich vocals, captivating lyrics, and a creative musical arrangement; 'Supernatural' is truly another masterpiece by Grande that is creating a huge buzz among the fans.

Utilizing the celestial imagery, Grande has tried adding more cosmic metaphors in her track that offer an even bigger definition of love that goes beyond the sun and the moon. With lines like, "like the moon needs the stars," it is a very romantic and intimate track.

Fans are suggesting that Ethan Slater from "Wicked" is the inspiration for this romantic project as the singer has been seeing him since the shooting of the movie.

The main theme of the track is inseparability where Grande lets love possess her completely. With a hefty dose of romance, vulnerability, and sexual undertones; this song is perfectly relatable and enjoyable for all. Stay tuned to find out more about 'Eternal Sunshine'.

Lorde's Long-awaited 'Virgin' Album Arrives after Four Years

Pop music artist from New Zealand, Lorde is all set to drop her fourth studio album after four years. 'Virgin' is creating great hype among fans and here's what you need to know.

This summer is going to be one of the warmest, with pop queen Lorde back with her fourth studio album. This long-awaited music project is releasing four years after the last album released by the artist. 'Virgin' is arriving this summer and the singer-songwriter from New Zealand is already creating a massive buzz among the fans. It was revealed on April 30 that the upcoming album will be released via Universal Music New Zealand and Republic Records and everybody is eagerly waiting for it. A music project that took so long to build is bound to offer something great to music lovers of all kinds.

Sharing the first taste of 'Virgin', Lorde teased the album project with the lead single "What Was That" which is currently buzzing in most clubs around the world. Its high octane tempo with the authentic flavors of synth-pop dance music; the song easily caught up to the high hopes of the fans. The release of the track was featured in a DIY music video where Lorde could be seen performing in front of a huge crowd at Washington Square Park. However, the police authority came later and kicked everyone out of the park for the fans being too disruptive. On that chaotic day, thousands of fans gathered just to support and the number she pulled was enough to make sure that the queen was back in the industry.

The last album project by Lorde, 'Solar Power' was released in 2021 and it quickly gained attention from music lovers and tastemakers. The album easily reached at no.5 on the Billboard 200 chart and gained much attention from all around the world. The third album project reflected Lorde's dynamic style of meandering through different kinds of soundscapes after her previous album projects like, 'Pure Heroine' in 2013 and Melodrama from 2017. After listening to the three albums, fans now have high expectations with 'Virgin' and the anticipation is quite high right now. This album project is all set to release on June 27 this year.

Lorde has also said that Charlie XCX helped her in the development of this project with whom she collaborated for the "Girl, So Confusing" remix. Instead of Jack Antonoff, Lorde has opted for different producers for this project and that includes Buddy Ross, Dan Nigro, Fabiana Palladino, Andrew Aged, Jim-E Stack, and also Dev Hynes of Blood Orange. In a nutshell, a lot of new elements are being a part of this project and it is about to unveil its potential. Stay tuned till June 27 to find out.

Catch Up and Celebrate the International Surf Music Month

June is the month of International Surf Music. It is a unique music genre, which has its roots in Southern California. In the month of June, surfers pay tribute to this music genre. It is the electric guitar tunes along with the beachy vibes that describe a piece of true surf music. Each year, surfers get together and celebrate this month and dedicate it to surf music.

This is the ideal time when the summer kicks in and beach lovers flock down to different beaches. Soaking under the sun and surfing in the ocean becomes even more brilliant with the surf music.

The electric energy and the high spirit of the songs add a whole new charm to surfing. That is why, surf music plays a significant role among all surfers from all around the world. Let's understand more about this music genre and the celebration!

What is surf music?

Surf music is a particular genre that has been literally born from the ocean waves. During the time of early 1960, it started emerging and quickly became immensely popular. From that time, it became a part of the surf culture. As the surf music consists of exceptional electric guitars, catchy rhythms, and enthusiasm, it energizes the surfers even more. It gives a sense of movement that pushes a surfer to go with the flow of the ocean. Surf music is filled with thrills that give a dopamine boost.

What are the two noteworthy types of surf music?

When it comes to surf music, two key branches come out of this music genre. One is Instrumental Surf Rock and the other one is Vocal Surf Pop. Both types of music have got a huge recognition from the surfers. Thus, let's find out more about these significant types of surf music:

Instrumental Surf Rock:

The instrumental surf rock is all about energy. It is enthusiastic music along with electric guitar tunes. One of the main elements of this subgenre is twangy and reverb. It is the reverb element that creates an echoey feeling to the tracks, which offers a better experience to the surfers. In this particular type of music, one will be able to find minimal vocals or no vocals at all. It is mainly tunes, rhythms, and music. These are a few distinctive elements of instrumental surf rock music.

Vocal surf pop:

Vocal surf pop is the particular soundtrack where there are distinct catchy vocals along with the enthusiastic flow of music. The vocal surf pop is a kind of music that has the true essence of California music. The lyrics of this song are about surfing, summer fun, beach vibes, and more. It has a great impact on pop music, which makes this kind of track even more amusing for the surfers. It is an important bunch of surf music that is widely enjoyed by all.

Why the month of June is celebrated as International Surf Music Month?

One might think that the month of June is selected randomly, but it is not. It is the time when summer starts in the Northern Hemisphere. During this time, the beaches and the oceans are alive again. People tend to go to the beaches at this time. And it is the perfect time for going surfing as well.

Thus, the surf music has a huge connection with June. That is why, the month of June is considered as International Surf Music Month. For that reason, surfers from all around the world gather in California to celebrate the surf music. Surf music is a particular type of music that is celebrated by people from different parts of the world. Many renowned artists are there who have given excellent surf music and flourished this music genre even more.

Dick Dale & His Del-Tones, The Beach Boys, La Luz, The Chantys, and many others have enhanced this music genre and offered a wide range of music to the surfers.
